NPT and LISBON PROTOCOL CEREMONIES/BUDAPEST

This ceremony will be two-tiered and similar in structure to the Trilateral Meeting and Signing Ceremony in Moscow last January: it will begin with a brief (15-minute) meeting at four--the United States, Ukraine, Russia, the United Kingdom; it will then move quickly to a public event and the other Lisbon Protocol signatories--Belarus and Kazakhstan--will join. The emphasis at the first meeting is on completing Ukraine's accession to the NPT, which Belarus and Kazakhstan had already accomplished last year. The public celebration at six will highlight the President's denuclearization goals: Belarus, Kazakhstan and Ukraine, having joined the NPT as non-nuclear weapon states, join Russia and the United States in bringing the START I Treaty into force.

Outline of Event:

I. Meeting at Four: U.S., Russia, Ukraine, U.K.

Participants: Presidents Clinton, Yeltsin, Kuchma and Prime Minister Major; Foreign Ministers and other officials present as observers.

- President Clinton opens meeting with brief (1-2 minutes) remarks.
- Presidents Clinton, Yeltsin, Kuchma and Prime Minister Major sign security assurances for Ukraine; hand assurances to Ukraine.
- President Kuchma hands over Ukraine's instrument of accession to NPT to three leaders of NPT depository states (U.S., UK, and Russia).
- Statement on European security/Trilateral implementation issued rather than signed by Presidents and Prime Minister Major.

(Pool spray as NPT instruments of accession handed over.)

Elapsed time: 15 minutes

II. Lisbon Protocol/START I Entry into Force Ceremony

(Press corps joins to observe ceremony.)

- President Lukashenko of Belarus and President Nazarbayev join four. (It would be good if four could move from private meeting room to public event room, where Lukashenko and Nazarbayev could join them naturally in the course of switching venues. Rooms would have to be adjacent, however.)

- Presidents Clinton, Yeltsin, Lukashenko and Prime Minister Major sign security assurances for Belarus; hand assurances to Belarus.
- Presidents Clinton, Yeltsin, Nazarbayev and Prime Minister Major sign security assurances for Kazakhstan; hand assurances to Kazakhstan.
- Five Lisbon Protocol signatories (Presidents Clinton, Yeltsin, Nazarbayev, Lukashenko, Kuchma) exchange instruments of ratification of START I Treaty, formally bringing it into force. Prime Minister Major observes.
- Six leaders make brief statements (1 minute each), in alphabetical order: Belarus, Kazakhstan, Russia, Ukraine, United Kingdom, United States. (This may seem difficult to achieve, but it worked beautifully during the Trilateral Statement signing ceremony last January in Moscow.)
- Leaders take a few questions from the press.

Elapsed time: 45 minutes

Nancy, I spoke to Stephanie Streett who tells me that the White House reception for the Kennedy Center honorees is from 5 - 7 on Sunday, 12/4. The President must attend this from 5:30 to 6:30, but could then change and leave by say 7:00 pm. (Obviously, he would not be able to attend the Kennedy Center event itself.) Leaving at 7:00 would entail a one hour later arrival in Budapest (assuming AF1 couldn't make up some time) than Will's schedule provides. That would put the President in his seat at the Summit at most one hour after the opening ceremonies begin. More likely, they will slip a bit and he may not need 50 minutes to get in from the airport, so he could arrive almost on time. He could give his statement at 10:15 or 10:30 and then pick up the rest of the schedule as worked out by Will. This is doable as as I duly noted in the memo to the President. By the way, Stephanie seems reasonably comfortable with the schedule as long as it allows him to go to the WH reception on Sunday per above. Attending the event seems not to be so important.

PRESS STATEMENT

The White House announced today that the President plans to attend the Summit Meeting of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE) on December 5 in Budapest, Hungary.

Since the adoption of the Helsinki Final Act in 1975, the CSCE has played a unique role in advancing the goals of democracy, tolerance and respect for human rights. Created during the Cold War, the CSCE -- with its emphasis on safeguarding freedoms within all its member states -- helped pave the way for Europe's transformation beginning in 1989. Now CSCE has a role to play in supporting the transition to a freer, democratic and secure Europe. America's security and prosperity will be enhanced as the values espoused by the CSCE take root.

Leaders of the 53-nation CSCE will gather to take stock of their respective compliance with CSCE's principles and standards. They will examine proposals for enhanced cooperation in conflict management and prevention, promotion of economic ties and free-market reforms, respect for human rights, and expansion of cultural ties. Respect and support for the sovereignty and independence of the newly-emerged nations of Europe represents another priority area for the CSCE's activities. The leaders plan to undertake initiatives to energize and strengthen CSCE, particularly its role as the institution of first resort to prevent, manage, and contain potential conflict in Europe.

Nancy:

I've revised the CSCE schedule as follows:

- Hungarian bilat moved ahead of Trilateral Ceremony, which is now 12:15 - 1:15 p.m.
- Moved Family Photo ahead of Working Lunch (it's on stage at Patria Hall; lunch is at the Hilton Hotel).

Schedulers do not want to plan anything after the working lunch to allow the POTUS the flexibility to make an early exit, if required.

I think we need to cable this to Embassy Budapest as a notional schedule to allow them to begin working it with the Hungarian hosts. Agree?

Jim
