Dear Mrs. Clinton:

I am thrilled that you have agreed to keynote the grand opening of Covenant House California's new shelter.

I sincerely hope you are not upset with my letter. I did not mean any disrespect. When putting the letter together with my assistant, I mentioned the last sentence in my "Whoopi" words, qualifying my meaning but not intending those actual words to be written. Had I proofread the letter, I would have caught my own mistake. Please, accept my apology. I wanted to get your attention but in a more polite manner.

I look forward to seeing you on May 7, May 8 and May 30.

My love to all!

Warmest Regards,

Whoopi Goldberg

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

I was very happy to learn from Sister Mary Rose McGready that you have been invited to keynote the grand opening of Covenant House California's new shelter and transitional living program on May 30, 1996.

Last November, I spent a wonderful afternoon at Covenant House California, visiting with the kids and staff and learning more about their program. As I think you know, they do incredible work and the new shelter will allow Covenant House California to expand their greatly needed services.

Your presence at the grand opening in May will give the event special meaning, so, I guess what I'm really saying is, you better come bitch!

My love to all!

Warmest Regards,

Whoopi Goldberg

Dear Hillary, Pres. Bill, and Chelsea

SWEET SUCCESS ARKANSAS FRESH BUTTERBEAN ONION SOUP

for PRESIDENT BILL CLINTON

created by Laura Grosch right before the first debate

PERSONAL
~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

5 cups of thinly sliced yellow onions- I used a food processor

3 Tb butter

1 Tb olive oil

$\frac{1}{2}$  tsp salt;  $\frac{1}{4}$  tsp sugar

3 Tb flour

Quick is the concept here so that the soup is made before the debate starts, Saute the onions for 3 min.; add salt and sugar; sprinkle on the flour, toss the onions- 5 min max

2 cans chicken broth
2 cans water

I used Campbells

Bring everything to a slow boil; the broth will begin to thicken.

1 pound out of the garden baby butterbeans Add to the soup use frozen if nec.

Cook soup until the butterbeans are done- must not take too long since the soup was served before the debate and acclaimed by all. We had French bread rounds grilled on top of the stove and fresh parmesan and ground pepper

Since the debate was very important, I wanted to have something special for dinner. "Soupe a l'oignon" is a family favorite, but I saw that I didn't have the time. When I started to improvise, I decided to throw in the butterbeans another favorite food. Hope you will make it and taste it to see how distinctive it is.

Now I'm thinking about all the delicious food we've enjoyed over the years at your Christmas party especially a banana pudding in the French style. We saw the inside the White House special- incredible.

Dear Mr. President,

First, let me congratulate you again on the overwhelming victory you had in November. I believe God gave you extra stamina and wisdom.

I am overwhelmed at your invitation to participate in your inauguration. Since I led the prayer four years ago, I never dreamed you would ask me again. I am highly honored to accept and will look forward to participating.

I most certainly will bring my son Franklin to Washington with me, which will be the highest honor he has ever received. He deeply appreciates your courtesies to him on several occasions.

Since my Parkinson's Disease often trips me up, I will appreciate the guidance and help of members of your staff or the military. I am sure there will be a member of your staff who will be assigned as liaison to work with my secretary (Stephanie Wills) in keeping up with all the arrangements.

I have read about your throat and have great sympathy for you because I have endured those incidents myself.

Please tell Hillary that I am looking forward with great anticipation to seeing her again. May God bless you both and give you the most wonderful Christmas you have ever had.

Cordially yours,

Dear Mr. President and Mrs Clinton,
Thank you for being so gracious to my Aunt Ruby at the Press
Christmas party on Tuesday night.
Here is a remarkable American life:
She is 77, the widow of a World War II hero who died young, leaving her with nine children and no money.
She raised them well despite much hardship.

very much, and was thrilled to meet make that possible.

Dear Ann:

Anna Wintour, Ralph Lauren and I want to express our heartfelt thanks to you for serving on the Super Sale Gala Dinner Committee for the benefit of the Nina Hyde Center for Breast Cancer Research at Georgetown University.

By every measure, this year's Super Sale was a landmark achievement! We're pleased to report that our goal to raise one million dollars has become a reality; the total so far is 1.5 million and we are still counting. We expect to have final figures soon, but we can safely say we are well over the top, making this event one of the most successful in the city's history.

We are all truly grateful for your generosity. We couldn't have done it without you. Because of your support, the Center will be able to continue its efforts to find a cure for this deadly disease.

Sincerely,

Kay

Dear Elly:

Thank you for your letter and congratulations on your well-deserved honor by The Partnership for the Homeless. I hope my letter finds you and Randy well and that we won't have to wait five years for an "informal neighborhood dinner"!

With warm regards, I remain

Sincerely yours,

Hillary Rodham Clinton

ELINOR GUGGENHEIMER, PRESIDENT
NEW YORK WOMEN'S AGENDA
218 WEST 40 STREET #206
NEW YORK, NY 10018

Dear Hillary:

Alas! I'm enclosing a part of an invitation, marked in yellow ink, with the hope that someone will show it to you so you will know that our hearts are at River House, though physically we have to be at the Hilton. I wanted you to know how truly sad Randy and I are that we can't be with you this evening. I will be accepting an award and he will, poor Randy!, be listening to me at the Hilton at the very moment you will be arriving at River House. I was so looking forward to seeing you- it's been much too long, at least by my standards! Unfortunately your time was changed, from five to eight o'clock. If you get bored with River House, do stop by the Hilton and say "hello"- and please don't take that last seriously!. I know how impossible that would be, but wow! wouldn't the Partnership for the Homeless audience go crazy!! Well, Perhaps in five years from now we can recapture our friend for an informal neighborhood dinner. . Meanwhile I'm thrilled, and not surprised by the polls. I know the New York women are going to turn out en masse on Tuesday, because we all admire- and love- our First Lady so much !!.

I'm hoping that you won't forget us, and that you will be with us again on December 4th, for the FIFTH Star Breakfast- bigger-- and, if you're there, better --than ever. I'll pursue your schedule office right after election, and hopefully look forward to congratulating you in person on December fourth .

With affection from both of us

As I mentioned in my voice mail, an attorney in my office, Nancy Lee Gregg, has recently been selected to become an Administrative Law Judge at the Social Security Administration. Ms. Gregg is a graduate of the University of Arkansas Law School and was in fact a student of Mrs. Clinton's. Would you be so kind as to help me get a congratulatory note from Mrs. Clinton, whom Nancy thinks the world of. I have taken the liberty of crafting a possible note for your easy use.

Mrs. Hillary Rodham Clinton

Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Hillary,

I hope you will excuse my addressing you by your first name but that is how I remember you. Back in 1974, when you were Hillary Rodham and I was Liz Dunigan, we worked together on the House Judiciary Committee Impeachment Inquiry Staff. I was a Research Assistant working on the Library Staff with Maureen Barden. Those were very intense months that we all worked together, ate together and missed a lot of sleep together! I remember working with you assembling the famous evidence notebooks and chatting with you in your office with the desk by the window. We were all so young and so committed to doing the very best job we could on such a historic undertaking. I'm sure you're as proud as I am to have been a part of that process.

I've been meaning to write to you since you and the President came to Washington. I always thought it would be neighborly to invite you and your husband to a small dinner party at our home. We would love for you (and Chelsea) to come but understand that you're rather busy right now. Maybe after your re-election!

The impetus for my writing occurred when my daughter Katie and I met President Clinton at Army Navy Country Club on Monday, August 5. Katie had just finished playing tennis and Mr. Clinton was approaching the 10th hole. He graciously stopped to visit with the onlookers and we introduced ourselves. I mentioned that I had worked with you and had been meaning to write to you for 3 years. He said I should write and Katie said I should do what the President tells me to do. Your husband was also kind enough to have his photographer take a picture of him with Katie and I have requested that the White House Photo Editor send us a copy.

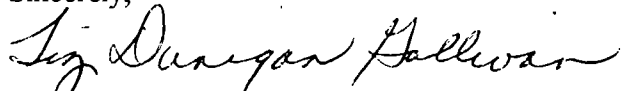

I have followed with great interest your career as an attorney, First Lady and, most importantly, wife and mother. I applaud you for standing up for your beliefs and for dealing with issues in an honest and forthright manner. I supported your efforts to reform the Health Care system in this country and your efforts on behalf of children. You have been a fabulous First Lady - a wonderful role model for your contemporaries and for our daughters. I hope you will continue in that role for 4 more years!

In regard to my life since the Impeachment Staff closed its doors in the Fall of 1974, I worked at the Justice Department and then at the State Department. I married Richard, now an attorney with the Navy Department's General Counsel's Office, in 1982. I returned to work after our first child was born but stopped working outside the home after the birth of twins two years later. Our children, Richard, 13 and Katie and Patrick, 11, keep me busy now. I have served as PTA President at our elementary school and now serve on the PTA Boards at both the elementary and middle schools. In addition, I teach religion at our Church and generally try to keep one step ahead of things as the teenage years approach for our twins. I am happy for the experience I gained and the people I met at my various jobs, but I am thankful that I have been able to stay home with our children during their formative years. The things we have sacrificed have been more than compensated for by watching our children grow into happy, well-adjusted and motivated adolescents. I don't bake cookies very often (couldn't resist!) but I consider myself very fortunate to have the time to do so when I please.

In closing, I would like to wish the best to you and the President as the election approaches. I feel the country would benefit greatly from 4 more years of the Clintons and I hope a majority of voters feel the same. I would love to hear from you if you have the time. Good luck in all your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Dear Hillary,

I can't thank you enough for the beautiful breakfast you gave for the Nina Hyde Breast Cancer Research Center. You gave pleasure to everyone there. Many, if not most of them, had never been to The White House before and were thrilled. It increased the visibility of the benefit greatly.

I realize that you took great trouble to give this event and that you had to wedge it in before you left for your campaign commitment in Connecticut. I knew you were leaving. So did Princess Diana, who had moved up her arrival a day to be there. After your departure, we simply moved over a little and it was not a problem.

To receive 120 people for a seated breakfast is a great effort. It was very much appreciated.

Affectionately,

Dear Mrs. Clinton,

You have "wowed" the city of Las Vegas. I am sitting in the Four Seasons hotel in Washington and received another of many phone calls from Las Vegas extolling the real Hillary Rodham Clinton! I know what thousands of others now know, including the Republican National Committeeman for Nevada and his wife. "Raves!"
Mon Dieu!

Your newest fan club remarked on your openness, sensitivity, warmth, and humor, and yes, your attractiveness too! The sparkle in your eyes touched hearts.

The intelligence part, of course, was a given.

I am thrilled to have a hand in "exposing" you to our unusual city. It was a bit beyond all measure.

Our home and our city are always open to you and your family.

May this birthday be an especially pleasurable and peaceful one for you.

We were all thrilled with the President's speech the other night, and we're eager to keep on that front, too, especially in Minnesota (but as you probably noticed, I can blotter places, too).

I've forwarded through Melanne three photos to have you sign for Ellen, Martha and me. I hope you don't mind, but we are such fans of yours and admire greatly all you are trying to do.

I will be thinking of you a great deal in the next few days and hope things go well. Of course, I hope things go very well in the weeks and months ahead (I'm eager to come to another inauguration!!).

I hope our paths cross soon again -

Dear Hillary,

It was wonderful to be with you at Wellesley last week-end, and I felt particularly fortunate that it worked out to have several hours of really good visits together.

I have finished your book and enjoyed it thoroughly. It has so many important ideas and is really an inspiring agenda for us all. Your talk about the book was excellent and eloquent (which, I might add, has been the case each time I have heard you speak anywhere!). Following your speech (over)

Dear Hillary,

This is a belated, but sincere, letter of support from a Y.L.S. classmate who remembers you well.

Although I've not written before, for reasons of principle and belief - belief in who I remember you are and in what I know you stand for - I can stand on the sidelines no longer.

You have behaved with dignity and grace - and not a little wit - before the mean-spirited, the uninformed and the jackals of the right. It's time that those of us who believe as you do step forward and stand with you.

I've always believed that we who were privileged to study the law in New Haven enjoyed a special relationship that entitles us to call upon one another when it really counts. I've never doubted that mutual commitment and that's why I'm writing to let you know that if there's anything that I can do to help you now, I'd very much like to do so.

---

Sincerely,
John

Dear Mrs. Clinton,

It was a great pleasure to meet you on the snowy Sunday night of January 7. The snow was dreamlike in its dimensions, and our discussion of the prospects for American democracy was illuminating. In short, it was an altogether wonderful evening, and I thank you and the President for it.

I have since read your book, It Takes a Village. In it, you provide a succinct answer to the question that you and the President posed at our dinner: What is wrong with Gingrich's vision of minimizing government so as to maximize personal initiative? Your discussion on pp. 312-313 is precisely to the point.

Among the many things that resonated with me in your book was your sense of Nelson Mandela's humane and democratic ability to put the legacy of apartheid behind in her persona as well as his politics. I had precisely the same reaction to Mandela, with whom I met shortly after he was released from prison, having been given the (undeserved) honor of speaking back to back with him about democratizing education in post-apartheid South Africa.

I hope that you would be willing to sign a copy of your book (which I enclose) for my 15-year old daughter, Abigail. She is eager to read it, and would be delighted to have your autograph!

With best wishes,

Dear Hillary - I didn't know there was a special way to reach you until I asked Johanna last week - You have been so on my mind this last few months and after seeing you in that crowd of 3,000 in Philadelphia last week (yes, I was there along with all the female population of the city!), I just had to write to hope you were as buoyed by that experience as I. What an electric evening! You + Tipper were great and the atmosphere was terrific. I hope you were able to soak in the love + respect I heard and that it can help carry you thru your visits with that ethically challenged d'Amato person - It was a great evening for Phila + you made it so!

Secondly, I know you + Phil were sent an invitation by the honchos at the Phila Art Museum along with Kedge + Sd Rendell inviting you to attend the opening of the Ceyanne exhibit at the museum May 23rd. Suzie Fleming Wells + I are both heavily involved in the exhibition + opening + we would be THRILLED if you guys came. (we could have a reunion in the ladies room!) It should be a fabulous evening + a fabulous show + if it worked into your schedule - you'd love it - At any rate, know if you come, there will be familiar faces!

Good luck with the driving lessons +
