Request for Taxpayer
Identification Number and Certification

Give this form to the requester. Do
NOT send to IRS.

Please print or type

Name (if joint names, list first and circle the name of the person or entity whose number you enter in Part I below. See instructions on page 2 if your name has changed.)

Address (number and street)

List account number(s) here (optional)

City, state, and ZIP code

Part I Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. For individuals, this is your social security number (SSN). For sole proprietors, see the instructions on page 2. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How To Obtain a TIN, below.

Note: If the account is in more than one name, see the chart on page 2 for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Part II For Payees Exempt From Backup Withholding (See instructions on page 2)

Requester's name and address (optional)

Certification.—Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

- (1) The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me), and
- (2) I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding.

Certification instructions.—You must cross out item (2) above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because of underreporting interest or dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item (2) does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, the acquisition or abandonment of secured property, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the Certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. (Also see Signing the Certification on page 2.)

Purpose of Form.—A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct TIN to report income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, the acquisition or abandonment of secured property, or contributions you made to an IRA. Use Form W-9 to furnish your correct TIN to the requester (the person asking you to furnish your TIN) and, when applicable, (1) to certify that the TIN you are furnishing is correct (or that you are waiting for a number to be issued), (2) to certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, and (3) to claim exemption from backup withholding if you are an exempt payee. Furnishing your correct TIN and making the appropriate certifications will prevent certain payments from being subject to backup withholding.

Note: If a requester gives you a form other than a W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form.

How To Obtain a TIN.—If you do not have a TIN, apply for one immediately. To apply, get Form SS-5, Application for a Social Security Number Card (for individuals), from your local office of the Social Security Administration, or Form SS-4, Application for Employer Identification Number (for businesses and all other entities), from your local IRS office.

To complete Form W-9 if you do not have a TIN, write "Applied for" in the space for the TIN in Part I, sign and date the form, and give it to the requester. Generally, you will then have 60 days to obtain a TIN and furnish it to the requester. If the requester does not receive your TIN within 60 days, backup withholding, if applicable, will begin and continue until you furnish your TIN to the requester. For reportable interest or dividend payments, the payer must exercise one of the following options concerning backup withholding during this 60-day period. Under option (1), a payer must backup withhold on any withdrawals you make from your account after 7 business days after the requester receives this form back from you. Under option (2), the payer must backup withhold on any reportable interest or dividend payments made to your account, regardless of whether you make any withdrawals. The backup withholding under option (2) must begin no later than 7 business days after the requester receives this form back. Under option (2), the payer is required to refund the amounts withheld if your certified TIN is received within the 60-day period and you were not subject to backup withholding during that period.

Note: Writing "Applied for" on the form means that you have already applied for a TIN OR that you intend to apply for one in the near future.

As soon as you receive your TIN, complete another Form W-9, include your TIN, sign and date the form, and give it to the requester.

What Is Backup Withholding?—Persons making certain payments to you are required to withhold and pay to the IRS 20% of such payments under certain conditions. This is called "backup withholding." Payments that could be subject to backup withholding include interest, dividends, broker and barter exchange transactions, rents, royalties, nonemployee compensation, and certain payments from fishing boat operators, but do not include real estate transactions.

If you give the requester your correct TIN, make the appropriate certifications, and report all your taxable interest and dividends on your tax return, your payments will not be subject to backup withholding. Payments you receive will be subject to backup withholding if:

1. You do not furnish your TIN to the requester, or
2. The IRS notifies the requester that you furnished an incorrect TIN, or
3. You are notified by the IRS that you are subject to backup withholding because you failed to report all your interest and dividends on your tax return (for reportable interest and dividends only), or
4. You fail to certify to the requester that you are not subject to backup withholding under (3) above (for reportable interest and dividend accounts opened after 1983 only), or
5. You fail to certify your TIN. This applies only to reportable interest, dividend, broker, or barter exchange accounts opened after 1983, or broker accounts considered inactive in 1983.

Except as explained in (5) above, other reportable payments are subject to backup withholding only if (1) or (2) above applies. Certain payees and payments are exempt from backup withholding and information reporting. See Payees and Payments Exempt From information reporting. Only payees described in items (2) through (6) are exempt from backup withholding for barter exchange transactions, patronage dividends, and payments by certain fishing boat operators.

- (1) A corporation.
- (2) An organization exempt from tax under section 501(a), or an individual retirement plan (IRA), or a custodial account under 403(b)(7).
- (3) The United States or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

- (4) A state, the District of Columbia, a possession of the United States, or any of their political subdivisions or instrumentalities.
- (5) A foreign government or any of its political subdivisions, agencies or instrumentalities.
- (6) An international organization or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

- (7) A foreign central bank of issue.
- (8) A dealer in securities or commodities required to register in the U.S. or a possession of the U.S.
- (9) A futures commission merchant registered with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission.
- (10) A real estate investment trust.
- (11) An entity registered at all times during the tax year under the Investment Company Act of 1940.
- (12) A common trust fund operated by a bank under section 584(a).
- (13) A financial institution.
- (14) A middleman known in the investment community as a nominee or listed in the most recent publication of the American Society of Corporate Secretaries, Inc., Nominee List.
- (15) A trust exempt from tax under section 664 or described in section 4947.

- (16) A trust exempt from tax under section 664 or described in section 4947.

- (17) A trust exempt from tax under section 664 or described in section 4947.

- (18) A trust exempt from tax under section 664 or described in section 4947.

- (19) A trust exempt from tax under section 664 or described in section 4947.

- (20) A trust exempt from tax under section 664 or described in section 4947.

- (21) A trust exempt from tax under section 664 or described in section 4947.

Payments of dividends and patronage dividends generally not subject to backup withholding also include the following:

- Payments to nonresident aliens subject to withholding under section 1441.
- Payments to partnerships not engaged in a trade or business in the U.S. and that have at least one nonresident partner.
- Payments of patronage dividends not paid in money.
- Payments made by certain foreign organizations.

Payments of interest generally not subject to backup withholding include the following:

- Payments of interest on obligations issued by individuals. Note: You may be subject to backup withholding if this interest is $600 or more and is paid in the course of the payer's trade or business and you have not provided your correct TIN to the payer.
- Payments of tax-exempt interest (including exempt-interest dividends under section 852).
- Payments described in section 6049(b)(5) to nonresident aliens.
- Payments on tax-free covenant bonds under section 1451.
- Payments made by certain foreign organizations.
- Mortgage interest paid by you.

Payments that are not subject to information reporting are also not subject to backup withholding. For details, see sections 6041, 6041A(a), 6042, 6044, 6045, 6049, 6050A, and 6050N, and the regulations under such sections.

Payments that are not subject to information reporting are also not subject to backup withholding. For details, see sections 6041, 6041A(a), 6042, 6044, 6045, 6049, 6050A, and 6050N, and the regulations under such sections.

Payments that are not subject to information reporting are also not subject to backup withholding. For details, see sections 6041, 6041A(a), 6042, 6044, 6045, 6049, 6050A, and 6050N, and the regulations under such sections.

Payments that are not subject to information reporting are also not subject to backup withholding. For details, see sections 6041, 6041A(a), 6042, 6044, 6045, 6049, 6050A, and 6050N, and the regulations under such sections.

Penalties

Failure To Furnish TIN.—If you fail to furnish your correct TIN to a requester, you are subject to a penalty of $50 for each such failure unless your failure is due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.

Failure To Include Certain Items on Your Tax Return.—If you fail to properly include on your tax return certain items reported to IRS, such failure will be treated as being due to negligence, and you will be subject to a penalty of 5% on any part of an underpayment of tax attributable to that failure unless there is clear and convincing evidence to the contrary.

Civil Penalty for False Information With Respect to Withholding.—If you make a false statement with no reasonable basis that results in no imposition of backup withholding, you are subject to a penalty of $500.

Criminal Penalty for Falsifying Information.—Willfully falsifying certifications or affirmations may subject you to criminal penalties including fines and/or imprisonment.

Specific Instructions

Name.—If you are an individual, generally provide the name shown on your social security card. However, if you have changed your last name, for instance, due to marriage, without informing the Social Security Administration of the name change, please enter your first name and both the last name shown on your social security card and your new last name.

Signing the Certification.

(1) Interest, Dividend, and Barter Exchange Accounts Opened Before 1984 and Broker Accounts That Were Considered Active During 1983.—You are not required to sign the certification; however, you may do so. You are required to provide your correct TIN.

(2) Interest, Dividend, Broker and Barter Exchange Accounts Opened After 1983 and Broker Accounts That Were Considered Inactive During 1983.—You must sign the certification or backup withholding will apply. If you are subject to backup withholding and you are merely providing your correct TIN to the requester, you must cross out item (2) in the certification before signing the form.

(3) Real Estate Transactions.—You must sign the certification. You may cross out item (2) of the certification if you wish.

(4) Other Payments.—You are required to furnish your correct TIN, but you are not required to sign the certification unless you have been notified of an incorrect TIN. Other payments include payments made in the course of the requester's trade or business for rents, royalties, goods (other than bills for merchandise), medical and health care services, payments to a nonemployee for services (including attorney and accounting fees), and payments to certain fishing boat crew members.

(5) Mortgage Interest Paid by You, Acquisition or Abandonment of Secured Property, or IRA Contributions.—You are required to furnish your correct TIN, but you are not required to sign the certification.

(6) Exempt Payees and Payments.—If you are exempt from backup withholding, you should complete this form to avoid possible erroneous backup withholding. Enter your correct TIN in Part I, write "EXEMPT" in the block in Part II, sign and date the form. If you are a nonresident alien or foreign entity not subject to backup withholding, give the requester a completed Form W-8, Certificate of Foreign Status.

(7) TIN "Applied For."—Follow the instructions under How To Obtain a TIN, on page 1, sign and date this form.

Signature.—For a joint account, only the person whose TIN is shown in Part I should sign the form.

Privacy Act Notice.—Section 6109 requires you to furnish your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to persons who must file information returns with IRS to report interest, dividends, and certain other income paid to you, mortgage interest you paid, the acquisition or abandonment of secured property, or contributions you made to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA). IRS uses the numbers for identification purposes and to help verify the accuracy of your tax return. You must provide your TIN whether or not you are required to file a tax return. Payers must generally withhold 20% of taxable interest, dividend, and certain other payments to a payee who does not furnish a TIN to a payer. Certain penalties may also apply.

KRISTIN NELSON TINKER

Her work expresses a simplicity and innocence which touches the deepest of our emotions. As an American primitive painter, Kristin Nelson Tinker has been collected and exhibited since the age of 17 when, inspired by the death of President John F. Kennedy, she was moved to express her feelings in the painting, "When the Kennedys Were in the White House". This work led to a showing at the Sari Heller Gallery in Los Angeles, and national recognition and critical acclaim for her art. Some of her subsequent commissions included the Hallmark Hall of Fame, AT&T Communications, a calendar and series of cards for UNICEF.

As a very young child, she remembers identifying her world through color - numbers, letters, words, sounds, music, and dance were related to specific colors. Using this unique perception, she developed an uninhibited primitive style. Self-taught in art technique, her works encompass a wide variety of subjects. The paintings are topical - a personal, visual journal reflecting her dreams, memories, and reality - the feeling, hopes, protests and praises of life.

The Charles E. Tuttle Co. is publishing a book of the paintings of Kristin Nelson Tinker, scheduled for release in the fall of 1994. Representation of her original paintings by the Frank J. Miele Gallery, 1262 Madison Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10128 (212)876-5775

HONORABLE FRANK E. MOSS TM
SENIOR COUNSEL

STANLEY M. BRAND
GENERAL COUNSEL

December 5, 1994

First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

There is no way that we can adequately thank you for taking time from your busy day to participate in the Seventh Annual National Caring Awards. You elevated the proceedings in a way that only you can. Both the young people and the adults were thrilled beyond words that you would join in honoring them. Your speech, as always, was eloquent and to the point.

The best way I know to thank you is to reciprocate your kindness, and to continue to be there to support you and this great President. Please know I will do everything humanly possible to be of help.

Enclosed please find a copy of my introduction of you as you had requested. You know that I meant what I said right down to the depths of my soul.

When you said: "We need a new ethos in America of caring and individual responsibility," I knew that you understood the root cause of all the problems we face in America and that you are actively working on their solution.

In my view this root cause is apathy (lack of caring), and the selfishness and cynicism which comes from establishing materialism as the fundamental value in our society.

I see no hope for the nation or for the Democratic party as long as we value people by how much money they have, what car they drive or what brand of tennis shoes they wear. By these standards the children in our urban ghettos understand that they are "worthless" and without hope, and naturally they respond with destructive behavior. For better or worse it is members of the Republican party who have the most, therefore our society seems to be saying that to be a success you have to be a Republican.

First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton
Page Two

I see nothing wrong with giving people opportunities to do well and to enjoy the nice things their work will earn, but this should be secondary to our valuing each and every person intrinsically as a child of God. Beyond that we should value people by the extent to which they have used their lives for the benefit of others. People of wealth and privilege should be encouraged to give back as did Andrew Carnegie. We tend to believe that we are the first people on the planet to encounter these problems, but the truth is that they have occurred previously dozens of times. Prince Gautama Buddha faced and solved similar problems, and Mohammed who as we remember was both a political and spiritual leader, put these same principles at the center of Islam.

Seven years ago I hatched the idea of the Caring Institute, the National Caring Awards and Caring People magazine with the hope of changing the values of society. After twenty years as counsel to congressional committees, I could see that it is not enough to pass new laws, you have to change the way that people think. You have to attack problems at their root. I latched on to the words of Albert Schweitzer who said, "When it comes to education, example is not just a factor, it is the only factor that matters." I understand the power of good role models and their inspiration expressed through caring. If it was not for Senator Frank E. Moss, I probably would have been a coal miner in Utah like my father, because that was just about the full extent of opportunity available where I grew up.

The Democratic party has traditionally stood for the values of caring and compassion, although we have lost our way from time to time. Jefferson said plainly the one guiding principle upon which this nation and the party was founded is the Golden Rule, the one word distillate of which is caring. Franklin Roosevelt repositioned the party to this moral center to deal with the tragedy brought on by the selfishness and economic excesses called the great depression. When he was asked what lesson he derived from it, he said: "We have always known that heedless self-interest is bad morals, now we know that it is bad economics."

As we move forward into 1995, it appears to most Americans that the Republican party has harnessed itself to the economic metaphor. Wealth and materialism has been elevated even higher as the predominate value of society. They have promised everyone that they know better how to bring everyone a higher standard of living. At the same time, they have outflanked the Democratic party as the topic of values. It is values which unite or divide people and their incessant emphasis on "family values" is very powerful. These factors, together with the fact that we do not have an external enemy to fight, leading people to the conclusion we need less Federal government, and are, in my view, the reasons that best explain the Republican gains a month ago.

The answers which will cause the pendulum to swing the other way are exactly what you said: "We need a new ethos in America of caring and individual responsibility." There is no reason why we should not prevail. We have the brightest and most caring President since Thomas Jefferson--A President who has as his mantra John F. Kennedy's phrase: "Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country." We are even more blessed to have you as First Lady. The nation has never had a better role model. I would encourage you to keep listening as you did with the HealthRIGHT events. As our good friend Claude Pepper used to say, "If you want to recruit an army, listen, don't preach."

First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton
Page Three

You intuitively know all of the above, and I hope you will forgive my zeal in reinforcing self-evident things. As I told you before, you cannot see yourself and therefore underestimate the kind of impact that you are having. Please continue to emphasize that we should value each person intrinsically and thereafter by the extent to which they have used their lives to help others. Listen to people; look for positive role models of people who make a difference and programs that work; encourage people to do their part and not to sit back waiting for someone to do it; preempt the discussion of family values by your example; and continue to maintain a high profile.

As you know, I spent several months over the past two years crossing the country in buses and motor homes, recording the views of the American public on videotape. I can tell you first hand the genuine admiration and affection that they have for you. The "common people", in particular, see you as their champion, and I encourage you to continue this role. You are the best thing this country has going for it at the present time.

I am enclosing an autographed copy of my latest book, Caring Quotes: A Compendium of Caring Thought as a small token of my respect and affection. It is my moral compass, and I hope that you find it in some small way, helpful to the wonderful work that you do.

Sincerely,

Val J. Halamandaris
President

Introduction of First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton
by Val J. Halamandaris
Caring Awards Ceremony
December 2, 1994, Washington, DC

Good morning honored guest, ladies and gentlemen:

I would like to add my congratulations to both the caring adults and the caring young people. You honor people everywhere by the exemplary manner in which you have used your lives to benefit others. I ask you to take note and remember how you felt this morning. Seldom has so much goodness been gathered in one room at one time.

Since human beings first walked upright upon the earth we have grappled with the question: What is the purpose of life and how do we sustain it?

Aristotle, perhaps the brightest man in antiquity told us it was, "To serve others and to do good." This same answer had been given nine centuries earlier by the Hebrew philosopher, Moses, the author of the first six books of the bible, known in the Judaic religion as The Torah. Interestingly, when the great Chinese philosopher, Confucius was asked for the greatest secret of human interaction, he cited caring and compassion. "What you do not want done to yourself, do not do unto others," he said.

Mohammed and Jesus, perhaps the two most influential people in history, responded in the same way. Jesus put his admonition in the form of a new commandment: "Love one another as I have loved you."

The same theme has been reinforced down through the centuries by countless individuals including Buddha, Marcus Aereius, Thomas Jefferson, Frederick Douglass, Ralph Waldo Emerson, and into the Twentieth Century by such individuals as George Bernard Shaw, Albert Schweitzer, Albert Einstein, and Mother Teresa.

When Einstein, perhaps the brightest mind of the modern era was asked this same seminal question, he responded: "Only a life lived for others is a life worthwhile." Schweitzer offered the observation that "The only really happy people are those who have sought and learned how to serve." Martin Luther King taught us that "Life's most persistent and urgent question is: What are you doing for others?" Mother Teresa reminds us that the great joy in this life and the greatest glorification of God comes from our service to His people here on earth.

It is my very great pleasure to introduce a person who, like our honorees, understands that caring is the one-word distillation of the Golden Rule, and therefore it is the most powerful force in the universe. She understands that this is what Gandhi used to defeat the British empire and to secure independence for India; it is the quality which allowed Lincoln to preserve the union and which gave Franklin Roosevelt the strength to conquer the Great Depression and subdue the Axis powers.

She is a woman who has spent years listening to the needs of the American people. Her sincere interest is the source of her strength because, as Arthur Flemming is always reminding us, caring begins with seriously listening to others. Beyond that, she has tried her best to take action that would help people.

She is a national treasure and in the words of Mitzi Perdue, "an inspiration to us all."

Introduction of First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton
by Val J. Halamandaris, Caring Awards Ceremony
December 2, 1994, Washington, DC

The person I have the privilege of introducing has worked tirelessly. She is a fierce champion of the underprivileged -- fighting especially for chronically ill children, for seniors who suffer the compound burdens of illness and advanced age, and for the disabled who we have relegated to the shadows of life.

She understands the one great secret of the universe which has been handed down to us from Aristotle to Einstein, from Moses to Mother Teresa. She is leading a crusade to return America to its roots as the most caring nation in the history of the world. Shortly after the death of her father she reminded us that, "We need a new ethos in America of caring and individual responsibility."

She is a mother, a wife, a wonderful role model, and ambassador for the Nation. She personifies Aristotle's formula for leadership -- ethos, pathos, logos, which means lead through caring. This lovely lady understands with Luciano de Crezenzo that, "We are each of us only angels with only one wing and that we can only fly while embracing each other."

She honors us by her presence here today, by her caring example, and by her valiant contributions. Generations from now will count it as a treasured legacy that they saw her, heard her, touched her, or shared her company.

Join me please in welcoming our First Lady and the heart of America, the honorable Hillary Rodham Clinton.

Dear Mrs. Clinton,

I am writing to you from my heart. Your husband listens to you. I know you both had to work at your marriage. I also know both of you have God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit in your lives.

I too have a dream.

1. Untangle America
2. Keep it Simple
3. Keep it Clean

Education

I am sending you a box of Hominos, sorry some are missing. My puppy Willow is a Pit Bull and they will chew anything.

Re: Creating a New Ireland: A Tribute to the Irish Lobby

Dear Ms. Williams:

Please find, for the First Lady, Mrs. Hillary Clinton, a complimentary, autographed copy of my new book, Creating a New Ireland: A Tribute to the Irish Lobby.

Creating a New Ireland reveals how the Irish Lobby helped effect the changes that led to the ongoing peace process in the British-occupied north of Ireland.

The President has played a critical role in this important process (See, especially pages 91 and 109).

Thanks so much for your consideration of this matter.

Sincerely,

William Hughes

Dear Mr. Hughes:

Thank you for sending me a copy of your new book, Creating a New Ireland: A Tribute to the Irish Lobby. The President and Mrs. Clinton appreciate your support in their role to help sustain peace in Ireland.

Please accept my thanks on behalf of the President and Mrs. Clinton and best wishes for the success of your book.

Sincerely,

Hillary Rodham Clinton
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

I am pleased to enclose a copy of Self Interest and Universal Health Care: Why Well-Insured Americans Should Support Coverage for Everyone, by Larry Churchill. This book, which we have just published, provides a lucid argument showing why it is in everyone's best interest that we have a health care system which offers universal coverage. Churchill does not advocate here for one particular approach to financing or organization over others. Instead he makes clear that the debate over health care reform is really a debate about moral and political values.

I think you will find the book stimulating and provocative. I hope you will find it useful and that you will recommend it to friends and colleagues as the debate over reform intensifies in the coming weeks.

With best wishes,

Michael G. Fisher

Washington, DC 20007

Dear Ross:

Enclosed herewith is Hilary Rodham Clinton's monogram encased in a paperweight. Since you are going to be in The President's box you may have the opportunity to present this to her. I am sure she will remember me since she is the recipient of initials I had sent to her. The enclosed letter acknowledges this and wherein she addresses me as Vic.

Also enclosed are other pictures taken at The White House and elsewhere. I have also given an encased paperweight of The President's initials to Con-gressman Kweisi Mfume who is attempting to make arrangements for me to present them to The President at The White House. If he cannot work out the date, I am sure you can.

I am sure you are interested in the enclosed picture of Presidents LBJ and Richard Nixon sitting in my rocking chairs at the LBJ Ranch. President Kennedy was also a recipient of this hand-crafted rocking chair, which I understand was very helpful for his back problem, as well as John Connally. At one time I used to buy the entire output of this master craftsman. If time and age have not caught up with him and he is still making these chairs, I will see that your wife receives one.

Deke DeLoach, Deputy to J. Edgar Hoover, is speaking before the Rotary Club in Baltimore, January 18, at 12:00 Noon, I thought you may want to come over with one of your buddies. He will be discussing "The Assassination of Jack Kennedy". The enclosed is a copy of check payable to the American Cancer Society of Maryland which Jack Kennedy sent me for one of my folded dollar initials.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,

Vic

Victor Frenkil

*Thank you
