PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Writer

Co-author, with Tara Elgin Holley, of My Mother's Keeper: A Family Memoir, published by William Morrow & Co. and Avon Books (Spring 1997). My Mother's Keeper is a Literary Guild selection.

Illegal Procedure (1995) and Moment of Truth (1996), Hardy Boys adventure novels for Mega-Books, a division of Simon and Schuster

Journalist

I write articles, essays and reviews for Texas Monthly, Columbia Journalism Review (contributing editor), Doubletake, Mexico Business, The Dallas Morning News and other publications; I am also a stringer for The New York Times.

Editorial page editor and syndicated columnist for The San Diego Tribune, San Diego, Calif. (1986-1990). As editorial page editor, I supervised a staff of seven, wrote daily editorials, edited both the editorial page and the opinion page and wrote a weekly syndicated column.

Deputy editorial page editor and columnist for The San Antonio Light (1984-1986). As deputy editorial page editor, I wrote daily editorials, edited the Sunday Viewpoint section and wrote a weekly column.

Editor, The Texas Observer (1981-1984). The Texas Observer, based in Austin, is a biweekly journal of politics and opinion. I continue to serve as a member of the board of directors.

Editor, The Texas Humanist (1978-1981). The Texas Humanist, now called The Texas Journal, is a publication of the Texas Council for the Humanities, the state program of the National Endowment for the Humanities. I was the founding editor.

Recent related activities:

Guest, KEYE-TV's "Eye Opener" morning show to discuss mental illness. KEYE is Austin's CBS affiliate.

Guest, Wisconsin Public Radio to discuss my work in Columbia Journalism Review, Coordinator, "Texas Voices," a day-long offering of Texas writers reading their work for Texas Folklife Resources, Austin, Texas.

Speech delivered to conference on "Violence and the Media," sponsored by the World Health Organization, Cartagena, Colombia.

Speech writer/press secretary

Speech-writing clients include Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, Mexican Minister of Foreign Relations Jose Angel Gurria; Horace Wilkins, president of Southwestern Bell Telephone-Missouri; Barbara Johnson, president of Entergy Texas; the honorable Ernesto Zedillo Ponce de Leon, president of Mexico, and others.

I produce newsletters, annual reports, speeches and other materials for various clients, including Public Strategies, Inc., MEM-Hubble & Associates, Gold Communications, the Texas General Land Office, the Institute for the Humanities at Salado, the Tomas Rivera Center, the Center for Mexican American Studies (CMAS) and the Sustainable Energy Development Council (SEDC).

Deputy Press Secretary to Texas Gov. Ann Richards (1991-93). My primary duties included writing speeches, statements, testimony, opinion pieces and position papers, including Blueprint for the New Texas, Gov. Richards' statement of goals and objectives for her administration, and her two State of the State addresses. I also dealt with the press, wrote speeches for staff members and edited publications emanating from the Governor's Office. (I also have written speeches and opinion pieces for numerous state officials in the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Insurance and at the University of Texas System, as well as campaign speeches for several political candidates. For six months during 1992, I was the public information director for the University of Texas System, before returning to the Governor's Office.)

Teaching

Adjunct instructor of writing and journalism at St. Edward's University. I teach one or two courses a semester and serve as faculty advisor to Hilltop Views, the student newspaper.

Instructor (part time), Department of English, University of Texas at Austin (Spring, 1983). While serving as editor of The Texas Observer, I taught two courses -- one a basic writing course, the other an experimental writing-across-the-curriculum course.

Instructor (part time), Department of Journalism, Southern Methodist University; Dallas, Texas (Spring, 1979). While serving as editor of The Texas Humanist, I taught two Introduction to Mass Communication courses.

Instructor, Communications Division, Richland College; Dallas, Texas (1974 -- 1978). I taught courses in American literature, basic composition, journalism and mass communications at this Dallas County Community College campus.

Instructor, Communications Division, Mountain View College; Dallas, Texas (1970 -- 1973). I taught courses in composition and literature.

JOE HOLLEY
A SAMPLING OF RECENT PUBLICATIONS

"Agee's 'doubletake,'" Doubletake Magazine (Fall 1997). The writer James Agee was aware that the medium is the message a decade before Marshall McLuhan coined the phrase.

"The Doctor is In," Texas Monthly (June, 1997). For El Paso physician Abraham Verghese, writing about life and death in the age of AIDS is a prescription for literary success.

"Cisneros Goes to Broadcast," Columbia Journalism Review (May-June, 1997). Former secretary of Housing and Urban Development may now know broadcasting, but he knows politics and negotiating, two areas of expertise that may come in handy in his new position as president of Univision.

"Paul Taylor's Free Air Crusade," Columbia Journalism Review (May-June, 1997). Former Washington Post reporter Paul Taylor believes that free air time for political candidates is one way to clean up the campaign-finance cesspool.

"Heirhart," Texas Monthly (March 1997). Paying tribute to her hero, a San Antonio pilot named Linda Finch intends to recreate Amelia Earhart's fabled flight.

"Privatization vs. the Public's Right to Know," Texas Monthly (February 1997). Privatizing functions that public agencies have traditionally performed makes it more difficult for the press -- and thus the public -- to get information.

"Old Values, New Life at the American-Statesman," Columbia Journalism Review (January-February 1997). In his year and a half as editor of The Austin American-Statesman, Rich Oppel has breathed new life into a moribund newspaper.

"Sleepy Teepees: Who Will Save the Tired Remains of Texas' Last Kitschy Motel?" Texas Monthly (December, 1996). In Wharton the last of the teepee tourist courts is historically significant, but it molds away nonetheless.

"Texas Talk Show Host Off the Air," The New York Times (Nov. 3, 1996). Radio talk show hosts weren't quite as brash and belligerent this election cycle -- with one exception. And she lost her job for threatening the life of the president.

"Remember Oscar Arias?" Dallas Morning News (Nov. 3, 1996). Though the Nobel laureate and former president of Costa Rica is no longer in the spotlight, he's still preaching peace and reconciliation.

"Where There's Smoke," Columbia Journalism Review (September-October, 1996) -- Stories about black church burnings began to appear in early 1996 and had pretty much disappeared by August. This story assesses the various stages of coverage.

"A Whitman Sampler," Texas Monthly (September 1996) -- It's been 30 years since Charles Whitman climbed the University of Texas Tower and started shooting, but the event remains firmly lodged in the public memory.

"Citizen Perot," Dallas Morning News (Aug. 18, 1996) -- a review of Gerald Posner's new biography of Ross Perot.

"What's Hot on the Web? A Guide to Texas Media Sites," Texas Monthly (August 1996) -- part of a comprehensive guide to Web sites in Texas

"Should the Coverage Fit the Crime?" Columbia Journalism Review (May-June, 1996) -- This cover story explored an Austin TV station's effort to change the way it covers crime.

"Hector Perez Garcia, 82, Dies" The New York Times (July 29, 1996) -- an obituary reviewing the life of the founder of the American G. I. Forum
