EXPERIENCE

National Health and Human Service Policy

Throughout career, worked on national health and human service policy issues, with a special emphasis on health. For seven years, served as senior health and budget policy staff to the

Select Committee on Aging, U.S. House of Representatives.

As the Committee's Director of Health Legislation, developed and managed the Committee's policy with respect to federal health and human service budget policy, comprehensive health system reform, Medicare and Medicaid reform, central city and rural health systems, Alzheimer's disease research, mental health care, and re-designing health and human service policy addressing more vulnerable persons. Developed legislation, and worked with the House leadership, the Budget Committee, and the key health and human service authorization and appropriations committees. The approach has been to design national policy that unites and balances the respective interests of consumers, taxpayers, service providers and government.

National/Local Health and Human Service Models

Developed and managed model health and human service systems for nearly two decades. Most recently, directed the National Capital Area March of Dimes Chapter and developed a model for how nonprofit organizations should be organized and function over the next decade. Worked to upgrade program efforts with a special emphasis on establishing joint public and private partnerships to address health care access and programming to bring about healthier babies and families.

Served as Deputy Director of the Municipal Health Services Program, based at the Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions and funded by The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. As such, managed the five-city grant demonstrating how public (cities, States and the Federal government) and private organizations could more effectively organize and deliver health and human services in large cities.

Previously, was Director of Special Projects for the Milwaukee Health Department. Directed, developed, and acquired funding for a nationally recognized, four-site health and human service system incorporating the City, County, Medicaid, Medicare, local hospitals, a medical school, a dental school and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. Also served as Director of the Mother and Infant Care Project, Project Life and Health (preventive health), and the Municipal Health Services Project.

In the middle 1970s, served in Washington as a senior health program consultant with Kappa Systems, developing programs with national (NIH), state and local governments and voluntary health agencies.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

- 1990- Administration Director (Europe, Middle-East & Africa) - Grey International Advertising, London, United Kingdom

I work closely with the Chairman of Grey Europe - the largest division of a U.S. based advertising/marketing services company. Together, we are responsible for the management and co-ordination of Grey's operations in the Europe, Middle-East & Africa region. (125 offices in 25 countries, 2,500 staff.)

Most of my time is spent in the following areas: multinational account co-ordination, multinational new business, liaison between Grey New York and Grey Europe and serving as a mediator between different countries/divisions, etc. Our largest accounts in Europe are Procter & Gamble, SmithKline Beecham and Mars.

I am responsible for Corporate Communications and Public Relations for the region. I have dramatically increased the number of positive stories and mentions about Grey in both the trade and business press.

I travel extensively and plan and organise two group management meetings each year with our CEO's from each country in the region.

1988-1990 Managing Director - Clarke Hooper Direct, and Marketing Consultant, London and Slough, U.K.

In late 1988, I set up a consulting practice and began working with advertising agencies including: Saatchi and Saatchi, DDM Advertising and Clarke Hooper Consulting. My consulting activities included strategic planning, new business presentations, copywriting, staff recruitment and training. I took the post of Managing Director of Clarke Hooper Direct for most of 1989 and early 1990.

Specific client activities included:

For Clarke Hooper: Guinness Brewing, H.J. Heinz, the National Westminster Bank, Trusthouse Forte Hotels, Arthur Bell Distillers (Bell's Whisky and Gordon's Gin), Sony and Spillers (Pet Foods).

For Saatchi & Saatchi: British Rail, the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds and the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

1986-1988 Board Director/Management Supervisor - Ogilvy and Mather Direct - London, U.K.

I joined this agency in February, 1986 as an Account Director and was promoted to the Board in November of that year.

As a member of the Board of Directors of London's largest direct marketing/advertising agency, I was responsible for eight departments including two Account Groups and the Departments for Media, Lists, Database, Research, Information and Planning. I had eight department heads directly reporting to me and overall responsibility for 35 people. I served on the Board, the Executive Committee and the New Business Committee.

As a Management Supervisor, my responsibility comprised direction of the accounts in my groups which included: British Telecom, Philips (Consumer Electronics), Beecham (now SmithKline Beecham), Arthur Andersen, and the charities: Save the Children, Help the Aged, the National Trust and the Royal National Institute for the Deaf.

I was also responsible for office automation and I successfully completed a full redesign and implementation of the agency computer system.

1983-1986 Vice-President - Craver, Mathews, Smith & Company,
Falls Church, Virginia and London, U.K.

After working with them as a consultant, I joined this U.S. based advertising agency which specializes in direct marketing - particularly fundraising. I began as Director of Planning and I was responsible for the strategic planning for all the clients of the agency (about 25.) I supervised the fundraising staff and was a part of the small management team of the agency.

Additionally, I set up a research department, designed a number of new test programs, established a separate consulting division and I produced several large fundraising dinners.

In 1985, I developed a business plan for the establishment of a London office and I spent most of the year on a long term consulting contract with the Social Democratic Party in the U.K.

1981-1983 President - Solender, Kropp and Associates,
Washington, DC

With a partner, I established a firm which specialized in events and and direct marketing.

My activities included direct mail management, direct marketing consulting, event management, copywriting and research.

The clients included: Senator Dale Bumpers; the Committee for the Future of America (Vice-President Walter F. Mondale); the Democratic National Committee; Independent Action; the National Academy of Sciences, Public Interest Communications (a telemarketing firm); the Southern Poverty Law Center; Congressman Morris K. Udall and Craver, Mathews, Smith & Company.

1979-1981 Deputy Treasurer and Director of Direct Marketing Programs - Democratic National Committee, Washington, DC

I was promoted to this position in 1979 and as Deputy Treasurer, I was responsible for all aspects of the Direct Marketing program for the Democratic Party. I ran a department with a staff of four people and several freelance associates. During the 1980 Presidential campaign, my department raised over $3,000,000 in small contributions. This was a record achievement.

Additionally, I oversaw the computer systems at the Committee and I was a speechwriter for the Treasurer and other party officers.

Special projects undertaken during this time included:

Program Director - 1979 and 1980 Democratic Galas ($1,000 per person with the attendance of the President and Vice-President.)

Director of Credentials for the Finance Committee at the 1980 Democratic National Convention in New York

Advisor to the 1980 Democratic Site Selection Committee.

1975-1979 Assistant Comptroller - Democratic National Committee, Washington, DC

I was the deputy in the Accounting Department and responsible for accounts payable, payroll, fundraising accounting procedures and the preparation of Federal Election Commission reports.

Special projects during this time included:

Assistant Director for Headquarters Hotel Operations - 1976 Democratic National Convention, New York

Advance - The Democratic Whistlestop Train - Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, September, 1976.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Maggie,

First things first: I miss seeing you everyday.

Secondly: I am going back on my words of old -- don't ask for favors unless it's a 'do or die' situation.

Attached, you will find a copy of my sister, Janetta's resume. She is a wonderful and compassionate human being who idolizes Hillary Rodham Clinton to no end. Beyond that, she would do anything to become a part of the First Lady's Health Care Task Force, or to work with her in some capacity of health.

Knowing that the First Lady will be in Little Rock Thursday, Janetta would like to take five minutes to talk with her about healthcare and what she would like to contribute to Mrs. Clinton's efforts. (I understand how close to impossible this is but told Janetta I would ask.)

Since this is unlikely, I would appreciate your taking a second to look at Janetta's resume and letting me know if there is anything at all that she might be considered for. I would be forever grateful.

Call me at x7150 at your earliest opportunity.

Thanks, and hold on to 'Maggie'

Re: DANA RAYL WEST

To Whom It May Concern:

Ms. Dana Rayl West has been employed by Sagamore Health Network, Inc. since November 3, 1986 as the Director of Provider Relations.

During her tenure with our Preferred Provider Organization, Ms. West has demonstrated excellent skills in negotiating discounted pricing arrangements with physicians and ancillary providers throughout the State of Indiana. Consequently, Ms. West was instrumental in establishing a network of providers to be marketed to local and state-wide business and industry. Further, I feel the amount of time Ms. West devoted to areas such as Lake County provided her with valuable insight into less-than-favorable economic conditions and possible means of improving a particular situation. I believe Ms. West has an innate ability to bring people with varied interests and concerns together for mutually beneficial purposes.

Ms. West has been an extremely dependable and conscientious employee who is always willing to "go the extra mile" in order to ensure that a task is successfully completed. Her outgoing personality and easy rapport with peers and outside contacts have made her a valuable asset to our organization.

If any further information is desired, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Dana Rayl West, White House Picture Editor, is a highly competent individual who exhibits the best characteristics of her craft. Those characteristics are a deep sense of dedication and devotion to the photographic art and to the people whom she serves.

Dana has a keen eye for the editorial process and has the ability to select the single picture which will carry the story line effectively. She has a good sense of pictorial order and can select photographs from a variety of sources which play to and support each other. This is most evident in the production of the formal photographic album which is presented by the President of the United States to foreign Heads of State. This album, which is considered to be the official State Gift, comprises 30 to 40 pages of photographs of various events during the visit of the dignitary. The photographs must flow harmoniously and with a sense of direction from the beginning of the visit until termination.

A large portion of Dana's working day is spent dealing with the media. She must be constantly aware of what is being reported by the media, concerning the President, on all facets of both the domestic and foreign policy situations. These situations can change dramatically over a short period of time and what is a proper response now might be disastrous tomorrow. Therefore, the Picture Editor must remain up to the minute on the world situation. Dana's dealings with both the media and general public is always handled with courtesy and professionalism. She is tireless in her pursuit of excellence and voluntarily works long and arduous hours to meet the many deadlines imposed here at the White House.

On many occasions it was necessary for Dana to fill in as a photographer. During these times when it was necessary for her to photograph the President, First Lady, Vice President or staff personnel she did so calmly and with good results.

In summation, Dana West will be a priceless asset to any endeavor or enterprise in which she is associated.

Sincerely,

Billie B. Shaddix, Director

To Whom It May Concern:

Subject: Dana Rayl West Applicant

I am recommending Ms. Dana R. West for appropriate positions in the field of public information and divers communication media because I have first-hand knowledge of her skills and abilities in these areas. To wit, she has worked as a member of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Office of Personnel, Employee Relations and Equal Employment Opportunity Division since June of 1977. I serve as director of this division and Ms. West's immediate supervisor.

Since her employment began in this division, she has played a critical role in such program areas and special projects as:

- . HUD Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action Program.
- . HUD Spanish Speaking Program: Hispanic Heritage Week Project.
- . HUD Program to Observe Afro-American History Month.
- . HUD Employee Relations/Annual Incentive Awards Program.
- . HUD Federal Women's Program.
- . Special Outreach: Recruitment of Native Americans

Ms. West has performed a variety of technical, administrative and creative assignments which contributed substantially to the success of these programs.

Specifically, she has demonstrated a highly developed creative ability in the formulation of a cross-cultural approach to recognition of Hispanic contributions to American society. She researched and wrote a major article for the Department's official publication, Challenge, which traced the social economic and political contributions of Hispanics in the United States. The quality and impact of this writing was excellent.

Her administrative skills in coordinating the formal aspects of Hispanic Heritage Week were exemplary, especially in light of her recency to Federal service. She worked harmoniously with staff at all levels in the Department including the Office of Secretary Harris, contracts and procurement, administrative services, other personnel staff and operating program officials. Most importantly she proffered essential guidance (and inspiration) to public affairs staff in planning special press releases, mobilizing media support and producing video-tapings of significant events. These video-tapes were reproduced and distributed to all of the Department's regional (10) and field offices (80). She maintained constant contacts with regional office counterpart staff that is, to provide them with needed guidance and technical assistance.

Similarly, she played a key role in implementing the Department's Annual Awards Ceremony.

Most recently she has been involved in the most comprehensive Afro-American History Month Program conducted by the Department. Again, she proposed the theme for this occasion, established liaison with public affairs and other staffs and prepared the substantial portion of the Secretary's address concerning equal employment opportunity.

Generally, I have found Dana to be an exuberant, enthusiastic and hard working person; a skilled and competent communications specialist; adept in forging rapid rapport with peers and superiors; a thinker and doer, simultaneously; and an administratively competent individual. I rate her "high" on ability to learn the system and to get things done within its context.

She has evidenced a keen interest and sensitivity to matters concerning women and minorities, that is, in the areas of employment and career development opportunities.

Sincerely,

Frank L. Davis

- Room 488 : You know the status of room 488. When it becomes available we will have the table and chairs for it.
- Room 440 : Room 440 is a bit of a problem. As we set extra desks in existing offices for the Working Group, we had to remove couches, stuffed side chairs, credenza's etc. to make room. As we removed desks stored in Room 440, the couches etc. quickly replaced them. The solution to that problem will be to send the pieces to the warehouse for temporary storage. But that takes a few moments of organization--sounds simple, but has some complexity to it. Hopefully we can accomplish that by the end of next week.

Marilyn B. Funderburk

Marilyn B. Funderburk is the Founder and President of EMCEE International, Inc., a minority woman-owned special events, communications and public relations company incorporated in the District of Columbia. Prior to forming EMCEE International, Ms. Funderburk was a freelance special events manager for some of Washington's top special events and promotional firms and has done volunteer work for numerous charity organizations. EMCEE International was founded by Ms. Funderburk to offer corporations, associations, and a wide variety of governmental and civic organizations unique special events and promotions services.

Ms. Funderburk has created and managed a diverse number of events which include: A Tribute to Nina Hyde - an auction, dinner and fashion show benefit for The Nina Hyde Breast Cancer Project; An Evening with Calvin Klein - fashion show and dinner premiering Calvin Klein's fall collection for the first time outside of New York City as a benefit for the Duke Ellington High School for the Arts; the opening night of "Sarafina!", the hit Broadway musical - gala performance and reception as a benefit for the Ellington School; and the First and Second Annual Olympic Dinners honoring U.S. Athletes.

Ms. Funderburk also directed the opening of Cirque du Soleil, the French-Canadian circus which performed under tent on the Mall in Washington, D.C.; the 20th Anniversary of Ringling Brothers' Clown College in Venice, Florida; a Ringling Brothers' sponsored fund raiser for the Tampa, Florida Art Museum; the show produced for the unveiling of the Viet Nam Veteran's Memorial; and the Battery Park event during the "Liberty Weekend" celebrations in 1986. In the summer of 1990, Ms. Funderburk coordinated the Parade of Athletes during Opening Ceremonies of the Goodwill Games and the Summer Olympic Festival.

During the administration of President Jimmy Carter, Ms. Funderburk served as the Assistant Social Secretary to The White House. In this capacity she was involved in the planning and execution of every event which took place in The White House. These events involved a broad range of logistical and protocol considerations. Such events included: small private dinners which were held in the family quarters, political briefings and receptions, State Dinners and large events held on the South Lawn such as the visit of Pope John Paul II attended by 5,000 people.

Prior to her White House appointment, Ms. Funderburk spent a number of years as a volunteer planning charity events and she continues to contribute her time in this way. She recently chaired a concert given by soprano Arden Shelton as a benefit for Howard University College of Medicine. Ms. Funderburk serves on the Board of Directors of several arts and health organizations.

NEAL BENTON — STAFF

Scholar-athlete Bonnie Saint John thrives on challenges

From victory in Handicapped Olympics to Rhodes studies

By Brook Larmer

Staff writer of The Christian Science Monitor

Cambridge, Mass.

TAKE a glimpse at Bonnie Saint John's dorm room and you might think she is a typical college senior.

A swirl of crumpled sheets tops the mattress on the floor; papers, books, and a teddy bear clutter her desk; a squash racket leans against a wall, below a glass-encased poster celebrating the Olympics.

Nothing special.

Except that wedged between the poster and glass are three hard-earned medals for skiing in the 1984 Handicapped Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria. And pinned to the bear's arm is an honorary key to her hometown for winning a prestigious Rhodes scholarship.

"I'm always trying to keep up with people on two legs," muses the Radcliffe College senior, who has worn an artificial leg since she was 5. "But I think I over-compensate ridiculously," she says, shrugging off her accomplishments as just a lot of hard work.

Nothing special.

But Miss Saint John's plib explanation suggests a deeper basis for her athletic and academic success: She doesn't feel sorry for herself — and, to put it mildly, she doesn't shy away from a challenge.

"I'm not afraid to break down barriers

Please see SCHOLAR back page

in my way," the southern California native says later in a quiet café.

Saint John recalls the taunts of grammar-school classmates who called her "Wooden Leg"; the frustration of wiping out at every turn when she first went skiing as a 14-year-old; the difficulty of raising enough money to go to Burke Mountain Academy, a tucked-away high school in Vermont for expert skiers; and the dejection she felt when she broke her leg on her first day there, then shattered her artificial limb the day her leg came out of the cast.

When a friend asked her why she didn't pack it in after those agonizing first weeks at Burke, the answer seemed crystal clear: "I'm prepared to let outside things stop me," she says, "but not something from inside."

Bonnie Saint John's story is not about the problems of being female, black, and handicapped. Rather, it's about the heady sense of freedom she found bombing down slopes without her artificial leg. It's about the inner strength that made her one of the world's best handicapped skiers and one of 32 American college students selected in December to be a Rhodes scholar.

Saint John says her determination is inspired by her mother, who grew up in a New York City ghetto. Her mother, Ruby Cremaschi-Schwimmer, had a passion for learning that propelled her past the obstacles of race, class, and gender. And now, after dealing with a painful divorce and the death of her second husband, Dr.

3207 New L St. San Diego

Bonnie Deane specializes in making San Diego businesses more competitive and streamlined through Process Analysis and Redesign.

Typical benefits include 200% or more reduction in cycle time, 25% increase in productivity and 2 to 3 year payback. The strategic benefits are also significant: improved customer service, better management control and fast access to information throughout the organization.

She brings to the task a unique set of qualifications for helping organizations to transform themselves. As a world class ski racer (silver medalist for the US. Handicap Team in Innsbruck 1984) and a Rhodes Scholar, Bonnie has a special perspective on what it takes to be competitive or world class. Her degrees from Harvard (B.A.) and Oxford (M.Litt.) in international politics and economics demonstrate superior analytical ability.

Prior to joining IBM Bonnie analyzed a cross section of businesses while working with an investment banking firm in New York and Tokyo and also with an economic consulting firm in Oxford.

Since joining IBM, Bonnie has been trained in a variety of process re-engineering methodologies including: Process Management (IBM's Total Quality Management approach), Joint Application Design (Re-engineering for software development) and Image Services Process Re-design (Automation of paperflow). On a single engagement, Bonnie may use a combination of these methodologies and draw on experts in an industry, a function or a technology.

Bonnie has led process redesign engagements for organizations in the medical, financial, retail and public sectors.

GRETCHEN R. COOK

Gretchen R. Cook, a native of Washington, D.C., is presently pursuing a dual graduate degree in Japan Studies and International Economics as a National Science Foundation Minority Graduate Fellow at The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies, The Johns Hopkins University in Washington, where she is scheduled to graduate in May of 1993. Ms. Cook has completed coursework in such subjects as Advanced Japanese Politics, International Trade Theory, International Monetary Theory, International Law, Japanese Economy, International Relations of Southeast Asia, American Foreign Policy and Advanced Japanese Language.

Ms. Cook is a 1990 magna cum laude graduate of Spelman College in Atlanta, GA, where she received her B.A. in Political Science/International Affairs. She also attended the prestigious Nanzan University in Nagoya, Japan from 1988-89 as a Toyota Scholar, Merrill Scholar and Southern Education Foundation grant recipient. Upon graduation from Spelman College, Ms. Cook conducted a nine-month independent research project in Japan concerning the "Japanese Perception of People of African Descent" under the auspices of The Thomas J. Watson Foundation. In addition, she has carried out extensive research on the political implications of foreign investment in the United States and Japanese domestic and global energy policy.

Gretchen Cook has served as a research assistant for Tokyo Chunichi Shimbun (Newspaper) in Washington, editorial and news intern for USA Today, government relations intern for Toyota Motor Sales, USA, and as a junior account executive intern for Tobin & Associates Public Relations of Los Angeles.

Ms. Cook is a bilingual who speaks and reads Japanese on an advanced level, serves in the capacity of Japanese translator, teaches beginner's Japanese and writes articles for Japanese publications on a freelance basis. She is presently serving as a contributor a book published annually by The Edwin O. Reischauer Center and the International University of Japan regarding the state of U.S.-Japan relations. She is a member of The Association of Teachers of Japanese, Black Public Relations Society of Washington and former vice president of the Japan-Afro-American Friendship Association in Tokyo, Japan.

Ms. Cook is an avid reader and enjoys enhancing her knowledge of international trade, U.S.-Japan relations and U.S. foreign policy in her spare time. In addition, she is an active traveler who has journeyed throughout Europe, India, People's Republic of China and other parts of East and Southeast Asia.
