Dear Liz:

Thank you for making time to meet with me Tuesday afternoon; I enjoyed speaking with you and learning more about the Council's initiatives and current areas of focus. I mentioned your interest in some of the school's research work to our Dean, Mark Kamlet and to Al Blumstein, Project Director of the National Consortium on Violence Research and both were interested in exploring ways for the Heinz School to work with the Council.

We would like to invite you to speak at the Heinz School as part of our Professional Seminar series in which professionals involved in shaping public policy speak with our students. Past speakers include Jane Alexander, Chairperson of the NEA, Phillip Hyman, former Attorney General of the US, and Judy Feder, former Undersecretary of Health and Human Services, among others. Were you able to participate in the series, we could also arrange for you to meet informally with our faculty to learn about their individual research areas. Erik Devereux, the faculty member in charge of the series, will contact you to extend a formal invitation and discuss arrangements.

I've enclosed some additional information for you: a brochure on the Violence Center and one on our faculty. I would be happy to provide any other information you might need. You can contact me at the above numbers or at peyser@andrew.cmu.edu, my e-mail address.

Again, Liz, I enjoyed meeting with you and look forward to working with you on the internship program and other areas of mutual interest. Best wishes for the holidays.

Sincerely,

Summer Intern

Carol:

I am spending a "working" spring break this week in the office trying to catch up on writing projects and also sending messages that have been on my list for some time.

Ever since the President's State of the Union in January, I have wanted to write you. The President gave a wonderful address, and I was particularly pleased to hear what he had to say about the TV & violence issue. You may recall that when I was with the DP staff a couple of summers back, we started working with the idea of a White House conference on this issue. I followed, with interest, the news accounts of last week's meeting with TV executives.

I am planning to be in Washington sometime this summer, and would love to stop by and say "hello." If possible, I would also like to talk with someone regarding the administration's efforts to address HIV/AIDS. I have been asked to write a chapter for a book on the politics of AIDS, and my assignment is to look at how Pres. Clinton has addressed this issue. I know there is a WH liaison to the gay and lesbian community, and also the AIDS Policy Coordinator at HHS. Do you have suggestions on who I might be able to interview?

One last note in this much too long greeting.

[001]

Things are going well here at the University of Oklahoma. I know things might get a little "crazy" where you are in this election season. I feel confident, however, that Clinton/Gore will be given four more years due to the many good things you have done since '92!

Best Wishes--

Mitchell McKinney

SUBJECT: See attached

Mitch was an intern for us while working on his doctorate and now works at the University of Oklahoma.

On AIDS I have given him Patsy, Jeff and Marsha's names.

Pat, told him to call you when he knows his date(s) for being in DC so that I might see him.

Elizabeth, note the reference to a potential intern for this summer.

Thanks.
