SUBJECT: RE: New Staff

The only clarifications are: (1) Chris will not do the sole interviewing for the health care position; you and/or Jeremy must be in on all interviews and seen as the lead doing the interviewing with Chris simply present. I will interview finalist(s); (2) I also do not expect this person to be the one helping with his scheduling, admin. tasks. I see this person as a policy analyst, but like the second position in your email, NOT a senior policy analyst.

Thanks. Let me know if we need to discuss further.

SUBJECT: The Schmidt position

I have tried to give this some real thought this weekend. I think the most compelling argument you made is the issue of Jen being out in Nov. and December at a minimum and then Chris possibly leaving if we return to the White House.....

I can be okay with this position dedicated to health care if the position is not turned over entirely to Chris for selection nor total supervision as to how time is allocated, etc.....I have been screwed over on health from day one and I have some thoughts that I want to see pursued in children's health, evaluation of managed care, etc. and Chris has had not time and Jen gets diverted at random times.

Let's talk on Monday or Tuesday a.m. and this can surge ahead before we lose the position.

Carol H. Rasco, Assistant to the President for Domestic Policy
Domestic Policy Council
(Executive Office of the President)
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Ms. Rasco:

Thank you for taking time from your busy schedule to review my background. I am currently seeking new and challenging employment opportunities. Any insights that you can provide would be greatly appreciated.

The enclosed resume outlines the diversity of my experience in public administration, public policy and youth education. I have developed strong skills in program planning, coordinating and evaluation. Teaching and conducting research are also among my many qualifications. My strongest personal quality is that I approach any given task with a high degree of initiative, motivation and efficiency.

I believe that in order for a child to obtain a productive future, his/her economic, physical and social needs must be met wholeheartedly. Most importantly, every child should have equal access to a quality education. For these reasons, it is important that I become a team member of an organization that is committed to implementing policies that benefit the educational well-being of children.

I am confident that my experience and personal qualities would be beneficial to the Domestic Policy Council. Therefore, I would appreciate a few minutes of your time to discuss positions where you think my skills and background would fit. You should expect to hear from me in a few days. If you need to contact me beforehand, please call me at (404) 656-4269 or (404) 768-8015.

I look forward to talking with you.

Sincerely,

September 20, 1996

Ms. Elizabeth Drye
Domestic Policy Council
Old Executive Office Building
17th and Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20502

Dear Ms. Drye:

I am interested in a detail position at The White House or on one of the Congressional Committees for a period of 6-12 months.

I have had many professional experiences, in both teaching and administration, which I believe would be of interest to you. Currently, I am Program Director, with permanent status, in the Directorate of Education and Human Resources at the National Science Foundation. I have also served as a Program Officer at Fund For The Improvement of Postsecondary Education (FIPSE) at the U.S. Department of Education. Additional administrative experience includes serving as Acting Director of Graduate Elementary Curriculum Programs at Howard University and Director of Clinical Laboratory Experiences at Clark Atlanta University. I have also served on several national boards and advisory committees.

My teaching experience includes teaching at very academic level, that is, from elementary through graduate school. My vitae will show that I have taught at Howard University, Clark Atlanta University, University of Maryland at College Park and Memorial University at Newfoundland, Canada. My most recent teaching experience was tenured Associate Professor of Science Education at Texas A&M University from 1984-1990.

As a native of Georgia, I began my professional career in Georgia public schools and moved to higher education after completion of the Masters' degree at the University of Georgia and doctorate at Rutgers University. Further studies include Yale University, University of California at Berkeley, and Emory University. I have also received special training in leadership development. The training included three years as a Kellogg National Fellow in a leadership development program. The program is designed to prepare potential leaders to be national leaders in various capacities.

As a Program Director at the National Science Foundation my responsibilities include the following: Analyzing and evaluating program plans and proposals; Assessing overall effectiveness, efficiency, and productivity of funded projects; Conducting outreach activities for professional institutions and organizations; Planning/setting goals, objectives and priorities; Assessing program, policy, and project feasibility; Meeting and dealing with professionals, scientists, and education officials at all levels; Representing the organization before a variety of people, including university presidents, agency heads, and other professional groups and political and career executives.

I have conducted research and published in the areas of education, science and health. My recent book entitled "Redirecting Science Education: Reform for a Culturally Diverse Classroom", has received national recognition.

These are interesting and exciting times to be in education while our Country is undergoing major reform in our educational system, especially in science and mathematics education. With my experience and training, as well as my enthusiasm and vigor, I believe I can contribute significantly in the implementation of President Clinton education agenda.

I am enclosing a copy of my biographical sketch for your review. If additional information is needed, I can be contacted at: (703) 306-1616 (office) or (301) 913-9443.

I look forward in hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Dr. Julia V. Clark

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF DR. JULIA V. CLARK

Julia V. Clark is Program Director of the Young Scholars Program at the National Science Foundation (NSF). She has also served as Program Director of Teacher Enhancement Program at NSF and Program Officer at the U.S. Department of Education.

She has a distinguished record as a scholar, educator, and administrator. She has served as a tenured Associate Professor of Science Education at Texas A&M University, Assistant Professor of Science and Mathematics Education at Howard University, Associate Professor of Biology and Science Education at Clark Atlanta University (formerly Clark College), Assistant Professor of Biology and Botany at Albany State College and Morris Brown College, Visiting Professor of Science Education at Memorial University in Newfoundland, Canada, and an adjunct professor of science education at Atlanta University and the University of Maryland, College Park. She has also taught biology, chemistry, physical science, and physics at the junior and senior high school levels from 1960 to 1968.

She received a B.S., 1960, Fort Valley State College; Masters', 1968, University of Georgia; and Doctorate, 1980, Rutgers University. She has completed additional graduate studies in Environmental Science at Yale University, Radiation Biology at the University of California at Berkeley, and Chemistry and Biology at Emory University.

Dr. Clark has been active professionally as a member of the National Association of Research in Science Teaching (NARST), American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), Sigma XI Scientific Research Society, National Science Teachers Association (NSTA), Phi Beta Delta Honors Society for International Scholars, Phi Delta Kappa, American Association of University Women (AAUW), and Minority Women in Science, among other organizations. Throughout her career, Dr. Clark has published in both science and education. Her publications and research undertaken include a wide assortment of timely topics in cognitive development, science curriculum, women and minorities in science and mathematics, and leadership development. Her recently published book entitled "Redirecting Science Education: Reform for A Culturally Diverse Classroom", has received national recognition. She has traveled extensively as a speaker, workshop and seminar leader, sharing her expertise and talents across a diverse spectrum of audiences. Some of international travel includes trips to China, Japan, England, and Mexico. Over the years she has received an award from the Lily Foundation, an Outstanding Young Women of America award, a Distinguished Alumni Award, and she was a Kellogg National Fellow.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Acting Division Director, HRM

FROM: Division Director, ESIE/EHR Myra B. C38

SUBJECT: Conversion of Dr. Julia V. Clark to a Permanent Appointment

By way of this memorandum, I recommend the appointment of Dr. Julia V. Clark to a permanent position as Program Director in the Young Scholars (YS) Program. Dr. Clark has been with that program since September 1992, after serving two years as a Program Director with the NSF Teacher Enhancement (TE) Program. Prior to coming to NSF, she spent nearly a year with Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education (FIPSE) at the U.S. Department of Education and six years as Associate Professor of Science Education at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Clark obtained a Doctorate in Science Education from Rutgers University in 1980. She obtained a M.S. in Science Education/Biology from the University of Georgia and a B.S. in Natural Science/Biology from Fort Valley State College in Georgia. Dr. Clark brings with her a strong background in science education at all grade levels--elementary through graduate school. She has taught science in elementary grades; physical science at the junior high school level; and physics, chemistry, and biology at the secondary level. At the collegiate level, she has been a professor of biology, botany, and science education.

Dr. Clark is professionally active within the science education community. In addition to her public speaking engagements, she holds advisory positions within several education and professional organizations, including the Editorial Board, Journal of College Science Teaching; Advisory Board, Education and Instructional Technology, Public Satellite Consortium; National Technical Advisory Board, National Urban Coalition; Advisory Board, Administrative and Human Resources Programs, Trinity College; and the Consortium of Southern Colleges for Teacher Education. Dr. Clark's research experience ranges from cognitive development to application of clinical research to the field of education. Dr. Clark has an extensive publication record with articles in the Journal of Research in Science Teaching, Journal of College Science Teaching, Journal of Human Behavior and Learning, Science Education, and the Journal of Negro Education. She has served as a consultant for a number of publishers and is currently writing a science textbook for middle school.

Acting Division Director

Over the past year, Dr. Clark has been a valuable resource in the YS Program which has benefitted from her extensive experience with middle and secondary school education. She has contributed to the program by making improvements in management, as well as revising program goals and guidelines. Her prior experience in teaching and involvement with the NSF TE Program makes her well-suited to handling proposals submitted under the Mathematics and Science Teaching Perspectives (MSTP) component of the YS Program. Dr. Clark believes very strongly in the importance of the YS program and the vital role it plays in promoting the study and choice of careers in science and mathematics education on the part of high potential and high ability youth. She is an ardent and articulate advocate of the program both inside and outside the Foundation.

Dr. Clark brings diversity both to the YS program and the Division. The YS Program currently has two Program Directors. Neither Program Director is permanent. The program has had a series of temporary staff since its inception which has been detrimental in terms of continuity and institutional memory. For the Division as a whole, current staffing actions are intended to increase not only the ratio of permanent to temporary staff, but also the ratios of women and minorities. As of the date of this memorandum, only six of 20 program officers in the Division are permanent; of these only two are female and one is minority. The hiring of Dr. Clark aids the Division in achieving all three stated objectives.

Dr. Clark's current 12-month salary is $73,000. We recommend that she be appointed at the AD-04 level at an annual salary of $75,000 and that this appointment be effective September 1, 1993.

Thank you for your assistance in the recruitment of this highly qualified individual.

Approval:

Dear Ms. Rasco:

I am writing to express my interest in a position on your staff. While I have already applied for a position with the Office of Presidential Personnel, I wanted to contact you directly because of my interest in domestic policy. Enclosed please find a copy of my resumé.

As a practicing attorney and through political work, I have gained extensive experience in many issue areas, including gun control, tobacco regulation, education and legal profession reforms. I worked here in Georgia on the 1992 Clinton/Gore campaign as well as with the Presidential Inaugural Committee. More recently, I have worked on several state and congressional campaigns over the last few years and serve as a policy advisor for the Atlanta chapter of the Amercian Jewish Committee. I believe that I be able to fill any of a number of roles in the White House, particularly in the research and policy development areas. It would be a great honor and privilege for me to serve in the administration and I hope that you will keep me in mind for a position in your office.

I plan to be in Washington beginning on Wednesday, August 28 until Tuesday, September 3 and would greatly appreciate the chance to meet with you or someone on your staff to discuss possible opportunities in the administration. Thank you very much for your consideration. I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Very truly yours,

Dear Ms. Rasco,

I am submitting my resume for any openings within the White House that I may qualify for. It would appear that I have an adequate background in politics and working in high profile offices. Please consider the following;

- B.A. History, University of Massachusetts, 1996
- Internship with Congressman John E. Baldacci
- Internship with Senator Edward M. Kennedy
- Internship with the U.S. Senate Sergeant-at-Arms
- Excellent background with computers & software
- Supervision experience
- Strong writing and oral communication skills
- A team player with good interpersonal abilities

I have grown up with the politics and I feel I have a strong grasp on the political process. I have a strong work ethic and a driving desire to succeed. I hope that we may have the chance to discuss this opportunity further.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Dear Tom,

Thank you for your note expressing continued interest in a position at the DPC. ~~After~~ I was impressed with your work when we met earlier this year.
Although we do not have any openings at this time, ~~please~~
I will keep your resume on

Ms. Elizabeth Drye
Chief of Staff
White House Domestic Policy Council
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Elizabeth:

I would like to take this opportunity to once again express my interest in working for the Domestic Policy Council. In one of our conversations several months ago, you mentioned that while there were only one or two positions available in your office at that time, you anticipated several more openings following the election (should the President win!). If in the coming weeks you do find that your office has a position that might fit with my background and qualifications I would very much appreciate being considered for the job. I am still working closely with Dennis and others in your office on law enforcement and crime policy, but as I may have mentioned previously, I am also eager to take on new issues.

I hope all is going well with you and your office during this extraordinarily busy time. As always, please do not hesitate to contact me if I can be of assistance with anything. Thanks again for your consideration.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Tom", followed by a horizontal line.

Elizabeth Drye
Chief of Staff
Domestic Policy Council
The White House
17th and Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington D.C.

Dear Ms Drye:

Your name was given to me by Steve Warnith. I have worked with him on "English-only" issues. I enclose my resume and Form 612, and wish to be considered for any positions on the Domestic Policy Council that you deem appropriate.

I had an excellent 3+ years working for Federico Pena as the Director of Civil Rights at the Department of Transportation. Under the Secretary's leadership, we built the Office of Civil Rights from 18 to 84 positions. I started 6 regional civil rights offices, and hired and trained competent staff to work there. The staff has made great strides in handling equal employment opportunity complaints better and more quickly. For example, we reduced the average time to process a complaint from 532 days to 212 days.

I have experience in policy formulation. Indeed, in every position, I have had the opportunity to formulate policy and then to implement it. My experience is not limited to civil rights issues. I have also worked on education, crime, immigration, and to a more limited extent, health issues.

I would like to believe that my experience would be valuable on the Council staff. Thank you for your consideration.

Very truly yours,

Antonio J. Califa

MEMORANDUM FOR BOB NASH

FROM: Elizabeth Drye ED DPC

SUBJECT: Jane Loewenson

Jane Loewenson, a Senate Labor Committee staff member to Senator Dodd, is interested in working in the Administration and asked me to forward her resume to you (attached). Jane and I worked together in the Senate on health care and welfare issues while I was working for Senator Lieberman. We continued to work together on FDA reform legislation this past year. She has been a valuable and effective colleague, and I recommend her to you.

Jane is interested in working on health policy and/or children's issues in the White House or the agencies. Please let me know if I can be helpful as you consider her for positions in the Administration.

Dear Ms. Rasco;

I am presently a third year law student at Touro Law Center in Huntington, New York. I am writing to express my interest in working for the Office of the Executive upon my graduation in May, 1997.

I feel that I am unlike most law students in that I am committed to a career of service in the public sector. This past year, I was awarded an internship with the Honorable Ronald L. Ellis in the United States District Court in the Southern District of New York. Additionally, I have worked in respected New York law firms, a multi-national organization, and a major metropolitan agency. I also actively volunteer for the Congressional campaign of my local Representative. As you can see, I have experienced many different aspects of the legal profession, and have a strong interest in the public sector.

I would enjoy meeting with you in person to discuss any potential opportunities. Please feel free to contact me at any time at the number listed on my resume. I think you will find that I will make an intelligent, motivated, and hard working addition to your staff.

Sincerely,

Tiffany Foo

Dear Public Interest Employer,

We are writing to let you know that the John F. Kennedy School (KSG) of Government Office of Career Services and Harvard Law School's Office of Public Interest Advising (OPIA) have joined together to offer you the opportunity to recruit simultaneously on both our campuses. If you are interested in hiring for permanent or even summer positions, this is a wonderful and efficient way to connect with the outstanding students attending our schools.

We know that nonprofit and government employers often look for candidates with public policy training, legal and economic skills and leadership abilities. Many of our students offer all these qualities and are dedicated to public service. We recognize, however, that it is not always easy nor efficient to come to Cambridge to recruit students. With our offices coordinating employer services, you can schedule one trip to interview candidates from each school. If you wish to recruit at one or both of the schools, simply contact one of our offices and, if you indicate that you wish to recruit at the other school, we will coordinate your interviewing schedule.

Also enclosed is information from each school. The KSG and OPIA welcome job announcement from your organization, as well as any informational material which we can share with interested students and graduates. Summer job announcements are posted and advertised to current students. Permanent job descriptions are shared with current graduating students. If you are looking for applicants with additional experience, we will circulate announcements to alumni/ae; as a result your job announcement will reach a broad range of candidates.

Our students are exceptional individuals with a strong commitment to public service. We encourage you to take advantage of the opportunity to meet with these students at both of our schools. We look forward to hearing from you about scheduling a campus visit this fall or early next spring.

Sincerely,

SERVICES FOR PUBLIC INTEREST EMPLOYERS

The Office of Public Interest Advising (OPIA) was created in 1990 as the first office in the nation dedicated to educating students and alumni/ae about public service legal careers and assisting with job searches for public interest work. We define public interest work broadly to include nonprofits, legal services, government, Capitol Hill, public defenders, prosecutors, foundations, private public interest law firms, and non-traditional public service offices. OPIA offers a number of services to public interest and government employers:

Job Announcements

Our office is happy to post any employer job announcements for full-time, part-time, summer or volunteer positions. In addition to keeping binders of recent job announcements for students within the office, we list employers who we know are hiring in our monthly newsletter to students, and we send full and part-time openings to any alumni/ae who subscribe to our Job Alert Bulletin, sent out semi-monthly. Please direct announcements to:

*Office of Public Interest Advising
Harvard Law School
Pound 328
Cambridge, MA 02138*

Public Interest Job Search Guide

This publication, updated every year, contains detailed summer and permanent hiring information for over 1,600 government and public interest groups. In addition to giving this guide to HLS students, we distribute over a thousand copies to career services offices and individuals nationwide every year. There is no charge to employers who wish to be included in our Guide.

On Campus Interviewing

We welcome employers to interview students on-campus or to conduct informational sessions throughout the academic year. The official On-Campus Interviewing (OCI) period takes place during the first three weeks of October, and is coordinated by HLS Office of Career Services, which can be reached at (617) 495-3119. To facilitate the interviewing process during other times of the year, OPIA organizes resume collection and schedules interviews for employers.

Public Interest Job Fairs

As part of the Massachusetts Consortium of Law Schools, OPIA invites public interest and government employers to the Boston area twice each year to interview students for summer and full-time positions. Our first job fair is held at Boston College School of Law in October, and our second fair is held at Suffolk University School of Law in February.

PULSE (Providing Unpaid Legal Services)

For Boston-area employers, OPIA runs a pro bono program which helps students volunteer with local organizations. Our program is flexible; it is at the discretion of the organization and the student to design a placement which suits their needs.

We hope that you will take advantage of our staff and resources. If you would like further information, contact OPIA at (617) 495-3108.

Dear Ms. Drye,

The John F. Kennedy School of Government (KSG) at Harvard University wants to help you find the right people to fulfill the mission of your organization! By helping employers place highly capable individuals who are pursuing public and private sector analyst positions, public and non-profit management, international trade and development and public finance, the KSG is helping to satisfy its dedication to serve the public interest by preparing leaders for public service.

The KSG has an international reputation for preparing leaders for government service and for other institutions of democratic societies. The KSG confers Master in Public Policy (MPP) and Master in Public Administration (MPA) graduate degrees to over 450 accomplished students each academic year. These students are strategic thinkers, analysts, problemsolvers and effective team participants. In addition, MPA/Mid-Career graduates have many years of professional experience and are eager to advance to more senior level management positions. A sampling of jobs recently taken by graduates is attached.

I am inviting your organization to look more closely at the Employer's Guide which describes how the Office of Career Services (OCS) can help you access KSG graduates. The OCS can specifically help your organization find the right people by offering:

On-Campus Recruiting Services- Flexible schedule fall or spring semester.

Marketing your Job Openings- Announcements are posted and are also printed twice monthly in KSG alumni/ae newsletter.

Summer Interns- List your openings and seek qualified MPP students.

Kennedy Screen- A graduating student PC resume database.

Your organization has been identified as a potential employer that ideally interests and attracts Kennedy School graduates. Please review the enclosed information and an OCS representative will follow up with you soon to discuss the services and your interest in scheduling a recruitment visit to the Harvard campus.

Thank you very much.

On behalf of the Women's Information Network, we would like to extend our sincere thanks to you for serving as a speaker in this year's "Women Opening Doors for Women" event. Many young women have benefited from your willingness to share your experiences, both good and bad, that have contributed to your professional success. Your words of wisdom have truly opened doors for other woman striving to follow in your footsteps.

Above all, we hope that this was a good experience for you, and that you will continue your involvement with the Women's Information Network in the future. The Woman's Information Network is proud to be associated with women as accomplished as you, and is honored that you were a part of this very special event.

To express our thanks, we would like to suggest two ways that WIN might be helpful to you. First, you may use our job bank when looking to fulfill positions at your firm. Listings are free of charge and our low cost resume search service provides targeted matches upon request. Please see the enclosed job bank sheet for more information. Second, we can serve as a resource for women who come to you seeking advice on starting or moving up in their careers. WIN is a great place to meet colleagues, build skills, find jobs, and get involved with community service and politics. Please pass on the enclosed brochure to women you know. Lastly, feel free to call WIN if you have any questions, or think of any way that we can help you.

Thank you so much for your time, effort, and support. We would not be where we are today without it.

The Women's Information Network (WIN) was established in 1989 by a small group of women who had been working on the Dukakis/Bentsen campaign. This resourceful group of women sought a way to access the "old boys network" by creating a supportive, educational, and professional network of younger, Democratic women. It was in this spirit that WIN created a "job bank" of vacancy announcements so that WIN members could have an alternative resource to traditional job search approaches.

The job bank initially listed employment opportunities in the political arena, but has expanded to include other areas such as marketing, fundraising, media/communications, and science/technology. The job bank currently consists of over 100 vacancy announcements per month, job search and resume writing seminars, as well as other informational networking opportunities for WIN members. The job bank targets both recent graduates as well as a large pool of highly educated and experienced professional women seeking positions of responsibility.

Just as WIN's job bank benefits its members, it also benefits the employers who list employment vacancies. As you know, costly advertisements in local newspapers result in an onslaught of resumes, many which come from unqualified candidates. Your announcement in the job bank will specifically target college educated, professional women who have joined WIN to network and learn about various career opportunities. Placing your job vacancy announcement with WIN is free. In addition to the job bank, WIN also maintains a resume referral service. WIN members have the option of listing their resume with us. When employers inquire about eligible candidates for job openings, we are able to tailor a search conducive to the employers employment needs. This service is offered to you for a minimal fee.

We would love for you to take advantage of all the great benefits that WIN has to offer. You can mail us any job vacancy information, or fax us at (202)347-1418. Please feel free to call us at (202)347-2827 if you have any questions or wish to use our resume referral service. Thank you for all of your support. We greatly appreciate it.

Very truly yours,

Dear Ms. Drye:

As requested by Madge Henning, I am sending to you my resume, in advance of my White House Intern Application which I will send to you by the end of January after my exams.

My first semester here at Harvard Law School is drawing to a close. I am sorry that we have not as yet been able to speak on the phone. I understand that you are very busy, but until December 13, I can be reached at (617) 493-9518, if you wish to discuss my experiences or a position in your office. I am rarely in my room before 5:00pm, and I hope that this does not inconvenience you. If there is a good time for me to call you, please leave that information on my answering machine.

I will be at home in Connecticut studying for exams from December 14 to January 4, and I can be reached there at (860) 658-2328.

I spoke with Bill Bonvillian this evening, and I am sure you would have been happy to hear his warm praise of you. I very much look forward to speaking with you.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Hima Vatti".

Comments: Carol, thank you for calling me back today from Chicago! I am enclosing the resume of Alexander Russo, who served as Senator Feinstein's legislative assistant for education and labor issues for a couple of years. Subsequent to that he went to work with the Chancellor of the NYC school system. Alexander is bright, quick on his feet, thoroughly conversant with the major education issues that have been debated over the past couple of years. He does not function at the level of "the President's top advisor for educational policy," and he understands that this position does not operate at that level. But he is very good, and a joy to work with. I appreciate your consideration.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Special Assistant to the Chancellor, New York City Schools, New York, NY (8/95 - 1/96)

Policy adviser on federal, state, and local education reform issues, including proposals to raise academic standards, school violence prevention, governance reform, labor negotiations, and budget reduction efforts. Liaison to senior staff, lobbyists and other governmental agencies. Prepared the Chancellor for school visits, media events, meetings with city leaders and advocacy groups, and senior staff meetings. Drafted and reviewed public remarks, testimony, op-eds, decision memoranda, and press releases on a variety of high-priority issues.

Legislative Aide to U.S. Senator Dianne Feinstein, Washington, DC (5/93 - 8/95)

Legislative aide for education, Labor-HHS appropriations, and health care during the 103rd and 104th Congresses (with additional responsibilities for immigration, labor, and women's issues). Closely involved in the Gun-Free Schools Act, Goals 2000, Title I, FY93-96 Labor-HHS appropriations, the Mainstream health proposal, and immigration reform legislation (benefits eligibility, immigrant education, and Proposition 187). Participated in the Democratic Women Senators group, Mainstream Coalition, and Cancer Caucus. Core duties included policy and legislative analysis, negotiations with other offices and agencies, preparation for hearings, events, and floor debate, and representing the Senator to advocates and constituents. Drafted speeches, op-eds, briefing materials, remarks, press releases, and policy recommendations.

Research Associate, Policy Studies Associates, Inc., Washington, DC (6/91 - 5/93)

Planned and conducted case studies and national evaluations of policy initiatives such as Chapter 1, private school choice, school-to-work transition, and early childhood literacy programs for this independent consulting firm. Conducted interviews with experts and implemented field research at sites throughout the country. Prepared policy recommendations, reports, and research proposals.

English Teacher, Harvard-Westlake School, Los Angeles, CA (7/87 - 8/90)

Developed seventh- and tenth-grade courses in writing and English literature. Created new curricula and led grade-level teaching team. Conducted interviews and parent presentations as a member of the admissions committee. Coached three sports and served as student advisor.

EDUCATION

Ed.M., Education and Social Policy, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA (6/91)

Program included Kennedy School coursework in health, housing, and welfare policy as well as courses in education finance and economics, research methods, administrative reform, and a school-based internship in innovative literacy methods.

B.A., English Literature, Stanford University, Palo Alto, CA (6/87)

Degree in English and American literature included a special focus on modern American and Classical literature, as well as coursework in sociology and Latin American studies. Also tutored incoming freshmen and managed The Mendicants, a student-run singing group.

May 22, 1996

Dear Mr. Bonvillian:

I would like to apply for the Legislative Assistant position being vacated by Laird Burnett. I am a Senior Legislative Representative at the Service Employees International Union. My responsibilities include representing the federal legislative interests of 1.1 million SEIU members and over three hundred SEIU locals throughout the country.

Since joining SEIU, I have carried all of the union's issues to the Ways and Means, Commerce, and Finance Committees. I also lobby the Budget, Appropriation, and various authorizing committees. Medicare, and Medicaid dominate my responsibilities (close to half of our members are healthcare workers), but I also am responsible for welfare, taxes, employee benefits, and certain OSHA issues.

I have a expanse of experience on health and welfare issues starting in the Connecticut State Legislature and law school, and continuing for more than a decade to Clinton's healthcare reform bill and the Gingrich Congress. Today, I have responsibility for all legislative contacts on my issues including developing and implementing strategy, testimony and letters to Congress, grassroots, meeting with Members of Congress, and staffing our union's leadership.

At SEIU, I keep in touch with our grassroots work, but before joining the union I spent years around the country organizing issue and political campaigns. Much of my grassroots training came working for LEAP (a grassroots coalition in Connecticut), and later in low-income neighborhoods for a poverty group named ACORN. Between 1982 and 1989, I doorknocked, sat in living rooms, ran phonebanks, and supervised campaigns in poor neighborhoods.

I can be reached at (703) 684-6561. Thank you for your consideration.

Yours Sincerely,

Ned McCulloch

HOME: (703) 684-6561
WORK: (202) 898-3366

Education:

University of Connecticut School of Law; J.D. 1985. Course work in tax, constitutional, regulated industries, anti-trust and corporate law. Admitted to Bar in the State of Pennsylvania and District of Columbia.

Yale University; B.S. 1980. Major in Biology with course work in all areas of biology and other physical sciences, economics, accounting, writing, and literature.

Current Legislative, Policy, and Political Experience:

SERVICE EMPLOYEES INTERNATIONAL UNION

SENIOR LEGISLATIVE REPRESENTATIVE (1/89 to Present). Lobbyist/lawyer responsible for federal legislative affairs of 1.1 million member labor union. (SEIU is the third largest union in the AFL-CIO and represents over 450,000 healthcare workers)

Responsibilities include all healthcare, welfare reform, pension, and tax issues including Medicare, Medicaid, and healthcare reform. Also lobby on appropriations, federal budget, and worker safety (OSHA) issues. Position involves extensive contact with Ways and Means, Energy and Commerce, Finance, and Appropriations Committee Members and Staff. Additional contact with Labor, Banking and Budget Committees.

Responsible for policy development, strategy, drafting, negotiations, lobbying, grassroots efforts, and parliamentary tactics resulting in new legislation. Work individually, as staff to International President and other SEIU leaders, and as leader/member of coalitions.

Other responsibilities include fundraising from union members and locals; political field work; and expanding the computer capabilities of the legislative department to include extensive use of electronic databases.

Issue Campaigns

Healthcare Reform -- Six years of work on healthcare issues including Medicare and Medicaid financing, healthcare reform, long-term care, nurse staffing, and cost containment. Perform in key role developing SEIU legislative strategy, policy positions, message and theme. Draft legislation, testimony, and letters to Capitol Hill. In 1994, coordinated coalition lobby meetings in support of employer mandate and other key healthcare reform issues. Staffed Healthcare Forum at 1992 Democratic National Convention.

Welfare Reform -- Coordinated with Senate Finance, Ways and Means, and HHS staff developing welfare reform legislation. Drafted testimony delivered to Working Group on Welfare Reform. Work with Members of Congress and coalition members on welfare reform proposals.

Appropriations and Budget -- Meet with Chairmen and Committee Members in support of funding for Medicare, Medicaid, Education, Welfare, Food Stamps, and other programs of concern to SEIU members. Coordinated with the Committee for Education Funding. Added statutory and Committee Report language in support of the OSHA Bloodborne Disease Standard (a major worker/patient safety regulation) to Appropriations bills.

Earlier Experience

ACORN LEGISLATIVE DIRECTOR AND ASSISTANT POLITICAL DIRECTOR (6/85 to 1/89). Managed legislative efforts of nation's largest low-income community organization. Experience included work with Members and Committees of Congress, HUD and other executive branch agencies, coalitions, and the media. (ACORN had 60,000 members and an annual budget of $7 million.)

Major campaigns resulted in new legislation in the areas of housing, federal income taxes, and civil rights. Obtained changes in HUD Housing Programs that made funding and housing stock available to non-profit community organizations. Won key role in 1986 tax reform effort as a representative of the interests of low-income taxpayers. Built coalition of 162 national organizations in support of civil rights legislation.

Supervised field aspects of ACORN's involvement in political campaigns. Organized campaigns that resulted in election of 25 ACORN delegates to 1988 Democratic Convention and inclusion of key ACORN planks in Democratic platform. Organized Voter Registration and GOTV in three states with key Senate races in 1986. Organized voter contact for mayoral campaigns in 1985. Raised both hard and soft money for political efforts.

LEAP FIELD COORDINATOR (5/82 to 9/84). Field Coordinator for Connecticut's progressive coalition of labor unions, citizen's, women's, and environmental organizations. Provided LEAP-endorsed candidates with campaign expertise for polling, media, and field management and mobilized coalition membership as campaign volunteers. Successful in electing 75% of candidates endorsed by LEAP.

ANALYSIS GROUP (1/84 to 5/84). Assisted in development and product support of Politech, an IBM PC-based software that provided list management and targeting capabilities for political campaigns.

SUBSTITUTE TEACHER (11/81 to 5/82). Substitute teacher in Hartford public school system. Taught at all levels from elementary to high school in a cross-section of school on a variety of subjects.

NORTHEAST UTILITIES ASSISTANT TO CHIEF CORPORATE ECONOMIST (6/81 TO 11/81). Developed computer-driven macroeconomic forecasts of energy conservation programs for Connecticut's public utility corporation. Utilized economic forecasts in rate-making conflict.

CONNECTICUT STATE LEGISLATURES'S HUMAN SERVICES COMMITTEE ASSISTANT CLERK (1/81 to 6/81 -- Legislative Session of 1981). Principal assistant to Chairperson of Committee with jurisdiction over Medicaid, and all welfare and entitlement programs. Researched legislation on Medicaid, AFDC, SSI, Food Stamps, Workfare, General Assistance and other low-income assistance programs. Performed all necessary duties associated with operation of the committee.

Experience

Director of Program Development, Office of Water, Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 1994-present.

Developed a strategic agenda for the national water pollution control program, reporting directly to the Assistant Administrator for water. Major responsibilities include leading efforts to sustain the nation's Clean Water protections, and supporting efforts to enact positive reforms. This required extensive coordination within the Administration, with Members of Congress, the press, and interest groups. Other responsibilities include building ecosystem and community approaches to environmental protection, and developing an endangered species protection strategy.

Special Assistant to the Administrator, Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 1991-1994.

Advised the Administrator and Deputy Administrator on policy and technical issues, focusing on Superfund, the hazardous waste program and the pollution prevention and toxics program. Acted as a liaison between the Administrator and EPA programs; represented the Administrator to interest groups and other federal agencies. Projects included Superfund reauthorization, RCRA reform, Design for the Environment, lead programs (e.g. lead in paint and lead in soil), the toxics release inventory (TRI), and environmental justice in the siting of hazardous waste facilities.

Attorney, Environmental Protection Agency, Office of General Counsel, Washington D.C. 1987-1991.

Advised and represented EPA on legal and policy matters related to clean water and hazardous waste issues. Principal attorney for the Agency's implementation of the Clean Water Act toxic hot-spots program. Created and implemented successful national litigation strategy. Counseled Agency and prepared regulations governing pollution from oil and gas facilities. Representative to EPA "regulatory clusters" for the pulp and paper and the oil and gas industry. General Counsel's Award for Excellence, 1991.

Summer Associate, Saunders, Snyder, Ross, and Dickson, Denver. Summer 1986.

Analyzed the adequacy of environmental impact statement for nationally controversial dam project. Prepared complaints and answers in various civil actions.

Legal Intern, Natural Resources Defense Council, San Francisco. January-June 1986.

Wrote briefs, comments on an environmental impact statement, and internal memoranda concerning toxic agricultural run-off and federal grazing fees.

Research Assistant, University of California, Berkeley. 1984 - 1986.

Conducted research in environmental law and science, and commercial law.

The Governor's Trophy

Texas highest honor given to a Texan who has made a significant contribution to enhance the empowerment and employment of people with disabilities.

Honoree:

Libby Doggett, Austin

Accepting:

Libby Doggett, Austin

Ms. Doggett served as chair of the Disability Policy Consortium, a coalition of 20 disability advocacy organization for five years. She testified to the Legislature and government agencies regarding issues affecting people with disabilities. She diversified The Arc of Texas services by initiating four demonstration projects: Project Jobs; Inclusion Works; Personal Futures Planning (life planning); and Me Too, Texas (child care). She works to secure appointments of people with disabilities to statewide policy-making boards and commissions. Ms. Doggett co-authored the first book written on child care and the Americans with Disabilities Act, All Kids Count: Child Care and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) for The Arc of the United States. Ms. Doggett presents throughout the United States on topics related to people with disabilities.

Doggett named "Friend of ECI"

Libby Belk Doggett, this year's recipient of the ECI Advisory Committee's Friend of ECI Award, is honored for her efforts on behalf of Texas children, birth to age 3, with developmental delays. Doggett, whose background in education includes an emphasis on early childhood special education, was scheduled to receive the award at the 1995 ECI Statewide Conference luncheon on May 10.

"Every time we turned around, there was Libby Doggett," Don Rettberg, one of the original advocates of ECI, recalled as he described her involvement in the initial ECI legislation, passed in 1981.

Rettberg met Doggett while advocating for his son, Don Jr., who has Down syndrome, and spearheading legislation to fund early childhood intervention programs in Texas. Senate Bill (SB) 1224, an unrecognizable version of ECI legislation, was introduced in 1979, late in the 66th Legislative session and failed. However, a backup resolution was passed in the closing minutes of the session to create an Interim Study Committee on Early Childhood Intervention to explore services in Texas and fill any gaps in the system, Rettberg said.

Throughout this process, Doggett was there, Rettberg said. He and other parents knew her as Sen. Lloyd Doggett's wife, but wondered why she continued to appear. When Rettberg asked Doggett why she was so interested, he learned that she was working on her dissertation, and focusing on the process that led to the passage of SB 630 in 1981. She was studying its evolution, which included parent advocacy, the interim committee and the challenges they faced with legislators.

During the initial push for ECI legislation, Rettberg recalled, Rep. Bill Blanton, the House sponsor of SB 630, was struggling to influence his colleagues at the State Capital about the importance of early childhood intervention. Blanton once asked Rettberg, "How can I educate someone about this during a 30-second elevator ride?"

Rettberg had the answer.

"Libby was key in helping us educate senators and representatives to get the bill passed," Rettberg said.

Doggett would fill up her dance card with legislators at political social functions and take that opportunity to teach them about the bill to safeguard its passage, he said.

"Because of Libby's knowledge, and her contact with people, we could ask her to help us get the key decision makers together," Rettberg said.

Doggett facilitated meetings by writing key points as proponents of the bill worked to identify the bill's strengths and weaknesses.

"Libby stayed with us throughout the passage," Rettberg said. "She was in a unique position... She was able to open doors."

After receiving her Ph.D., Doggett's involvement with ECI continued. She served as a program consultant at the ECI State Office and as director of Homespun, an ECI program in San Marcos and among the first programs to promote inclusion.

After leaving ECI, Doggett opened doors as executive director of the Association for Retarded Citizens of Texas, now known as The Arc of Texas, the largest, voluntary, statewide, advocacy and training organization for persons with mental retardation and their families. While at The Arc, Doggett helped ensure that children and adults with disabilities were included in all aspects of community life. She also redefined The Arc's mission, increased revenue, and launched a successful strategic plan and public awareness campaign. Doggett also succeeded in involving young families, many whose children were enrolled in ECI programs, in The Arc.

Doggett, who moved to Washington, D.C., following her husband's election to Congress, continues to be an advocate for people with special needs.

"I plan to spend the next few years in Washington, D.C., with Lloyd, advocating for children, families, people with disabilities and others whose voices are not often heard," she wrote in a farewell letter prior to leaving Texas.

Libby Belk Doggett helped Don Jr.'s father, Don Rettberg, when he was spearheading legislation to fund early childhood intervention programs in Texas. Don Jr., pictured here with Libby, attended the Infant-Parent Program at the Austin-Travis County MHMS Center as a child and is now a senior at Anderson High School in Austin.

RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION

- WHEREAS: Libby Doggett has served with distinction as the Executive Director of The Arc of Texas since February 15, 1990; and
- WHEREAS: Libby Doggett's leadership has empowered The Arc to promote catalytic changes in the field of mental retardation services which will benefit people with disabilities and their families for years to come; and
- WHEREAS: Libby Doggett's service as Executive Director has resulted in a visionary Mission Statement, an aggressive strategic plan, effective public policy positions, a dynamic new governance structure, a strong central office staff, a spacious and well-equipped headquarters, and a healthy fiscal position; and
- WHEREAS: Libby Doggett's values, respect for consumers and families, and faith in the ability of volunteers to bring about meaningful change will leave a lasting impact on The Arc's plans, policies and programs; and
- WHEREAS: The Arc's volunteers and staff will greatly miss Libby's positive spirit, can-do attitude, personal warmth and limitless energy.
NOW THEREFORE BE IT
- RESOLVED: That The Arc of Texas Board of Directors hereby express its appreciation for Libby Doggett's contribution of time, talent and energy on behalf of Texans with mental retardation and other developmental disabilities during her term as Executive Director; and BE IT FURTHER
- RESOLVED: That the Board extend best wishes to Libby and her family as they explore new avenues of challenge in Washington D.C.

Adopted November 12, 1994
By The Arc of Texas
Board of Directors

Stephen Cavender - President
The Arc of Texas

Resolution In Appreciation

Libby Doggett

Whereas, Libby Doggett has served as the Executive Director of The Arc of Texas and has provided dedicated and enthusiastic leadership for more than four years; and

Whereas, Libby Doggett has been a strong and unflinching supporter of the self-advocacy movement in Texas; and

Whereas, Libby Doggett has proven herself to be a wild and crazy gal dancing at Billy Bob's during the Texas Advocates Convention; and

Whereas, Libby Doggett has never failed to find time for a hug, a kind word, or a listening ear for a volunteer or self advocate even with her busy schedule; and

Whereas, Libby Doggett is an inspiration of healthy living, a swimmer, a jogger, a roller blader, and almost a vegetarian; and

Whereas, Libby Doggett provided the skill and expertise necessary to allow Texas Advocates to receive it's first major grant, the Personal Futures Planning grant from the Texas Planning Council for Developmental Disabilities; and

Whereas, Libby Doggett has provided guidance and direction to the Texas Advocates and Self-Advocacy chapters over the years; and

Now, be it therefore resolved that the Board of Directors of The Texas Advocates issues this resolution in appreciation of Libby Doggett for her devotion provided to The Arc of Texas and The Texas Advocates during her tenure.

Dated this 7th day of October, 1994.

Ms. Elizabeth Dry
Chief of Staff
Domestic Policy Council
Old Executive Office Building, Room 222
Washington, DC 20502

Dear Ms. Dry,

I will be graduating in June from Harvard College with an honors BA in Social Studies, with a concentration in Political Theory. Lynn Hogan of the Democratic Leadership Council mentioned to me that the Domestic Policy Council might have an opening for someone interested in working on issues of child welfare policy. I am writing to express my interest in such a position.

During my years at Harvard, I have taken and audited a number of courses on social policy, including one course in which I wrote a research paper on the effects of welfare policy on women living with HIV, and another course on the development of social policy in America. Next year, I wish to pursue my interests in this area by working in Washington, DC. In particular, I would like to learn more about the process of policy development. I seek an entry level position, in which I could work with a team of policy researchers and observe how policy is formed.

I have included a copy of my resume for your perusal. In addition, I would be happy to submit writing samples, transcripts, and letters of recommendation. I believe that my academic research and writing experience, as well as my experience volunteering for a women's center in Israel, make me a good candidate to work for your office. I will call your office in the next few weeks to inquire about the possibility of speaking with you further on this matter. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Ms. Rasco:

As an honors graduate of Cornell University with 6 years of both domestic and international management and properties development experience, I am confident that I would make a successful associate with the Domestic Policy Council.

My professional qualifications include a recent project manager at a major real estate and hotel holding company in Singapore in which I oversaw the development department as well as various technical teams including architectures, engineers and construction teams. Previously, a property manager position at Gershwine Hotel in New York City and three years as an assistant operations manager at all-inclusive resort properties located in Saipan, Guam, and Thailand. And additionally, various accounting and internship experiences.

I received both my bachelor and master degrees from Cornell University with a concentration in hotel investment and financial management. Beside my strong financial and management background, my work experience includes international land-development financing, joint-venture and asset management. This combination coupled with hard working ethic make me a strong candidate for your consideration. On a personal note, I was born in Cambodia and have been a responsible and proud United States citizen for nearly twenty years.

I would appreciate the opportunity to discuss how my background could meet the needs of the Domestic Policy Council. I can be contacted at the above number (703) 941-4970 both days and evenings. Once again, thank you for your attention and consideration. I look forward to hearing to from you and possibly an arrangement for a convenient time to meet.

Dear Ms. Drye:

Enclosed please find a resume and some background materials related to my professional endeavors in the field of education.

I am interested in a position with the Domestic Policy Council addressing general matters and specifically that of education. From school-to-work to K-12 to education reform, the time is now to make education a national priority and as well fill in the gaps for what comprises a winning system of American education.

It would be a pleasure to talk this over with you in person. Thank you. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

ROBYN J. HICKEY

Robyn J. Hickey is a management consultant in human resources on issues related to the field of education. Her combined academic, education policy, and political background uniquely qualifies her as a strategist in the formulation and implementation of human capital issues. She has utilized this background to construct new educational linkages that accentuate long term growth and partnerships upon which business, education, labor and other interests can capitalize.

Concerned with the conditions of education, employment, and the environment, Ms. Hickey was a candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives from Southern California's 27th Congressional District near Los Angeles, and has attended national political conventions through 1992. As a Congressional Liaison for the American Council on Education, she helped focus Capitol Hill attention on the ties among politics, education, and the economy. She published on this critical linkage as early as 1979, and made presentations in this area before such groups as the American Education Finance Association and the American Society for Training and Development. She was named a Fellow to the National Institute of Education, Education Finance Division, and was appointed a professional consultant to the original Transition Team in the restructuring of the Department of H.E.W. into the U.S. Department of Education. She has actively participated in various national forums including The White House Conference on Productivity.

In business, Hickey has demonstrated considerable entrepreneurial initiative. She has served as a consultant for such organizations as the U.S. Department of Education, the Building and Construction Trades Department of the AFL-CIO, the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities, and the National Association of State Directors of Vocational and Technical Education. As a consultant for the American Association of Community Colleges, she worked with the Bush Administration on its education policies and strategies. As a result, Mr. Bush's first education appearance as President and the First Lady's first education award both occurred at an AACC national convention. Working with the National Association of State Directors of Vocational and Technical Education Consortium, she enhanced the group's ability to place at the top in the original Business and Education Standards grant program at the U.S. Department of Education.

Ms. Hickey has been involved in establishing business-education partnerships through the effective programs of such groups as Allstate Insurance Company and the National Alliance of Business, and through monitoring the relevant research of the National Center on Education and Employment and the National Advisory Commission on Work-Based Learning, among others. School-to-work activity was highlighted in her broad work with the National Education Goals Panel in Spring, 1994, when she assisted the Panel with a teleconference on this topic between the United States and Germany at the U.S. Capitol. School-to-work resoundingly came to the fore in her widely-circulated article (18,000 school districts) entitled, "Transition: School-to-Work," published by the National School Boards Association in 1995.

Robyn J. Hickey received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Teaching from the University of California at Los Angeles, Master's degree in Education Administration from Loyola Marymount University, and is completing her doctorate in Education Policy and Leadership at The George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

ABSTRACT

The School-to-Work Opportunities Act of 1994 and the Goals 2000: Educate America Act both encourage the creation of school-to-work partnerships. This article outlines the design of effective school-to-work programs and the roles of its participants. Three components of school-to-work programs include work-based learning, school-based learning, and connecting activities. The article describes hands-on activities for local school boards, the kinds of grants available to states and local communities, and the role of the employer community. A conclusion is that the creation of school-business partnerships should remain a voluntary, local matter. Through personal and direct business contacts, local school boards can play a strong leadership role in forming the most effective school-to-work programs. A sidebar offers recommendations for the National Skills Standards Board, which was established by Goals 2000: (1) conduct board actions on a regional basis; and (2) facilitate voluntary partnerships to develop skill-standards systems. Transition: School-to-Work

By Robyn J. Hickey

"Enough research exists to indicate traditional abstract learning helps only 30 percent of students and hurts 70 percent. Nevertheless, we continue using abstract and theoretical education models. The task is making learning relevant and answering the question, How do you make every child successful in the next step he or she chooses?"
J. D. Hoyer, Director of the National School-to-Work Office in Washington, DC.

The School-to-Work Opportunities Act of 1994, passed on May 4, 1994, provides a framework to broaden educational and career opportunities for all students, primarily through partnerships between and among secondary schools and postsecondary educational institutions, private and public employers, labor organizations, community-based organizations, and state and local governments. A 'systems approach,' emphasizing building state-wide initiatives around coherent systems that include these groups, encourages integration of functions to produce desired results.

The passage of another piece of national education legislation, Goals 2000: Educate America Act, was landmark as well in advancing high academic standards in our K-12 schools and relates to workforce preparation most directly through its Title V, which establishes a National Skill Standards Board. Goal 6 of the national education goals, Adult Literacy and Lifelong Learning, states, "By the year 2000, every adult American will be literate and will possess the knowledge and skills necessary to compete in a global economy and exercise the rights and responsibilities of citizenship." By integrating school-to-work; national education goals; and occupational skill standards through the National Skill Standards Board, this program from Washington has the potential to successfully transition the foundation of American public education from where it has been to where it should be going.

What is School-to-Work?

Key uniform elements in an effective school-to-work program include:

- work-based learning experience;
- school-based learning that provides an integrated curriculum of academic and occupational learning;
- a high school diploma or its equivalent enabling enrollment in postsecondary and/or college-level education; and
- an occupational skill certificate enabling entry into a first job on a career path.

Clear governance in the design, implementation, and monitoring of school-to-work transition programs is essential. Also, a program of study designed to meet the same academic content standards the state has established for all students; career awareness, exploration, and counseling within the academic realm; and workplace mentoring should all be part of the basic package for a school-to-work program in a state or locality.

School-to-work means significant changes in the way teachers teach and students learn in our schools. By taking advantage of the resources available in the business community, the changes can pay dividends.

Ms. Elizabeth Drye
Chief of Staff
Domestic Policy Council
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Ms. Drye:

It has come to my attention in a recent conversation with Steven Warnath, Esq., a Senior Policy Analyst with the Domestic Policy Council (DPC), that there will be several positions available within the DPC in the near future. I would like to take this opportunity to submit my resume for these positions and would appreciate an opportunity to meet with you or another DPC staff member in the near future.

As my resume illustrates, I worked on Clinton/Gore '92 in the Washington, D.C. office. My responsibilities included assisting the press and communications operations in Little Rock and as a research assistant for Mr. Warnath during the subsequent presidential transition. Since 1993, I have worked as a law clerk in the Government Relations Department of the J.C. Penney Co., Inc. where I have acquired substantial experience in a number of issues such as employee benefits, taxation, and collective bargaining. Also, I have recently completed a four-year night law school program at Catholic University and will take the Virginia bar exam in July.

I would greatly appreciate an opportunity to talk with you or another DPC staff member to schedule an interview in the near future. I may be reached at 202-862-4836 during regular business hours and at 703-379-6752 any other time. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Paul W. Kenefick

Re: Dare to Dream Video

As we discussed, following is a copy of the letter Carol Rasco received regarding the Dare to Dream Video. Apparently there has been earlier correspondence regarding the same event, though we are not sure what, if any, action was taken on that correspondence.

As you'll see from the letter, Ms. Grace Shafir would like to interview on video several women in the Clinton Administration as part of her Dare to Dream series.

Carol Rasco thinks this sounds like a good idea, but will leave the decision up to your office as to whether it is something the Administration wants to pursue. If this is not something the Administration wants to pursue, I will contact Grace Shafir with a regret.

Thanks for your attention to this matter! If you have any questions, I can be reached at 202-456-5567.
