MEMORANDUM FOR WILLIAM H. ITOH

THROUGH: ROBERT BELL RGB

FROM: KEITH HAHN KH

SUBJECT: Commerce Draft Bill on Emerging Telecommunications Technologies Act

The purpose of the draft bill at Tab II is to reallocate 200 MHz of the frequency spectrum below 6 GHz from Federal to non-Federal use. This would provide additional frequencies for expanding existing and fostering new commercial applications, and would increase revenues to the U.S. Treasury. The bill also sets up mechanisms for joint spectrum planning and reporting. Finally, it provides means by which Commerce can set aside certain frequencies within this spectrum for specific government use.

In the past, Defense has opposed selling off portions of the frequency spectrum set aside for government use. However, Defense has bought off on the provisions for Commerce to set aside those frequencies within this spectrum that Defense thinks it might need, while freeing up the rest of the frequencies for commercial use.

This is a major income assumption in the budget -- $4 billion in this year's budget alone -- and failure to implement this change would require a significant reshuffling of the FY94 budget.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE AND NEEDBackground

There is broad agreement that telecommunications is vitally important to U.S. society today. Telecommunications contributes to the productivity of American business and the well-being of the average citizen through a wide variety of services, such as radio and television broadcasting, cellular telephony, public safety services, radionavigation, amateur radio, and national defense. Spectrum is thus a national, public resource that should be managed for the ultimate benefit of all American citizens.

Due to the explosive growth of telecommunications, congestion in some portions of the spectrum is beginning to impair the ability of U.S. firms desiring to offer new radio-based services to meet customer demand, expand existing operations, develop innovative new spectrum uses, and remain competitive globally. It is thus desirable to make more spectrum available to the U.S. private sector, while also promoting more efficient use of this resource.

Legislation is needed to reform the current system of spectrum management in the United States. Spectrum management reforms should benefit the public by increasing spectrum availability for existing and innovative new services; ensuring that scarce spectrum is put to its most valuable use; and by permitting the United States Treasury, on behalf of the American taxpayer, to realize a return on the economic value of the spectrum that accrues from the private, commercial use of this national resource.

Presently, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) manages use of the radio spectrum by all non-Federal Government users. The Department of Commerce, through the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA), manages Federal Government spectrum use under authority delegated from the President. The above-stated goals can best be achieved by taking two steps: (1) freeing up some frequencies now reserved for use by the Federal Government for the provision of new or expanded services sought to be offered by non-Federal users; and (2) providing authority for the FCC to make new license assignments through competitive bidding, subject to certain public interest exceptions.

The Proposal

The legislation would target 200 MHz of spectrum below 6 GHz for reallocation from Federal to non-Federal Government use, in order to promote innovation and development of the spectrum resource by the private sector. Thirty megahertz (MHz) could be reallocated on an expedited basis. As a critical element of this legislation, the FCC would be granted authority to use competitive bidding for awarding initial licenses for some spectrum, potentially including the spectrum reallocated in accordance with this legislation.

Key objectives of competitive bidding would be to promote the development and deployment of new spectrum-based technologies for the American public; to ensure efficient use of the spectrum; to promote competition in telecommunications services; to ensure that entrepreneurs and small businesses have reasonable opportunities to participate in competitive bidding; and to provide a return to the public on the use of this important resource. Moreover, the FCC would be required to use competitive bidding procedures during Fiscal Years 19__-19__ to assign at least 50 MHz of spectrum.

The FCC would be required to conduct a rulemaking implementing competitive bidding, to ensure that interested parties may address issues pertaining to the structure of the competitive bidding system and objectives to be met. U.S. Government users could be reimbursed for certain costs if they are moved to other portions of the spectrum. Revenues from competitive bidding would be paid into the U.S. Treasury, thereby providing a means to cover such costs and to provide additional revenues benefitting all U.S. citizens.

Competitive bidding is more efficient and equitable than current FCC procedures for assigning spectrum licenses where there are mutually exclusive applications. Currently, the FCC may use comparative hearings, which can be lengthy and expensive to applicants and the government; or lotteries, which are arbitrary and encourage speculation. Competitive bidding can ensure that spectrum is used by those who most value it, rather than those seeking to make windfall profits. Competitive bidding would ensure that spectrum is used more productively than if handed out for free to commercial entities. With the continuing concern over Federal deficits, the Federal Government should act to realize the revenue potential of spectrum competitive bidding.

The legislation addresses important practical concerns about competitive bidding. For example, competitive bidding would apply prospectively only to initial license assignments or construction permits, not to existing licenses, as many such licensees have already paid large sums in the secondary market to acquire their businesses. "Grandfathering" of current users would avoid disruption to existing services relied upon by the public. For similar reasons, competitive bidding would not apply to license renewals.

The legislation also exempts from competitive bidding certain spectrum uses that are essentially non-commercial or that have important public service attributes. The proposal would also exempt "end-user" licenses, such as those in the maritime service. The FCC, through rulemaking proceedings, could also grant additional exemptions found to be in the public interest.

Finally, successful bidders would not be given carte blanche with respect to frequencies they use. The FCC's allocation process would continue to determine the general spectrum uses for which licenses would be granted. Successful bidders would be required to operate under the conditions set forth in FCC licenses, subject to the broad public interest requirements of the Communications Act.

THE PROPOSED SPECTRUM LEGISLATIONSection-by-Section Analysis

Sec. 1: Short Title -- The bill's title is identified.

Sec. 2: Findings -- Spectrum is a valuable national resource, which is becoming increasingly congested below 6 gigahertz (GHz). To promote more efficient use of the spectrum, a target of 200 megahertz (MHz) should be reallocated from USG to non-USG use, and the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) should adopt procedures to distribute some spectrum through competitive bidding procedures.

Sec. 3: National Spectrum Planning -- The FCC and the Secretary of Commerce (Secretary) are to:

- conduct joint spectrum planning meetings at least twice each year to evaluate future spectrum needs and to promote spectrum efficiency; and
- submit joint annual reports to the President setting forth recommendations.

Sec. 4: Identification of Reallocated Frequencies -- The Secretary:

- shall identify a target amount of 200 MHz of spectrum below 6 GHz for reallocation from USG to non-USG use within 15 years, based on specified criteria;
- may identify from the target 200 MHz, an initial 30 MHz that can be made available for reallocation on an expedited basis; and
- shall provide final identification, within 24 months, of the total 200 MHz targeted for reallocation.

Sec. 5: Withdrawal of Assignment to USG Stations -- Withdrawal is to be effectuated as follows:

- the President may, within a limited time period, substitute frequencies for those recommended for reallocation, based on criteria in the legislation;
- the President shall withdraw from USG users that spectrum recommended for reallocation;
- the President may also establish different timetables for reallocation of certain spectrum, if necessary; and

MEMORANDUM FOR ANTHONY LAKE

THROUGH: ROBERT G. BELL RBK

FROM: RICHARD HOOKER RH

SUBJECT: ROTC Scholarship for (b)(6)

We were asked to look into Senator Bumper's letter requesting assistance in waiving the Army ROTC Scholarship application deadline for a constituent. The Army ROTC Scholarship program awards both three and four year scholarships on a competitive basis. Our investigation revealed that the student, (b)(6) never applied for an ROTC scholarship. ROTC personnel at Georgetown told her parents that, based on her grades, she could compete during her freshman year for a three year scholarship with a reasonable expectation that she would win. However, she was not offered one since she never applied.

(b)(6) is not eligible for financial assistance at Georgetown based on her parent's income and did not apply for student aid. The deadline for applying for a four-year scholarship expired in March and scholarship board members have returned to their regular jobs. Reconvening the selection board for a single case would be expensive and time-consuming and would probably raise questions about fairness and the integrity of the process. For these reasons we recommend that the President not take extraordinary steps to intervene in the scholarship selection process. We have drafted a letter from the President to Senator Bumpers informing him that we have researched the matter.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: ANTHONY LAKE
HOWARD PASTER

SUBJECT: Letter to Senator Bumpers

Purpose

To respond to Senator Bumpers' request for assistance on behalf of (b)(6).

Background

(b)(6) parents wrote to Senator Bumpers asking him to solicit your help in obtaining a four year Army ROTC scholarship to Georgetown University for (b)(6), who did not file an application. The scholarship selection board completed its deliberations in March and disbanded. At this late date, it is not feasible to reconstitute the board for a single case. Extraordinary measures to satisfy this request would raise questions about fairness and the integrity of the process and might necessitate depriving a current winner. ROTC officials have coordinated with admissions officers at Georgetown and report that (b)(6) is a very strong candidate for a three year scholarship, if she applies in her first year. [001b]

WASHINGTON, DC 20510

April 20, 1993

93 APR 24 410 : 25

The Honorable Bill Clinton
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

I wanted to bring to your attention the dilemma of an Arkansas high school student who has been accepted into the fall class of the Georgetown University.

(b)(6)
has been approved for an ROTC scholarship for her 2nd-4th years at Georgetown. However, her paperwork did not arrive at the University in time for consideration for an ROTC scholarship for her freshman year. That scholarship is essential to her being able to have the opportunity to study at Georgetown. Her family is in an income category that renders them unqualified for any substantial grant, loan or scholarship programs.

[001d]

(b)(6) has been told by the University's ROTC officials that the Commander-in-Chief can seek a waiver of a deadline requirement that might allow a case like (b)(6) to be reconsidered for approval of an ROTC scholarship for her freshman year.

I wanted to urge that you consider that action so that (b)(6) can fulfill a dream to go to Georgetown.

I'd personally appreciate anything you can do to assist this talented young Arkansas scholar.

Sincerely,

Dale

MEMORANDUM FOR SAMUEL R. BERGER

THROUGH: ROBERT BELL RB
FROM: KEITH HAHN KH
SUBJECT: Letter from Howard Z. Lehrman

You asked us to contact Mr. Lehrman to obtain additional information about the concept he referred to in his letter to you (at Tab I). I reached Mr. Lehrman by phone on April 29 and talked for about one-half hour about his ideas on revitalizing the merchant marine force. He is specifically interested in establishing a Merchant Marine Reserve, and believes that this would have a ripple effect throughout the U.S. economy.

Many of his ideas have already been discussed in the context of the Maritime Revitalization interagency working group being chaired by NEC and Transportation. This group has been successful in keeping the existence and the agenda of this effort quiet, so as to avoid the industry and Congressional pressures that accompanied a similar review last summer. However, I shared some of the topics and proposals with Mr. Lehrman and he seemed very pleased to be taken into confidence on this issue.

He is primarily interested in obtaining a position in the Administration working on the revitalization of the shipbuilding industry. Mr. Lehrman indicated he would probably write again to offer you his services.

Dear Sandy,

I am sorry that we missed speaking on the phone when I called last week-end.

What I looked forward to discussing with you is a concept for a program which would make use of our RIF'd military personnel and doomed ship-building facilities while addressing our country's security concerns. In addition it would create employment in myriad ancillary areas.

The thrust of the program is such that the relatively low start-up costs would rapidly generate an economic stimulus nationally and a positive balance of payments internationally.

What makes this truly exciting Sandy, is that a similar program, but with a different format, has proven to be historically viable: one which can be quickly re-implemented since the basic resources, materials and trained personnel already exist but for which there are no plans yet for their utilization. My concept for their transition provides this.

I would appreciate the opportunity of giving you a complete overview of this program either by phone or in person. Please advise me which you would prefer. I promise that you will not find this a waste of your time.

Cordially

Howard

Reauthorization

At Tab II is Transportation's draft bill which provides funding for the Maritime Administration. This is a straight-forward reauthorization of existing MARAD programs. All new initiatives and programs that might normally be included in this authorization are now being discussed in the NEC interagency working group on Maritime Reform. Once the Maritime Reform IWG completes its work -- later next week -- its recommendations will be forwarded to the NEC. Any new proposals which emerge from this process will be submitted to Congress in a separate bill.

In any case, the bill at Tab II is needed until any subsequent legislation kicks in. No other agencies have raised any questions on this bill. Mark-up begins next Tuesday.

THE SECRETARY OF TRANSPORTATION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20590

The Honorable Al Gore
President of the Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Mr. President:

This letter transmits proposed legislation

"To authorize appropriations for fiscal years 1994 and 1995 for certain maritime programs of the Department of Transportation, and for other purposes."

This proposal, cited as the "Maritime Administration Authorization Act of 1993," would authorize appropriations for the three major maritime programs: Operating-differential subsidies, Operations and training, and the Ready Reserve Force.

Section 2 of the proposal would authorize funds for Operating-differential subsidies (ODS), which are the primary means of Federal financial support for the competitive operation of the U.S.-flag merchant marine engaged in the foreign commerce of the United States. The requested amount would provide for ongoing support of 54 liner and 29 bulk vessels.

Operations and training activities would include salaries and other expenses for the maritime education and training program, the national security support capability programs, and the emergency planning/operations program. The maritime education and training program includes operation of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, continuing assistance to six state maritime academies, and additional training for eligible merchant marine personnel. The national security support capability program funds the preservation, maintenance and security of ships in the National Defense Reserve Fleet (NDRF), other than those in the Ready Reserve Force (RRF) administration of the ship transfer and ship disposal program, and the emergency planning/operations program. Under the emergency planning/operations program, MARAD develops and administers activities to ensure continuity and control of maritime operations in times of national emergency, and administers programs to insure seamen and private shipping against loss in time of war. Operations and general administration expenses are also included under operations and training activities.

Section 2 would also authorize funds necessary to acquire and maintain the RRF, which is comprised of Government-owned, U.S.-flag ships maintained in the NDRF. The RRF is maintained in an advanced state of readiness to carry cargo to support the deployment of U.S. armed forces during a national emergency. Funding in 1994 would provide for continued maintenance and additional ships to move toward the Department of Defense fleet size goal for the RRF. The RRF Fleet Additions funding level would also permit MARAD to purchase additional priority ships to meet DOD sealift requirements.

The proposed bill also contains two technical amendments. Section 4 specifies the Secretary of Defense, rather than the Secretary of the Navy, as the government official who would request a vessel in the NDRF or the RRF for purposes specified in Section 11(b)(2) of the Act of March 8, 1946 (50 App. U.S.C. 1744(b)(2)).

Section 6 contains technical amendments to achieve uniformity between participation in the Student Incentive Payments program and the newly established Maritime Academy Reserve Training Program. These amendments address participation in both programs, including the required length of participation in reserve programs and sanctions for noncompliance with program requirements.

The Office of Management and Budget has advised that there is no objection, from the standpoint of the Administration's program, to submission of the proposed legislation to Congress, and its enactment would be in accord with the President's program.

I recommend that the proposed legislation be enacted by Congress.

Sincerely,

Federico F. Peña

Statement of Purpose and Need

THE SECRETARY OF TRANSPORTATION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20590

The Honorable Thomas S. Foley
Speaker of the House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Mr. Speaker:

This letter transmits proposed legislation

"To authorize appropriations for fiscal years 1994 and 1995 for certain maritime programs of the Department of Transportation, and for other purposes."

This proposal, cited as the "Maritime Administration Authorization Act of 1993," would authorize appropriations for the three major maritime programs: Operating-differential subsidies, Operations and training, and the Ready Reserve Force.

Section 2 of the proposal would authorize funds for Operating-differential subsidies (ODS), which are the primary means of Federal financial support for the competitive operation of the U.S.-flag merchant marine engaged in the foreign commerce of the United States. The requested amount would provide for ongoing support of 54 liner and 29 bulk vessels.

Operations and training activities would include salaries and other expenses for the maritime education and training program, the national security support capability programs, and the emergency planning/operations program. The maritime education and training program includes operation of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, continuing assistance to six state maritime academies, and additional training for eligible merchant marine personnel. The national security support capability program funds the preservation, maintenance and security of ships in the National Defense Reserve Fleet (NDRF), other than those in the Ready Reserve Force (RRF), administration of the ship transfer and ship disposal program, and the emergency planning/operations program. Under the emergency planning/operations program, MARAD develops and administers activities to ensure continuity and control of maritime operations in times of national emergency, and administers programs to insure seamen and private shipping against loss in time of war. Operations and general administration expenses are also included under operations and training activities.

Section 2 would also authorize funds necessary to acquire and maintain the RRF, which is comprised of Government-owned, U.S.-flag ships maintained in the NDRF. The RRF is maintained in an advanced state of readiness to carry cargo to support the deployment of U.S. armed forces during a national emergency. Funding in 1994 would provide for continued maintenance and additional ships to move toward the Department of Defense fleet size goal for the RRF. The RRF Fleet Additions funding level would also permit MARAD to purchase additional priority ships to meet DOD sealift requirements.

The proposed bill also contains two technical amendments. Section 4 specifies the Secretary of Defense, rather than the Secretary of the Navy, as the government official who would request a vessel in the NDRF or the RRF for purposes specified in Section 11(b)(2) of the Act of March 8, 1946 (50 App. U.S.C. 1744(b)(2)).

Section 6 contains technical amendments to achieve uniformity between participation in the Student Incentive Payments program and the newly established Maritime Academy Reserve Training Program. These amendments address participation in both programs, including the required length of participation in reserve programs and sanctions for noncompliance with program requirements.

The Office of Management and Budget has advised that there is no objection, from the standpoint of the Administration's program, to submission of the proposed legislation to Congress, and its enactment would be in accord with the President's program.

I recommend that the proposed legislation be enacted by Congress.

Sincerely,

Federico F. Peña

Statement of Purpose and Need for the Bill
"To authorize appropriations for the fiscal years 1994 and 1995 for certain maritime programs of the Department of Transportation, and for other purposes."

Section 209 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, ("Act"), states that after December 31, 1967, there are authorized to be appropriated for certain maritime activities of the Department of Transportation only such sums as the Congress may specifically authorize by law. The draft bill authorizes appropriations for the three major maritime programs, and this statement of purpose and need identifies the anticipated funding levels for these major programs, as well as other activities listed in section 209 for which the Department of Transportation proposes to seek appropriations for fiscal years 1994 and 1995.

"Sec. 2. Funds are authorized to be appropriated without fiscal year limitation, as Appropriations Acts may provide for the use of the Department of Transportation, for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1994, as follows:"

Section 2 authorizes specific amounts to be appropriated for fiscal year 1994 for the following activities:

"(a) For payment of obligations incurred for operating-differential subsidy, not to exceed $240,870,000."

Operating-differential Subsidies (ODS) are the primary means of Federal financial support for the competitive operation of the U.S.-flag merchant marine engaged in the foreign commerce of the United States. This program assists in the development and preservation of a modern, efficient and competitive U.S.-flag merchant fleet to serve both the commercial and national security needs of the United States by providing operating subsidies to American ship operators, which offset the higher total crew wage and benefit costs associated with operating U.S.-flag vessels as compared with foreign-flag vessels. The estimate is premised on a policy that current ODS contracts with U.S.-flag shipping operators will continue to be honored in FY 1994.

An appropriation of $240,870,000 to liquidate contract authority for ODS is requested for U.S.-flag operations in FY 1994. The requested amount would provide for ongoing support of 54 liner and 29 bulk vessels.

"(b) For expenses necessary for operations and training activities, not to exceed $80,081,000 including:

"(1) For maritime education and training expenses, not to exceed $41,013,000, including not to exceed $28,877,000 for maritime training at the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point,

New York, $10,344,000 for financial assistance to state maritime academies, and $1,792,000 for additional training expenses; and

"(2) For National Security Support Capability, Operating Programs and general administration expenses, not to exceed $39,068,000, including not to exceed $8,355,000 for National Security Support Capability expenses, $10,724,000 for Operating Programs expenses, and $19,989,000 for administration expenses."

Operations and training activities include salaries and other expenses for the several programs whose activities and expected funding levels for FY 1994 are described below.

The 1994 maritime education and training program (Title XIII of the Act) includes operation of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, continuing assistance to six state maritime academies, and additional training for eligible merchant marine personnel. Maritime education and training program expenses are anticipated not to exceed $41,103,000. Within this program, expenses for maritime training at the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York are estimated not to exceed $28,877,000; expenses for financial assistance to state maritime academies are estimated not to exceed $10,344,000; and expenses for necessary additional training are estimated not to exceed $1,792,000.

The U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York, offers a four-year undergraduate, full scholarship program which leads to a Bachelor of Science degree and to a merchant marine license as Third Mate or Third Assistant Engineer or both. In addition, the students are enrolled as midshipmen in the U.S. Naval Reserve and, if eligible, are commissioned upon graduation as ensigns in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

The state maritime academies program assists states in the education and training of individuals for service as officers in the U.S. merchant marine. Historically, assistance has been provided to participating states (California, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New York, and Texas) in the form of direct payments to the academies, incentive payments to cadets, and maintenance and repair of five ships on loan for use as training ships.

Finally, the Additional Training subactivity funds the personnel services and supporting costs associated with administration of the Merchant Marine Academy and state maritime academies program at the headquarters level, as well as the maintenance of current data on the maritime industry labor force. In addition, this subactivity also finances operating costs for training in shipboard fire fighting, marine diesel engineering and national defense-related courses using Merchant Marine Academy facilities. Additional training expenses are anticipated not to exceed $1,792,000 in FY 1994.

The national security support capability account funds the preservation, maintenance and security of ships in the National Defense Reserve Fleet (NDRF), other than those in the Ready Reserve Force (RRF), administration of the ship transfer and ship disposal program, and the emergency planning/operations program.

The NDRF ships provide the capability to meet additional shipping capacity requirements in times of national emergency.

Under the emergency planning/operations program, the agency develops and administers activities to ensure continuity and control of maritime operations in time of national emergency, and administers programs to insure seamen and private shipping against loss in time of war.

The other major category under operations and training activities is "operations and general administration expenses" which is estimated not to exceed $39,068,000 in FY 1994. Operating Programs consolidates the Emergency Planning activity and the Waterborne Transportation Systems activity. Its Operations expenses are estimated not to exceed $12,142,000 in FY 1994. The Waterborne Transportation Systems programs include facilitating the achievement by U.S. maritime industries of long-term productivity growth, improving the efficiency and use of domestic ports and intermodal transportation systems, increasing U.S.-flag participation in U.S. foreign commerce, improving U.S.-flag ship operations in the U.S. domestic trades, and research and development activities. Within Operating Programs, research and development is estimated not to exceed $1,741,000 in FY 1994. The goals of research and development, which funds the development and administration of new initiatives as well as research and technology projects in coordination with the efforts of private industry, the academic community, and State and local governments are the following: to improve the competitive position of the U.S. maritime industry, improve the efficiency and use of merchant shipping, increase the productivity of terminal operations, and improve shipping capability in the domestic waterborne trades. MARAD's programs emphasize cost-sharing with the maritime industry, state and local governments and other Federal agencies. The programs encompass seven principal theme areas, including intermodal transportation and port development, market promotion and financing of marine transportation, industry competitiveness, and marine environmental protection.

General administration covers executive direction, policy coordination, legal and general administrative functions, including accounting, budget, personnel, management and other associated administrative support functions. Its expenses are anticipated not to exceed $19,989,000 in FY 1994.

"(c) For expenses necessary to acquire and maintain the Ready Reserve Force, a surge shipping and resupply capability in the National Defense Reserve Fleet, in an advanced state of readiness and related programs, not to exceed $300,000,000."

The Ready Reserve Force (RRF) is comprised of Government-owned, U.S.-flag merchant ships maintained in the NDRF. The RRF is maintained in an advanced state of readiness to carry cargo to support the deployment and resupply of U.S. armed forces during a contingency.

The RRF ships are divided into two categories of readiness. Vessels designated as RRF ships are kept in a 4-, 5-, 10-, or 20-day advanced readiness state and may have specialized capabilities; these ships primarily address surge shipping needs of the Department of Defense (DOD). Some Roll-on/Roll-off (RO/RO) ships are maintained in Reduced Operating Status (ROS), a 4-day advanced readiness state. Vessels designated as other NDRF ships are maintained in a 30- to 120-day readiness state; these ships would primarily be utilized in longer term sustainment or as fillers for ships lost in wartime operations. They would also be available during national emergencies to maintain critical commercial and economic support.

The RRF Maintenance and Operations program has an FY 1994 funding level of $140,000,000. The Ship Activations activity provides funds for RRF test activations to measure overall fleet readiness. This program would provide partial implementation of the critical sealift requirements outlined in the DOD Mobility Requirements Study (MRS).

The Maintenance and Berthing activity funding level provides for maintenance of the RRF ships to meet current Coast Guard and American Bureau of Shipping regulatory requirements of the U.S. standards for the condition of the hull, machinery and systems and for civilian retention crews. The berthing expenses cover outported locations near activation facilities for 56 RRF ships.

The costs include long-term leases of berth space, utilities, security, and other charges. Less costly government facilities are also used when available.

The RRF Fleet Additions funding level of $160,000,000 would permit MARAD to purchase additional priority ships to meet DOD sealift requirements such as Roll On/Roll Off ships and tankers. DOD considers RO/ROs to be a critical and versatile ship type since they can carry heavy and outsize military cargoes, such as helicopters, tanks and heavy weapons. Currently, MARAD owns 17 RO/ROs and is in the process of acquiring 12 more. The DOD/Navy goal is to have 36 RO/ROs in the RRF by 1996, and a total RRF fleet of 140 ships by 1999. The RRF now totals 96 ships. Ten RO/RO ships would be placed in Reduced Operating Status (ROS) with live-aboard crews assigned.

Special Programs funding provides for RRF support activities, including logistics and spare parts management, and specialized RRF training.

"Sec. 3. There is authorized to be appropriated without fiscal year limitation, as Appropriations Acts may provide for the use of the Department of Transportation, $607,315,000 for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1995."

This section authorizes $607,315,000 to be appropriated for fiscal year 1995 in accordance with 31 U.S.C. 1106.

"Sec. 4. Section 11(b)(2) of the Act of March 8, 1946 (50 App. U.S.C. 1744(b)(2)), is amended by striking "Secretary of the Navy," and inserting "Secretary of Defense,"."

This section contains a technical amendment to Section 11(b)(2) of the Act of March 8, 1946, which would specify that the Secretary of Defense, instead of the Secretary of the Navy, is the Government official who, in accordance with the memoranda of agreement between the Secretary of Transportation and the Secretary of Defense, requests a vessel in the National Defense Reserve Fleet or the Ready Reserve Force for the purposes specified in Section 11(b)(2).

"Sec. 5. Section 308(c) of Title 49, United States Code, is amended by inserting "even-numbered" between "each" and "year.""

This section would amend Section 308(c) of Title 49, United States Code, on reports to Congress from agencies in the Department of Transportation. This amendment would authorize MARAD to submit its report to Congress on the condition of public ports every two years, instead of every year. MARAD believes that a more comprehensive report could thus be presented in the three specified areas -- economic and technological port development, the extent to which ports contribute to national welfare and security, and factors impeding port development. Changes in these areas occur more gradually than was believed when the provisions were first enacted. The responses of the port industry to these changes can be more meaningfully presented in a biennial report. In the past, MARAD has contacted the House and Senate committees regarding submission of these reports and received no objection to combining the 1986 and 1987 reports and the 1988 and 1989 reports. MARAD requests a change in the law to authorize submission of biennial reports to Congress.

"Sec. 6. Title XIII of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (46 App. U.S.C. 1295, et seq.), is amended as follows:

"(a) Section 1304(g)(2) (46 App. U.S.C. 1295c(g)(2)) is amended by deleting the period at the end and inserting:

'; provided, however, that any individual enlisted in the United States Coast Guard Reserve Training Program and participating in the Maritime Academy Reserve Training Program shall not be subject to the provisions of this subsection. '"

The United States Coast Guard has instituted a Reserve Program, the Maritime Academy Reserve Training Program (MARTP), at the State maritime academies. MARTP is designed to attract high-achieving State maritime academy undergraduates for special development as future Coast Guard experts in merchant marine related fields such as vessel inspections, vessel casualties and accident investigations. MARTP participants must maintain enlisted status in the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve while enrolled as undergraduates at the State maritime academies as well as fulfill all of the normal Coast Guard reserve requirements. The Maritime Administration has determined that MARTP participants should be eligible to apply for and receive the Student Incentive Payments (SIP) authorized by section 1304 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (46 App. U.S.C. 1295c)(the Act). The technical amendments contained in Section 6 resolve conflicts between existing statutory language related to SIP and MARTP.

Section 1304(g) of the Act requires all SIP cadets to accept midshipman and enlisted reserve status in the U.S. Naval Reserve. MARTP participants enlist in the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve. This amendment provides that any individual enlisted in the Coast Guard Reserve Training Program is not required, in addition, to accept midshipman and enlisted reserve status in the United States Naval Reserve (including the Merchant Marine Reserve, United States Naval Reserve) before receiving any SIP under this subsection.

"(b) Section 1304(g)(3)(D) (46 App. U.S.C. 1295c(g)(3)(D)) is amended by inserting the following new clause at the end of paragraph (D):

'provided, however, that any individual enlisted in the United States Coast Guard Reserve and participating in the Maritime Academy Reserve Training Program shall be obligated to serve only a period of time as may be established by the United States Coast Guard.'"

Section 1304(g)(3)(D) requires all post-graduation SIP cadets to fulfill a six-year military reserve commitment as a commissioned officer. MARTP participants are required to enlist in the Coast Guard Reserve for eight years; three years as enlisted personnel while attending a State maritime academy, and five years as officers after graduation. The amendment contained in Section 6(b) eliminates any conflicts between participation in the MARTP and SIP reserve programs.

"(c) Section 1304(g)(4) (46 App. U.S.C. 1295c(g)(4)), is amended by inserting the following after the first sentence:

'Any individual enlisted in the United States Coast Guard Reserve and participating in the Maritime Academy Reserve Training Program shall be subject to the requirements established for that program by the United States Coast Guard.'"

Section 1304(g) of the Act provides that SIP cadets who fail to complete the course of instruction be inducted into the U.S. Navy in enlisted status. MARTP participants, as enlisted personnel in the U.S. Coast Guard, are subject to sanctions imposed by the Coast Guard for failure to perform. The amendment resolves this potential conflict by requiring that any individual enlisted in the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve and participating in MARTP shall be subject to requirements established for that program by the Coast Guard.

"(d) Section 1304(g)(5) (46 App. U.S.C. 1295c(g)(5)), is amended by inserting the following after the second sentence:

'Any individual enlisted in the United States Coast Guard Reserve and participating in the Maritime Academy Reserve Training Program shall be subject to the requirements established for that program by the United States Coast Guard.'"

Section 1304(g)(5) of the Act provides that SIP cadets who fail to comply with other requirements of the SIP program enumerated in the Act be inducted into the armed forces. MARTP participants, as U.S. Coast Guard Reservists, are subject to sanctions imposed by the Coast Guard. This amendment provides that individuals enlisted in the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve and participating in the Maritime Academy Reserve Training Program shall be subject to the requirements established for that program by the Coast Guard.

SUBJECT: ROTC Scholarship for (b)(6)

You asked us to look into Senator Bumper's letter requesting assistance in waiving the Army ROTC Scholarship application deadline for a constituent. The Army ROTC Scholarship program awards both three and four year scholarships on a competitive basis. Our investigation revealed that the student, (b)(6), never applied for an ROTC scholarship. ROTC personnel at Georgetown told her parents that, based on her grades, she could compete during her freshman year for a three year scholarship with a reasonable expectation that she would win. However, she was not offered one since she never applied.

(b)(6) is not eligible for financial assistance at Georgetown based on her parent's income and did not apply for student aid. The deadline for applying for a four-year scholarship expired in March and scholarship board members have returned to their regular jobs. Reconvening the selection board for a single case would be expensive and time-consuming and would probably raise questions about fairness and the integrity of the process. For these reasons we recommend that the President not take extraordinary steps to intervene in the scholarship selection process.

MEMORANDUM FOR HOWARD PASTER

FROM: NANCY SODERBERG

SUBJECT: ROTC Scholarship for Arkansas Student

We looked into Senator Bumper's request for assistance in obtaining a four year ROTC scholarship for [redacted (b)(6)] of Little Rock (Tab A). Much of the information provided to Senator Bumper was erroneous. [redacted (b)(6)] was not awarded a three year ROTC scholarship, nor was a missed deadline a factor in her case. To date, she has never applied for an Army ROTC scholarship. The scholarship selection board met in March and the members have returned to their places of duty. Under these circumstances, reconvening the board to consider her individual application at this date is not feasible and might raise questions about fairness and the integrity of the process. We therefore recommend against Presidential intervention in this matter. [004b]

MEMORANDUM FOR NANCY SODERBERG

THROUGH: ROBERT G. BELL RB

FROM: RICHARD HOOKER RH

SUBJECT: ROTC Scholarship for (b)(6)

You asked us to look into Senator Bumper's letter requesting assistance in waiving the Army ROTC Scholarship application deadline for a constituent. The Army ROTC Scholarship program [004c] awards both three and four year scholarships on a competitive basis. Our investigation revealed that the student, (b)(6) never applied for an ROTC scholarship. ROTC personnel at Georgetown told her parents that, based on her grades, she could compete during her freshman year for a three year scholarship with a reasonable expectation that she would win. However, she was not offered one since she never applied.

(b)(6) is not eligible for financial assistance at Georgetown based on her parent's income and did not apply for student aid. The deadline for applying for a four-year scholarship expired in March and scholarship board members have returned to their regular jobs. Reconvening the selection board for a single case would be expensive and time-consuming and would probably raise questions about fairness and the integrity of the process. For these reasons we recommend that the President not take extraordinary steps to intervene in the scholarship selection process.

The Honorable Bill Clinton
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

I wanted to bring to your attention the dilemma of an Arkansas high school student who has been accepted into the fall class of the Georgetown University.

[redacted]
has been approved for an ROTC scholarship for her 2nd-4th years at Georgetown. However, her paperwork did not arrive at the University in time for consideration for an ROTC scholarship for her freshman year. That scholarship is essential to her being able to have the opportunity to study at Georgetown. Her family [004e] is in an income category that renders them unqualified for any substantial grant, loan or scholarship programs.

[redacted] (b)(6) has been told by the University's ROTC officials that the Commander-in-Chief can seek a waiver of a deadline requirement that might allow a case like [redacted] (b)(6) to be reconsidered for approval of an ROTC scholarship for her freshman year.

I wanted to urge that you consider that action so that [redacted] (b)(6) can fulfill a dream to go to Georgetown.

I'd personally appreciate anything you can do to assist this talented young Arkansas scholar.

Sincerely,

Dale

Dale Bumpers

My Dear Mr. President:

My name is Dorothy Hajdys and I am the mother of Seaman Allen R. Schindler, Jr., the sailor who was killed on October 27, 1992 in Sasebo, Japan by two fellow sailors from his own ship.

My son on September 24, 1992 told the Captain of his ship that he was homosexual. One month and three days later he was dead. I believe it was a gay-bashing.

I know that many people have written to you about this matter and I hope that this letter is seen by you and not given to someone else to handle. I am writing you this letter because I would like to meet with you personally and tell you my story.

I pray that if the ban is lifted on Gays, that there will not be more people killed like my son. Just because of who they are. I still can not understand how anyone could have that much hate for another person.

In 1963 I was a senior in High School when President Kennedy was killed. As a senior in high school I felt that he was a great man and would do great things to change our country. You are the First President since Kennedy that I felt could make a real difference in our Country.

I have been to Washington, D.C. and talked with members of the Congress and Senators. Congressman Mel Reynolds has been very helpful to me.

Enclosed is a copy of everything that I have found out since the death of my son from the Navy till February 12, 1993.

I hope that you will make my dream of Justice come true, and let me talk to you personally about my case.

Sincerely,
