25 October 1993

Bernard H. Martin
Assistant Director for Legislative Reference
Office of Management and Budget
Washington, D.C. 20503

Dear Mr. Martin:

The views of the Department of Defense have been requested on H.R. 3066, 103d Congress, a bill "To amend title 10, United States Code, to provide congressional consent for the employment of retired members of the Armed Forces of the United States by governments of newly democratic nations."

Advice is requested as to whether there is any objection to the submission of the attached report to the Committee.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Samuel P. Brick".

Samuel P. Brick, Jr.
Director, Legislative Reference
Service

Enclosure

The Honorable Ronald V. Dellums
Chairman, Committee on Armed Services
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Mr. Chairman:

This is in response to your request for the views of the Department of Defense on H.R. 3066, 103rd Congress, a bill "to amend Title 10, United States Code, to provide congressional consent for the employment of retired members of the Armed Forces of the United States by governments of newly democratic nations."

The Department of Defense supports this legislation. Subject to Congressional consent and Executive Branch approval, the employment of U.S. military retirees in the armed forces of newly democratic countries would foster the diffusion of U.S. democratic and human rights values within the military establishments of these countries.

This legislation would promote the Administration's objectives in developing democratic institutions in selected emerging countries, and in particular, would influence the evolution and development of their military systems. The employment of U.S. military retirees, on a case-by-case basis, would clearly demonstrate the democratic principles of civil-military relationships and civilian control of the military. It would further promote U.S. human rights objectives, both within the military and within the broader community of the emerging democratic nations.

The employment of U.S. military retirees by newly democratic countries would also foster military-to-military contacts and defense cooperation. Their experience and expertise could in certain cases reduce direct costs to the U.S. for military training and cooperation, and reduce the amounts of IMET and other funding. In addition, the retirees would disseminate U.S. military doctrine and technology, thus promoting compatibility and cooperation with military establishments and defense industries of the countries concerned. Accordingly, military members, or their dependents, should not suffer any loss of entitlements to retired pay or other benefits.

There is a small potential, in the event of mobilization in an emergency, for loss of access to U.S. military retirees employed by other countries. There is also some potential for compromise of sensitive information or technology. However, these matters would be resolved in accordance with U.S. law and regulation. On balance, the potential advantages outweigh these relatively minor risks, as long as effective controls are in place on such employment.

It is essential, however, that the employment of U.S. military retirees by foreign countries be authorized only on a case-by-case basis, with the approval of the Secretary of Defense and the concurrence of the Secretary of State. Consideration of such employment will inevitably be a policy issue, to be adjudicated at the level of the Secretary of Defense.

The Office of Management and Budget advises that, from the standpoint of the Administration's program, there is no objection to the presentation of this report for the consideration of the Committee.

Sincerely,

1 (1) It is in the national security interest of the
2 United States to promote democracy throughout the 3 world.

4 (2) The armed forces of newly democratic na-
5 tions often lack the democratic traditions that are a
6 hallmark of the Armed Forces of the United States.

7 (3) The understanding of military roles and
8 missions in a democracy is essential for the develop-
9 ment and preservation of democratic forms of gov-
10 ernment.

11 (4) The service of retired members of the 12 Armed Forces of the United States in the armed
13 forces of newly democratic nations could lead to a
14 better understanding of military roles and missions
15 in a democracy.

16 (b) CONGRESSIONAL CONSENT.—(1) Chapter 53 of 17 title 10, United States Code, is amended by adding at the 18 end the following new section:

19 "§ 1058. Military service with newly democratic na-
20 tions: congressional consent for retired
21 members

22 "(a) CONGRESSIONAL CONSENT.—Subject to sub-
23 section (b), Congress consents to a retired member of the 24 uniformed services referred to in subsection (b)—

1 "(1) accepting employment by, or holding an of-
2 fice or position in, the armed forces of a newly
3 democratic nation; and

4 "(2) accepting compensation associated with
5 that employment, office, or position.

6 "(b) DETERMINATIONS AND APPROVAL RE-
7 QUIRED.—(1) The Secretary concerned and the Secretary
8 of State shall jointly determine whether a nation is a newly
9 democratic nation for the purposes of this section.

10 "(2) The consent provided in subsection (a) for a re-
11 tired member of the uniformed services to accept employ-
12 ment or hold an office or position shall apply to a retired
13 member of the armed forces only if the Secretary con-
14 cerned and the Secretary of State jointly approve the em-
15 ployment or the holding of such office or position.

16 "(c) CONTINUED ENTITLEMENT TO RETIRED PAY
17 AND BENEFITS.—The eligibility of a retired member of 18 the uniformed services to receive retired or retainer pay
19 and other benefits arising from the retired member's sta-
20 tus as a retired member of the uniformed services, and
21 the eligibility of dependents of such retired member to re-
22 ceive benefits on the basis of such retired member's status
23 as a retired member of the uniformed services, may not 24 be terminated by reason of employment or holding of an
25 office or position consented to in subsection (a).

MEMORANDUM FOR ANTHONY LAKE

THROUGH: ROBERT G. BELL RG
FROM: STEVEN R. JONES SJ
SUBJECT: Letter to President from Senator Graham
RE: Florida and Defense Conversion Programs

Senator Bob Graham has written the President (Tab B) regarding the importance of defense conversion programs to the state of Florida. He wants to continue to work closely with the Administration, and cites the good working relationship he has with the Department of Commerce.

The proposed response (Tab A) reiterates the President's commitment to provide defense reinvestment and base conversion assistance to Florida and all areas hard-hit by the defense drawdown. It highlights last month's regional base conversion and reuse meeting held in Orlando. (The recent Technology Reinvestment Project awards were not mentioned because no significant contract awards went to Florida in this initial announcement -- additional TRP awards will be announced this month).

Senator Graham commends the work of Mr. Alvin Brown of the Department of Commerce's Economic Development Administration. Mr. Brown's activities and efforts in Florida are known to the NEC staff. The proposed response cites the Economic Development Administration's important role in defense transition efforts and thanks the Senator for his offer to assist the Administration in these important programs.

SUBJECT: Letter to President from Senator Graham
RE: Florida and Defense Conversion Programs

Purpose

To respond to a letter from Senator Graham (Tab B) regarding the importance of defense conversion programs in the state of Florida.

Background

Senator Graham stresses the importance of defense conversion programs and asks to work closely with us in the defense transition process. He cites the good working relationship he has with the Department of Commerce. Mr. Alvin Brown, who Senator Graham cites specifically, works in the Economic Development Administration (EDA) at Commerce.

Your proposed response (Tab A) highlights your commitment to defense reinvestment and base conversion programs. It expresses support for EDA's close working relationships with local communities and thanks Senator Graham for his offer to work closely with you on these important programs.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

Dear Bob:

Thank you for your recent letter regarding the importance of our defense reinvestment and conversion programs to the state of Florida.

As you are aware, we continue to work hard to implement the $20 billion, five-year program I announced in March, along with the five-point plan to revitalize communities adversely affected by base closure and realignments.

I hope that the regional base conversion meeting held in Orlando last month will help speed this process and make it more efficient. I am encouraged by the close working relationship you describe between local Florida communities and the Economic Development Administration (EDA). The comprehensive assistance provided by EDA grants, along with new initiatives such as the EDA/DoD federal information clearinghouse for defense conversion programs, fulfill critical roles in our overall federal response.

Thank you for your offer to work closely with us on these important defense transition initiatives.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Robert Graham

The Honorable William J. Clinton

The White House

Dear Mr. President:

Along with many other states in the nation, the State of Florida is directing substantial attention to the issue of defense conversion programs. As you are aware, defense programs are an integral part of the Florida economy. In reducing our defense infrastructure, which includes the closing and consolidation of military bases and the reduction and cancellation of military programs, we must give equal attention to filling the voids that such reductions cause in our state and local economies.

In the coming months I want to work closely with your Administration to ensure the defense transition process is as efficient as possible. It is my understanding that Alvin Brown with the U.S. Department of Commerce has already devoted considerable time and energy into achieving this. He has established the needed links with the federal, state, and local officials and demonstrates a strong grasp of the needs of Florida and the means by which to best meet them. Our office has a good working relationship with Alvin and has confidence in his abilities. We look forward to continuing working with him.

As always, please feel free to call on me on this or any other issue where I may be of assistance.

With warm regards,

Sincerely,

Bob Graham

Talking Points for Telephone Call to

Concurrence: Jeremy Rosner JR

RECOMMENDATION

That you call Representative Dellums and use the Talking Points

Tab I Proposed Talking Points

TALKING POINTS FOR CALL TO DELLUMS RE: AIRCRAFT CARRIER

- I am calling to talk to you about the aircraft carrier issue, which is at a critical stage now in both the authorization and the appropriations conferences.
- As you know, the President is strongly committed to building a new carrier (CVN-76). We decided in the Bottom Up Review that it should be funded in our FY 1995 budget request.
- Unfortunately, due to the Budget Committees' unwillingness to overrule CBO and direct that OMB scoring be used on the $2 billion DBOF outlay issue, we ended up with an outlay/budget authority (BA) mismatch that, in effect, gave the appropriators a free shot at putting the carrier in the FY 1994 bill.
- I know you succeeded in getting that money stripped out of the House version of the FY 1994 defense appropriations bill when that bill came before the House. However, the Senate put $3.4 billion in BA for the carrier in its version of the FY 1994 defense appropriations bill, so it is now a live option in the appropriation conference.
- I know you feel very strongly about the prerogatives of the authorizers and your responsibilities and powers as Chairman of the Armed Services Committee. I would not ask you to help us on this issue if the appropriators were insisting that funds for the carrier be appropriated without authorization.
- But as I understand the situation, the Senate version of the appropriations bill includes the Byrd Amendment, which would establish a requirement in statute that the funds appropriated for the carrier cannot be obligated unless there is a subsequent legislative authorization. Furthermore, I am told that the appropriations conference is willing to include the Byrd Amendment in its conference report.
- It seems to me that by offering to include the Byrd Amendment, the appropriators are saying they respect your basic principle that no major defense program, especially something as expensive as a carrier, should be appropriated without authorization.
- For that reason, I would hope you could accept this deal and drop your threat to contest the appropriations conference report on a point or order if the carrier money is in it.
- Consider the consequences if we don't find an acceptable compromise. From what I understand, the appropriators are warning that if you keep your threat in place they will zero the carrier and not use the budget authority that would free up for any program. That would mean we would have to apply scarce budget authority from next year's bill for the carrier when there was unused BA in this year's bill that we could have used for this purpose.

- Now maybe the appropriators are just bluffing. Or it may be that they are now so interested in taking each other's "special interest" add-ons (read "pork") that they've figured out that once all these add-ons are put in there really won't be any room for the carrier this year after all.
- But if that is the case, Ron, then they are setting you up as the fall guy. Why give them that shot? If you will let the appropriations conference know that you could accept the carrier money in their bill as long as the Byrd Amendment accompanies it, then we may be able to hold their feet to the fire and force them to use the budget authority for something we really need instead of using it for more unrequested add-ons that contribute little or nothing to our national defense.
- Can you help us with this?

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: Flag Officer Nomination

On behalf of the Secretary of Defense, I recommend you assign Rear Admiral Joseph W. Prueher, United States Navy, as Commander SIXTH Fleet/Commander Naval Striking and Support Forces, Southern Europe, a position of importance and responsibility previously designated to carry the grade of vice admiral, and nominate him for appointment to the grade of vice admiral. Admiral Prueher, age 50, currently serves as Commander Carrier Group ONE. He will succeed Vice Admiral Thomas J. Lopez, who is nominated for another position.

In order to carry out the duties and responsibilities of the proposed assignment, a flag officer must have demonstrated highly effective performance in senior leadership positions. He must possess a thorough understanding of the Atlantic command structure and the employment of strike and support forces. He must possess a thorough understanding of the requirements of the Mediterranean Sea, the Black Sea, and contiguous countries. Admiral Prueher meets these requirements.

This action will not cause the Navy to exceed the number of officers authorized to be serving in the grade of vice admiral.

As required by title 10, United States Code, section 601(d)(1), I have attached an evaluation of Admiral Prueher from the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff while assigned to a joint duty assignment.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

Through: Deputy Secretary of Defense

Subject: Flag Officer Nomination

1. In accordance with the provisions of title 10, United States Code, and DOD Instruction 1320.4, the Secretary of the Navy has recommended Rear Admiral Joseph W. Prueher for assignment as Commander, SIXTH Fleet, and Commander, Naval Striking and Support Forces, Southern Europe, and appointment to the grade of vice admiral.
2. I have reviewed Rear Admiral Prueher's performance in one joint assignment. As Deputy Assistant Chief of Staff, Studies and Analysis, US Atlantic Command, Rear Admiral Prueher performed as an intelligent, productive, and innovative leader in a wide variety of projects from joint, navy, air force, army, and marine corps operations to command strategic planning. He also demonstrated his versatility in diverse areas ranging from intelligence collection programs to logistics studies. Rear Admiral Prueher further excelled while serving as Acting Chief of Staff during two turnover periods, demonstrating his capacity and potential for greater leadership opportunities. I am confident he is well qualified for this assignment and advancement.
