THE SECRETARY OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20201

NOV 18 1994

The Honorable John E. Porter
Ranking Minority Member, Subcommittee on
Labor, Health and Human Services,
Education and Related Agencies
Committee on Appropriations
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Mr. Porter:

I am writing to inform you of our plans to use $350,000 of FY 1995 funds appropriated for the National AIDS Program Office to partially support the National AIDS Policy Coordinator (NAPC). These funds were included within the appropriation account for the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health.

I am fully aware that in your deliberations on the budget for this Office, a concern about the level of resources needed for directing and coordinating HIV/AIDS activities emerged. The Conference agreement specifies that $1,750,000 is available for these purposes. As noted in our justification to the Committees, funding was requested to provide support to both the Assistant Secretary and the NAPC.

The $350,000 identified for NAPC will be used to cover such expenses as rental of office space, communications, travel, supplies and equipment, and other support and contractual services. During FY 1995 the NAPC has been asked by the President to establish a new Interdepartmental Task Force on AIDS to ensure that HIV related activities of all Federal agencies are better coordinated and that inconsistencies in strategies and duplication of effort are eliminated.

I appreciate the Committee's continued interest in, and support of, this Department's response to the HIV/AIDS epidemic.

Sincerely,

Donna E. Shalala

Honorable Nancy Pelosi
 U.S. House of Representatives
 Washington, DC 20515

Dear Nancy:

I have enclosed for your review three pending reprogramming letters from two of our Departments. These letters were sent to the Subcommittee after Congress had adjourned last fall. The first letter is from the Department of Labor. It is a request to transfer $3,806,000 from the State Unemployment Insurance and Employment Service Operations account to the Program Administration account of the Employment and Training Administration. The Program Administration account is the basic salaries and expenses account of the ETA. The funds would be transferred from excess postage funds in the State Operations account. The 1995 appropriations act provides the Department the legal authority to transfer money between appropriation accounts; there is an understanding, however, that any transfer would be treated as a reprogramming of funds.

The second letter is from the Department of Health and Human Services. It informs the Subcommittee of the Department's plans to use $350,000 of funds appropriated to the National AIDS Program Office to partially support the National AIDS Policy Coordinator in the White House.

The third letter is also from the Department of Health and Human Services. It informs the Subcommittee of the Department's plans to use $400,000 of funds appropriated to carry out a new crime prevention program authorized by last year's Crime Bill to partially support the Ounce of Prevention Council established by the Crime Bill.

Honorable Nancy Pelosi
January 31, 1995

This Council cuts across several Cabinet Departments and is to be chaired by the Vice President. It is supposed to oversee the coordination of crime prevention programs in the Executive Branch.

I am presently inclined to turn down all three of these requests. Please let me know if you feel strongly about any of these.

Sincerely,

John Edward Porter, Chairman
Subcommittee on Labor, Health

Dear Mr. Chairman:

I am writing to urge your approval of the reprogramming request from the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to use $350,000 from funds appropriated for the National AIDS Program Office (NAPO) to partially support the office of the National AIDS Policy Coordinator (NAPC).

The budget justification from the Department made clear that NAPO funds were intended to support the coordination efforts within the Public Health Service and the coordination efforts across Departments by the National AIDS Policy Coordinator. The Interdepartmental Task Force on AIDS is designed to assure that the public health efforts of the PHS are integrated into the activities of other departments.

Data released by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) released last week documented that "the magnitude of the epidemic is clearly greater than earlier statistics indicated." In my view, the Congress needs to work cooperatively with the Administration to do whatever is necessary to coordinate our national AIDS efforts.

Again, I urge you to approve the HHS reprogramming request and I look forward to working with you to respond to the many challenges created by the AIDS epidemic.

Sincerely,

NANCY PELOSI

INSIDE MAIL

Dear Nancy:

I received your letter regarding the proposed reprogramming of funds from the National AIDS Program Office (NAPO) to the National AIDS Policy Coordinator (NAPC).

I have two substantive concerns about the request. First, I feel it is inappropriate to transfer resources from public health agencies to the White House. In addition, because the conference committee on our bill dramatically reduced funding for NAPO from the House-passed level, I am reluctant to approve a further reduction in funding at this time.

Nancy, although we disagree on the matter of the reprogramming, I would be happy to discuss these matters with you in the context of the 1996 L/H/E bill, and I look forward to working with you throughout the year.

John Edward Porter

Dear Madam Secretary:

This letter is in response to your reprogramming letters of November 18, 1994 that were addressed to the Chairman of this Subcommittee in the last session of Congress. I apologize for the delay in responding. As you know, there has been a great deal of activity here during the past month.

SENATE

REPORT
102-397DEPARTMENTS OF LABOR, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES,
AND EDUCATION AND RELATED AGENCIES AP-
PROPRIATION BILL, 1993

SEPTEMBER 10 (legislative day, SEPTEMBER 8), 1992.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. HARKIN, from the Committee on Appropriations, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany H.R. 5677]

The Committee on Appropriations, to which was referred the bill (H.R. 5677) making appropriations for the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1993, and for other purposes, reports the same to the Senate with various amendments and presents herewith information relative to the changes recommended.

Amount of budget authority

Amount of House bill	$240,360,387,000
Amount of Senate bill over House bill	+ 512,787,000
Total bill as reported to Senate	240,873,174,000
Amount of adjusted appropriations, 1992	219,036,041,000
Budget estimates, 1993	240,406,973,000
The bill as reported to the Senate:
Over the adjusted appropriations for 1992	+ 21,837,133,000
Over the budget estimates for 1993	+ 466,201,000

The Committee is, therefore, reducing the maximum award from $2,400 to $2,300.

Education of individuals with disabilities.—Special education programs receive a 7-percent increase overall. The Grants for Infants and Families Program receives an additional $60,000,000 to assist States facing a fiscal crisis to stay in the program and to provide awards to those States making progress toward full implementation.

Rehabilitation services.—Rehabilitation programs receive a 6-percent increase overall. These programs are critical to ensure that the promises of the Americans with Disabilities Act become a reality for individuals with disabilities seeking employment.

REPROGRAMMING AND INITIATION OF NEW PROGRAMS

Reprogramming is the utilization of funds for purposes other than those contemplated at the time of appropriation enactment. Reprogramming actions do not represent requests for additional funds from the Congress, rather, the reapplication of resources already available.

The Committee has a particular interest in approving reprogrammings which, although they may not change either the total amount available in an account or any of the purposes for which the appropriation is legally available, represent a significant departure from budget plans presented to the Committee in an agency's budget justifications.

Consequently, the Committee directs that the departments and agencies funded through this bill make a written request to the chairman of the Committee prior to reprogramming of funds in excess of 10 percent or $250,000, whichever is less, between programs, activities, or elements. The Committee desires to have the requests for reprogramming actions which involve less than the above-mentioned amounts if such actions would have the effect of changing an agency's funding requirements in future years if programs or projects specifically cited in the Committee's reports are affected or if the action can be considered to be the initiation of a new program. Prior Committee notification is required for actions requiring the use of general transfer authority, or which move funds between appropriations accounts. The Committee also wishes to be notified regarding reorganization of offices, programs, or activities prior to the planned implementation of such reorganizations.

Finally, the Committee requests that each department and agency submit to the Committee by February 1, 1993, their internal instruction necessary to implement this reprogramming authority.

ADMINISTRATIVE COST SAVINGS AND BUDGETING

The Committee has reduced requested funding in order to implement a personnel freeze. Funding is provided only to maintain in fiscal year 1993 the same number of full-time equivalent positions in total for each department as existed at the end of fiscal year 1992. Mandatory increases necessary to annualize the cost of positions, to pay cost-of-living adjustments and necessary retirement benefits are included in the recommended levels. The Committee

What is reprogramming?

Reprogramming is the shifting of funds within an appropriation account for purposes within the scope of the account that weren't specifically contemplated at the time of appropriation and that represent a significant departure from plans and resources described in agency budget justifications as modified by appropriations action.

What are the rules for reprogramming and which reprogrammings need to be submitted to the Appropriations Committees?

There is no standard set of rules for reprogramming. Rather, reprogramming rules and procedures evolve from understandings between Appropriations Committees and the Agencies under their jurisdiction. Each of the HHS Appropriations Subcommittees has its own reprogramming rules and requirements, as outlined below.

Labor/HHS: The Labor/HHS Appropriations Subcommittees require the Department to submit all reprogrammings that have the effect of redirecting more than 10 percent or $250,000 (whichever is lower) to or away from any program, project or activity, as defined in House and Senate Reports, or reprogrammings which:

- represent a significant departure from plans outlined in congressional justifications;
- initiate a new program, as defined in agency P&F schedules;
- result in changes in agency funding requirements in future years;
- shift funds away from program grants and contracts to augment administrative costs; or
- affect programs or projects specifically cited in Committee reports.

Agriculture: The Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittees require the Food and Drug Administration to submit all proposed reprogrammings (particularly significant departures from plans outlined in congressional justifications).

Interior: The Interior Appropriations Subcommittees' rules, which affect the Indian Health Service, apply to: shifts from one activity to another, or in cases where either Committee report specifies a break below the activity level, to the more detailed allocation; shifts within construction accounts from one project identified in the justifications to another; or generally, shifts which represent a significant departure from what is described in the justifications.

Any project or activity deferred through reprogramming cannot be accomplished later through another reprogramming, but rather, should be funded through the regular appropriations process.

Reprogrammings should only be submitted when unforeseen situations arise, particularly if postponement until the next appropriation year would result in loss or damage. Convenience or desire are not valid grounds for reprogrammings.

Reprogrammings generally should not be used to initiate new programs or change allocations that are specifically denied, limited or increased by Congress in Appropriations Acts or reports. In cases when such changes are absolutely required, regardless of the dollar threshold, the reprogrammings should be submitted.

Along with the above, any reprogramming exceeding $250,000 or resulting in an increase or decrease of more than 10 percent in affected programs must be submitted (except savings from a construction project in a Trust Territory that are applied to a shortfall in another project within the same territory).

All reprogrammings should be reported to the Committee quarterly, including cumulative totals. Any significant shifts among object classifications should also be reported.

All reprogrammings will be considered (with any objections raised) by the Committee within 30 calendar days, with the understanding that this deadline may be extended at the Committee's request.

VA/HUD: The VA/HUD Subcommittees require that the Office of Consumer Affairs submit reprogrammings that redirect more than $250,000 to or away from any program, project or activity, or reprogrammings which:

- represent a significant departure from budget plans presented in the justifications;
- change the agency's funding requirements in future years; or
- affect programs or projects specifically cited in Committee reports.

What steps are necessary to get reprogrammings approved?

Reprogrammings of funds under the jurisdiction of the Labor/HHS Subcommittee are to be in the form of letters from the Secretary to the Subcommittee Chairmen and Ranking Minority Members. Reprogrammings for all other Subcommittees are to be in the form of letters from the Assistant Secretary for Management and Budget to the Subcommittee Chairmen and Ranking Minority Members. Each letter should include a complete justification for the reprogramming, as well as a description of the affected programs, projects and activities, the effect of funding changes on current and future plans, and a table outlining corresponding increases and decreases. Incorporation of reprogramming intentions into budget justifications or opening statements does not constitute proper Committee notification.

In no cases should a reprogramming be executed until the Appropriations Committees have responded. All reprogramming letters must be cleared by the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Budget and the Assistant Secretary for Management and Budget. In general, where there are questions as to whether or not to submit reprogramming letters, agencies should err on the side of submission. No reprogrammings will be forwarded to the Congress after September 1 of a given fiscal year. Reprogrammings should not be sent directly to the Appropriations Committees. All reprogramming letters should be sent to Donna Keller, Division of Budget Policy and Management, Room 503H, HHH Building. The Division of Budget Policy and Management will track reprogramming requests Department-wide and coordinate their review within the Department. Any questions related to reprogramming guidelines should be directed to Jim Secraft, Director, Division of Budget Policy and Management at 690-6151.

I. BACKGROUND:

The White House established in 1995 an interdepartmental team responsible for coordinating policy development and public outreach on HIV/AIDS Policy. This group is referred to as the Interdepartmental Task Force on AIDS.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is actively involved in this interdepartmental effort and has a substantial stake in the success of the Task Force's work. HUD is the only agency contributing financial support to the Task Force during Fiscal Year 1999. The Office of Policy Development (OPD), Executive Office of the President, will provide administrative services to the Task Force on HUD's behalf.

II. AUTHORITY:

This agreement is entered into under the authority of 31 U.S.C. § 1346 (b).

III. THE UNDERTAKING:

Under this interagency agreement, OPD agrees to provide administrative support, on HUD's behalf, to the Task Force. The cost of such support shall not exceed $100,000 in fiscal year 1999. HUD agrees to make advances to OPD up to the foregoing amount for its expenditures for providing such support. Administrative services include but are not limited to: requisitioning of goods and services, funds management, and liaison with other agencies in the Executive Office of the President.

HUD will be billed directly through OPAC by GSA for the costs associated with the space occupied by the Interdepartmental Task Force on AIDS. The estimated cost for FY99 rent for 736 Jackson Place is $111,105.

HUD will be represented on the interdepartmental team by the Secretary or his or her designee(s).

IV. PERIOD OF AGREEMENT:

This agreement commences October 1, 1998 and shall remain in effect until September 30, 1999. The paragraphs herein memorialize the understandings, terms and agreements pursuant to which each involved organization shall act. This agreement may be modified with the advance written consent of both parties.

V. NOTICE:

All acquisitions made under this agreement shall comply with the Competition in Contracting Act, Pub. L. 98-369.

All capitalized equipment (equipment with a per item value in excess of $1,000 and a useful life exceeding one year), including computer hardware, telefax machines, and other equipment purchased for this project with HUD funds will be returned to HUD at the end of this agreement unless the parties enter into a follow-on agreement that provides otherwise.

No portion of these funds will be used to support publicity or propaganda activities prohibited by section 507 of Public Law 103-123, the Treasury, Postal Service, and General Government Appropriations Act, 1995; by the Anti-Lobbying Act, 18 U.S.C. § 1913; or by any other applicable law.

Re: Funding of ONAP by HUD

Attached is a copy of a memorandum sent by me to Jacquie Lawing at HUD concerning that agency's funding of our office. As you know, HUD provides funding for ONAP and the Interagency Task Force on HIV/AIDS.

I would REALLY appreciate it if you would call Secretary Cuomo sooner rather than later and ask him to fully fund our office. I would hate to add standing on the corner with a tin cup to my repertoire!

Thanks so much!

Re: HUD Support for Office of National AIDS Policy

I understand from Todd that you have been working to approve continued funding by HUD of our office, and was told today by Fred Karnas that there was some question as to HUD's ability to maintain full support for ONAP. I would like to request that HUD approve the funding request of this office and hope we can move on this as quickly as possible.

I would also like to request that HUD re-fill the administrative assistant position. This office has had no receptionist since the contracted employee from HUD left three months ago. We have been using interns and volunteers as much as possible, but this has proven to be non-productive. As we have mentioned, current administrative regulations require that all administrative staff support for this office be provided by HUD. This determination has been confirmed twice by the Office of Administration.

With respect to other issues that have been discussed, please be aware that HHS is providing substantial support for this office by means of agency representatives. Within the next few weeks, we expect to have at least five agency reps from HHS working here at ONAP. In addition, I have been working with other Departments to provide staff support, including USIA, USAID, Justice, Labor, and State.

I certainly appreciate that HUD is working diligently to reduce its overall expenditures. However, its support of ONAP is critical, and fulfills the President's commitment to this office and to his Administration's response to the AIDS epidemic.

I greatly appreciate HUD's past support and hope that you will continue to be our partner in the effort to end the AIDS epidemic.

RE: Support for the Activities of the Office of National AIDS Policy

This memorandum provides information on the request from the Office of National AIDS Policy (ONAP) and the Presidential Advisory Council on HIV/AIDS for continued financial support from HUD in fiscal year 1998.

Proposed Action

To ensure coordination of the housing, health-care and services components of the President's National AIDS Strategy and the identification of potential improvements in federal programs and initiatives addressing current and emerging issues in the HIV epidemic, continued funding at the level of $259,000 is recommended.

Background

During the last two fiscal years, the Department signed an Interagency Agreement with the Office of Policy Development, Executive Office of the President that provided that HUD would reimburse OPD for the administrative support that was provided to the Interdepartmental Task Force on AIDS for the coordination and development of policy and public outreach on HIV/AIDS issues. The National AIDS Policy Director serves as the chair of the Interdepartmental Task Force on HIV/AIDS to coordinate interdepartmental activities and provides the President with advice on AIDS policy issues.

The FY 1996 agreement was originally set at $245,000 and later modified, twice, to account for the subsequent separate arrangements with GSA on space rental costs. The final FY 1996 agreement provided for $115,555 and that HUD would be billed an additional $19,445 for space rental costs in FY 1997 by GSA as a reimbursement of such costs originally paid by HHS.

The FY 1997 agreement was originally set at $259,000 and later modified to account for a subsequent separate arrangement with GSA on space rental costs for $129,000 of this amount. The final FY 1997 agreement provided for the remaining $130,000 for administrative costs. The MOU for FY 1997 included the follow distribution of administrative costs compared to actual FY 1996 administrative costs:

ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS:	FY96 Actual	FY97 Request
Travel	28,286	23,000
Transportation of things	1,440	2,000
Rent, communications & utilities	6,910	15,000
Printing	3,069	35,000
Other services	14,461	35,000
Supplies	10,690	10,000
Equipment	50,699	10,000
TOTAL	115,555	130,000

Note. Space rental costs are not included in the above.

Specific Accomplishments of the Interagency Collaboration

- Assistance to the President in the development of the first National AIDS Strategy. ONAP and task force members developed information, recommendations and materials that were incorporated in the National AIDS Strategy that was issued in December 1996, that provides a framework for improving and continuing national response to HIV and AIDS.
- The first White House Conference on HIV and AIDS, held in December 1995, that provided a forum for residents, advocates and providers of care to address emerging issues and recommend responsive federal efforts. ONAP facilitated this solicitation of advice and helped to ensure appropriate representation by federal agencies in these discussions. HUD's Secretary participated in the Housing Panel and the responsive efforts of the Department to address the needs of persons with HIV/AIDS was noted in the President's remarks. Conference recommendations on housing were used in designing the HIV Multiple Diagnoses Initiative with HHS to create and evaluate model efforts to assist homeless persons with multiple diagnoses.
- Participation by HUD in regional briefings in Chicago and Cleveland that solicited public comment on program effectiveness and coordination of federal efforts.

- Briefings by senior HUD staff and AIDS housing residents and providers for the Advisory Council on housing issues that addressed client recommendations and information on the experiences of residents/consumers of AIDS housing and services, issues on AIDS discrimination and violations of fair housing/disability rights laws, and information on related HUD programs and initiatives.

Implications of above action

Potential alternative uses of the requested $259,000 are not identified in this memorandum.

Decision

___ Agree to continue funding ONAP at the $259,000 level.

___ Agree to continue funding ONAP at $ ____.

___ Do not support continued funding ONAP from HUD for FY98.

HUD sent letters on August 12, 1997 to notify eight jurisdictions of their eligibility to receive formula-based grants under the proposed Fiscal Year 1998 Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS (HOPWA) program.

This advance notice will assist these new grantees in initiating efforts to plan for the use of this anticipated program funding. The notices also contain a letter to the one previous grantee, Wisconsin, informing the State that it is not eligible in FY 1998 as a result of Milwaukee's new eligibility and the remaining areas of the State have less than the statutory threshold for formula allocations. In addition, the Office of HIV/AIDS Housing will send a letter to other States to notify those that their service areas are being reduced due to newly qualified metropolitan areas that will receive grant from HUD.

The White House established in 1995 an interdepartmental team responsible for coordinating policy development and public outreach on HIV/AIDS Policy. This group is referred to as the Interdepartmental Task Force on AIDS.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has been, and will be actively involved in this interdepartmental effort and has a substantial stake in the success of the Task Force's work. HUD was the only Agency contributing financial support to the Task Force during Fiscal Year 1995, and is the only Agency so contributing during Fiscal Year 1996. The Office of Policy Development (OPD), Executive Office of the President, will provide administrative services to the Task Force on HUD's behalf.

II. AUTHORITY:

This agreement is entered into under the authority of 31 U.S.C. §1346 (b).

III. THE UNDERTAKING:

Under this interagency agreement, OPD agrees to provide administrative support, on HUD's behalf, to the Task Force. The cost of such support shall not exceed $245,000 in fiscal year 1996. HUD agrees to make advances to OPD up to the foregoing amount for its expenditures for providing such support. Administrative services include but are not limited to: requisitioning of goods and services, funds management, and liaison with other agencies in the Executive Office of the President.

HUD will be represented on the interdepartmental team by the Secretary or his or her designee(s).

IV. PERIOD OF AGREEMENT:

This agreement commences immediately and shall remain in effect until September 30, 1996. The paragraphs herein memorialize the understandings, terms, and agreements pursuant to which each involved organization shall act. This agreement may be modified with the advance written consent of both parties.

V. NOTICE:

All acquisitions made under this agreement shall comply with the Competition in Contracting Act, Pub. L. 98-369.

All capitalized equipment (equipment with a per item value in excess of $1,000 and a useful life exceeding one year), including computer hardware, telefax machines, and other equipment purchased for this project with HUD funds will be returned to HUD at the end of this agreement unless the parties enter into a follow-on agreement that provides otherwise.

No portion of these funds will be used to support publicity or propaganda activities prohibited by section 507 of the Treasury, Postal Service, and General Government Appropriations Act, 1996, or predecessor provisions; by the Anti-Lobbying Act, 18 U.S.C. § 1913; or by any other applicable law.

Dear Ms. Fleming:

This letter is written to reiterate our discussions on September 7, 1995, with Mr. Jeff Levi of your staff on reducing your current space assignment.

Although several layouts were prepared by our Architect, it was determined that the space could not be reconfigured to reduce your assignment as you requested. The only potential for reduction that could be done resulted in the remaining space being unmarketable to other tenants. In accordance with the Federal Property Management Regulations, Temporary Regulation D-76, paragraph 101.17.302(b) - when a portion of space is relinquished, that space shall be consolidated and made accessible and readily assignable or marketable. Expenses required to alter the space to these conditions shall be borne by the agency. Since this space cannot be made accessible or assignable, we cannot accept the releasing of it.

You will continue to receive billing for your assignment which consists of 3,300 occupiable square feet. As an alternative to reducing your current assignment, we offered you approximately 2,500 occupiable square feet of space in Suite 300 to satisfy your needs.

If the alternatives presented are not acceptable, we will work with you to look for other GSA-controlled space that is vacant in the current inventory. Please let us know which course of action you choose to take so that we can expedite your request.

If you have additional questions concerning this matter, please contact Ms. Stephanie J. Mayo on (202) 708-5867. Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

INTERAGENCY AGREEMENT Between

THE OFFICE OF POLICY DEVELOPMENT
EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT and

THE DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

Summary

Attached is a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the Office of Policy Development (OPD), Executive Office of the President, and the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). In the MOU, HUD agreed to reimburse OPD for administrative support provided to the Interdepartmental Task Force on AIDS.

The White House established in 1995 an interdepartmental team responsible for coordinating policy development and public outreach on HIV/AIDS Policy. HUD is actively involved in this interdepartmental effort. OPD will provide administrative services to the Task Force on HUD's behalf.

Costs

Under the MOU referred to above, HUD previously agreed to reimburse OPD for up to $245,000 in FY 1996 for administrative support to the Task Force. The $245,000 estimate included funds for space rented through the General Services Administration (GSA). Since a separate arrangement has now been made between HUD, HHS and GSA on reimbursement for space rental, the parties now agree that the reimbursable amount should be $115,555.

Under the separate arrangement, GSA will credit HHS $19,445, representing a portion of the first quarter rent that GSA collected directly from HHS, and bill this amount to HUD in the first quarter of FY 1997. This reimbursement will ensure that all costs in support of the Interdepartmental Task Force on AIDS are borne by a single agency as required by Section 613 of P.L. 104-52.

Transfer of Funds

HUD will transfer $115,555 to OPD via the Online Payment and Collection (OPAC) System. The following is the HUD accounting information needed for transfer:

I uttered his name, and he appeared. [Laughter] This bill is the embodiment of the concept that the Vice President and I strongly espoused during our campaign last year. It will allow American companies, large and small, to pool their resources to compete and win in the international marketplace.

Our Nation leads the world in basic research. We also have to be second to none in moving new technologies from the laboratory to the marketplace. We have to unleash the creativeness and the inventive prowess of both corporate giants and start-up enterprises in order to spur economic growth and new jobs.

The cooperative arrangements envisioned by this legislation will become increasingly necessary as the costs and skills required to develop and manufacture new products exceed the resources of any single company. These alliances will also help our businesses reduce the time required to bring new products to market, which frequently determines who wins and who loses in today's competitive marketplace. Successful companies, in turn, will create high-wage, high-skill jobs that will help to revitalize our economy.

By clarifying and eliminating misapprehensions about antitrust risk, this legislation will allow joint ventures that can increase efficiency, facilitate entry into markets, and create new productive capacity that otherwise would simply not be achieved.

I'm confident this legislation will benefit both the consumers and the workers in the United States by strengthening our industrial base while maintaining a sound antitrust oversight to prevent improper collusion. Now is the time to strip away outdated impediments to economic growth and to our potential and to begin real movement in this last decade of the 20th century.

I'm pleased that the committee report stresses that this legislation is consistent with our international obligations. Our administration will implement this legislation in a way that honors the commitments as set forth in our treaties of friendship, commerce, and navigation, bilateral investment treaties, and free trade agreements, and various organizations for economic cooperation and development.

Again, I want to commend Chairman Brooks, Senator Leahy, Senator Biden, Congressman Fish, and all the other Members of the Congress who worked so hard to make this bill a reality and the leadership of both the House and the Senate. This is an example of how you can have a real bipartisan coalition to make America work again, to help our business and our working people to move forward in the global economy. And I am very excited about it.

And I know that the Vice President joins me in thanking the congressional sponsors for their strong leadership. And I want to thank all the people here around me who helped to make the bill a reality, members of the congressional staffs and of the high-tech community.

NOTE: The President spoke at 5:15 p.m. in the Oval Office at the White House. H.R. 1313, approved June 10, was assigned Public Law No. 103-42. A tape was not available for verification of the content of these remarks.

Remarks on Signing the National Institutes of Health Revitalization Act of 1993

June 10, 1993

The President. Ladies and gentlemen, I want to welcome all those of you who are here today for the signing of S. 1, the National Institutes of Health Revitalization Act of 1993, and to especially recognize the bipartisan coalition which made this bill possible, led by the Senators and the Members of the House of Representatives who are here. I also want to thank the representatives of the groups who are here, including the Women's Health Network, the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, the American Association of Medical Colleges, the Allen Guttmacher Institute, the Alzheimer's Association, the Human Rights Campaign Fund, the Breast Cancer Coalition, and the National Health Council, and perhaps others. If I've left anyone out, forgive me.

This legislation highlights the importance of programs administered by the National Institutes of Health, programs vital to our science and biomedical research base. The research carried out at NIH has already led to a healthier and far more productive America. However, there are many challenges still ahead. And this legislation provides the hope that someday we can prevent or cure diseases such as diabetes, cancer, coronary heart disease, AIDS, and Alzheimer's.

I'm particularly supportive of those provisions of S. 1 aimed at improving the health of women and minorities. It's important that we ensure that resources are devoted to increasing our knowledge about conditions which uniquely affect these populations. It's equally important that we expand opportunities and support for the inclusion of women and minorities in research activities.

In the 12 years since AIDS was first reported in the United States, much progress has been made through NIH-supported research. Gains have been made in making available treatment for AIDS and AIDS-related conditions. And clinical trials are underway to test possible vaccines for prevention or treatment of HIV infection.

Someday we're going to have a treatment for all those beepers that go off. [Laughter] They have to go to a vote. That's why we're hurrying this up.

We still face, however, an immense undertaking to address the needs of the nearly 300 of our fellow citizens who become infected with HIV each and every day. We must improve the effectiveness of our prevention activity, increase access to early treatment for already infected individuals, and strengthen our research programs. I am pleased to say that S. 1 provides a framework for the increased coordination and direction of AIDS research.

Finally, S. 1 reinforces my action of January 22d to lift the moratorium on Federal funding of transplantation research involving human subjects using fetal tissue from induced abortions. This research has promising application for the treatment of life-threatening conditions including Parkinson's disease, spinal cord injuries, Huntington's, and diabetes. At the same time, S. 1 puts in place important safeguards to ensure against possible abuses by providing a clear separation between research and abortion.

In signing the legislation, I underscore our commitment to address the immeasurable cost to our society and the suffering of our citizens from illness and disability. By strengthening and enhancing biomedical and behavioral research, this National Institutes of Health Revitalization Act is an important step in fulfilling our commitment to promote the health and well-being of all Americans.

And again, let me say a profound thanks on behalf of our Nation to the Senators and Members of Congress who are here and to those not here who provided important leadership in this effort.

[At this point, the President signed the bill.]

Q. Mr. President, what about the provision barring immigration by HIV-positive individuals in this bill?

The President. That's the will of the Congress. That's part of the law. I don't think in any way it undermines the overall importance of this law. We have to learn to deal with AIDS better for all of our people and for those who are here within our borders who are not citizens, we've got all we can do to do that. And I think we could benefit people all around if we can make progress in dealing with AIDS.

I think everybody who played a part in the developing of this legislation thinks that it's on balance still a dramatic step forward.

Let me just say on the fetal tissue issue alone, I can't tell you how many people I met all over this country in 1992 from both political parties who came to my campaign and supported me simply because I wanted to put a scientific basis back in our decisions on fetal tissue, I mean, people with parents with Parkinson's, with children with diabetes. One person who became a very close friend of mine and is now in our administration as the Director of the Small Business Administration in part came to my campaign because he had a child with diabetes.

This is a very, very important bill. And I thank all of you for what you did.

NOTE: The President spoke at 5:37 p.m. in the Roosevelt Room at the White House. S. 1, approved June 10, was assigned Public Law No. 103-43.

June 25 / Administration of William J. Clinton, 1993

Remarks on the Appointment of Kristine M. Gebbie as AIDS Policy Coordinator and an Exchange With Reporters June 25, 1993

The President. Good morning. Thank you very much. First, let me welcome Speaker of the House and other distinguished Members of the House of Representatives here. I appreciate their coming. I understand they were able to get a little more sleep than the Senators were last night. I also want to welcome all the rest of you here.

Before I make the announcement that we're all here to witness and to be a part of, I do want to say a word about the vote that was cast early this morning in the United States Senate to pass a version of the economic plan which I presented to them, which, to be sure, was changed to some extent from the House plan but still reflected, I think, a remarkable degree of courage: $500 billion in deficit reduction in the Senate plan, over 78 percent of the new revenues coming from people with incomes above $200,000, real commitment to significant budget cuts that were slightly greater than the ones in the House plan, and now clearly more budget cuts than tax increases.

The most important thing is that now both Houses of Congress, under very difficult circumstances, with the same old rhetoric of the last 12 years flying at them, had the courage to try to change this country for the better. What this means is incalculable. It means we can now move on to a conference committee with a clear signal to the financial markets that its interest rates should stay down and people should be able to continue to refinance their homes and finance their businesses at lower interest rates and that for the first time in a very long time an American President can go to a meeting of the G-7 nations in a position of economic strength, trying to lead a renewal of growth and opportunity all over the world.

So I very much appreciate that. I want to compliment Senator Mitchell, Senator Sasser, Senator Moynihan, in particular, for their leadership and the courage of the Senators who voted in the way they did, so that we can go forward. One of the things that was in this budget that has received almost no notice is a real commitment to intensifying our efforts to deal with the AIDS crisis, even in the midst of all the budget cutbacks. One of those important efforts is the naming of a new AIDS coordinator with a higher visibility, a more important policy role, and more influence in the National Government than has been the case in the past.

It is my distinct pleasure today to announce the appointment of Kristine Gebbie as our Nation's first AIDS Policy Coordinator. This position has never existed before, but circumstances now require us to look for unprecedented remedies to an unprecedented problem.

Today, as we toil against one of the most dreaded and mysterious diseases humanity has ever known, we must redouble our Government's efforts to promote research, funding, and treatment for AIDS. The appointment of Kristine Gebbie is part of our pledge to do that. She is a proven health care leader who will bring to the administration years of experience in the AIDS field. I'm confident she'll work hard to ensure that our Nation no longer ignores an epidemic that has already claimed too many of our brothers and sisters, our parents and children, our friends and colleagues.

I'm particularly pleased that Kristine Gebbie is so committed to helping our AIDS effort, for she certainly is no stranger to the field. To begin with, she hails from the Pacific Northwest, one of our country's most progressive regions when it comes to health care. A former nurse, she became the administrator of the Oregon Health Division, a position she held for 11 years, and later served as the secretary of the Washington State Department of Health. Currently she serves as a special consultant to the Department of Health and Human Services. She's also spent a lot of her time and energy on AIDS prevention. Since 1989, she's served as Chair of the Centers for Disease Control Advisory Committee on the Prevention of HIV Infection. She served on the Presidential Commission on AIDS. She was for 3 years a member of the National Academy of Sciences AIDS oversight committee, and she was chair of an HIV committee of State health officials around the United States.

AIDS is terrifying. It inflicts tragedy on too many families. But ultimately, it is a disease, one we can defeat just as we have defeated polio, many forms of cancer, and other scourges in the history of our Nation. How can we do it? With commitment and courage and constancy, and with vocal and responsible leadership from our Nation's Government. Already this administration has requested a large increase in funding for AIDS research and prevention, even in the face of our severe budget cutbacks. We are now moving toward full funding of the Ryan White Comprehensive AIDS Resources Emergency Act. Our budget requested in fiscal 1994 a 78 percent increase in funding for Ryan White, an 18 percent increase for AIDS research, and a 27 percent increase for prevention.

In addition, the upcoming health care reform plan will make sure that AIDS sufferers are not victimized by unfair insurance policies when they seek treatment for their illnesses. AIDS touches all of us, and no single group should be discriminated against on the basis of this disease.

To make Government's role in AIDS more efficient, we're also taking steps to coordinate AIDS policy. On June 10th, I signed into law the National Institutes of Health Revitalization Act that establishes an AIDS research office to coordinate all the AIDS research at NIH. By now appointing an AIDS Policy Coordinator, we will ensure that one person in the White House oversees and unifies Governmentwide AIDS efforts.

Kristine Gebbie will be a full member of the Domestic Policy Council and will work closely with the Department of Health and Human Services—and I'm glad to see Secretary Shalala here today. She has my full support in coordinating policy among all the various executive branch departments.

With the dedication and leadership that she has shown and that she will bring to this effort, I believe we will be able to wage the battle against AIDS with complete resolve. I look forward to working with her as we tackle the challenges that are posed to us. I assure you this is another step in the beginning of our effort, not the end of my personal commitment. This will guarantee the kind of focus this effort has long needed.

Ms. Gebbie.

[At this point, Ms. Gebbie thanked the President and discussed a coordinated approach to AIDS.]

The President. Let me also say before we take a question or two, to Mr. Speaker and to Congressmen Studds and Frank and McDermott and Pelosi and Morella and to all the other Members of the Congress who have been willing to support increased efforts for AIDS in the face of these difficult budgetary times, I'm grateful for them, too. Because without the congressional support, we would not be able to make any progress, in my judgment, even with this heightened administrative effort.

Homosexuals in the Military

Q. Mr. President, as you approach your decision on gays in the military, have you reached a conclusion about the directive that says that homosexuality is incompatible with military service? Have you decided—

The President. I have not received any such directive. And until I receive a report from the Pentagon, I have no further comment on this.

Q. Can I just ask you a broader question, then, about this?

The President. I'm not going to discuss it until I receive the report from the Pentagon. I have nothing else to say now.

AIDS

Q. Mr. President, I have a question for Ms. Gebbie, please. During the time that you served in Washington and Oregon on dealing with the AIDS epidemic, what will you bring to this job that you learned there?

Ms. Gebbie. I think one of the biggest things I learned is that people have to be able to hear each other, not just talk to each other but hear each other, and then put that listening into effect, developing policies that work. That's a bit of a global answer, but it really has to be applied to each piece of this puzzle. And it's putting a puzzle together that's developing policy around this disease.

Terrorism

Q. Mr. President, yesterday when the news broke of the terrorist attempts at bombing various points in New York City, a lot of Americans felt an increased sense of vulnerability. I wonder if you would share with us your thoughts when you learned about it, and do you share that increased sense of vulnerability to terrorism in this country?

The President. Any free society has always some exposure to terrorism. I think what the American people should do, though, is to feel

Economic Program

The President. Actually, this administration didn't make any deals. The Senate Finance Committee put together a bill that it could get out of the Senate Finance Committee. And then the question was very much whether we would go on to conference. I think there was a great sense in the Senate that they had to go forward with the bill. There were many Senators who told me they liked the House bill better. I mean, there were divisions even in the Senate. There were a couple of Senators who indicated they would have voted for the House bill who did not vote for the Senate bill. There was all kinds of difference of opinion.

ments were made yesterday. But this administration was not nearly as involved in the details of what came out of the Senate as was the case in the House.

Q. Gas tax, sir?

The President. Well, we'll see. A lot of the Senators who came on to the bill late yesterday were holding out because the investment incentives have been cut back so much by the committee. One of the biggest hurdles was trying to convince some of the Senators that we might increase the investment incentives in the conference. So I can tell you that will be a point of continuing tension. But I expect there will be some real effort to try to get the investment and growth options back in there.

If you take investment out of part of the country as, for example, you see in California with the big cutbacks in defense, there needs to be some offsetting investment. You can't create jobs out of thin air. So I think we want to see in this economic plan two objectives: really tough deficit reduction, keeping the interest rates down, freeing up money for private sector investment, and increasing incentives by the National Government to get more investment in the economy. And I hope we see it.

Iraq

Q. Mr. President, there seems to be another standoff in Baghdad between U.N. weapons inspectors and the Iraqi Government. This is the first time this has happened on your watch. How serious is this standoff? And what, if anything, do you plan on doing about it?

The President. It's quite serious. And the United Nations—you've already heard the U.N. speak to it, and I would expect that the matter will have to be resolved one way or the other in the fairly near future. I do think that—I don't have much to add to the pronouncements that have come out of the U.N. The United States has to continue to support compliance with the U.N. resolutions as they apply to Iraq.

Economic Summit

Q. Mr. President, you said that this is the first time that we're going to the economic summit in a position of economic strength. Another way to view that is that you had a tie vote in the Senate; that you're caught going into conference between the demands for more social spending, more investment, and those who want more cuts; and that there's no margin for error, which is not a very strong signal of the ability to resolve this and to get anything that will pass finally both Houses—

The President. I don't think any of the people who have looked at this really believe that we won't get a bill out of the conference that will be marginally changed in ways from both the House and Senate bills that will make the bill more passable in the Senate as well as the House. For example, the House wanted basically the incentive package that was there but some less tax and some more spending cuts. That came out of the Senate. The Senate obliged the less tax and more spending cuts but did it at the expense of cutting so much of the investments out, because the energy tax had to be reduced as much as it did, not for the floor of the Senate but to get it out of the Senate Finance Committee.

Now, what will happen now is you'll see a negotiation, and they'll try to bridge those gaps. I don't think they are particularly large. I think it's quite encouraging. And if you look at the level of aggression this country has displayed in trying to do something about its economic circumstances as compared with what is going on in these other nations, the political and the economic problems, I think the United States should be very proud. It is not easy to change.

I mean, we've been on an incredible roller coaster ride for 12 years now, just sort of spending more than we're taking in and living by political rhetoric and hot air. And when you try to change, it's not easy. You know, it's the same—my daughter always says when she is giggling me a little that old line about denial being more than a river in Egypt. I mean, you know, it's not easy to change.

Thank you very much.

Letter to Congressional Leaders on Trade With Mauritania June 25, 1993

Dear Mr. Speaker: (Dear Mr. President:)

I am writing concerning the Generalized System of Preferences (GSP). The GSP program offers duty-free access to the U.S. market for products that are imported from developing countries. It is authorized by title V of the Trade Act of 1974.

Pursuant to title V, I have determined that Mauritania no longer meets the eligibility requirements set forth in the GSP law. In particular, I have determined that it has not taken and is not taking steps to afford internationally recognized worker rights. Accordingly, I intend to suspend Mauritania indefinitely as a designated beneficiary developing country for purposes of the GSP.

This notice is submitted in accordance with section 502(a)(2) of the Trade Act of 1974.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM J. CLINTON

Memorandum on AIDS September 30, 1993

Memorandum for the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies

Subject: AIDS at Work

Halting the spread of HIV/AIDS and caring for those already touched by the disease is our common responsibility. Sadly, if you do not know someone with HIV/AIDS, you soon will. Every 17 minutes an American dies of AIDS; one of every five Americans knows someone who has died of AIDS; over one million Americans are already infected with HIV.

HIV/AIDS affects everyone in this Nation. Preventing the spread of HIV/AIDS and its associated human and economic costs is crucial to the success of health care reform. Likewise, enlightened, nondiscriminatory workplace policies are essential to both our efforts at reinventing government and at lowering health costs. This Administration and this Nation must do all within our power to prevent discrimination against those infected with HIV. I am committed to facing the difficult issues raised by HIV/AIDS.

This is an Administration of action and leadership by example. Today's Cabinet meeting discussion of HIV/AIDS is the beginning. All of you are asked to develop and fully implement comprehensive HIV/AIDS workplace policies and employee education and prevention programs by World AIDS Day, 1994, beginning with your Senior Staff.

To begin this process:

- Each Cabinet Secretary shall designate a member of his/her Senior Staff to implement ongoing HIV/AIDS education and prevention programs and to develop non-discriminatory workplace policies for employees with HIV/AIDS.

- These designees, with the Office of the National AIDS Policy Coordinator (ONAPC), shall form a working group to implement this directive.
- The Office of Personnel Management (OPM) shall review its current HIV/AIDS workplace guidelines and assist in the development of workplace policies in the departments and agencies, as directed by ONAPC. OPM should pay particular attention to ensuring that the administrative burden on the departments and agencies is minimized.
- The National AIDS Policy Coordinator shall report to me quarterly on the progress of each department and agency, beginning January 1, 1994.
- The White House Staff and the Staff of the Executive Office of the President (EOP) will participate in HIV/AIDS education and prevention training prior to World AIDS Day, December 1, 1993.

HIV/AIDS is the health crisis of this century; it cannot be allowed to extend into the next. Only through education and prevention can we stop its spread. Only through aggressive and coordinated efforts at medical research can we find a cure. Join me on World AIDS Day, 1993, to remember the hundreds of thousands of American dead and the millions of Americans infected or suffering because of this disease; help me to vividly demonstrate this Administration's commitment to end the HIV/AIDS epidemic.

Statement on Signing the Foreign Operations Appropriations Legislation September 30, 1993

Today I have signed into law H.R. 2295, the Foreign Operations Appropriations Act, which includes $2.5 billion in assistance for Russia and the other new independent states of the former Soviet Union. I am grateful for the bipartisan cooperation by the leadership and many other members of Congress who acted quickly to pass this package of assistance.

Enactment of this bill marks a major advance in our strategy to enlarge the world's free com-he once told Bill Moyers, the role of the Constitution is, and I quote, "the protection of the dignity of the human being and the recognition that every individual has fundamental rights which Government cannot deny."

Justice Brennan served longer than any Justice in this century but two, and his impact and legacy have changed the Court in our country for all time.

For all these people here, it must be a great sense of honor to be joined by so many distinguished Americans, members of the Cabinet, former members of the Cabinet, members of the Supreme Court, former members of the Supreme Court, and Members of the Congress. I thank all of you for being here. But I think we should all recognize that the people who should really be grateful to all of them are ordinary Americans, many of whom may not even know their names but whose lives have been forever changed by their labors.

I'd like now to ask my military aide to read the citations.

[At this point, Maj. Leo Mercado, Jr., USMC, Marine Corps aide to the President, read the citations.]

My fellow Americans, we often pay our debts, by acknowledging it, to our Founders. In the beginning of this country, Thomas Jefferson told us something we dare never forget, which is that we must also pay our debts to our reformers, for all the Founders did was to give us something that has to be recreated in every age and time. Today we have acknowledged that debt to five great reformers. We can only repay it if we follow in their footsteps.

Thank you very much.

Nomination for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

November 30, 1993

The President announced today that he has nominated Anne L. Hall to be a member of the Board of Directors of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and he has re-nominated Andrew C. Hove to be a Board member and Vice Chair.

"With their banking expertise and demonstrable commitments to public service, Anne Hall and Andrew Hove are outstanding choices for the FDIC Board," said the President. "They will work hard to ensure that the American people's savings are secure."

NOTE: Biographies of the nominees were made available by the Office of the Press Secretary.

Remarks to the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations

December 1, 1993

Thank you very much. First, Governor Winter and to all the other members of the Commission, let me thank you for your willingness to serve. I very much believe in the potential of this group, both because of the quality of the individuals on it and because of the way it's constituted, with representatives from the Federal, the State, and the local government and with both Democrats and Republicans here. I also want to say a special word of thanks to my friend, Bill Winter, for being willing to serve as Chair. He is one of my closest personal as well as political friends. When he was willing to do this, because I knew that he had spent years thinking about a lot of these issues, I felt that we had a chance to make this group succeed.

When we began to talk 2 years ago, more than two years ago now, about whether I would run for President, he and I agreed that one of the things that we needed to do was to somehow restore the integrity, the strength, the vitality of the relationships between the various levels of government.

One of the biggest problems we've got in this country today is that everybody knows that there are a lot of things that the government has to be involved in at some level, but there is a great skepticism about the ability of government to do its job, particularly here in Washington, a skepticism not without foundation. I might add.

There was a wonderful article in the Wall Street Journal the other day, talking about the attitudes of people in a town in Illinois about the health care issue. And one of the people who was quoted in the article had a one-sentence quote that I thought summarized in a way the dilemma that we all face, at least those of us who go to work here in Washington every day. The man said, "I believe in government, but I'm not sure I trust it." You know, in other words, I believe in the idea; I know that there are some things a government has to do that can't be done without the government, but I'm not sure they get done right, either because people will not do the right thing or because it won't be confidently done.

Because I served a dozen years as a Governor and worked on these federalism issues from another perspective and because I worked in a, I think, considerably less partisan atmosphere—it's just the nature of State and local government to be more problem-focused and somewhat less ideologically oriented—I think I've got a pretty good sense about what the potential is of this group to try to help us in our efforts to redefine what we should be doing here in Washington and how we can be working with you better.

The first thing I want to tell you is that I'm very serious about these issues and that I want to pursue them vigorously, thoroughly, consistently, and with the appropriate level of visibility. I'm glad to see my good friend Secretary Riley here, who also has shared the experience with Bill Winter and I—we were Governors together for a long time—and who has a good feel for these things, too.

Carolyn Lukensmeyer is here to report to you on the federalism suggestions that came out of the National Performance Review, the Vice President's reinventing Government report. He wanted to be here personally, but I asked him to go to Mexico today to deliver an important speech in the aftermath of the passage of the North American Free Trade Agreement legislation last week, and that's why he's there today and not here. But there are some important recommendations in the National Performance Review that I hope (a) will be endorsed by this group, (b) may be amplified on it, and (c) that you may have some ideas about how we can actually implement them. We get a lot of wonderful ideas up here, but there's a lot of slips between the cup and the lip. So we need your help on that.

Secondly, there are a whole series of empowerment initiatives that we have tried to take to enable State and local governments to do their jobs better by creating a different environment. The empowerment zone legislation is one. If these empowerment zones work to actually get private sector investment and public-private partnerships at the local level going in otherwise economically distressed areas of our country, then I think you will see them sweep the country. I think the Congress will be more than willing to vote more of the empowerment zones if we can prove it works. Well, that requires a level of partnership and followthrough that the Federal Government alone can certainly not provide.

The community enterprise board we've set up, designed to see what we can do to sort of push down more decisionmaking at the governmental level and to require more partnerships to build from the grassroots up, is an important thing.

I issued an Executive order on unfunded mandates which a lot of you were involved in helping me put together. Our administration has been quite vigorous in granting waivers to States for welfare reform experiments and for some health care reform experiments. I want to continue to do that, and I want you to explore with me what we can do to help you do your jobs better.

Perhaps the most important recommendation of the reinventing Government commission was that we consolidate a lot of these grants and let you fashion your own use for the Federal money that's been set aside in too many little discrete pieces for the benefit of people at the local level. So there are a whole lot of issues we can deal with.

The main point I want to leave you with today is that I haven't forgotten what it was like to be on the other end of this relationship, first. Secondly, my appointment of Bill Winter and the quality of this Commission demands that we take your work seriously. Thirdly, we actually need for you to think about what specific steps ought to be pursued in defining what the Federal role ought to be.

And let me just say one thing in closing out of respect to the Members of Congress who are here. There's been a lot of discussion in this town which will give way to reality as we move into the first budget year and as we move into next year's budget about how much we did or didn't cut spending. I asked yesterday Leon Panetta to tell me how many Federal accounts there are, you know, separate lines in the appropriations bill, where there's actually less money this year to be spent than there was last year. And the answer is 356 specific Federal accounts will have less money in this fiscal year than they did in the last year. Notwithstanding that, in the coming budget year, under the budget plan we now have, we're going to have to have significant other budget cuts in various areas.

Now, what I'm interested in doing is figuring out—and what the Members of Congress will have to help do—is to figure out within a Government Department and then across departmental lines, what is it that the Federal Government should be doing, and if not doing, what should the Federal Government be funding for you to do? And what things are we doing that may be nice but are relatively inessential at a time when we clearly have—the biggest dilemma for the Congress is this: almost every person in the Congress, without regard to whether they're a liberal or a conservative or a Democrat or a Republican, believes that we have to continue to reduce the deficit. We know that the serious efforts we've made have produced low interest rates, higher investment, housing starts, the biggest in 14 years; the beginning of this lumbering big economy coming back. On the other hand, virtually every Member of the Congress, including the most conservative Republicans, believe we are not investing enough in certain areas that prevent bad things from happening, that develop the capacity of people, and most importantly of all, help us to make this transition from a defense to a domestic commercial economy.

The great gaps in structural unemployment from California to New York and Connecticut, occasioned by the big cutbacks in defense spending, have made most everybody in the Congress quite sensitive to what kinds of investments we ought to have at the national level to generate jobs and high wage jobs.

So in order to achieve both those objectives, we have to be much more disciplined about what our job is and what your job is; about which of our programs really make a difference and which are nice but don't make that much of a difference; about how we can shift Federal spending to more investment and relatively less consumption, to make it more forward-thinking. And there is a real willingness, I think, in the Congress, to listen to and learn from the shared experiences of people in State and local government as we are forced to make these decisions. And believe me, whatever targets we do or don't adopt next time, if we just stay with the budget we've got, there is going to be an extremely rigorous and difficult budgetary process beginning here early next year. Anyone who's really studied the numbers knows that when you get beyond the rhetoric to the reality, there are a whole lot more reductions that are going to have to be made.

So on the other hand, everybody wants to increase funding in some areas. To whatever extent we are in sync with that and we are building the kind of partnership we ought to be, this country's going to be much better off. And to whatever extent you feel that the Government in Washington is doing the right thing, given its difficulties, and you can communicate that, we will collectively begin to rebuild the confidence of the American people that we're doing the best we can with the tax money they give us and in operating the Government in a more efficient and effective way.

I personally believe the consolidation of a lot of these discrete programs is very important. But if we do it, we have to find a way, and I hope that there will be candid conversations about this. I hope the Members of Congress will be candid with the State and local governmental representatives about this.

There are reasons why these programs get created in the way they do—where you have 150 separate training programs; we shouldn't, but we do—why we have all these other programs in little pieces, when it would be better if they were in one big piece and you had a laundry list of permissible things that could be done with this money. And then you would design what's best for your city, your county, or your State. And I hope we can get into exploring that, because I'm convinced, with the amount of money fairly fixed and with the demands on the money and with the differences, the drastic differences in economics from place to place, you need a lot more flexibility than you've got. But we need to be candid here about why the laws are the way they are, what the problems have been in the past, and what kind of new arrangements we can make if we're going to have any hope of implementing the reinventing Government recommendations on consolidating the grants.

So that, in short, Mr. Chairman, are some of the things that I wanted to say. I believe in the potential of this group. I want to work with you. I want to help to make sure that you have both consistent support and the appropriate level of visibility so that we send the message out to the country that we are trying to work through these things and give the American people a Government that they can not only believe in but also trust.

Thank you very much.

NOTE: The President spoke at 10:01 a.m. in the Indian Treaty Room of the Old Executive Office Building. In his remarks, he referred to Carolyn Lukensmeyer, deputy project director for management, National Performance Review. The Executive order of October 26 on enhancing the intergovernmental partnership is listed in Appendix D at the end of this volume.

Remarks on the Observance of World AIDS Day December 1, 1993

Now, there's a guy I'd like to vote for.
[Laughter]

Thank you so much, Alexander, for what you said and the way you said it and for the power of your example. Father O'Donovan, Dr. Griffith, Kristine Gebbie, ladies and gentlemen, I'm delighted to see all of you here. I thank my friend Representative Eleanor Holmes Norton for coming.

I want to especially thank all of you here who are devoting your time and indeed your lives for the quest for a better way to deal with AIDS and, of course we hope, ultimately a cure. I want to thank especially the people who are living with AIDS who met with me today in their hospital rooms and who walked the corridors of the hospital with me. I won't mention them all, but I met a remarkable man named Larry Singletary upstairs who was a real inspiration to me. And I met his grandmother who was a real inspiration to both of us. And a beautiful young woman named Jenny Dorr who walked the halls with me, who came down with me. Stand up, Jenny. I think my goal ought to be to see that Jenny Dorr gets to live to a ripe old age.

Today I think just about every American who's ever been touched by AIDS will think of people they know who have died or who have suffered family loss. I don't know if it was by accident or design, but I want to thank whoever put this part of the quilt up here with a picture of my good friend Dan Bradley, who for many years was the national leader of the Legal Services Corporation. I have a friend who lost her mother and another friend who lost his wife to AIDS because of tainted blood transfusions, and many others.

But I want to say a special word of appreciation today for the people who are infected with HIV and the people who are living with AIDS who are committed to living, to those who work in the White House and those who work in the administration and those who, around the country, have given support to me and helped me to give some support to them. Some of them are here today, and I thank them for the power of their example and for their commitment to life.

In a funny way this whole disease is bringing out the best and the worst in America, isn't it? I mean, it's exposing some of our prejudice in ways that are self-defeating since every family and every child is now at risk. And yet it's also showing us the courage, the self-determination, the incredible capacity of the American people to give and to love. We see our legendary refusal to adopt organized and disciplined solutions to big social problems. And yet we also see, as I will document in a moment, a remarkable willingness on the part of people who can make a difference to try to do more.

On Monday I met with several religious leaders who are responding in their own way to the AIDS crisis, people who are largely involved in caring for people with AIDS, many of whom are also involved, courageously for them, in trying to educate our children in the schools to prevent AIDS.

And I was impressed with the wide variety of religious perspectives. We had conservative evangelicals around the breakfast table with the liberal rabbi, mainstream Protestant ministers, and Catholic clergy. Every one of them, however, agreed on at least two things: One is that it is the moral high ground for people of faith to care for people with AIDS and the moral low ground to run away from it. And the second thing, and perhaps even more important over the long run, is that it is not only ethical conduct but an ethical obligation to speak openly with people, especially young people, about what they must do and not do in order to avoid becoming infected.

There was a Methodist bishop, Fritz Mutti, Topeka, Kansas, who lost two of his sons to AIDS—two—who spoke about these obligations. He talked about how he and his wife had worked against their own fear and loneliness to bring out their personal experience in a way that would give power to their efforts to deal with the crisis before us.

I met Reverend Steve Pieters, who has been living with AIDS for more than a decade now, one of America's longest survivors, explaining how he stays alive through hope and through his own faith.

For nearly every American with eyes and ears open, the face of AIDS is no longer the face of a stranger. Millions and millions of us have now stood at the bedside of a dying friend and grieved. Millions and millions of us now know people who have had AIDS and who have died of it who are both gay and heterosexual—both. Millions and millions of us are now forced to admit that this is a problem which has diminished the life of every American.

And as I enter this battle next year to try to provide for the first time in this history of this country affordable and quality health benefits for all Americans, millions and millions of us know that one of the reasons we have such an expensive health care system, even though it doesn't do as much in terms of coverage as any other major country's health care system, is that we pay a terrible price for the rate of AIDS that we have in this country and the costs that it imposes because we don't do more on the front end.

On Sunday, the cover story in the New York Times Sunday Magazine was written by a journalist named Jeffrey Schmalz, who lived and just a couple of weeks ago died with AIDS. He was a remarkable man who interviewed me in a very piercing way when I was running for President. I was impressed then with the totally frank, almost brutal, and unsentimental nature of the interview in which we engaged and with the quality of his mind and spirit and the precision of his questions.

If you saw the article or you heard about it, you know that basically what the article said was AIDS is sort of receding in the public consciousness as a thing to be passionate about, that it was true not only in our administration but in the community at large and even in the gay community. That was the theory of the article. And I think he was saying that people were just frustrated dealing with what they considered to be a perpetually uphill battle, not that it was politically unacceptable anymore to talk about AIDS or deal with it but that there just seemed to be no pay-off. And so he challenged us all with these words in the article, "I am dying. Why doesn't someone help us?"

I have to say to you that I think that is a good question and a good challenge. I do believe that all of us, each in our own way, sometimes just want to go on to other things. Even some of my friends who are infected just want to go on to other things—maybe especially them. They just get sick of talking about it and thinking about it and focusing on it.

The purpose of this day is to remind us that our attitudes, behavior, and passion should be revved up in the other 364 days of the year.

[At this point, an audience member interrupted the President's remarks.]

It's okay. It's all right. It's all right.

Let me change the subject a minute and get back to it. Last night I went to see "Schindler's List." We had a special showing of it for the Holocaust Museum. And it's not going to be a highly advertised movie, and it's coming out around Christmas time. It will be tough for people to see this. I implore every one of you to go see it. It is an astonishing thing. "Schindler's List," it's about a non-Jew who, as a member of the Nazi Party, saved over 1,000 Jews by his personal efforts in World War II from the Holocaust.

The reason I say that is this: Part of my job is to be a lightning rod. Part of my job is to lift the hopes and aspirations of the American people, knowing that as long as you're trying to lift hopes and lift aspirations you can never fully close the gap between what you're reaching for and what you're actually doing, and knowing for sure that there's no way I can now keep everybody alive who already has AIDS. So the fact that he's in here expressing his frustration to me means at least that they expect me to do something, which is a step forward. I don't take it personally.

The reason I ask you to go see the movie is you will see portrait after portrait after portrait of the painful difference between people who have no hope and have no rage left and people who still have hope and still have rage. I'd rather that man be in here screaming at me than having given up altogether, much rather.

So let me go forward and tell you what we're trying to do, and let me then invite you to tell me what else we should do, because that's really what I came here to do today, to say here's what we have done in a year and to invite you to tell me what else we should do.

I think, first of all, it's clear that this administration has made a significant financial effort, as the Schmalz article pointed out in the New York Times. We've increased programs for prevention by $45 million, a very substantial increase. What we still need to do is to convince people who do the preventing that they ought to do it where the people are who need the information. We must, we must, we must convince more people to reach the children where the children are in the schools and where the adults are in the workplace.

I have directed every Federal office to provide its employees with education about AIDS prevention. We asked the 3 million Federal employees to take the information home to their families and to their communities. I have challenged every business to take similar action, but not every business and certainly not every school is doing it. We can deny the reality that every family is at risk until we know someone who is, but we do so at great peril to ourselves.

We've increased the research funding for AIDS by over 20 percent, and we increased funding in the Ryan White health care act for care by 66 percent. And I want to remind you that this was at a time when overall domestic spending was held absolutely flat and when over 350 items in the Federal budget this year are smaller than they were last year. Where there was an absolute cut, we got substantial increases. Why? Because again, I say this shows the best and the worst about the country, a reluctance to deal with the problem, the absence of a systematic approach at every community level, but the understanding in Congress that even though we've got to slash a lot of the funding we have for various programs to reduce the deficit, we had to do more here. And I frankly think the Congress deserves a lot of credit for doing it at a very difficult time when many people said that the politically smart thing was to cut everything no matter what and no matter what the consequences. So I feel good about that. And I think you should feel good about that.

We do have a National AIDS Policy Coordinator. We do have an effort going now that we announced yesterday to see what we can do to slash the rules and the regulations and the bureaucracy to move drugs to people more quickly, to see what will work and what will help. And that is terribly important. We are marshaling more resources and making more efforts. But there must be other things we can do.

The theme of the World AIDS Day is "Time To Act." The argument that Jeffrey Schmalz made in his article was that we also ought to talk more. And for those of us in positions of leadership, talking is acting. I have to tell you that one of the things that I underestimated when I became President was the actual power of the words coming from the bully pulpit of the White House to move the country. I overestimated my capacity to get things done in a hurry in the Congress, but when I read the other day in the Los Angeles Times that I had the best record of any President in 40 years, I said, "Pity the others." I'm an impatient person. I'm a victim of my own impatience. But I do think sometimes all of us underestimate the power of our words to change the attitudes and the range of behavior of other people, not just me but you, too.

And it is clear to me that no matter how much we put into research, no matter how much we put into treatment, no matter how much we put into education, someone besides the politicians will do the research, the treatment, and the education. And it has to be a daily thing.

The next thing I'd like to say is, I think the best thing we can do for people who are living with HIV and living with AIDS is to pass a comprehensive health care plan so that people do not lose their benefits. That is important, and let me say that is important for two reasons. One is obvious. One is what I saw in the hospital rooms up there when I asked people, you know, or they had already prepared to tell me: How is your care being paid for? Where do you live? Do you still have a place to live? Do you have a job to go back to if you get well enough to go back? What is the circumstance of your life? The first thing is just simply having the security of knowing that there will be a payment stream to cover quality care.

But the second thing, I think, is also important. And that is the point I began this talk with, which is that we have to affirm the lives of people who are infected and the living. And if you know that you have health insurance that can never be taken away and that the cost of it will not vary because you will be insured in a big community pool with people who are not infected and therefore whose real costs are lower, then there is never an incentive for someone to fire you or not to hire you. That is important. That's a big part of therapy in any kind of problem, being able to live to the fullest of your God-given capacities, to work, to go, to do.

And it would be good for the economy, by the way, to know that nobody had to be put off to the side or there were no incentives not to maximize the capacity of every person who lives in the country. So that this health care issue, the providing the security, is not just important for having the funding stream for the health care, it's also important to make sure that we are liberating the potential of people who want to work and contribute for as long as they can. It is a huge deal.

And I hope when we begin this debate in earnest next year that those of you who work in this area, either in the care of people with AIDS or those of you who are part of the activist community, will make sure that both those points get made to the United States Congress.

We have too many people in this country with a contribution to make to the rest of us and to the whole, dying to make it, who can't because of the crazy-quilt health system we've got. And I think we should do it.

Finally, let me just say that there is a lot of talk always, and I have been part of this, talking about how each of us has to take personal responsibility for our own conduct. And I believe that. But if you want children to do that, they have to be educated as to the consequences of their conduct, which means someone else has to do it. And it is also true that since literally every American can be affected in some way by this, all the rest of us have personal responsibilities, too.

And so again I say to you, I think we have done a good job in the first year of this administration if you measure "good job" in terms of organizing ourselves properly, funding the effort more adequately, identifying some of the major problems in the bureaucracy and going after them.

But Jeffrey Schmalz, in his last article, issued a rebuke to me. He said, "You cannot let this slide as an issue until it is over." And he was right. But he also issued a rebuke to everyone else in the country, everyone else. If you just look at the sheer numbers, if you look at what is happening in some African countries, if you look at what is happening in other nations around the world, if you had no other concern in your own country but the cold-blooded one of how your own country was going to pay for its collective health care needs and deal with its economic crises, if that was your only concern, if you never had a heartbeat of compassion, you would have to be nearly obsessed with this problem.

And so I say to you, my fellow Americans, tonight when I go home, I will see the face of Alexander. And I will wish that someday he will be able to give that speech on his own behalf. He deserves that chance. I will see the face of Jenny, and I will want her to live to a ripe old age. And all of us, all of us have something we can do. I invite you to tell me what else you think I can do and to ask yourselves what else you can do.

Thank you very much.

Center; Kristine Gebbie, National AIDS Policy Coordinator; and Larry Singletary and Jenny Dorr, AIDS patients at the medical center. The related proclamation of November 30 is listed in Appendix D at the end of this volume.

Exchange With Reporters Prior to Discussions With Prime Minister Carl Bildt of Sweden

December 1, 1993

North Korea

Q. Mr. President, what do you make of what North Korea has publicly said following your statements last week?

The President. I don't know what to make of it yet. I wouldn't overreact to it. We're just going to have to see. The one thing I've learned here over the last year in dealing with North Korea is that it's important not to overreact, either positively or negatively, to something that they say which may not mean the same thing to them that it does to us the first time we hear it. And I mean that on the upside as well as the downside. We're just going to have to see and kind of work through this and see what happens.

Q. Is it still possible they'll come around and allow international inspections?

The President. I think it is. I hope it is, and I think it is.

Q. Do you agree with Director Woolsey, who said that he believes that they might be willing to go to war rather than let you hold inspections?

The President. I've tried to review his remarks, and I'm not sure I would characterize it quite in that way. I think, like all of us, he's very concerned about it, and he's studied it very closely. And all I can tell you is we have a strategy; we're going to pursue it, and we're going to keep going.

[At this point, one group of reporters left the room, and another group entered.]

Sweden

Q. Mr. President—Swedish press—why did you decide to meet with Mr. Bildt?

The President. Well, we haven't met yet. And I admire him, and I'm jealous of him because he's 3 years younger than I am. And so I wanted to see about this man who's taken Europe by storm and who's so much younger than me. We have a lot in common. And Sweden, you know, coming into the EC has—the end of the cold war has enabled us to cooperate on a whole range of things. We agree on a lot of issues, and I've really been interested, just kind of looking for an opportunity to meet with the Prime Minister. And this is a nice day for him to be here in Washington because after this we're going to have a chance to go over and meet with our Nobel Prize winners this year.

Q. Mr. President, what role would you like to see Sweden play in the new environment in Europe after the cold war?

The President. I think that's a decision that the Swedes will have to make for themselves. But let me say, I'm very, very impressed with the role that Sweden has been playing in trying to work through to a constructive solution to some of the problems in Europe and working its way into the security framework of Europe as well as the economic partnership of Europe. I think that your nation is in a position to really exercise a leadership role.

THE SECRETARY OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20201

NOV 18 1994

The Honorable John E. Porter
Ranking Minority Member, Subcommittee on
Labor, Health and Human Services,
Education and Related Agencies
Committee on Appropriations
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Mr. Porter:

I am writing to inform you of our plans to use $350,000 of FY 1995 funds appropriated for the National AIDS Program Office to partially support the National AIDS Policy Coordinator (NAPC). These funds were included within the appropriation account for the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health.

I am fully aware that in your deliberations on the budget for this Office, a concern about the level of resources needed for directing and coordinating HIV/AIDS activities emerged. The Conference agreement specifies that $1,750,000 is available for these purposes. As noted in our justification to the Committees, funding was requested to provide support to both the Assistant Secretary and the NAPC.

The $350,000 identified for NAPC will be used to cover such expenses as rental of office space, communications, travel, supplies and equipment, and other support and contractual services. During FY 1995 the NAPC has been asked by the President to establish a new Interdepartmental Task Force on AIDS to ensure that HIV related activities of all Federal agencies are better coordinated and that inconsistencies in strategies and duplication of effort are eliminated.

I appreciate the Committee's continued interest in, and support of, this Department's response to the HIV/AIDS epidemic.

Sincerely,

Donna E. Shalala

REPORT
102-397DEPARTMENTS OF LABOR, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES,
AND EDUCATION AND RELATED AGENCIES AP-
PROPRIATION BILL, 1993

SEPTEMBER 10 (legislative day, SEPTEMBER 8), 1992.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. HARKIN, from the Committee on Appropriations, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany H.R. 5677]

The Committee on Appropriations, to which was referred the bill (H.R. 5677) making appropriations for the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1993, and for other purposes, reports the same to the Senate with various amendments and presents herewith information relative to the changes recommended.

Amount of budget authority

Amount of House bill	$240,860,387,000
Amount of Senate bill over House bill	+ 512,787,000
Total bill as reported to Senate	240,873,174,000
Amount of adjusted appropriations, 1992	219,036,041,000
Budget estimates, 1993	240,406,973,000
The bill as reported to the Senate:
Over the adjusted appropriations for 1992	+ 21,837,133,000
Over the budget estimates for 1993	+ 466,201,000

The Committee is, therefore, reducing the maximum award from $2,400 to $2,300.

Education of individuals with disabilities.—Special education programs receive a 7-percent increase overall. The Grants for Infants and Families Program receives an additional $60,000,000 to assist States facing a fiscal crisis to stay in the program and to provide awards to those States making progress toward full implementation.

Rehabilitation services.—Rehabilitation programs receive a 6-percent increase overall. These programs are critical to ensure that the promises of the Americans with Disabilities Act become a reality for individuals with disabilities seeking employment.

REPROGRAMMING AND INITIATION OF NEW PROGRAMS

Reprogramming is the utilization of funds for purposes other than those contemplated at the time of appropriation enactment. Reprogramming actions do not represent requests for additional funds from the Congress, rather, the reapplication of resources already available.

The Committee has a particular interest in approving reprogrammings which, although they may not change either the total amount available in an account or any of the purposes for which the appropriation is legally available, represent a significant departure from budget plans presented to the Committee in an agency's budget justifications.

Consequently, the Committee directs that the departments and agencies funded through this bill make a written request to the chairman of the Committee prior to reprogramming of funds in excess of 10 percent or $250,000, whichever is less, between programs, activities, or elements. The Committee desires to have the requests for reprogramming actions which involve less than the above-mentioned amounts if such actions would have the effect of changing an agency's funding requirements in future years if programs or projects specifically cited in the Committee's reports are affected or if the action can be considered to be the initiation of a new program. Prior Committee notification is required for actions requiring the use of general transfer authority, or which move funds between appropriations accounts. The Committee also wishes to be notified regarding reorganization of offices, programs, or activities prior to the planned implementation of such reorganizations.

Finally, the Committee requests that each department and agency submit to the Committee by February 1, 1993, their internal instruction necessary to implement this reprogramming authority.

ADMINISTRATIVE COST SAVINGS AND BUDGETING

The Committee has reduced requested funding in order to implement a personnel freeze. Funding is provided only to maintain in fiscal year 1993 the same number of full-time equivalent positions in total for each department as existed at the end of fiscal year 1992. Mandatory increases necessary to annualize the cost of positions, to pay cost-of-living adjustments and necessary retirement benefits are included in the recommended levels. The Committee

What is reprogramming?

Reprogramming is the shifting of funds within an appropriation account for purposes within the scope of the account that weren't specifically contemplated at the time of appropriation and that represent a significant departure from plans and resources described in agency budget justifications as modified by appropriations action.

What are the rules for reprogramming and which reprogrammings need to be submitted to the Appropriations Committees?

There is no standard set of rules for reprogramming. Rather, reprogramming rules and procedures evolve from understandings between Appropriations Committees and the Agencies under their jurisdiction. Each of the HHS Appropriations Subcommittees has its own reprogramming rules and requirements, as outlined below.

Labor/HHS: The Labor/HHS Appropriations Subcommittees require the Department to submit all reprogrammings that have the effect of redirecting more than 10 percent or $250,000 (whichever is lower) to or away from any program, project or activity, as defined in House and Senate Reports, or reprogrammings which:

- represent a significant departure from plans outlined in congressional justifications;
- initiate a new program, as defined in agency P&F schedules;
- result in changes in agency funding requirements in future years;
- shift funds away from program grants and contracts to augment administrative costs; or
- affect programs or projects specifically cited in Committee reports.

Agriculture: The Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittees require the Food and Drug Administration to submit all proposed reprogrammings (particularly significant departures from plans outlined in congressional justifications).

Interior: The Interior Appropriations Subcommittees' rules, which affect the Indian Health Service, apply to: shifts from one activity to another, or in cases where either Committee report specifies a break below the activity level, to the more detailed allocation; shifts within construction accounts from one project identified in the justifications to another; or generally, shifts which represent a significant departure from what is described in the justifications.

Any project or activity deferred through reprogramming cannot be accomplished later through another reprogramming, but rather, should be funded through the regular appropriations process.

Reprogrammings should only be submitted when unforeseen situations arise, particularly if postponement until the next appropriation year would result in loss or damage. Convenience or desire are not valid grounds for reprogrammings.

Reprogrammings generally should not be used to initiate new programs or change allocations that are specifically denied, limited or increased by Congress in Appropriations Acts or reports. In cases when such changes are absolutely required, regardless of the dollar threshold, the reprogrammings should be submitted.

Along with the above, any reprogramming exceeding $250,000 or resulting in an increase or decrease of more than 10 percent in affected programs must be submitted (except savings from a construction project in a Trust Territory that are applied to a shortfall in another project within the same territory).

All reprogrammings should be reported to the Committee quarterly, including cumulative totals. Any significant shifts among object classifications should also be reported.

All reprogrammings will be considered (with any objections raised) by the Committee within 30 calendar days, with the understanding that this deadline may be extended at the Committee's request.

VA/HUD: The VA/HUD Subcommittees require that the Office of Consumer Affairs submit reprogrammings that redirect more than $250,000 to or away from any program, project or activity, or reprogrammings which:

- represent a significant departure from budget plans presented in the justifications;
- change the agency's funding requirements in future years; or
- affect programs or projects specifically cited in Committee reports.

What steps are necessary to get reprogrammings approved?

Reprogrammings of funds under the jurisdiction of the Labor/HHS Subcommittee are to be in the form of letters from the Secretary to the Subcommittee Chairmen and Ranking Minority Members. Reprogrammings for all other Subcommittees are to be in the form of letters from the Assistant Secretary for Management and Budget to the Subcommittee Chairmen and Ranking Minority Members. Each letter should include a complete justification for the reprogramming, as well as a description of the affected programs, projects and activities, the effect of funding changes on current and future plans, and a table outlining corresponding increases and decreases. Incorporation of reprogramming intentions into budget justifications or opening statements does not constitute proper Committee notification.

In no cases should a reprogramming be executed until the Appropriations Committees have responded. All reprogramming letters must be cleared by the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Budget and the Assistant Secretary for Management and Budget. In general, where there are questions as to whether or not to submit reprogramming letters, agencies should err on the side of submission. No reprogrammings will be forwarded to the Congress after September 1 of a given fiscal year. Reprogrammings should not be sent directly to the Appropriations Committees. All reprogramming letters should be sent to Donna Keller, Division of Budget Policy and Management, Room 503H, HHH Building. The Division of Budget Policy and Management will track reprogramming requests Department-wide and coordinate their review within the Department. Any questions related to reprogramming guidelines should be directed to Jim Becraft, Director, Division of Budget Policy and Management at 690-6151.

Dear Nancy:

I have enclosed for your review three pending reprogramming letters from two of our Departments. These letters were sent to the Subcommittee after Congress had adjourned last fall. The first letter is from the Department of Labor. It is a request to transfer $3,806,000 from the State Unemployment Insurance and Employment Service Operations account to the Program Administration account of the Employment and Training Administration. The Program Administration account is the basic salaries and expenses account of the ETA. The funds would be transferred from excess postage funds in the State Operations account. The 1995 appropriations act provides the Department the legal authority to transfer money between appropriation accounts; there is an understanding, however, that any transfer would be treated as a reprogramming of funds.

The second letter is from the Department of Health and Human Services. It informs the Subcommittee of the Department's plans to use $350,000 of funds appropriated to the National AIDS Program Office to partially support the National AIDS Policy Coordinator in the White House.

The third letter is also from the Department of Health and Human Services. It informs the Subcommittee of the Department's plans to use $400,000 of funds appropriated to carry out a new crime prevention program authorized by last year's Crime Bill to partially support the Ounce of Prevention Council established by the Crime Bill.

Honorable Nancy Pelosi

This Council cuts across several Cabinet Departments and is to be chaired by the Vice President. It is supposed to oversee the coordination of crime prevention programs in the Executive Branch.

I am presently inclined to turn down all three of these requests. Please let me know if you feel strongly about any of these.

Sincerely,

John Edward Porter, Chairman
Subcommittee on Labor, Health

Dear Mr. Chairman:

I am writing to urge your approval of the reprogramming request from the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to use $350,000 from funds appropriated for the National AIDS Program Office (NAPO) to partially support the office of the National AIDS Policy Coordinator (NAPC).

The budget justification from the Department made clear that NAPO funds were intended to support the coordination efforts within the Public Health Service and the coordination efforts across Departments by the National AIDS Policy Coordinator. The Interdepartmental Task Force on AIDS is designed to assure that the public health efforts of the PHS are integrated into the activities of other departments.

Data released by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) released last week documented that "the magnitude of the epidemic is clearly greater than earlier statistics indicated." In my view, the Congress needs to work cooperatively with the Administration to do whatever is necessary to coordinate our national AIDS efforts.

Again, I urge you to approve the HHS reprogramming request and I look forward to working with you to respond to the many challenges created by the AIDS epidemic.

Sincerely,

NANCY PELOSI

 INSIDE MAIL

Dear Nancy:

I received your letter regarding the proposed reprogramming of funds from the National AIDS Program Office (NAPO) to the National AIDS Policy Coordinator (NAPC).

I have two substantive concerns about the request. First, I feel it is inappropriate to transfer resources from public health agencies to the White House. In addition, because the conference committee on our bill dramatically reduced funding for NAPO from the House-passed level, I am reluctant to approve a further reduction in funding at this time.

Nancy, although we disagree on the matter of the reprogramming, I would be happy to discuss these matters with you in the context of the 1996 L/H/E bill, and I look forward to working with you throughout the year.

Sincerely,

John Edward Porter

Dear Madam Secretary:

This letter is in response to your reprogramming letters of November 18, 1994 that were addressed to the Chairman of this Subcommittee in the last session of Congress. I apologize for the delay in responding. As you know, there has been a great deal of activity here during the past month.

The Subcommittee does not approve your proposal to utilize $350,000 in the National AIDS Program Office to partially support the National AIDS Coordinator in the White House. In addition, the Subcommittee does not approve your proposal to utilize $400,000 from funds appropriated under the Crime Bill to partially support the Ounce of Prevention Council.

Sincerely,
