MEMORANDUM

TO: THE FIRST LADY
FROM: Ann Stock AS
DATE: September 19, 1995
RE: Entertainment for the Heritage Awards
CC: Melanne Verveer
Maggie Williams

I thought you might like to see the enclosed article which appeared in PEOPLE'S MAGAZINE this week regarding THE BLIND BOYS OF ALABAMA.

They will be performing before and after the Heritage Awards Ceremony in the East Room on September 27. They have just released their first major album, DEEP RIVER, which received a Grammy nomination for "Gospel Album of the Year". They are really fabulous.

Thanks!

▲ THE BLIND BOYS OF ALABAMA Clarence Fountain (center) fronts the Boys, as he has for most of their nearly 60 years.

■ I BROUGHT HIM WITH ME

Clarence Fountain &
the Blind Boys of Alabama

Clarence Fountain, a youthful 64, has been a powerful force in the gospel world for better than half a century. He started singing with friends from Alabama's Talladega Institute for the Deaf and Blind in 1937, made his recording debut with them (as the Blind Boys) 11 years later and, it's been said, sang during shows with such passion that he caused audience members to swoon with the Lord's spirit. In the late 1980s the secular world finally caught on to the group's spirited fervor when they starred with actor Morgan Freeman in the Broadway musical "The Gospel at Colonus," and now the trendy House of Blues nightclub chain, which has ventured into radio and TV, has rediscovered Fountain and selected him and his brethren as the second release on their newly formed recording label.

It was a fine choice. "I Brought Him with Me," which Fountain & Co. recorded over a three-night stint in West Hollywood last January, is touted as their first-ever live recording, and its gritty, revival-style, I-dare-you-not-to-get-up-and-move enthusiasm captures Fountain in peak form. His gravelly baritone is at its best when he goes all out as on such classics as "Rain" and "Do Lord," which features a typically impassioned appearance by blues singer Koko Taylor. And backup singers George Scott (the other original Blind Boy still in the lineup) and Jimmy Carter turn Pete Seeger's campfire sing-along, "If I Had a Hammer," into a scorching pledge of redemption. Blues statesman Solomon Burke also checks in at the close. Though this is not the Fountain of youth, all in all, it rates an A-men. (House of Blues Music Company)

The Furry Four

Finally after all these years we have an answer to one of the great riddles of the '60s, the resolution to the mystery at the center of the Magical Mystery Tour: the "Walrus" wasn't John or Paul; he was Elmer Fudd. In this droll pop parody, a quartet of cartoon cutups mimics the Beatles. The Looney Tunes Liverpudlians are Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck, Elmer and Taz (as, loosely, Paul, John, George and Ringo).

For the most part, the collection is made up of early-era Lennon-McCartney tunes, with Bugs singing the lead and Daffy providing juicy, tremolo-rich harmonies. But the solo and guest ➤

RE: WETA IN PERFORMANCE at the White House
CC: Maggie Williams

As we discussed at our last scheduling meeting, we need to do an IN PERFORMANCE at the White House before the end of January.

A performer WETA is interested in inviting is Bette Midler. This is fine with Dick Notebaart. Please let me know if you would like me to proceed with an invitation to Ms. Midler.

Also, let me remind you that WOMEN IN COUNTRY will run on PBS the evening of September 27. I thought you might like to know.

Thanks!

Dear Ann:

Attached is the letter sent to Leslee Dart concerning Bette Midler's interest and availability. While it is being considered, we feel an invitation from the White House to Ms. Midler would help prompt a quick reply, and we could begin to match schedules.

In case Bette cannot perform, we want to clear through you two other artists; Diana Ross and Gloria Estephan. We will also pursue Bonnie Raitt, unless you feel she has performed there too recently?

Thank you, Ann.

Re: IN PERFORMANCE AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Dear Ms. Midler:

The President and The First Lady are great fans of yours. When we mentioned your name as an ideal star for the next program in our IN PERFORMANCE AT THE WHITE HOUSE series, the White House was delighted. The President and Mrs. Clinton thoroughly enjoyed your past performance there, and would very much appreciate a return engagement.

IN PERFORMANCE AT THE WHITE HOUSE has been a PBS staple for seventeen years, spanning four Administrations. On September 27, we will salute contemporary country singers Kathy Mattea, Allison Krauss and Suzy Bogguss, introduced by Chet Atkins. Past programs under the Clinton Administration have included a jazz concert (with Rosemary Clooney, Bobby McFerrin, Dorothy Donegan, and Wynton Marsalis, among others); an evening of cabaret with Bobby Short, Blossom Dearie and Shirley Horn; and a performance by Aretha Franklin.

We would be delighted if your schedule allows you to perform for the President, First Lady, and their invited guests in the East Room. As you know, that historic space is very intimate and beautiful.

Dates in late November, early December, or after the New Year in January appear good. A more exact range of dates will be known once Mrs. Clinton returns from China.

Each program is an hour long. We welcome your input on a guest artist who would complement your performance.

We hope to be able to tell the Administration that, schedule permitting, you would star in a special IN PERFORMANCE AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

I eagerly await your call.

MEMORANDUM TO THE FIRST LADY

FROM: ANN STOCK

SUBJECT: JULY 28 DINNER FORMAT

cc: M. Williams, P. Solis, C. Marshall, S. Ryan

As we know, the State Dining Room seats only 130 guests for dinner. Thus, Capricia and I have been discussing various ways to accommodate a larger dinner guest list inside and thought of the Grand Foyer. My understanding for the July 28 dinner is that you would like to try this option with approx. 160 guests.

The ideal scenario is based on a cool summer evening so that we can have cocktails in the First Ladies Garden with the receiving line either outside or in the Diplomatic Reception Room. Unfortunately, the weather has been so hot that the proposed "hot weather plan" has cocktails in the East Room with the receiving line in the Blue Room, dinner in the Grand Foyer and either a seated performance in the East Room or dancing in the South Portico after dinner.

To be honest, I'm not comfortable with the "hot weather plan" flow because it feels constrictive on the guests. With the Grand Foyer set up for dinner, the East Room would have to remain closed during cocktails. I've attached a proposed sequence for this type of dinner for your comments which also includes two options for after dinner activities.

I've also attached another copy of the proposed dinner list and a copy of the menu.

Please let me know when you'd like to discuss. Thank you.

JULY 28 DINNER
DRAFT SEQUENCE
7/12/94

FORMAT OVERVIEW

Cocktails: East Room (Guests only)
-- Optimal Weather: First Ladies Garden

Receiving Line: Blue Room

Dinner: Grand Foyer w/Toast from POTUS

Dancing: East Room

Press: Note: State Dining Room is used for dinner
Closed

7:30 p.m. Invitation time.

Guests arrive at the East Gate and proceed to the East Room for cocktails.

- Coat Check in Family Theatre
- Harp & Flute at entrance in E. Wing
- Cabaret tables, Marine Combo and bar in East Room
- East Room doors remain closed because of dinner set up in Grand Foyer.

7:40 p.m. THE PRESIDENT and MRS. CLINTON arrive in the Blue Room for receiving line with photos.

Question: Guests will be announed into the receiving line unless you would prefer otherwise.

MEMORANDUM

FROM: Ann Stock AS
RE: Kaki Hockersmith's correspondence on Disposable
Dinnerware
DATE: May 3, 1994

The red, white and blue plates are my preference. I will be interested in seeing the final version of the yellow dinnerware which may improve in quality.

Gary is costing out what it would run to use these.

I believe they would be ideal for the Congressional Picnic or the White House Press Party if they are recyclable.

Ann Stock
White House Social Office
East Wing Executive Residence
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Ann,

I have been working on designs for disposable dinnerware that could be used when serving large groups or entertaining outdoors. My thought is to add some decorative pizzazz to the tables with designs exclusively produced for The White House.

Both patterns are printed on a pearlized white finish which resembles china. The more formal design is the white gold and black with one variation of white and gold. The red and blue on white design gives a dignified but less formal alternative for casual events. Coordinating napkin designs for each of the two patterns and a plastic beverage glass designed to go with either pattern are included in this party goods package. The glasses are a heavy plastic that could double as a small memento of the occasion.

The artwork I'm enclosing does not reflect the quality of detail in the finished product. A true illustration of that printing detail is shown in the larger sketch of The White House. The smaller samples are simply computer scanned concepts.

I asked the marketing department of The James River Corporation to provide pricing for these designs in two plate sizes, both dinner and beverage napkins, plastic glasses and cutlery.

I have no idea what paper goods have cost in the past but napkins at three and five cents each and cups that make nice souvenirs for only seven cents seem very economical in view of their added decorative feature.

I'm anxious to hear what you, Gary and others involved think about my concept and designs. I believe production could be speedy and know that James River understands these items would be produced exclusively for The White House.

I look forward to hearing from you soon!

Warm regards,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read 'Kaki'.

MEMORANDUM

DATE: FEBRUARY 4, 1994

TO: THE FIRST LADY
MAGGIE WILLIAMS
PATTI SOLIS

FROM: ANN STOCK

RE: MOVIE RELEASE OF "ABRAHAM" AND THE PLAY, "GREASE"

I have just learned of two opportunities that might be interesting for entertaining evenings in February/March.

First, Turner Broadcasting has just completed the film "Abraham." This is the first of 21 films that will bring to life the Old Testament for contemporary audiences. It will be shown over Easter weekend.

The movie stars Richard Harris, Barbara Hershey and Maximilian Schell. "Abraham" has already been shown on Italian television to record-breaking audiences. Jody Powell brought this film to my attention. He has seen it and reports that it is extraordinary.

This film is a joint venture among Italy, the United States and German film makers.

I'm proposing to show this in conjunction with a Small Dinner with a guest list composed of key religious leaders and other religious leaders important to you and The President.

The second opportunity, which could also be in conjunction with a Small Dinner, is a reprise of "Grease." It's opening at The National on February 15th.

Alma Viator called today and offered the cast for a mini-performance/or 50's dance. As I remember viewing it a long time ago, the sound track is pretty good. Can we please discuss it at the next scheduling meeting.

As you might remember, the President appointed me to serve as Chairman of the Western NIS Enterprise Fund, which invests in private sector development in Ukraine. At the direction of the National Security Council (through Nick Burns), I have worked diligently since August to get the Fund up and running in preparation for President Kuchma's visit to D.C. next week.

In anticipation for the visit, the NSC asked Ann Stock and Leon Panetta to invite me to the State Dinner on Tuesday evening. They have heard nothing back and I have received no invitation. I hate to trouble you with this, but it's another in a lengthy list of frustrations. Is there anything you can do?

I will be in town for the visit (though I might cancel if I'm not invited to the State Dinner). If you will be in, I'd like to drop by to say hello. Despite the election returns, I remain a steadfast supporter of the President. I'd like to explore how I can help you.

Incidentally, I am having a great time back in the deal business. I couldn't be happier. Be sure to read the Journal on Thursday.

In case you want to call me at home, my telephone number is (914) 921-4122.

All the best,

Glenn
