Dear Sandy:

It was good to see you at the NEAC Board meeting last month. As I mentioned to you then, I am eager for you to attend our 1998 National AIDS Fundraising Conference. I believe it would be enjoyable, informative and inspiring to have you speak at the Conference's first event. This is our opening breakfast at 8 a.m. on April 24th.

The conference takes place from April 23 - 25, 1998. The 1998 conference theme is "Adapting to the Changing Face of AIDS." I would like you to set the stage by telling us (in a presentation of approximately 15 minutes) where we are as a nation regarding HIV disease -- especially from the White House perspective. Having led a local AIDS service organization, you understand that future funding issues will be of special interest for this audience.

Last year, we had almost 250 people attending -- both staff and volunteers -- from local AIDS service organizations located in 37 states and Canada. Now in its sixth year, the National AIDS Fundraising Conference is the largest gathering of staff and volunteers committed to increasing the resources needed to serve men, women and children living with HIV disease.

I hope you can attend. I know the conferees would benefit from your presence. We are planning to honor Tim Gil of the Gil Foundation (CEO of Quark) at the awards dinner. If you can also attend the awards dinner, that would be wonderful.

Thank you for your good works and leadership.

Sincerely,

Larry Biddle

Dear Ms. Thurman:

We would like to invite you to an open house on Wednesday, November 19, at 8:30 a.m. in the Gold Room (Rayburn 2168). At the open house, we hope to introduce you to Women in Government Relations (WGR), to answer any questions that you may have, and to inspire you to consider becoming a member.

Briefly, WGR offers a wide array of activities and programs to further the career development and professional growth of our members. We are a non-partisan organization of more than 700 women and men who represent corporations, trade associations, consulting and law firms, public interest groups, federal agencies and congressional offices. WGR's primary purpose is to advance the professional and educational development of its members through issue briefings, workshops, and other programs, including a job bank. Networking, mentoring, and learning to play a leadership role are among the most important informal WGR activities.

Members of the various committees and task forces, e.g., health, taxation, and international trade, will be on hand on November 19 to give you the full picture. Coffee and rolls will be served.

We certainly hope to see you in the Gold Room!

Sincerely,

Karin Bierstein
