Dear Jeanne:

Thank you so much for including me in the viewing of Sex Education in America Monday night. The film is powerful, and well illustrates both the human side of the issue, and its social complexity. I was delighted and moved to be there.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Holmes,

On November 1, from 4-6 PM there will be a viewing of the television documentary Sex Education in America: AIDS and Adolescence on Capitol Hill. The documentary, currently airing nationally on Public Television stations examines two dramatically different approaches to sex education and what is being done to reach young people with potentially lifesaving information and skills.

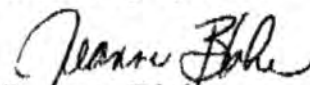

Our Guest of Honor for the viewing and the reception is Dr. Joycelyn Elders who is featured throughout the documentary. Three of the young people profiled in the documentary will also be present, with members of their family. We would be pleased if Ms. Kristine Gebbie could join us.

Welcoming remarks will be made by Dr. Elders at 4:00. The documentary will be viewed between 4:10 and 5:00. If Ms. Gebbie is able to attend and offer remarks, we would welcome her at the close of the documentary, at 5:00 PM, prior to the presentation by the young people with HIV.

The event, co-sponsored by AT&T and the Harvard AIDS Institute will be held in the Gold Room (Rayburn House Office Building Room 2168). It would be an honor for the young people in the documentary, who have committed their lives to educating their peers about HIV, to meet Ms. Gebbie and to be recognized for their remarkable work.

I look forward to hearing from you. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely yours,

Jeanne Blake
