Dear Ms. Gebbie:

I recently spoke to your assistant, Steve Lee, about the possibility of your presenting a televised message on the Viewpoint segment of Executive Nurse Update, a bi-weekly News program for Nurse Executives. The program is produced by Lambert Communication (formerly Hospital Satellite Broadcasting) and is seen in hospitals throughout the country. By the end of 1993 the number of subscribers will be over 800.

Viewpoint is a regular feature of ENU which presents the timely opinions of nursing and other health care leaders. We believe that it is an excellent opportunity for you to reach a large number of nurse executives to discuss your ideas on their roles in responding to the AIDS epidemic. Viewpoint is usually a three minute segment; however, we would be pleased to give you more time, if needed.

If you agree to appear on Viewpoint, ENU's producer Mary Rajou and a writer will work with you in preparing a script. Mary and a camera person will televise the program in your office and you may use a teleprompter.

You will find enclosed a brochure on ENU as well as other materials on Lambert Communications. I look forward to hearing from you and hope that you will can find time in your busy schedule to work with us. I can be reached in Washington at 202-986-0372.

Sincerely,

Dear Kristine:

I understand that you have been contacted by Sheila McCarthy the Chairman of the Advisory Board for Nurse Executive Update. Your "viewpoint" for the Nurse Executive Update, a subscription communication transmitted by the Healthcare Satellite Broadcasting Network would be valued. As an editorial advisor, I believe that you have an important message for nurse executives on AIDS control, management and patient care.

The Satellite Healthcare Network makes it easy for you to provide the viewpoint. You would be interviewed by phone, a professional writer would prepare a script for your review and revision, and then a television crew would come to you at your convenience to videotape the five minute "viewpoint" presentation. Teleprompters are used to facilitate your presentation.

As I discussed with your administrative assistant, I hope you will be able to present a "viewpoint" on the important subject of AIDS.

Sincerely,

Marjorie Beyers

Physicians News Network

For Physicians only...

Physicians News Network is the only 24-hour medical news network produced exclusively for physicians. This continuously playing 10-minute program is uniquely designed to accommodate the physician's busy schedule. PNN reaches doctors on dedicated TV monitors in physicians' lounges and other professional-only locations within a hospital, and brings physicians carefully selected and referenced medical news that they can use immediately.

Reliable sources...

PNN's news and information comes from leading journals, such as the Journal of the American Medical Association and the New England Journal of Medicine, and reports from conventions, medical associations, teaching institutions, research organizations and government agencies. PNN also helps physicians anticipate their patients' questions that are prompted by the exhaustive coverage of medical issues in the consumer media... sources like the Wall Street Journal, 60 Minutes and the national news magazines.

Independence, with expert guidance...

An independent medical advisory board of nationally recognized physicians, chaired by Richard Gorlin, M.D., Chairman, Department of Medicine, Mount Sinai School of Medicine, New York, sets standards that assure PNN's independence.

Like other national networks, PNN is supported by commercial announcements, mostly for pharmaceutical product messages that meet strict FDA guidelines. Unlike other consumer networks, however, sponsored messages are limited to a maximum of 12 minutes per hour and are never broadcast 3 or 4 at a time. Each advertisement is totally surrounded by the news.

A service you can depend on...

More than 100,000 physicians across the country rely on PNN for succinct, timely reports on daily medical news. Ninety-seven percent of physicians who have viewed PNN only once, now watch it regularly, every week. PNN is the only widely available 24 hour news service. By highlighting the most important medical developments in just 10 minutes each day, PNN helps these busy physicians keep up.

PNN is one of three networks produced by Lambert Communications, Inc., doing business as Healthcare Satellite Broadcasting.

The Leadership Channel

Satellite delivered education for Physicians, Nurses, Allied Health Staff and Patients

Continuing education in health-care...

The Leadership Channel, the health information and continuing education channel, provides accredited educational programming for nurses and allied health professionals, continuing medical education for physicians and patient education. Guides, distributed to all subscribing hospitals, specify which programs are accredited, and how to obtain contact hours for nurses and continuing education units for allied health professionals.

Primary Tier...

Programming on the Primary Tier of The Leadership Channel is designed to be watched live or taped, based upon the educator's convenience. Programs fit into in-service training schedules, and vary between patient education and staff education. There are approximately 18 programs offered each month. Pay-per-view and live teleconferences expand the primary programming available.

Cost effective and convenient...

The Leadership Channel gives each hospital greater control over expenditures and enables them to meet regulatory standards of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations, OSHA and other agencies. Directors of Education spend less on preparation time for staff educators, and hospitals spend less on employees' travel and time away from work. Building the hospital video library means greater accessibility to educational materials for everyone on staff, but also results in continuous cost savings in the future.

Carefully researched and documented...

The Leadership Channel program providers include the University of California Los Angeles (UCLA) School of Nursing, University of Michigan, George Washington University, AIDS Television Network and the University of Illinois.

The recent agreement with MedCom/Trainex allows us to broadcast their entire library over the next year. This programming has been well received by member hospitals. Forty-five percent of all programs is accredited for contact hours approved by the American Nurses' Association, and continuing education contact hours for allied health professionals.

Suited to your needs...

Program choices are based on the educational and training needs of subscribing hospitals, regular surveys of participating hospital education directors, and the guidance of The Leadership Channel's professional advisory board. Key education contacts in every hospital provide constant feedback and means that The Leadership Channel can give hospitals the programming that they need.

The Leadership Channel is one of three channels of Lambert Communications Inc., known as Healthcare Satellite Broadcasting, the nation's leading provider of healthcare educational television programming.

Patient Movie Network

Just for the Patients...

Patient Movie Network is the only full entertainment and information network designed exclusively for hospital patients. It offers a quality selection of blockbuster and classic motion pictures, in addition to news and brief features on food, health and fitness.

Carefully selected and edited...

The content of PMN programs is guided by the highest principles. Excessive nudity, violence and foul language are edited out so that all material is suitable for patients. Religious hospitals across the country rely on PMN for its appropriate, entertaining and educational programs.

Easy to use...

PMN provides 28 different uninterrupted movies each week, and airs for 24 hours each day. Sponsorship by well-respected companies like the Wall St. Journal, Nordic Track and others averages no more than 4 minutes per hour and never interrupts a movie. Sponsorship helps to defray the cost of delivering this exceptional programming to hospital patients.

Hospitals receive program guides of complete listings for distribution to patients. PMN is easy for patients to use - no tapes or VCRs to manipulate.

PMN is one of the services that Healthcare Satellite Broadcasting provides to subscribing hospitals, and it comes with no additional charge to the patient.

PMN, one of three channels of Lambert Communication, Inc., doing business as Healthcare Satellite Broadcasting, serves over 3.5 million patients each year.
