Dear Mrs. Clinton:

This is to invite you to support the 1998 Children's Summit, as you graciously did last summer with your video greeting to the 600 children from 40 countries at the 1997 Summit in Paris.

The 1998 Children's Summit (May 4-8 in Paris) will consider the topic of "Growing Up." To prepare, children around the world are imagining projects they can do to support their communities.

To identify the U.S. delegation to the Summit, Disney, The Just Think Foundation and the Points of Light Foundation — with Make a Difference Day, USA Weekend and Who Cares magazine — have asked young people in America to imagine projects they can do to help their communities "grow up" to be the best they can be. Ten children will represent the U.S. children at the Summit. Projects that the kids create will be supported by Points of Light Volunteer Centers and Make a Difference Day.

To date, 3,200 children have designed projects that range from a campaign to ban the sale of bullets in Los Angeles, to an effort by two girls in Nashville to increase voting. It's inspiring to imagine the power of children who know they can make a positive difference.

This year, we would like to request that you consider meeting the U.S. team of 10 children before they travel to the Summit in Paris. The 10 winners will be in Washington on May 1 (May Day, a day of world peace). They would be very honored if they could meet with you briefly that morning in the White House. Representatives from The Points of Light Foundation, The Just Think Foundation and Disney would join the children.

As in past years, we know these will be exceptional children who represent the spectrum of America geographically and culturally.

Mrs. Clinton -- Page 2

In the afternoon of May 1, the children will participate in an on-line conference with all the children who entered the U.S. contest, offering all of the 3,200 kids who have created projects the chance to send messages to Paris with the U.S. team. They will have a real opportunity to reinforce the mission of the U.S. Summiteers to -- to help the world "grow up" and take better care of its inhabitants!

Thank you very much for entertaining this idea of meeting the Summiteers on May 1.

We hope this sounds like an opportunity in tune with your interests. We look forward to following up with your office to discuss it further.

Sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

The Alliance To End Childhood Lead Poisoning cordially invites you to be the keynote speaker at our Preventing Lead Poisoning in the Americas: Health, Environment, and Sustainable Development, to be held at the National Archives in Santiago, Chile on Friday April 17, 1998. Meeting co-sponsors include prominent Chilean NGOs, such as La Casa de La Paz and la Mutual de Seguridad de Chile, and the international consulting firm, Science Applications International Corporation. The Alliance is also working closely with government agencies in Chile to prepare this conference, including the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Health.

For your background, the Alliance To End Childhood Lead Poisoning is a non-profit public interest organization dedicated to eliminating lead poisoning in the United States and throughout the world. Formed in 1990, the Alliance's primary mission is to frame the agenda, formulate innovative and effective approaches, and enlist critical resources to prevent lead poisoning through source control and elimination. The April 17 Conference will be the first of an anticipated series of regional meetings throughout the world sponsored by the Alliance and will build on our international work, specifically our Global Dimensions of Lead Poisoning conference and our International Action Plan for Preventing Lead Poisoning (a copy of which is enclosed).

As you are aware, the countries of the hemisphere called for the complete phase-out of leaded gasoline in the region at the first Summit of the Americas in 1994. This commitment has been one of the most successful environmental initiatives of the Summit process, due in large part to the sustained leadership and technical assistance provided by the U.S. government and also the World Bank. In follow-up meetings to the Summit, technical experts from across the Americas further called on governments to identify and control other sources of lead pollution as a priority action in the Hemispheric effort to promote sustainable development, children's health, and protect the environment.

While the Americas, as a region, have taken a lead in preventing lead poisoning, many governments have failed to implement the Summit of the Americas commitments and

is so well defined,
so neatly packaged,
with both causes
and cures known,
that if we don't eliminate this social
crime, our society
deserves all the
disasters that have
been forecast for it.

lead poisoning from a multiplicity of sources remains a serious problem in Latin America and the Caribbean. As the governments of the hemisphere gather for the forthcoming Summit of the Americas meeting in Santiago, they are afforded another opportunity to renew their commitment to protect children from the severe and often permanent consequences of lead exposure by controlling and eliminating sources of lead in the environment. Failure to live up to their promises and begin to expeditiously implement effective source control and elimination programs will represent a significant blow to the integrity of the Summit of the Americas process and will handicap generations to come.

With this background in mind, the primary objectives of the Alliance's Conference are to showcase national experiences and "best practices" (adaptable models of successful technical applications and policy innovations); draw attention to hemispheric progress on the phase-out of leaded gasoline and rally hemispheric action for all countries to phase out leaded gasoline by the year 2001; educate the public and the media in attendance at the Summit on lead poisoning in general and leaded gasoline phase-out in particular; and engage policy-makers, the private sector, and NGOs in building partnerships for preventive solutions to all sources of lead poisoning.

The audience will be comprised of up to 150 professionals in the fields of environment, health, occupational safety, children's welfare, education, and human rights, as well as representatives of government agencies, the private sector, international institutions, and foreign NGOs. The Conference will be followed, on April 18, by a smaller invitation-only Hemispheric Policy Workshop of technical experts, which will build on the Conference by fostering the preparation of a series of policy recommendations and priority actions focused on lead poisoning prevention and leaded gasoline phase-out in the Americas.

Your participation as the keynote speaker at this Conference will convey the strong message that lead poisoning prevention is an urgent priority for sustainable development, that it benefits society, and that now is the time to act. Lead poisoning impedes sustainable development because of its developmental consequences for children - the intellectual, social, and economic resources of the future. Since solving this problem will require a coordinated and cooperative international approach, a successful global effort to prevent lead poisoning will further the post-Rio (UNCED) agenda by providing a model of international cooperation and sustainable development.

As you can see from the enclosed draft conference agenda, we are currently planning for the keynote address to take place from 2:15 to 2:45 on the afternoon of April 17th. However, changes can be made to accommodate your schedule.

We look forward to hearing from you soon. Please feel free to contact us if we can provide additional information. We would be happy to provide your staff with talking points or any additional background information you may require.

Sincerely,

Maria Rapuano

Dear Ms. Verveer:

The Family Resource Coalition of America is very honored to have First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton attend the opening dinner of our 7th biennial conference on April 29, 1998. To help ensure a memorable event, we have begun planning particular activities. Does the First Lady have a particular preference regarding her activities during the opening dinner?

We have many ideas about the opening night, which includes the following possibilities:

1. Chicago Mayor Richard M. Daley has agreed to give a brief speech and introduce the First Lady.
2. The First Lady takes the stage:
 - The First Lady moderates a panel about issues facing parents, comprised of six parents from diverse backgrounds from across the country. To help the First Lady develop her questions to the panelists, we can both supply biographical information and full text of the brief speeches that each panelist will make. We can also set aside a room where she could meet the panelists in private before or during the event to discuss the panel.
 - The First Lady gives a speech about family issues, and someone else moderates the parent panel.
 - The First Lady gives a speech and moderates the parent panel.

We will be in touch with your office soon regarding the First Lady's preferences. If you have any questions or need additional information, please feel free to contact Shay Riley at 312/338-0900 x129.

New World Foundation

In Partnership with react/Parade magazines

The Take Action Awards (Worth Almost $1 Million Annually) are the most public face of New World Foundation's Teen Action and Community Renewal Fund. This fund supports the work of young people in building strong communities and encouraging active citizenship throughout the United States. The Fund is made possible through grants from New World Foundation's endowment. In this way, we are trying to combat the false impression of young people as dangerous and crime-ridden with strong evidence and celebration of their wonderful community, service, and achievement.

Begun in 1997, the Take Action Awards were given for the first time to young people (12-17 years old) who are making a major contribution to their communities. These young people are honored for their service and their good citizenship—they are an example and a reminder of what it takes to make a compassionate democracy work. This year as last, the five winners and 15 runners-up receive:

- $20,000 in college scholarship
- $25,000 worth of clothes and toys to distribute to the needy in their respective communities
- $1,000 college-book scholarship
- A box set of best-selling books on values and morals

Take Action Awards are the result of an unusual partnership between New World Foundation and react/Parade magazines—a model of cooperation between a non-profit foundation and business:

- New World Foundation provides awards through its endowment and its relationship with the children's toy and clothing industry.
- Travel has been provided by the airline industry.
- Hotel accommodations have been provided by Parade publications.
- Nomination forms are made available through Parade/react, Wall-Mart, and the National Education Association.

Take Action Award Nominees are judged by a national panel which includes:

Marian Edelman, Elie Wiesel, Jim Webb, Bill Moyers, Peggy Saika (and Asian/Pacific Islander Environmental Network), Teddy Gross (Common Cents), Paul Gorman (National Religious Partnership for the Environment).

Awards in 1997 were presented by national panel members and other celebrities including:

Marian Edelman, Bill Bradley, Elie Wiesel, Walter Anderson, and Donna Hanover. In addition, First Lady Mrs. Hillary Clinton sent a video message to congratulate and acknowledge the winners.

Media Coverage

The partnership with Parade/react has proven a huge success. In a short two years we have established a media marathon: magazine stories profiling award recipients and their good works run in Parade and react and are then picked up regularly in the national media, including Time, ABC, and CBS. NBC and Fox television are now considering future participation. All 2400 Wall-Mart stores distribute the nomination forms with announcements over in-store loudspeakers about the value of the program. Last year's winners were all invited guests to President Clinton's Service Summit in Philadelphia.

Subject: Saudi invitation to Mrs. Clinton/Wayne Gibbens

I have checked with NSC Near Eastern -- they sent a memo to their legal shop, where it is now evidently sitting. They are now energized to get us an answer quickly.

Together, we'll drag an answer out of them.

On the Wayne Gibbens letter--according to Mack, Dr. Mendelsohn is the head of M.D. Andersen Cancer Center in Texas -- a major medical center. He is an acquaintance of Mrs. Clinton's from the health care legislation days, and both President and Mrs. Clinton met with him the last time he was in Washington (Mack recalls it was in 1994; the letter says 1996). Mack's view is that Mrs. Clinton may want to see Dr. Mendelsohn because of their acquaintanceship, and sent the letter over in that spirit. (I'm still not sure what Harry Belafonte has to do with it).

Dear Mac:

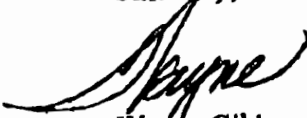

Harry Belafonte has agreed to participate in an event to benefit The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center on Thursday, May 21, 1998, at the Four Seasons Hotel in Washington, DC. The highlight of the May event will be a live interview of Mr. Belafonte by our friend and CBS "FACE THE NATION" host Bob Schieffer. As I am sure you know, Donna has graciously agreed to serve on our Advisory Committee.

While Dr. Mendelsohn is in Washington, DC, on May 20 and 21, we would appreciate your assistance in scheduling a courtesy call with President Clinton, Mrs. Hillary Rodham Clinton and/or members of his Administration. Your willingness to help facilitate this meeting in June 1996, was very beneficial to M.D. Anderson and could be again this May. Dr. Mendelsohn will also be circulating among the Senate and Congressional Members with Harry Holmes, Associate Vice President for Governmental Relations, and speaking to the Texas Breakfast Club on Thursday, May 21, 1998.

We would be pleased to work with you in any way to make this appointment possible and would appreciate any assistance you could offer on our behalf. If you have any questions, please call me or my assistant, Patti Pyle, at 202/638-4400.

Many thanks and warmest regards.

Wayne Gibbens

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH (USA)

OFFICE OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

CLIFTON KIRKPATRICK
STATED CLERK

Mrs. Hillary Rodham Clinton
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

As Stated Clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), I am writing to invite you to be the featured speaker at the Ecumenical Breakfast of our 210th General Assembly (1998) on Wednesday, June 17 in Charlotte, North Carolina.

The General Assembly is the national governing body of our church. It meets for eight days each year, attracting approximately 2,500 leaders and members of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.).

At this year's Assembly, we will be commemorating the conclusion of the World Council of Churches' Ecumenical Decade of the Churches in Solidarity with Women, which began on Easter Sunday, 1988. We have been active in this emphasis; at one memorable moment in the Decade, a number of representatives from this and other U.S. churches had occasion to meet you at the Beijing Conference.

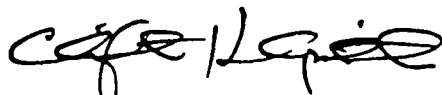

As our speaker at the Ecumenical Breakfast, we would hope that you could address key issues which were outlined by the World Council of Churches for consideration throughout the past ten years. Each member church of the World Council was called to:

- * consider its own structures and decide on concrete steps to allow for full participation of women at all levels of the life of their church;
- * seek ways of expressing commitment and support for women who suffer from violence;
- * stand in solidarity with the increasing number of women who are caught in economic injustice;
- * work against racism and xenophobia that so often affect women in church and society.

If you have further questions concerning this invitation, please contact me at the address or phone number below. You or your staff may also wish to speak with Presbyterian staff in our Washington Office, 110 Maryland Ave. NE, Washington 20002; (202) 543-1126.

We hope that you will assist our church in taking this opportunity presented by the conclusion of the Ecumenical Decade of the Churches in Solidarity with Women to reflect on the achievements which have been made by the churches in their commitments to stand in solidarity with women. We also hope that you will challenge our church to move forward in its commitments to women.

Sincerely,

Clifton Kirkpatrick

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

We are writing to invite you to join the Irish Immigration Center in Boston on May 12, 1998 as we honor Elizabeth Shannon for her outstanding contributions to peace in Ireland. Our dream is that the award be presented to Liz by someone who has impacted her life the way she has impacted ours. We obviously cannot think of someone who fits that description better than you!

Each year the Irish Immigration Center honors one or more people who have had a significant impact on improving lives, particularly among Irish-Americans and those living in Ireland. Previous recipients include Mary Robinson, then President of Ireland, and Senator Edward Kennedy.

This year we are pleased to honor Brian Donnelly and Bruce Morrison, authors of visa programs which allowed thousands to legally enter the United States. We are very pleased to also honor Liz Shannon with whom you are familiar through her assistance to you prior to your visit to Ireland.

Liz, as an author, journalist, teacher and advocate, has given voice to the concerns of women living in Northern Ireland. She has worked to assist underprivileged children in that area and, here in Boston, has sought to increase avenues of communication through her work with Seeking Common Ground. She truly has spent most of her life working for diversity, understanding and peace.

The Irish Immigration Center is dedicated to helping newly arrived immigrants adjust to a new land. Our primary service is to provide a warm, friendly, welcoming face to the newly-arrived. IIC also assists the newer immigrant to make the cultural adjustment to a country which is vast in its size and diverse in its peoples.

Founded in 1989, we provide a comprehensive immigration advisory service, assist newcomers through the many difficulties of acculturation, especially those who may need counseling support. We provide practical help in finding housing and jobs, including assistance in all facets of the job search. As immigrants become established, we encourage them to avail themselves of educational opportunities to advance their careers. We provide information on applying for citizenship, on receiving health services and such life-enhancing activities as obtaining driver's licenses, finding day care and forming a social support network.

We believe that if we have a good appreciation of our own culture we will be able to understand and appreciate other cultures. We work collaboratively with other immigrant groups on advocacy and immigration issues to ensure that immigrants can contribute fully to this society.

We know that you have receive an extraordinary number of requests to participate in events but we would sincerely appreciate your consideration of our request. The award will be presented at our Annual Awards Dinner at the Boston Marriott Hotel at Copley Place beginning with a reception at 6:00pm and dinner and the program at 7:00pm.

Again, please know that Liz Shannon would be overwhelmed if you could be with her when she receives this award. Also know that if you would like to schedule other meetings while you are in Boston, we will assist with these arrangements. Please call Christine Farris, who is assisting with the event, at 617-267-8862 if you require additional information or have questions about our request.

Dear Bobbie Greene

I thought it might be useful, now that Mrs Clinton has returned from Africa, to confirm that we are still very much interested in a photographic shoot with her and Mrs Blair to commemorate their joint patronage of the Pieter de Hooch art exhibition. I don't wish to inundate you with numbers but I will be in the Washington area from tomorrow through to the 19th - the phone number there is 703-742-7927. As of the 20th I will be in the offices of Vogue. 16th

The people at the Dulwich Picture gallery are now approaching Mrs Blair. I do feel however, as I mentioned to you when we spoke, that Mrs Blair will most certainly agree if Mrs Clinton is for it. We would comply with any requirements set out by your office. I do very much hope this works - nothing like it has ever been done and both women are so extraordinary - it would be significant even for the sake of posterity.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Melanne Verveer

Mrs Clinton recently accepted an invitation from the Wadsworth Atheneum museum in Hartford, Connecticut to become the honorary patron of their Pieter de Hooch exhibition. You may already be aware that this is a joint effort by the Wadsworth Atheneum and the Dulwich Picture Gallery here in London. The wife of our Prime Minister, Mrs Cherie Blair has also accepted an invitation to become joint patron with Mrs Clinton. The exhibition will open in London in September. As this conjunction is unprecedented and historical, it would be an honour if our magazine had the opportunity to record it in some way.

John Burgess who is the Press Attache to the American embassy here recently informed me that the President and the First Lady are due to visit London in May. I am writing to ask how I might go about securing a short amount of time during this visit for a photo opportunity and an equally brief interview on the subject pertaining to the joint patronage. In short, I am hoping to bring Mrs Clinton and Mrs Blair together for a photograph and for one or both of them to answer a few questions on the subject of cultural exchange between our two countries. This could take place anywhere that fits in with Mrs Clinton's schedule and the topic would be strictly limited to the area stated above. The piece would run in our September issue to coincide with the opening of the exhibition.

The Director of the Wadsworth Atheneum has already pointed out that much of Pieter de Hooch's painting focuses on maternal values and family life. That and the fact that Mrs Clinton and Mrs Blair are involved with the exhibition makes it an occasion that deserves a certain amount of attention. British Vogue is known for its intelligent features and would be very suitable for something like this. We would send the best team we could possibly put together.

Subject: UC Davis request for Mrs. Clinton

I believe that you have gotten the latest request from UC Davis in Sacramento California for Mrs. Clinton to participate in an event surrounding their month of peace in honor of Adam Darling. As you probably remember, Mrs. Clinton attended Adam's funeral in Santa Cruz. She had gotten to know the Darlings and Adam when they hosted a very early event at their bed and breakfast home in Santa Cruz during '92. Adam worked for us and then was with Sec. Brown when he died. This was the second child the Darlings has lost and Mrs. Clinton was very kind and sensitive to their suffering. They are very active with the group of parents and partners of the victims of that crash. They have been petitioning your office for over a year to have her attend an event of this kind. They will adjust to Mrs. Clinton's schedule. They are good people and obviously this would be a meaningful and gracious gesture on Mrs. Clinton's part to attend. However, I know how tight her schedule is and if a video could be sent, that might be just perfect. I have tried to prepare them for the difficulty in the schedule - particularly this month and the beginning of May; but instead of just a "no," perhaps we should go the extra step and send a video. Let me know if you need more info or better yet, call Brigham at 64578. Thanks.

A new government sponsored child care center (GSA controlled space) is being opened in Rochester NY in July. Eileen Stern, who is the head of the GSA Center of Expertise on Childcare wanted to invite the First Lady to open the center. The vendor for the Center is the Salvation Army. According to Eileen, the First Lady will be in Seneca Falls NY on July 16 at 1PM for a National Park Service event. Could this be tagged on at the beginning or end of the day? It would be thrilling if she could come and a yet another boost to the importance of govt as the nation's largest employer leading the way on child care. Needless to say, if the First Lady comes, Dave Barram will be there as well!
Thanks

Subject: Invite for Hillary Clinton to conference in NOLA July 8.

- crbba017.doc

Susan asked me to follow up on her conversation with you ,and to give you the information you needed.

The request is to give the keynote speech at the opening luncheon on July 8. It is scheduled for 11:30 to 1PM.

The event is the Child Care Coordinator's annual conference. This year, because of the President's directives on improvements across government sponsored child care-this conference will not just be for GSA coordinators, but also for the people who do child care coordination in other federal agencies. In addition, vendors board members, child care staff, Susan's staff, and a few other invited guests will be there. They expect about 400 people, Of course if Hillary comes, many more will come.

Because of the President's directives, and his desire for government as the nation's largest employer to "lead the way" on child care, Hillary's presence at the conference would send a strong message that she and the President are committed to making this happen. By then the plans called for in the directives will be on the President's desk,, They are due June 10.

I assume the official invite letter should come from Dave Barram. Is that right? Let me know what else you need so we can get the letter done and on your desk ASAP. Thanks so much for helping out here.

Add on:

The conference usually draws about four hundred people. If Hillary comes it will be six hundred. The participants include GSA child care coordinators from the 11 regions, the staff of our child care Center of Expertise, child care directors, child care staff, board members, provider organizations, building managers where child care centers are located, and this year in addition, all other govt agencies that sponsor child care will be invited to send participants. As you know GSA sponsors 109 centers and other federal agencies sponsor 133.

Reasons for Hillary to accept the invite:

Context &
Bk

President has just issued four directives to encourage private, sponsored child care to become a model for the nation (i.e. DoD example, etc.) Her presence would send a strong message that the govt that government sponsored child care is a priority and should not continue to be a foster child-loosely organized and underfunded, etc. The report on the plans to implement the President's directives will be done in mid-June and this would be the right time to keep the momentum going with another big push from the WH. Rubin's report will be out that talks about the obligations of the corporate sector and makes a good case for child care as a good business investment- the govt. should practice what it preaches, etc. DoD is a great model but it does not fit other govt sponsored child care which is really more like a corporate model vendor operated (55% profit making providers)etc. DoD is 50% subsidized and has a budget of 270 million dollars a year. GSA spends maybe 9 million and that number is a guess. It is time to take govt sponsored child care seriously, make a business case for it, and Hillary is the person to deliver that message loud and clear.

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

On behalf of the governors of fifteen states in the southern region, I am writing to invite you to come to Louisville on June 14-16, 1998 to address a very special gathering of political, business, and education leaders from throughout the region.

The Conference on the Future of the South will be a forum for examining the critical issues facing our region of the country. We are expecting the participation and presence of many of the governors from the states included in the Southern Growth Policies Board, which I am pleased to chair this year: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Puerto Rico, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia.

This Conference will be the culmination of a year's work by a special Commission on the Future of the South which I appointed last June. You will recall that your husband, as Governor, chaired a similar effort in 1984 when that year's report, Half Way Home and a Long Way To Go, was released and which attracted much attention nationwide.

This year's report will address key issues which will dramatically impact the future growth and development of our region: families and children, southern culture and communities, and economic development.

MRS. HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON

April 22, 1998

One of the most important issues in the South is, of course, the future of our children, and the Commission has discussed this at every meeting. Because of your long-standing commitment to the health and welfare of our children and families, your remarks on the importance of regional attention to this issue would add a great deal of weight to the Commissions' recommendations in this area. As you may recall, my wife, Judi, has also devoted much of her efforts as Kentucky's First Lady to families and children.

The Conference will open at 1:00 p.m. on Sunday, June 14, at the Seelbach Hotel and conclude before noon on Tuesday, June 16. We obviously would work the conference agenda around your availability.

Judi and I would be deeply grateful if you would be a part of this historic and exciting meeting on the future of the South, and I know your message would be warmly received by our region's public and private leaders.

I look forward to hearing from you. It would be a great honor for us to welcome you back to Kentucky in June.

Sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

It is with great pleasure that we invite you to once again serve as Honorary Chair of the Holding Little Hands for the Americas Luncheon. The luncheon will take place at the Organization of American States on June 3, 1998. As you know, the luncheon, sponsored by The Ivy Inter-American Foundation, calls attention to the plight of the millions of poor children across the western hemisphere and promotes good will across the Americas. We, as Co-Chairman, are lending our support to help alleviate the suffering of the more than 50 million children who are orphaned and abandoned in our part of the world. The luncheon proceeds are granted to organizations that help these children directly.

In addition to awarding the third Ivy Humanitarian Prize for the Americas, the luncheon will honor the Honorable Thomas F. "Mac" McLarty, Special Envoy to the Americas, and Donna Cochran McLarty who very successfully chaired our 1996 luncheon. We believe that they truly represent goodwill and friendship towards the Americas.

The upcoming year's luncheon promises to be our largest thus far. We sincerely hope you will serve as our Honorary Chairman, as you have in the past. We would be delighted if you could attend as well, but we understand your busy schedule. Last year we enjoyed your message which was read by Donna McLarty, and we would certainly appreciate hearing from you again at our 1998 luncheon. Thank you for your consideration, and we look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

THE NATION'S STATION, THE COMMUNITY'S VOICE

The Berlin Airlift: Triumph of Freedom

The Program

The Berlin Airlift of 1948-49 was the most dramatic rescue operation of the 20th century. It was a moment of great glory for the United States and its western allies during a tense time in the early days of the cold war. It not only saved one of Europe's most important capitals from Communist takeover but is viewed by historians as the single most significant event in stopping the Soviet advance across Europe after World War II.

Hosted by veteran correspondent Paul Duke, Berlin Airlift will capture the suspense, the drama and the historical significance of this phenomenal story. Highlights of the remarkable aspects of this event include:

- Berlin was where the Allies drew the line against the Soviets and refused to back down. The airlift cemented the western alliance.
- The airlift had important political consequences. By agreeing to supply western Berlin, the West accepted the idea of a permanently divided Berlin and Germany. By participating in the airlift, Americans took on the burden of defending western Europe, a role which the United States still plays today.
- The rescue effort was a technological miracle, a massive air supply operation without parallel in history. American and British pilots kept a city of 2.5 million people alive--fed, clothed and warm--for almost a year.

Broadcast

Berlin Airlift is scheduled to air in early July of 1998 to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of this historic effort.

The one-hour documentary will be broadcast nationally in prime-time by PBS, reaching an audience of millions.

Educational Outreach

A special educational version of Berlin Airlift will be distributed to high schools throughout America with study guides for classroom use.

Corporate Sponsorship

WETA is pleased to have as corporate sponsors Daimler-Benz and Mobil Corporation.

Dear Ms. Greene:

I learned yesterday that Ellen McCloy spoke with you regarding WETA's exciting project The Berlin Airlift: Triumph of Freedom. We feel that the historical content of this program makes it a possible choice for a White House pre-screening event.

Berlin Airlift, hosted by Paul Duke, will be aired in early July to coordinate with the fiftieth anniversary of the extraordinary rescue effort that forged new ground for the U.S. as a leader in international relations. Under President Truman's leadership, our nation successfully pursued freedom at a time when doing so imposed national and global risks. I am enclosing information that gives you specifics on the airlift and our documentary.

We would like to suggest a pre-screening event on June 11, 1998, but we would be happy to discuss any date that would accommodate the schedules of The President and The First Lady. The costs of the event would be paid by our corporate underwriters.

I thank you for your consideration of The Berlin Airlift: Triumph of Freedom. I will follow up with you during the week of February 23. In the interim, please call me at (703) 998- 2700 if you have questions.

Sincerely,

Hillary Rodham Clinton
The White House
Washington D.C. 20500

Dear Hillary:

It was great to say a brief hello at Swanee Hunt's reception in Vienna last July. While I've been disappointed that your crushing schedule has so far precluded the follow-up lunch you suggested, I continue to look forward to an opportunity to visit and talk some time in the not too distant future. In the meantime, Bobbie Greene has been a gracious and responsive phone pal.

With some reservations about asking anything more of you than you are already giving so magnificently to this country, I am hoping that a visit to the Center for the American Woman and Politics (CAWP) will be possible this spring.

I would be thrilled and honored if you would accept this invitation to be our keynote speaker on Friday, June 5, for NEW Leadership, the initiative created and developed by CAWP to encourage and empower young women to pursue a life in politics and public leadership. Your commitment to public leadership and the inspiring role model you have been to the next generation of women leaders makes you the ideal person for this program. No one can better articulate a strong statement about how critical it is for young women to take leadership roles in politics and policy making. Your message would inspire the immediate audience here in New Jersey and also young women across the nation.

This year's keynote address is especially important because CAWP is celebrating ten classes of young women who have participated in the program. Alumni from across the country and political women who have taught in and supported the program over the years will join us for the evening to celebrate the program's accomplishments and cheer in its future endeavors. In many ways this event will be the beginning of a new era for the program, and your commitment to women in politics would make an historic impact.

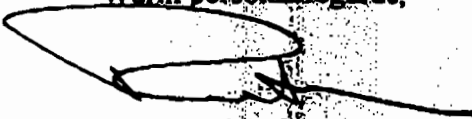

A respected national survey of first-year college students shows that only 15 percent of women believe influencing the political structure is important. When they arrive at CAWP, the young women who come to NEW Leadership do not understand the vital connection between politics and the issues in their communities and the nation that they care about. Our task over the years has been to show them this essential link between their lives and the greater community. We know you are singularly able to reinforce that connection.

We'd like you to talk about why young women's active involvement in the political process is important. We hope you can share the lessons you have learned that will be helpful to the next generation of women leaders. We see this as an opportunity for you to share with young women something of what you wish someone had told you when you were their age and as you began to enter a life in politics.

Ideally, we would like you to join the students for an informal dinner here at the Eagleton Institute of Politics from 5:45 to 6:45 p.m. Following the dinner, you would speak to an audience of approximately 250 people, including students, faculty, advisors and friends of CAWP. We'd like you to speak for approximately 30 minutes, with time afterward for questions and answers.

To give you a better sense of the program I am enclosing information about NEW Leadership. I will call Bobbie Greene soon to answer any questions and find out if you can be with us. Everyone at CAWP and the Eagleton Institute hopes your answer is yes!

Warm personal regards,

Ruth B. Mandel

Dear Hillary,

I am writing to you to request that you consider another springtime trip to Boston in your busy schedule.

Each year, I host a Dean's symposium to explore a substantive policy topic in depth with leading scholars, practitioners, and community leaders. This symposium is part of my ongoing research initiative Visions of Governance for the Twenty-First Century, which you and I have discussed on several occasions. This year, the symposium, scheduled for May 8 - 9, will be entitled Who's Responsible?: Renegotiating the Social Contract. It will be driven intellectually by leading faculty members within the Wiener Center for Social Policy and will focus on many of the issues which have been among your priorities as First Lady. It is my hope that you might consider participating in the symposium and delivering the closing keynote address on Saturday, May 9 from 12:30 - 2:00 p.m. This opportunity would serve as a "bookend" for the symposium, as we have extended an invitation to, and received positive indications of interest from, Speaker Gingrich for the other address on Friday.

I am well aware of the extraordinary demands upon your calendar, but I extend this invitation because of the strong impact your comments would have and the opportunity which speaking from the podium at the Kennedy School would afford on a topic I know to be very important to you and President Clinton. I have asked Catherine McLaughlin to call your office to see if this date is possible and to provide further details.

With my appreciation and best wishes,

Sincerely,

Joseph S. Nye, Jr.

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

On behalf of the American Russian Youth Orchestra and the Duke Ellington School for the Performing Arts, I would like to invite you to attend, and, if I may ask for the moon, to emcee a program we are jointly presenting in Washington this fall. Given your extraordinary rapport with young people, you would be absolutely magnificent in this role. It would also mean the world to our young performing artists.

The event will go like this. At 2 PM on Tuesday, September 22, fifteen ARYO Chamber Players will present a "Classics DeClassified" concert at the Ellington High School for the Performing Arts as part of our nine-city US tour. This is a Q&A concert. Ellington kids will get to hear our musicians perform and afterwards have an opportunity to ask basic questions about music, Russia, and the personal lives of members of the orchestra.

The program will be open to all students and will be an important crosscultural experience for all involved. That evening, after ARYO's concert at Kennedy Center's Millennium Stage, Bitsey Folger will have a pool party at her home for ARYO and some Ellington students.

ARYO is also inviting an Ellington student to join our World Tour 1997 as an intern, working directly under my supervision. Ellington musicians will audition to become members of the orchestra as well. We are all excited about this new relationship, and your presence would help us launch it on an upbeat note.

Our program with the Ellington High School for the Performing Arts is a splendid opportunity for you to share your own experiences with young people in Russia and to convey to young artists the active role they can play in US-Russian relations. Youth is on the rise in Russia, with talented, energetic youngsters assuming a vital role in the building of the post-Communist order. For young artists, Cultural Ambassadorships are the most effective forum through which they can make a difference.

I do hope you will join us.

Dear Melanne:

It is great to talk to you. Thank you for your continued time, insight, and support. As we discussed, the women's conference, tentatively entitled "Solutions: Women's Juggle for Time," will bring together a national audience at the University of Maryland College Park campus - outside of Washington, D.C. on Wednesday, June 3, 1998.

Not only do I hope that the First Lady will agree to serve as honorary co-chair of the conference, we would be honored if Mrs. Clinton would join us on that day to serve as our keynote luncheon speaker.

This day long conference will bring together approximately 100 highly influential women from academia, business, journalism, and advocacy groups to exchange ideas, identify and define "what works" - solutions to the challenges women face daily as they juggle their personal and professional lives. Armed with a better understanding of the issues, we will raise the nation's awareness of these topics, and define new ways for the private sector, government and every community - as well how each individual can improve the quality of her life.

We are inviting a dynamic mix of women who understand the challenges. We plan to have lively panel discussions by creating a true dialogue among all participants and attendees. The knowledge and experience of each of our audience members will serve as a valuable resource for the conference and the follow-up.

The conference promises to be an exciting and productive day. Having Mrs. Clinton join me - and all of us - at the conference will be a most memorable highlight. Melanne, thank you for playing such a critical role in every phase as we prepare this unique dialogue. I look forward to hearing from you soon. SOLUTIONS: WOMEN'S JUGGLE FOR TIME

BACKGROUND

Kathleen Kennedy Townsend, Lt. Governor of the State of Maryland and mother of four daughters, faces daily the juggle of work, family, and community responsibilities. This balancing act is performed by millions of American women and its increasingly profound impact is changing our work, culture, and democracy.

- WHAT? Lt. Governor Townsend will identify innovative and useful ways that the private sector, government, the community and individuals can help women strike the right balance between their personal and professional lives by hosting a national summit entitled, "Solutions: Women's Juggle for Time". The privately-funded summit will not be a rehashing of the work-family issue. Rather, it will be a movement of the issue toward solutions.
- WHO? Lt. Governor Townsend will engage a group of influential leaders representing the fields of academia, business, journalism, and advocacy groups in a dynamic exploration of "what works". (A listing of Advisory Board Members is attached)
- WHY? Together, we will identify real-life solutions which reflect the emotional, physical and spiritual needs and responsibilities of modern American women. The summit will proactively raise awareness of this issue in Maryland and throughout the country.
- HOW? Lt. Governor Townsend will facilitate lively panel discussions that engage audience members in an active dialogue with the assistance of a series of renowned audience moderators. As the panel topics shift, moderators, audience members and panelists will rotate roles to provide an on-going exchange of new ideas and perspectives.
- WHERE? The summit will bring together a national audience of approximately 100 people to the Inn & Conference Center at the University of Maryland, College Park campus outside of Washington, D.C.
- WHEN? The day-long conference will be held on Wednesday, June 3, 1998.

Robbie, I think the answer to this request was no, but I don't think the loop was ever officially closed, and I need to get a definitive answer out to the folks planning the event. Thanks for having someone call me, Lucy Hackney

A new government sponsored child care center (GSA controlled space) is being opened in Rochester NY on July 16. Eileen Stern, who is the head of the GSA Center of Expertise on Childcare wanted to invite the First Lady to open the center. The vendor for the Center is the Salvation Army. According to Eileen, the First Lady will be in Seneca Falls NY on July 16 at 1PM for a National Park Service event. Could this be tagged on at the beginning or end of the day? Subject: UC Davis request for Mrs. Clinton

I believe that you have gotten the latest request from UC Davis in Sacramento California for Mrs. Clinton to participate in an event surrounding their month of peace in honor of Adam Darling. As you probably remember, Mrs. Clinton attended Adam's funeral in Santa Cruz. She had gotten to know the Darlings and Adam when they hosted a very early event at their bed and breakfast home in Santa Cruz during '92. Adam worked for us and then was with Sec. Brown when he died. This was the second child the Darlings has lost and Mrs. Clinton was very kind and sensitive to their suffering. They are very active with the group of parents and partners of the victims of that crash. They have been petitioning your office for over a year to have her attend an event of this kind. They will adjust to Mrs. Clinton's schedule. They are good people and obviously this would be a meaningful and gracious gesture on Mrs. Clinton's part to attend. However, I know how tight her schedule is and if a video could be sent, that might be just perfect. I have tried to prepare them for the difficulty in the schedule - particularly this month and the beginning of May; but instead of just a "no," perhaps we should go the extra step and send a video. Let me know if you need more info or better yet, call Brigham at 64578. Thanks.

Dear Bobbie Greene

I thought it might be useful, now that Mrs Clinton has returned from Africa, to confirm that we are still very much interested in a photographic shoot with her and Mrs Blair to commemorate their joint patronage of the Pieter de Hooch art exhibition. I don't wish to inundate you with numbers but I will be in the Washington area from tomorrow through to the 19th - the phone number there is 703-742-7927. As of the 20th I will be in the offices of Vogue. (16th)

The people at the Dulwich Picture gallery are now approaching Mrs Blair. I do feel however, as I mentioned to you when we spoke, that Mrs Blair will most certainly agree if Mrs Clinton is for it. We would comply with any requirements set out by your office. I do very much hope this works - nothing like it has ever been done and both women are so extraordinary - it would be significant even for the sake of posterity.

Yours sincerely,

Many thanks for taking time to listen to what I had in mind for the September issue of Vogue. Here is a copy of the letter I sent to Melanne Verveer. I would be very happy to set up an appointment with you or anyone from your office when I am in Washington. I am assured by the Editor of Vogue, Alexandra Shulman that we would try and meet any requirements set out by your office.

As I mentioned I am a great fan of Mrs Clinton. After the breakfast with her I think my glowing comments about her were the ones most widely reported in the press!

Until setting out for Washington (on April 1) I can be reached by phone on (London) 171-713-4292, by fax on 171-713-4225. As of April 20 I will be at the offices of Vogue on 171-499-9080.

Dear Melanne Verveer

Mrs Clinton recently accepted an invitation from the Wadsworth Atheneum museum in Hartford, Connecticut to become the honorary patron of their Pieter de Hooch exhibition. You may already be aware that this is a joint effort by the Wadsworth Atheneum and the Dulwich Picture Gallery here in London. The wife of our Prime Minister, Mrs Cherie Blair has also accepted an invitation to become joint patron with Mrs Clinton. The exhibition will open in London in September. As this conjunction is unprecedented and historical, it would be an honour if our magazine had the opportunity to record it in some way.

John Burgess who is the Press Attache to the American embassy here recently informed me that the President and the First Lady are due to visit London in May. I am writing to ask how I might go about securing a short amount of time during this visit for a photo opportunity and an equally brief interview on the subject pertaining to the joint patronage. In short, I am hoping to bring Mrs Clinton and Mrs Blair together for a photograph and for one or both of them to answer a few questions on the subject of cultural exchange between our two countries. This could take place anywhere that fits in with Mrs Clinton's schedule and the topic would be strictly limited to the area stated above. The piece would run in our September issue to coincide with the opening of the exhibition.

The Director of the Wadsworth Atheneum has already pointed out that much of Pieter de Hooch's painting focuses on maternal values and family life. That and the fact that Mrs Clinton and Mrs Blair are involved with the exhibition makes it an occasion that deserves a certain amount of attention. British Vogue is known for its intelligent features and would be very suitable for something like this. We would send the best team we could possibly put together.

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

The Alliance To End Childhood Lead Poisoning cordially invites you to be the keynote speaker at our Preventing Lead Poisoning in the Americas: Health, Environment, and Sustainable Development, to be held at the National Archives in Santiago, Chile on Friday April 17, 1998. Meeting co-sponsors include prominent Chilean NGOs, such as La Casa de La Paz and la Mutual de Seguridad de Chile, and the international consulting firm, Science Applications International Corporation. The Alliance is also working closely with government agencies in Chile to prepare this conference, including the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Health.

For your background, the Alliance To End Childhood Lead Poisoning is a non-profit public interest organization dedicated to eliminating lead poisoning in the United States and throughout the world. Formed in 1990, the Alliance's primary mission is to frame the agenda, formulate innovative and effective approaches, and enlist critical resources to prevent lead poisoning through source control and elimination. The April 17 Conference will be the first of an anticipated series of regional meetings throughout the world sponsored by the Alliance and will build on our international work, specifically our Global Dimensions of Lead Poisoning conference and our International Action Plan for Preventing Lead Poisoning (a copy of which is enclosed).

As you are aware, the countries of the hemisphere called for the complete phase-out of leaded gasoline in the region at the first Summit of the Americas in 1994. This commitment has been one of the most successful environmental initiatives of the Summit process, due in large part to the sustained leadership and technical assistance provided by the U.S. government and also the World Bank. In follow-up meetings to the Summit, technical experts from across the Americas further called on governments to identify and control other sources of lead pollution as a priority action in the Hemispheric effort to promote sustainable development, children's health, and protect the environment.

While the Americas, as a region, have taken a lead in preventing lead poisoning, many governments have failed to implement the Summit of the Americas commitments and

is so well defined,
so neatly packaged,
with both causes
and cures known,
that if we don't
eliminate this social
crime, our society
deserves all the
disasters that have

lead poisoning from a multiplicity of sources remains a serious problem in Latin America and the Caribbean. As the governments of the hemisphere gather for the forthcoming Summit of the Americas meeting in Santiago, they are afforded another opportunity to renew their commitment to protect children from the severe and often permanent consequences of lead exposure by controlling and eliminating sources of lead in the environment. Failure to live up to their promises and begin to expeditiously implement effective source control and elimination programs will represent a significant blow to the integrity of the Summit of the Americas process and will handicap generations to come.

With this background in mind, the primary objectives of the Alliance's Conference are to showcase national experiences and "best practices" (adaptable models of successful technical applications and policy innovations); draw attention to hemispheric progress on the phase-out of leaded gasoline and rally hemispheric action for all countries to phase out leaded gasoline by the year 2001; educate the public and the media in attendance at the Summit on lead poisoning in general and leaded gasoline phase-out in particular; and engage policy-makers, the private sector, and NGOs in building partnerships for preventive solutions to all sources of lead poisoning.

The audience will be comprised of up to 150 professionals in the fields of environment, health, occupational safety, children's welfare, education, and human rights, as well as representatives of government agencies, the private sector, international institutions, and foreign NGOs. The Conference will be followed, on April 18, by a smaller invitation-only Hemispheric Policy Workshop of technical experts, which will build on the Conference by fostering the preparation of a series of policy recommendations and priority actions focused on lead poisoning prevention and leaded gasoline phase-out in the Americas.

Your participation as the keynote speaker at this Conference will convey the strong message that lead poisoning prevention is an urgent priority for sustainable development, that it benefits society, and that now is the time to act. Lead poisoning impedes sustainable development because of its developmental consequences for children - the intellectual, social, and economic resources of the future. Since solving this problem will require a coordinated and cooperative international approach, a successful global effort to prevent lead poisoning will further the post-Rio (UNCED) agenda by providing a model of international cooperation and sustainable development.

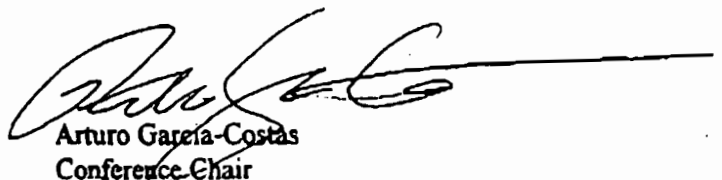

As you can see from the enclosed draft conference agenda, we are currently planning for the keynote address to take place from 2:15 to 2:45 on the afternoon of April 17th. However, changes can be made to accommodate your schedule.

We look forward to hearing from you soon. Please feel free to contact us if we can provide additional information. We would be happy to provide your staff with talking points or any additional background information you may require.

Dear Mrs. Clinton,

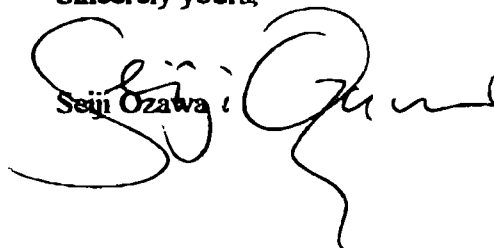

We understand that you will be on a National Treasures tour that will take you to the Berkshires on Monday, July 13 and Tuesday, July 14. I wanted to let you know how much it would mean to us if you could incorporate Tanglewood, the summer home of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, into your visit.

On Tuesday, July 14, Tanglewood will have its annual performance of the Boston Pops led by our young American conductor Keith Lockhart. We would be most honored if you might consider narrating Aaron Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait," or another idea would be a surprise encore in which you yourself could conduct "Stars and Stripes Forever," the traditional way we would end that concert. We expect an audience of anywhere between 15,000 and 18,000 people, and your presence would greatly enhance the festivities. We would also be happy just to invite you over for tea or a quick tour of Tanglewood with me, and also our good friend and colleague James Taylor, who will be with us that day. I hope there is a chance we could see you.

In the meantime, I send you my warmest regards.
