I just got a call from NAPO inquiring about this tour for the afternoon of August 4th. It appears that the President is on vacation during that time (which is why he can't host their event). At this point, have you discovered any potential conflicts with this happening?

If the President is gone, then we don't have a conflict with events in the House, so this is probably possible. (Unless the Ushers are scheduling major renovations during his vacation.) I will be glad to try, but we can not confirm an afternoon tour until about 10 days ahead of time. I know USSS will be glad to keep officers here to help.

Subject: Plea for help

Melinda --

I have an unusual request for which I would like to ask for your help. The President has hosted a White House ceremony every year for the "Top Cops" Awards for the National Association of Police Organizations. This year he will unfortunately be on vacation during the time the Top Cops will be in town. Therefore, NAPO is asking to get a special tour for the Top Cops, their families, NAPO convention delegates and their families. This is a total of 300-350 people. Their ideal time to do it is the afternoon of Friday, August 4th. Is this possible? Please let me know if you have questions or if there is anything I can do to make this happen. NAPO is very disappointed about the fact that this last year we can't do their ceremony, so we are trying to find alternate ways to do something nice for them.

Thank you for your consideration.
