Opening remarks by Senator DeWine:

- Too many children in legal limbo; we are denying them the chance to be adopted.
- We are trying to fix families that cannot be fixed.
- We are sending children back to parents who are parents in name only.
- Over 1200 children that die per year were already known to CPS.
- Tonight, 420,000 children will be sleeping in foster homes.
- DeWine wants the hearing to focus on the 1980 Act which is misinterpreted; there is strong evidence that reasonable

- efforts have become "extraordinary efforts."
- DeWine believes the law is misinterpreted by judges, lawyers, etc.
- Should the law promote extraordinary efforts? The child should come first.
- How should we do this? DeWine has written a the DeWine amendment (S. 1974):
 "(b) in determining reasonable efforts, the best interests of the child, including the child's health and safety, shall be of primary concern;"
- Is this a good solution?

Olivia Golden

- Almost 20,000 children are adopted each year, but we cannot keep pace with the need.
- Not every family can be preserved.
- Family Preservation Services are not appropriate if children are not safe.
- Do 3 things:
 1. Promote community-based intervention and prevention.
 2. Permanency and timely decision-making
 3. Accountability

Q & A:

- Many times workers feel the system gets in the way of making good decisions.
- She agrees that decision-making is not timely.
- The Administration is very committed to this issue and adoption.

Dr. Richard J. Gelles

- He wrote The Book of David.
- The child welfare and child protective systems are in crisis.
- The failure is not due to the increase in reports or too few resources, etc. The failure is due to inappropriate goals.
- Issues:
 1. The overselling of intensive Family Preservation as a cost effective way of saving children - no scientific research exists for effectiveness.
 2. The Adoption Assistance and Child Welfare Act of 1980 never clearly defined reasonable efforts. workers misinterpret and misapply the law.
 3. The belief children always do best when left with biological caretakers
 4. Belief in the fiction one can balance Family Preservation and child safety
 5. Belief it is easy to change parents who abuse their children - compliance with a case plan is confused with change

- It is time to spell out reasonable efforts and time limits.
- Congress should work with the Administration to support research about what will help families.

Q & A:

- Dr. Gelles is happy the Administration is moving forward to make child safety a priority.
- Senator DeWine asked Dr. Gelles to describe David's case. He told a story of two children. The older child was a girl who was severely physically abused (e.g., fractured skull and more). The mother voluntarily terminated her rights to the girl. When David was born the State did not open the case and the mother killed him.
- We have not provided an appropriate measure of risk and change. This is not limited to child abuse. It also happens with domestic violence.
- Past history has to be considered to determine if a child is safe.

Helen Jones

- Jones has a law degree; went to law school to become an advocate after the death of a child.
- We must always recognize any decision to remove a child will further damage the child.
- She discussed statistics from a U.S. News and World Report.
- Jones discussed a case of children removed because of substance abuse. It took 8 years to terminate.
- Often when children are freed for adoption, they are no longer adoptable.
- Ohio changed their law to protect the child's safety.
- Timely investigations may be the first and important step.
- Resources to train staff are critical.
- Clear direction is needed regarding definitions, more diversity, and ???? (didn't catch the last point).
- There are some parents for whom our best efforts are not enough.
- Jones cited a long list of factors that need to be considered when deciding if a child should be with his/her parents (e.g., long-term addiction, withholding of medical treatment, etc.).

Sharon Aulton

- Aulton discussed the story of her daughter who has a low I.Q. and is "extremely needy." She obtained custody of her oldest grandchild (a boy) who has special needs. After the son her daughter had two girls. Aulton discussed the unresponsive CPS system in Baltimore despite severe neglect. The girls died in a fire and her daughter is now serving 2 life sentences. (Very emotional testimony)

Peter Digree

- Digree is responsible for the largest CPS system in the country - L.A. County.
- 22% of the time infants are reunited with their parents they are subjected to new neglect.
- Digree quoted statistics about the number of foster care moves a child has as they grow older.
- He said the final tragedy is having no family to fall back on at age 18.
- Four suggestions:
 1. De Wine amendment is brilliantly stated. We should support child safety as the first priority.
 2. Judges and CPS workers should make more statements of fact re: why a child will be safe.
 3. Lawyers should only advocate for decisions consistent with child safety.
 4. Put standards in the new regulations discussed by Olivia Golden.
- We need much more emphasis on legal permanency.
- How should we do this?
 1. Reject unreasonable efforts and reject certain classes of parents - fast track to adoption.
 2. Introduce the concept of reasonable efforts for legal permanency. (L.A. has passed legislation).
 3. There should be a national declaration of intent re: when a child reaches 18 that they will have a place to live, health care, etc.
 4. Pull together H.U.D. resources, job opportunities, etc.
- We also need to look at other legislation. If a parent becomes totally drug-free, they should have a chance to get their kids. Digree said something about grandparent caretakers I did not catch.
- L.A. County supports the DeWine amendment.

General Q & A:

Jones - We need more stability in the system.

Digree - Has the person made a fundamental change? You cannot just look at achieving goals on the case plan. Digree also discussed the fact that children always say they want to go home, no matter how badly abused.

What are the standards? Digree said L.A. has worked carefully on their Family Preservation (e.g., in-home visits 4-16 times per month, background checks on everyone in the home, risk assessment).

DeWine plans to push Congress to clarify the law.

TITLE I—BLOCK GRANTS FOR TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES

SEC. 101. FINDINGS.

The Congress makes the following findings:

- (1) Marriage is the foundation of a successful society.
- (2) Marriage is an essential institution of a successful society which promotes the interests of children.
- (3) Promotion of responsible fatherhood and motherhood is integral to successful child rearing and the well-being of children.

(4) In 1992, only 54 percent of single-parent families with children had a child support order established and, of that 54 percent, only about one-half received the full amount due. Of the cases enforced through the public child support enforcement system, only 18 percent of the caseload has a collection.

(5) The number of individuals receiving aid to families with dependent children (in this section referred to as "AFDC") has more than tripled since 1965. More than two-thirds of these recipients are children. Eighty-nine percent of children receiving AFDC benefits now live in homes in which no father is present.

(A)(i) The average monthly number of children receiving AFDC benefits—

- (I) was 3,300,000 in 1965;
- (II) was 6,200,000 in 1970;
- (III) was 7,400,000 in 1980; and
- (IV) was 9,300,000 in 1992.

(ii) While the number of children receiving AFDC benefits increased nearly threefold between 1965 and 1992, the total number of children in the United States aged 0 to 18 has declined by 5.5 percent.

(B) The Department of Health and Human Services has estimated that 12,000,000 children will receive AFDC benefits within 10 years.

(C) The increase in the number of children receiving public assistance is closely related to the increase in births to unmarried women. Between 1970 and 1991, the percentage of live births to unmarried women increased nearly threefold, from 10.7 percent to 29.5 percent.

(6) The increase of out-of-wedlock pregnancies and births is well documented as follows:

(A) It is estimated that the rate of nonmarital teen pregnancy rose 23 percent from 54 pregnancies per 1,000 unmarried teenagers in 1976 to 66.7 pregnancies in 1991. The overall rate of nonmarital pregnancy rose 14 percent from 90.8 pregnancies per 1,000 unmarried women in 1980 to 103 in both 1991 and 1992. In contrast, the overall pregnancy rate for married couples decreased 7.3 percent between 1980 and 1991, from 126.9 pregnancies per 1,000 married women in 1980 to 117.6 pregnancies in 1991.

(B) The total of all out-of-wedlock births between 1970 and 1991 has risen from 10.7 percent to 29.5 percent and

(A) It is estimated that for girls age 14 and under girls.

(B) Data indicates that born to teenage mothers are able data suggests that a teenage girls are fathered by 1,000.

(C) Surveys of teen girls majority of such mothers have physical abuse, primarily with older.

(8) The negative consequences on the mother, the child, the documented as follows:

(A) Young women 17 and older of marriage are more likely to spend more years of combined effects of "young AFDC costs per household for 17-year-olds.

(B) Children born out-of-wedlock have a higher risk of being born with low birth weight.

(C) Children born out-of-wedlock experience low verbal cognitive child abuse, and neglect.

(D) Children born out-of-wedlock have lower cognitive scores and a greater likelihood of themselves.

(E) Being born out-of-wedlock reduces the chances of the child growing up.

(F) Children born out-of-wedlock are more likely to be on welfare when adults.

(9) Currently 35 percent of children in single-parent homes (37 percent). While many parents face the difficult task of raising children, the negative consequences of raising children in single-parent homes are well documented as follows:

(A) Only 9 percent of children under 18 years are below the national poverty level. In headed households with children are below the national poverty level.

(B) Among single-parent mothers who never married, 1/2 of divorced mothers receive

Sec. 101

If the current trend continues, 50 percent of all births by the year 2015 will be out-of-wedlock.

(7) An effective strategy to combat teenage pregnancy must address the issue of male responsibility, including statutory rape culpability and prevention. The increase of teenage pregnancies among the youngest girls is particularly severe and is linked to predatory sexual practices by men who are significantly older.

(A) It is estimated that in the late 1980's, the rate for girls age 14 and under giving birth increased 26 percent.

(B) Data indicates that at least half of the children born to teenage mothers are fathered by adult men. Available data suggests that almost 70 percent of births to teenage girls are fathered by men over age 20.

(C) Surveys of teen mothers have revealed that a majority of such mothers have histories of sexual and physical abuse, primarily with older adult men.

(8) The negative consequences of an out-of-wedlock birth on the mother, the child, the family, and society are well documented as follows:

(A) Young women 17 and under who give birth outside of marriage are more likely to go on public assistance and to spend more years on welfare once enrolled. These combined effects of "younger and longer" increase total AFDC costs per household by 25 percent to 30 percent for 17-year-olds.

(B) Children born out-of-wedlock have a substantially higher risk of being born at a very low or moderately low birth weight.

(C) Children born out-of-wedlock are more likely to experience low verbal cognitive attainment, as well as more child abuse, and neglect.

(D) Children born out-of-wedlock were more likely to have lower cognitive scores, lower educational aspirations, and a greater likelihood of becoming teenage parents themselves.

(E) Being born out-of-wedlock significantly reduces the chances of the child growing up to have an intact marriage.

(F) Children born out-of-wedlock are 3 times more likely to be on welfare when they grow up.

(9) Currently 35 percent of children in single-parent homes were born out-of-wedlock, nearly the same percentage as that of children in single-parent homes whose parents are divorced (37 percent). While many parents find themselves, through divorce or tragic circumstances beyond their control, facing the difficult task of raising children alone, nevertheless, the negative consequences of raising children in single-parent homes are well documented as follows:

(A) Only 9 percent of married-couple families with children under 18 years of age have income below the national poverty level. In contrast, 46 percent of female-headed households with children under 18 years of age are below the national poverty level.

(B) Among single-parent families, nearly 1/2 of the mothers who never married received AFDC while only 1/4 of divorced mothers received AFDC.

(C) Children born into families receiving welfare assistance are 3 times more likely to be on welfare when they reach adulthood than children not born into families receiving welfare.

(D) Mothers under 20 years of age are at the greatest risk of bearing low birth weight babies.

(E) The younger the single-parent mother, the less likely she is to finish high school.

(F) Young women who have children before finishing high school are more likely to receive welfare assistance for a longer period of time.

(G) Between 1985 and 1990, the public cost of births to teenage mothers under the aid to families with dependent children program, the food stamp program, and the medicaid program has been estimated at $120,000,000,000.

(H) The absence of a father in the life of a child has a negative effect on school performance and peer adjustment.

(I) Children of teenage single parents have lower cognitive scores, lower educational aspirations, and a greater likelihood of becoming teenage parents themselves.

(J) Children of single-parent homes are 3 times more likely to fail and repeat a year in grade school than are children from intact 2-parent families.

(K) Children from single-parent homes are almost 4 times more likely to be expelled or suspended from school.

(L) Neighborhoods with larger percentages of youth aged 12 through 20 and areas with higher percentages of single-parent households have higher rates of violent crime.

(M) Of those youth held for criminal offenses within the State juvenile justice system, only 29.8 percent lived primarily in a home with both parents. In contrast to these incarcerated youth, 73.9 percent of the 62,800,000 children in the Nation's resident population were living with both parents.

(10) Therefore, in light of this demonstration of the crisis in our Nation, it is the sense of the Congress that prevention of out-of-wedlock pregnancy and reduction in out-of-wedlock birth are very important Government interests and the policy contained in part A of title IV of the Social Security Act (as amended by section 103(a) of this Act) is intended to address the crisis.
