RE: HUD Position On Hayes Proposals and Strategies

Dear Fred,

I was glad to receive your letter dated Thursday, November 12, 1998. I am also encouraged by your closing remarks calling for a "continuing dialogue on this critical issue", presuming that the critical issue you referred to is the need for an expansion on President Clinton's Executive Order # 12848.

Please allow me to attempt to respond to the various points of your letter, because my colleagues and I are not quite sure where you stand regarding my proposals. It is unclear whether you even visualize us in an active role in the effort to eradicate or break the cycle of American homelessness. Now that we have delivered our documents to the White House Office of Domestic Policy (ODP) and HUD, are we to be satisfied, and simply "go away" to continue on with our Dome Village, believing that you will ultimately handle the situation in time?

I hope you understand our position, because people locally, nationally and internationally are asking us, "What's going on with homelessness? What is the government doing about it, etc.?" You see, we need some definitive answers. Originally, I personally delivered my proposal to the Presidents Office of Domestic Policy on February 26, 1998. It was then that we met with Jackie Lawring. And of course, in September we met with Andrea Kane and Mary Smith at ODP and yourself at HUD among others.

As the trend to outlaw Homeless People, the privatization of penal institutions, and the new "prison" industry, all increasing at an alarming rate, time is of the essence in our need for clarity from you. When I read your letter, I am not sure that you clearly understand my proposals, or even if you've really had the quality time needed to spend studying them. If the later is the case, I do understand! Nevertheless, I still don't know how HUD intends to act on them, if at all.

I am honored that you appreciate my commitment to ending homelessness...actually, I don't do enough. However, I am grateful that you, and hopefully others at HUD, recognize that indeed, although I may be new to Washington, I am not new to the issues of homelessness.

If you recall, my proposal requested that the Executive Branch of the United States, not HUD, nor any other federal government department or agency, adopt and implement A National Homeless Plan, in order to stop the national trend of local municipalities to "outlaw" the Homeless. Furthermore, I am not requesting federal money nor an exorbitant amount of government employees time.

Also, my Documents do not castigate nor render meaningless the ideals contained in Priority: Home. Though imperfect, it is praised for what it does accomplish and intends on doing. In fact, Priority: Home is the "midwife" of Dome Village, which is the main reason why we can approach HUD with such proposals. Any sort of constructive criticism comes from the Priority:Home booklet itself. My documents are very clear on this.

The proposal outlines a Strategy to bring about A National Homeless Plan, with myself as the chair of a committee and eventually a commission to bring about such A Plan. See Attachment "The Initiation of A National Homeless Plan" or the Hayes Strategy.

I came to you from the White House, as suggested by the President's Domestic Policy staff, who have delegated HUD, under the direction of the Inter Agency Council On Homelessness to resolve this national crisis. Or at least HUD is to give the ODP personnel good and reliable advice to share with the President on what to do about this homelessness crisis at the federal Executive level.

My intention was and remains to win HUD's support and partnership for such a proposal to the President. When we met in September, you proposed to me that because of the existence of HUD's Priority Home. The Federal Plan To Break The Cycle of Homelessness, that our title "National Homeless Plan" should NOT be used. You stated that if we change or alter the wording of the title, HUD would be willing to go to the White House in support of my proposal as outlined.

To demonstrate a spirit of openness and willingness to partner with you, my colleagues and I made those alterations, which we sent to you. See attachments Congressional Resolution. Related to this issue, we also sent the improvements to Congressional Representatives in the House Robert Filner and Richard Gephardt and in the Senate, Senator Paul Wellstone who will introduce their respective resolutions introduced to the 106th Congress, and of course, the White House ODP.

My question is: are you now prepared to go with us to advise the President's staff that we must broaden, build on, expand the ideals of "Priority Home" and intensify the response to the Clinton, May 1993 Executive Order? Or do you need more time to absorb and interact with me and develop my proposal before presenting it to the President? If so, we have some ideas that we would like to have sufficient time with you to collaborate on.

However, if for some reason HUD is choosing to not support and partner with the proposal presented to you, then we believe that some questions need to be answered, if for no other reason to clarify all positions for myself, my colleagues, and for the American People.

I must be in a position to explain to my fellow Americans just what it is that the President is or is not doing about homelessness, that they may know how to respond to their local crisis. At the present, it appears that the American people are in a state of bewilderment, because they are beginning to doubt that solving homelessness in their communities is possible.. therefore resorting to "outlawing" the Homeless status. We must know what to believe, in order to prepare ourselves for what is or is not coming in the near future. As citizens we deserve that much from our government.

I look forward to your prompt response, and to our interaction beginning with my next visit to Washington, DC this coming week.

Sincerely in your service,

Ted Hayes

Fred:

I know that I am presenting a lot of questions here. I also know that you are very busy with other homeless related matters, so please read, study, and answer them as best as you can, a little at a time. Thank you again for you time, consideration and cooperation.

Questions:

How much is actually needed to achieve what the May '93 Clinton Executive Order calls for? How long will it take for those funds to be released and allocated? How much federal funds is the President now asking Congress for? Is the present Congress in the mood for such funding proposals? If not, Why not?

While, HUD and the White House staff lobby for such incredible amounts of federal dollars from an unwilling Congress, what is to happen to the Homeless who continue to suffer and die as result of their super poverty quality of life? On the other hand, What about the legitimate concerns of local residents, property owners, merchants and corporate business establishments, and their quality of life, as the numbers of Homeless People increase and homelessness encroaches becomes more entrenched and complex in their residential and business neighborhoods.

What will/is HUD and President doing about understandably frustrated local governments selectively enforcing laws against Homeless People? Are we running out of time? How do you propose to stop the "outlawing" of the Homeless? Does HUD have a strategy to prevent and stop this ugly un-American activity? If not, does HUD have or is planning a "sanctuary" for social status outlawed people? If so, May we know what it is ? Can we participate in the effort? If not, Why not? If yes, when do we start?

Furthermore, when you say, "Homeless Assistance", What do you mean? Assistance for the Homeless to do what? Mainstream? Where? When? How? Especially, in light of the fact that, the Federal Reserve Board Chairman Allen Greenspan affirms our worst fears, that the rich are indeed getting richer, the poor becoming poorer, and the middle class is shrinking and transforming into a taxed 'slave' class? Where on the social status scale of our society will HUD place the millions of American who are presently Homeless? How does HUD plan to "assist" the expected new masses of Homeless People coming from the ranks of the poor who are being forced away from the mainstream toward super American poverty? If the President raise the necessary funds for the present increasing population of the Homeless, how can he persuade a reluctant Congress for money for the new ones?

Speaking of taxing the 'slave' class. How can the President in honesty, effectively push for MORE federal dollars (a lot more...billions), when the funds come out of the taxes of the 'enslaved' angry, despairing, frustrated with homelessness American middle class? Is it justice to tax the honest worker anymore, even for the Homeless? Are not the middle class workers afraid that they will be taxed into homelessness? So why oppress them for more money? Is it any wonder that Congress is not in the mood to take the Presidential request seriously?

Speaking of Mainstream. Can you define mainstream, economically or financially; socially, politically, and geographically? Where are you "transitioning" the Homeless to? How many? What segment? How long will it take? What is HUD's timetable? What about the vast majority Homeless People who can not, will not, nor have the desire to mainstream? Frustrated local governments say "Outlaw, drive them away and/or arrest them. What does HUD say? What is HUD specifically doing about it now? Can HUD do anything at all? Or is this a job for the Department of Justice? We have curious minds, we need to know?

Recognizing that Priority: Home/Continuum of Care (CoC) is not merely a "funding mechanism", what then is meant on page ____ where it is stated that "Priority: Home is a streamline process for allocating funds to grantees"? Where is this community approach to planning, which is both comprehensive and collaborative, etc"? My group would like to be a part of it? Why doesn't that effort exist in Los Angeles? If it is indeed practiced in L.A. or anywhere in nation where are the results? Why are local government continuing to "outlaw" Homeless People?

When you say, "...bringing all the of the appropriate segments of the community to the table to plan how best to address the problem...", What do you mean by appropriate segments? Are the Homeless the problem and therefore at fault? Or, is it the present structure of our Capitalist Democracy? Or, is the problem one of funding?

Speaking of funding, again, What do you mean by "Well beyond funding?" How can we effectively "dialogue", when the President can't get the necessary dollars for what is going on presently? Besides, if the funding was procured from Congress, what need is there for anymore dialogue "way beyond funding"?

When and where will these conversations take place? Or, have they already occurred? If so, what are the conclusions? What is the Plan? Does it have any resemblance to what I have proposed? If not what about my proposal? Is my proposal needed? What do I tell my constituents? If this dialogue is yet to take place, When? Where? How will participants be chosen?

Bearing in mind, "...rich are getting richer, poor are getting poorer, What does HUD mean by "highest level of self-sufficiency possible"? What are some of the "variety of resource and other barriers.." that you have found?

If major funding from Congress is the main issue, what is the profit of dialogue beyond funding? Especially dialogue with HUD, when funding is it's main business in government? Isn't HUD dialogue with anyone civilian futile, if there is no funding? Isn't it true that without funding, there no further dialogue? How can conclusions of dialogue be implemented without federal funding? What do you intend on doing about concluded dialogue?

When an individual or organization for the Homeless comes to HUD or one of it's representative agencies such as LAHSA (in Los Angeles) with an idea to address homelessness, why is that person deferred to applying for funding under the next RFP? Why can't HUD assist them with that idea? Is it because HUD is not fiscally responsible to them? No fiscal connection, therefore, no obligation to them? Is it indeed the case for HUD to not work closely with none members of the granting process which makes them participants in Continuum of Care.

If this is true, how can HUD have meaningful discussions with civilians to eradicate homelessness, when it's main focus, time and ability is on money to implement specially selected award winning concepts from grantees?

If we, (HUD and I) are not in conflict, and that we agree on the main issues as you stated, particularly "criminalization", and the consideration for "the masses of persons who live in poverty on edge of homelessness", shouldn't we together be strategizing a plan to take to this expansion to the President.

Finally, concerning your "...convening a series of internal Federal government meetings to consider new approaches...". Obviously, I am delighted that you personally are willing to introduce my ideas, concepts, etc. to those government meetings. I gather there may be some sort of policy limiting or even barring non-governmental personnel/employees from attending certain government meetings in the interest of National Security.

However, as sincere and well intentioned that you are, I believe that I could best represent my own ideas. Therefore, I would like very much to be included in those interagency discussions. My position has nothing against you personally. Actually, I'm eagerly looking forward to working with you. It will be a real honor and joy to me.

Let me attempt to explain to you. In light of the fact that I have given my life over to this issue of homelessness for 14 years, literally on the streets of L.A. all the way into the Dome Village. I can not risk the experience and information that I have gained by entrusting it to anyone else at this time. I think that I understand your position that there are certain government "in house" classified discussions and information that the general public or non-government personnel are privy to, and I respect that.

However, I think that there are a couple of ways we can resolve this matter. One is, that given the uniqueness of our situation, the policy restriction on civilians should be waived in this particular case, allowing me to personally and officially represent my ideas at these gathering, in my passion and in my focus and priorities. Or, as in a trial hearing, I can be present in those closed government meetings to share my "testimony as an expert witness", be queried by staff personnel, and then dismissed, that you may have your classified discussions. I would return upon your request for any further clarifications. Besides, a one time expression of these ideas is clearly not enough for the inexperienced lay person to grasp their complexities, their nuances, or even the full spectrum of near-intractable social problems they represent.

Of necessity, there will be some confusion and therefore a need for an experienced advocate to regularly argue the value of my ideas effectively as the process advances. What better person than myself, the progenitor of such thinking? Naturally, I can do better than the best that anyone else can, in the unique task of representing my own ideas.

Nobody but you can fully and effectively represent your thoughts and theories on a given subject. Similarly, you cannot justly or efficiently "incorporate" mine. Actually, my unusual journey among the Homeless, and the wealth of knowledge that I have gleaned is worth quite a financial sum if I were a professional consultant with an agency.

However, being that my knowledge and experience are not for sale, I must represent myself. For I would rather have qualitative and quantitative time at the negotiating table, or in the forum of decision-making, than any amount of money that anyone could offer me. These ideas were not bought with money, but rather forged in suffering and unimaginable pain: I am still paying that high price, even today. In fact, they are an integral part of my very life. If my experience and insights are in fact, valuable, and if we are to get the best product possible, then I too am valuable and must not be separated from them. Do you understand what I'm talking about?

The other option to our problem is, that I and the HUD staff, with White House participation, hold a series of discussions, study those ideas together, and then you present them at your governmental meetings, while remaining in regular contact with me.

However, though my proposals are parallel to Priority: Home - Continuum of Care, they have a different mission and strategy to our mutual ultimate goal of "breaking the cycle of homelessness." It's like, one is to the Army, the other is the Navy... same goal, but different missions. Ideally, they should neither compete with nor undermine one another, but must mutually support and coordinate their efforts if they are to succeed in their joint and total undertaking.

My proposals are not in conflict with the general HUD-Priority: Home/CoC observations on homelessness, nor opposes its purposes, as you affirm in your November 12th letter to me.

Therefore given this scenario, it will suffice all the concerned citizens involved with this "National Homeless Plan" effort, if you do not have the time to involve HUD in our particularly mission at all. You are busy with your own mission as mandated by American citizens through their tax dollars.

We are simply asking that you encourage the White House Staff to support our request to the President. At this level, again I don't see any conflict between our efforts, because we are so different in our missions, and that is good.

The differences:

* All HUD projects are procured from the citizens tax-based Federal Budget allocated by the Congress of the United States.

My proposals are not asking for HUD-Federal-Tax dollars for the implementation for an Expansion of Priority: Home. In fact, it is our objective to procure private/corporate investment and contributions...no tax related funds, except by some sort of taxpayers voted referendum, should that ever be needed.

* HUD seems to be in the "business" of allocating Congressional sanctioned funds to qualifying agencies.

My proposals are not responding to McKinney Homeless Assistance Act RFP, nor any HUD funding.

* The staff of HUD is extreme busy implementing Priority: Home effectively and efficiently, My proposals do not require that HUD-tax paid employees spend exorbitant amounts of time working on them with us. They are civilian ("We The People") based. We will do this. In fact, it is our objective to procure private/corporate investment and contributions...no tax related funds, except by some sort of taxpayers voted referendum, should that ever be needed.

Due to the fact that the HUD personnel are tax paid employees and while the personnel involved in my proposals are corps of volunteered or privately funded civilians, there is no competition for leadership, influence, or funds. Obviously, we strongly desire and need your participation cooperation, and partnership wherever possible.

* The Inter Agency Council On Homelessness with yourself functioning as it's Executive Director, is under the auspices of HUD, fulfilling the mission as outlined in Priority: Home/CoC.

My proposals allows me chairmanship for the new "Expansion" to Priority: Home (i.e. "National Homeless Plan") efforts.

Finally, if none of this is satisfactory to you, then please give me your reasons.

I am sure we can resolve this matter to it's best conclusion. I am sure that we can speak on this more later. I remain open!

These are the first topics that I and my colleagues would like to deal with, if that is alright with you?

Thank you that the dialogue remains open. Thank you for your time consideration and cooperation.

Sincerely in your service,

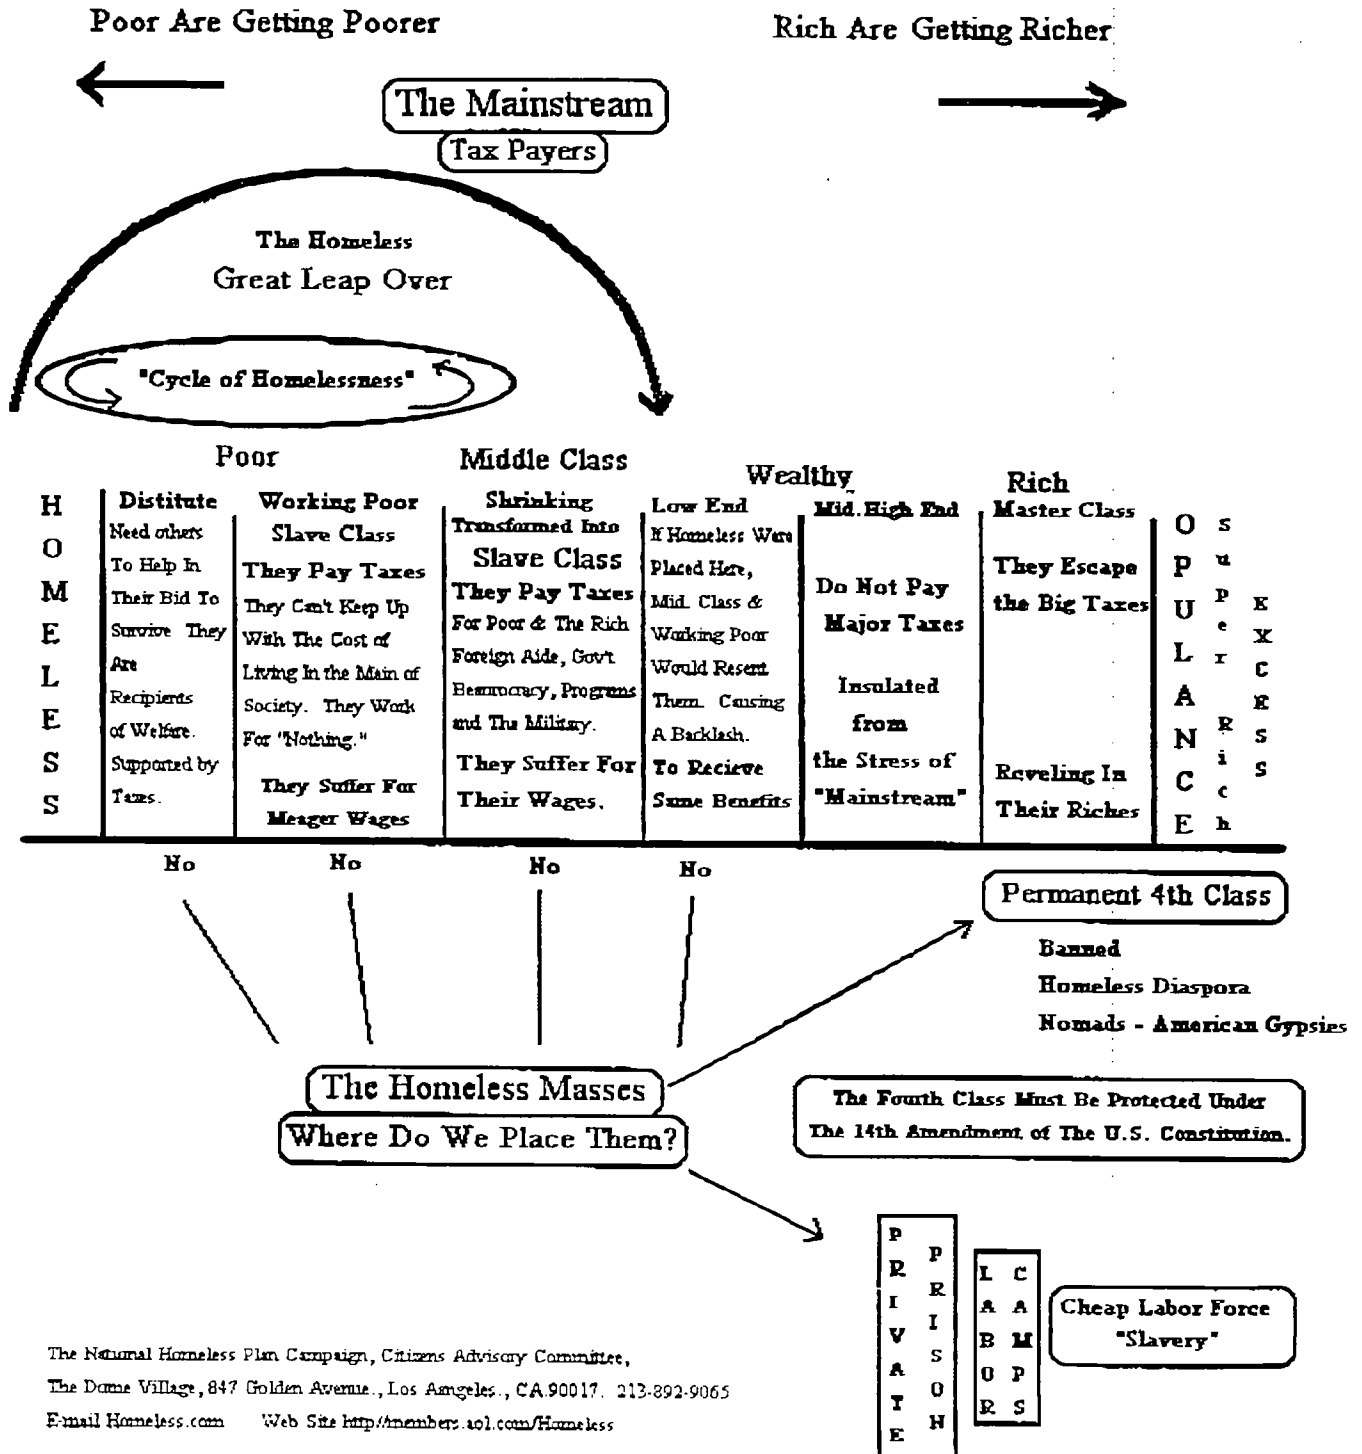

Ted Hayes

PRESIDENT WILLIAM J. CLINTON
REMARKS ON COMMUNITY BUILDING AND HOMELESS GRANTS
BALTIMORE, MD
December 23, 1998

Acknowledge: introducer Christa Spangler, Sec. Cuomo, Sen. Sarbanes, Sen. Mikulski, Rep. Cummings, Gov. Glendening, Mayor Schmoke, community leaders and caring citizens, AmeriCorps members and residents of Pleasant View Gardens.

For more than 200 years, the greatness of this city and our nation has rested on a simple premise -- that our strength should be judged not just by the size of our bounty but by the number of people we can fit around the table. Today, as families here at Pleasant View Gardens and all over the country begin preparing their holiday feasts, we can be very proud that there are more people sitting around the table than ever before.

I have come to Baltimore today to show America what committed community leaders and active citizens are doing to help families come to the table, to share in our nation's prosperity. And I have come here to provide additional support for your efforts. In a few moments I will announce grants to help you give homeless men and women who once spent Christmas on steam grates the opportunity to live in their own apartments -- with all the independence and pride that Christa spoke of just a few moments ago.

But before I do, I want to thank you and the rest of the American people for helping us make so much more room at our national table. We now have over 17 million new jobs, the fastest real wage growth in two decades, the lowest unemployment in 28 years, the lowest African-American poverty rate on record, the highest home-ownership in history. By almost every measure, our families, communities, and country are stronger, healthier, and more prosperous. Crime, divorce, teen pregnancy, and drug abuse rates are falling. Welfare caseloads have plummeted. The American Dream is alive and well.

But now is not the time to kick back and relax. Now is the time when we should be working harder than ever before to address the real issues that face the American people. At long last, we have proof that by working together we can turn around once-intractable problems like homelessness and crime and poverty. At long last, we have the momentum to help millions more Americans share in our nation's prosperity. So to all of you who have already done so much, I say: Let us not rest. Let us all make a New Year's resolution to use this time of prosperity to address the big challenges that remain.

At the dawn of the 21st century, we have much more to do. We must give all our children world-class schools. We must pass a patients' bill of rights. We must save Social Security and Medicare. We must make sure the economic turbulence around the world does not curb our economic opportunity here at home. We must keep working to build that elusive "One America." We must keep America the strongest force for peace and freedom in the world.

And we must use this time to renew and rebuild the urban and rural communities that have not yet seen the benefits of our growing prosperity. Not long ago, such an ambitious goal seemed completely out of reach. But thanks to citizens like you, now we know better. We see that a renaissance is underway.

We see it clear as day in Baltimore. Tourists see it in Camden Yards and the Inner Harbor, but residents see it in communities throughout this city. You can see it in new community patrols and clean-up days, in rising day care centers and falling crime. You can see it in West Baltimore and East Baltimore, in Sandtown-Winchester and Pleasant View, where you have created not only affordable housing but true communities where people want to live and raise a family. You should be very proud.

This is the model we can -- and must -- continue to promote here and around the country. We must use this time to build on the historic public housing reforms passed this year through the leadership of Sens. Sarbanes and Mikulski and Sec. Cuomo. No family should have to live in crime-ridden towers of despair like the ones that once occupied this very lot. We must give families across America the chance to blossom in neighborhoods like Pleasant View Gardens.

We must use this time to spark greater entrepreneurship and investment in America's urban and rural communities -- with community development banks and successful Empowerment Zones. Just look at what Baltimore's Empowerment Zone has produced: more than 2,800 new jobs, crime down a remarkable 20%, more than $50 million in new private-sector funding. In the coming weeks, we will designate 20 new Empowerment Zones -- because, as Rev. Jackson says, the best investment for America is America.

We must use this time to help more Americans move from welfare to work -- with transportation and child care ... with housing vouchers to help people move closer to available jobs ... with new commitments from businesses, civic, religious, and non-profit groups. We must take advantage of the best job market in a generation to help more families succeed in the world of work.

We must use this time to build on the success of community policing. We have already helped fund more than 92,000 of the 100,000 officers we pledged to add to the neighborhood beat. Here in Baltimore, we are providing full funding so you can hire another 100 community officers, on top of the 450 we've already helped you hire, specifically to target high-crime neighborhoods. Violent crime is still too high in parts of this city. We will not stop until every community in Baltimore takes back its streets.

We must use this time to tap the vast potential of our young people -- by helping you build more safe and modern schools ... by providing quality after-school programs like the ones run by the Boys and Girls Clubs ... by giving young people a chance to serve their communities. Here in Baltimore more than 300 AmeriCorps members are building new homes, removing lead paint, and restoring parks -- and nearly 500 more will join you in the coming year. To the AmeriCorps members here today, I say thank you from all of us for your hard work and commitment. You are doing a remarkable job.

And we must use this time to break the cycle of homelessness. Under the leadership of Sec. Cuomo, and with the tireless efforts of Mrs. Gore, we have revolutionized our approach to homelessness and helped move thousands of families off the streets and into jobs, homes, and more secure lives. This new "Continuum of Care" strategy acknowledges that most people who are homeless need more than just to get out of the cold. As you heard today from Christa, they need a whole range of ongoing services and support from committed men and women like you.

Today, I am pleased to announce that we are awarding $850 million in grants to help communities in all 50 states give homeless families a chance to rebuild their lives this holiday season and throughout the new year. Maryland alone will receive more than $17 million, and grass-roots organizations in Baltimore will receive more than $8 million. These grants will help you reach out in innovative ways to homeless adults and children, veterans and the disabled, people with mental illness and AIDS. They will help with emergency shelters and permanent housing, drug treatment and medication, job training and child care. They will help you lift up fellow citizens, fellow human beings, from the lowest point in their lives. They will help you give them the greatest holiday gift imaginable -- the gift of self-sufficiency and hope.

To build on this successful approach, I am also pleased to announce that my next balanced budget will include more than $1.1 billion for homeless assistance. If enacted, this will be the largest investment in combating homelessness in our nation's history. While maintaining our fiscal discipline, we can use this time of prosperity to help some of our most vulnerable citizens join in our national feast.

Baltimore has always been known as a "City of Neighborhoods." Well, after coming here and seeing the remarkable ways you are rebuilding communities and recharging lives, it is clear that this is also a city of neighbors. I want America to be a country of neighbors. A country where neighbors volunteer their time to help improve schools or mentor a young person from a troubled home. A country where neighbors don't retreat behind gates and walls. A country where neighbors care and learn about those who eat different foods, celebrate different holidays, and have backgrounds very different from their own.

Of course this room looks nothing like a house of worship, but there's a passage from the Bible that sums up this sentiment very well: "The body is a unit, though it is made up of many parts; and though all its parts are many, they form one body... If one part suffers, every part suffers with it; if one part is honored, every part rejoices with it." So it is with the body. So it is with a country of neighbors. And thanks to people just like you, this is the kind of country we will continue to build. Thank you, God bless you, and very happy holidays.

PRESIDENT CLINTON ANNOUNCES SIGNIFICANT INCREASE IN HOMELESS
ASSISTANCE FOR FY2000 BUDGET AND $850 MILLION IN GRANTS
TO HELP MORE THAN 330,000 HOMELESS AMERICANS
December 23, 1998

Today President Clinton will announce that his Fiscal Year 2000 budget will include $1.125 billion in homeless assistance -- more than a 15 percent increase from the $975 million enacted last year. President Clinton also will announce that the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is awarding $850 million in grants to help more than 330,000 homeless people obtain housing and receive vital social services to reach self-sufficiency. The grants are part of President Clinton's Continuum of Care strategy to create safe, affordable housing and break the cycle of homelessness.

Fiscal Year 2000 Budget

The President will announce that his FY2000 budget for HUD includes $1.125 billion for homeless assistance. The budget includes $1.025 billion for homelessness grant programs and $100 million for 18,000 additional Section 8 vouchers targeted to help homeless people move from homeless facilities into permanent residences. If enacted, the $1.125 billion will be the largest ever appropriation to HUD for homeless assistance. The budget request represents more than a 15 percent increase from the $975 million enacted for HUD homeless programs for FY 1999. It builds on a long-term record of achieving budget increases for homeless assistance, totaling more than 70 percent since the President took office.

Continuum of Care Grants for the Homeless

The President will announce $700 million in Continuum of Care competitive grants to help homeless persons in 307 communities located in 46 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. The grants provide homeless people with transitional and permanent housing and fund social services such as job training, child care, substance abuse treatment, and mental health services. The grants are provided under the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act and fund 1420 individual projects including more than 1000 non-profit organizations. The non-profit organizations receiving funds include local chapters of the Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, and Catholic Charities.

Emergency Shelter Grants

The President also will announce $150 million in funding for the Emergency Shelter Grants program. Under this program, states and cities select local projects to receive funding for emergency shelter and other homeless needs. The funds are distributed through a formula based on a community's housing and poverty needs.

President Clinton's Continuum of Care Strategy to End the Cycle of Homelessness

President Clinton's Continuum of Care strategy, initiated in 1993, requires local public and private agencies to work together to create a comprehensive plan to address the needs of poor and homeless people, and to coordinate services to use resources most efficiently. The goal of the Continuum of Care strategy is to ensure that communities respond to homelessness not simply by providing emergency assistance, but putting into place comprehensive and long-term approaches that will help homeless people become self-sufficient. The key elements are outreach and assessment; emergency shelter; transitional housing and services; permanent housing; and permanent supportive housing. In 1998, Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government and the Ford Foundation recognized the Continuum of Care policy as one of the 25 finalists in Innovations in American Government.

Homeless Event Q&As
12/23/98

Q: What did the President announce today?

A: Today President Clinton announced that his Fiscal Year 2000 budget will include $1.125 billion in homeless assistance -- more than a 15 percent increase from the $975 million enacted last year. President Clinton also announced that the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is awarding $850 million in grants to help more than 330,000 homeless people obtain housing and receive vital social services to reach self-sufficiency. The grants are part of President Clinton's Continuum of Care strategy to create safe, affordable housing and break the cycle of homelessness.

Q: What specifically did the President announce regarding his FY2000 homeless assistance budget?

A: The President announced that his FY2000 budget for HUD includes $1.125 billion for homeless assistance. The budget includes $1.025 billion for homelessness grant programs and $100 million for 18,000 additional Section 8 vouchers targeted to helping homeless people move from homeless facilities into permanent residences. If enacted, the $1.125 billion will be the largest ever appropriation to HUD for homeless assistance. The budget request represents more than a 15 percent increase from the $975 million enacted for HUD homeless programs for FY 1999. It builds on a long-term record of achieving budget increases for homeless assistance, totaling more than 70 percent since the President took office.

Q: How are the $850 million in grants distributed?

A: The Continuum of Care grants include $700 million to fund 1420 individual projects, including state and local governments and more than 1000 non-profit organizations that work with the homeless. These competitive grants enable organizations to provide homeless people with transitional and permanent housing and fund supportive services such as job training, child care, substance abuse treatment, and mental health services. The non-profit organizations receiving funds include local chapters of the Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, and Catholic Charities. In addition, the President announced $150 million of grants under the Emergency Shelter Grants program. This program assists communities in providing temporary emergency shelter and other essential services. Grants are allocated to States, metropolitan cities and urban counties based on a formula that uses several objective measures of community need, including poverty, population, housing overcrowding, and age of housing.

Q: What did the President announce about housing vouchers for the homeless?

A: The President announced that his FY2000 budget will include $100 million to help over 18,000 homeless people obtain affordable housing under the Department of Housing and Urban Development's Section 8 housing assistance program. This program provides housing assistance to low-income families in the form of Section 8 vouchers. Families generally pay no more than 30 percent of their adjusted income for rent with the balance paid to the landlord by HUD.

Q: How much total grant money did Baltimore receive?

A: Under the Continuum of Care grants, Baltimore received $6.6 million in 1997 and will receive $7.3 million this year. Under the Emergency Shelter Grant Program, Baltimore received 1,360,000 last year and will receive $1,040, 000 this year. In total for this year, Baltimore will receive approximately $8.3 million.

Q: How many persons are homeless in the United States? Why are they homeless?

A: The Administration's Priority: Home! The Federal Plan to Break the Cycle of Homelessness states that there are as many as 600,000 homeless men, women, and children in the United States on any given night. The homeless population is a diverse group whose homelessness has been caused by a complex array of factors ranging from economic difficulties and lack of access to affordable housing to mental illness and problems with substance abuse. Approximately 20-25% of the homeless population is made up of families with children. An estimated one-third of the homeless population is experiencing mental illness, while at least 50% of those who are homeless may have substance abuse issues. Some have become homeless as a result of domestic violence, while others were forced into homelessness by a health crisis, such as HIV/AIDS. Roughly a third of the entire male adult homeless population are veterans, and as many as half of all homeless adult men have some kind of military experience.

Q: What has the Clinton Administration done to address homelessness?

A: President Clinton has made addressing homelessness a top priority. Since taking office in 1993, President Clinton has overseen more than a 70 percent increase in McKinney Act homeless assistance, and the Administration has implemented the Continuum of Care approach to homelessness. This approach encourages communities to plan comprehensively for the full range of needs of poor and homeless people, and to coordinate services in a way that maximizes the impact of existing resources.

Q: What specifically is the Continuum of Care strategy?

A: In 1993, HUD initiated a new strategy for reducing homelessness by requiring communities to establish "Continuum of Care" plans. A Continuum of Care plan is a coordinated community approach which focuses on ensuring that homeless persons move from homelessness into jobs and permanent housing. The key elements of a Continuum of Care community plan are: outreach and assessment; emergency shelter; transitional housing and services; permanent housing; and permanent supportive housing.

Q: How is the Continuum of Care approach working?

A: The results of the Continuum of Care efforts over the last few years were documented in a 1996 report from the Barnard-Columbia Center for Urban Policy. The study found that as a result of such efforts, between 4 to 14 times as many homeless persons are receiving a wide-array of assistance to help them move into jobs and housing. The study also indicated that the number of children being assisted has grown from 6,500 in 1992 to 89,000 in 1995. The report pointed to a significant transformation in the way communities are addressing homelessness. The fragmented approach of the past has been replaced by comprehensive planning and coordinated housing and service delivery. The success of the Continuum of Care approach was recently recognized when it was named one of 25 finalists for the prestigious Harvard-Ford Foundation Innovations in Government Award.

Q: How much McKinney Act funding is in the FY '99 budget?

A: HUD's McKinney Act homeless assistance is funded at $975 million in FY 1999, an increase of $152 million or 18 percent over the 1998 enacted level of $823 million. This is also an increase of $403.4 million or 71 percent over the 1993 enacted level of $571.6 million.

PRESIDENT CLINTON ANNOUNCES $850 MILLION IN ASSISTANCE TO HELP MORE THAN 330,000 HOMELESS AMERICANS

BALTIMORE – President Clinton today announced $850 million in grants to help more than 330,000 homeless Americans get housing, job training, child care, mental health services and substance abuse treatment so they can move from homelessness to self-sufficiency.

The assistance announced today will go to more than 300 communities, all 50 state governments, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and American territories. In addition, more than 1,000 non-profit organizations such as the Salvation Army, Volunteers of America and Catholic Charities will receive funding for homeless assistance programs.

"These grants will transform the lives of some of the most vulnerable people in our country," President Clinton said in Baltimore, where he announced the assistance. "In this holiday season, we are giving homeless Americans the most precious gift of all – a brighter future filled with hope and prosperity, instead of despair and poverty. Our assistance will help homeless people across this nation to achieve the American Dream of decent housing, a job with a living wage, and a chance for their children to build successful lives."

"The President's policies recognize that if we provide homeless people with the help they need, they can overcome their problems and work their way out of poverty," Housing and Urban Development Secretary Andrew Cuomo said. "I have met men and women across this nation who would be dead today or would be living on the streets if not for our programs."

A total of $700 million of the HUD assistance is targeted to 1,420 long-term programs to help individuals and families permanently end their homeless status, as part of HUD's Continuum of Care approach to homelessness.

Programs funded by the Continuum of Care grants will provide transitional and permanent housing assistance and will help people overcome problems that can lead to homelessness, such as a lack of basic education and job skills, mental illness and drug addiction. The grants are awarded to states, local governments and non-profit groups based on a number of factors that measure the effectiveness of plans to help homeless people become self-sufficient.

Page Two

The remaining $150 million in funds are for Emergency Shelter Grants that provide food and shelter on a short-term basis to homeless people. These grants are awarded through a formula based on a community's housing and poverty needs. States and cities select projects to receive funding.

"Every homeless person has a story of enormous personal tragedy and incredible hardship," Cuomo said. "Helping these men, women and children rebuild their lives isn't easy, but it's one of the most important investments we can make. It's an investment that says America is the land of opportunity not just for some of us, but for all us."

President Clinton successfully won approval of increased funding for homeless assistance programs to $975 million in his fiscal 1999 budget. He had proposed an even larger increase that would have boosted funding to $1.15 billion.

The President's proposed budget for Fiscal Year 2000 will call for a record $1.125 billion in funding for HUD programs for homeless Americans, including: $1.025 billion for the same type of grants announced today and $100 million in rental assistance vouchers under the Section 8 program to enable 18,000 homeless individuals and families to live in subsidized apartments.

HUD has invested nearly $5 billion in programs to help homeless Americans since President Clinton took office in 1993. That's more than three times as much as the $1.5 billion HUD spent on homeless assistance programs from the time they were created in 1987 until 1993.

The Continuum of Care, which is the centerpiece of the federal policy on homelessness announced by President Clinton in 1993, stresses permanent solutions to homelessness through comprehensive and collaborative community planning.

Communities submit Continuum of Care plans to HUD that reflect efforts to address the complexities of homelessness through a range of housing and services. The services have a short-term goal of providing emergency assistance and assessment of a homeless person's needs and a long-term goal of helping the person to obtain permanent housing and become self-sufficient.

Cuomo said the Continuum of Care approach has been successful because it brings together non-profit groups, the private sector and local and state governments in a partnership to design local programs to help homeless people become self-sufficient.

This year, the Continuum of Care was one of 25 finalists, out of 1,400 competitors, for the prestigious Innovations in American Government Award that is awarded by the Ford Foundation and the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University.

A Columbia University study concluded that HUD's homeless policies spelled out in the Continuum of Care "have had a positive impact on communities across the nation" and were an improvement from past efforts that focused on short-term emergency shelter.

THE STORIES OF SIX HOMELESS PEOPLE WHOSE LIVES WERE TRANSFORMED BY CLINTON ADMINISTRATION HOMELESS ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

Throughout the United States, homeless people have dramatically transformed their lives because of the Clinton Administration's Continuum of Care homeless assistance programs. Many men and women have moved from desperate poverty and life on the streets to jobs and homes of their own with the help of the programs funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Here are six success stories:

BALTIMORE – Christa Spangler's life began falling apart when she was 28. A mother of three daughters who were ages 4, 6 and 8 at the time, she divorced and began drinking heavily. She was diagnosed with mental illness and at 30 lost custody of her daughters. For the next 11 years, Spangler says she spent time in and out of mental hospitals, in and out of alcohol detoxification facilities, and in and out of homelessness. She went through three marriages and three divorces, held many secretarial jobs and went through long stretches of unemployment. In 1994, after spending two months in a mental hospital and a month in a homeless shelter, she turned her life around during the eight months she lived at Marian House, a facility for homeless women that has received funding from HUD. She says she has spent the last four years functioning well, with the help of medication and treatment by a psychiatrist, and has worked as a secretary during the period for a social services agency in Baltimore. Last year, Spangler remarried and purchased a home with her new husband. She celebrated her 45th birthday on Monday of this week and says: "Marian House saved my life. Without it, I would be dead today."

WASHINGTON – As a child, Dorteia was abandoned by her drug-addicted mother, sexually abused by her stepfather and uncle, and beaten by her grandmother. Dropping out of school in the 9th grade, she drank and smoked crack. Dorteia married at age 15. She was a victim of several assaults. When she left the street and arrived at the House of Ruth – a homeless facility funded by HUD – she was dirty and had gone so long without human contact that she could not even carry on a normal conversation. A psychiatrist diagnosed her with depression, psychosis and auditory hallucinations. Dorteia's struggle to gain a stable life was difficult and she relapsed into drug use a few times. Finally, after a year and much hard work, her life began to turn around. Today, Dorteia has her own apartment and a job as a receptionist with a social service agency.

LOS ANGELES – Nancy (not her real first name) was severely injured when her abusive husband poured acid over most her face and upper body. Her husband went to prison and her marriage broke up. With no job, Nancy and her three children soon became homeless. The family was referred to Beyond Shelter in Los Angeles, which is funded by HUD. Beyond Shelter provided the family with emergency food and clothing, helped them find affordable housing and assisted Nancy in obtaining income. In addition, the shelter provided counseling, therapy referral, and connected the disfigured woman to an organization willing to provide her with free plastic surgery this year. Today, Nancy and her children live safely in their own home.

DENVER – Harold was a homeless veteran who lived on the streets for 18 years. The Colorado Department of Human Services used HUD funds to link him to support services such as case management, substance abuse treatment, and group therapy. After two years in these programs, Harold bought a home and reunited with his estranged family. He recently became a grandfather.

Homeless Success Stories*Page Two

NEW ORLEANS – Cindy and her one-year old son spent last Christmas living in an emergency shelter. When Cindy found out about the Unity transitional housing program in New Orleans funded by HUD, she and her son moved there. With housing, child care, and an array of other support services available to her, Cindy was able to secure a job in the health care field with full benefits for her family. She is part of a program to help her become a homeowner.

QUINCY, MA – Two years ago, Bob spent a cold and lonely Christmas living in the “weeds” – the tall marsh reeds – in Quincy, MA. With help of a local shelter funded by HUD called Father Bill’s Place, Bob began a new life at the shelter and started receiving treatment for a medical condition. As his health – and his hope – improved, Bob found a home through the HUD-funded Shelter Plus Care program and established contact with his teenage son, who he had not seen in almost five years. Today, Bob works on the Board of Directors of the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition and devotes three nights a week to volunteering at Father Bill’s shelter. This year, Bob will spend Christmas with his son in his own home.

Dear Mary,

Greetings! I hope that you are well and prospering in all that you endeavor for yourself and for our country. Once again it was good to see you that last time that I was in DC. I am looking forward to our next get together.

Attached are some one page outlines or statements on our objectives, intent, and strategies. It is rough, allowing you space for your insights. Please forgive all the new names and abbreviations. I hope that you don't get too confused. Those names and titles, including the numbers of the members of the WHHST and the NTAC etc., are open for complete change or alteration.

Shortly you will be receiving those letters of support as you have requested. Also Cable CBS producer in New York City, Myra Chang will be sending you a copy of the documentary that they made about the Dome Village and of course the National Homeless Plan. Maybe you can check it out if you are able to find the opportunity. It might help to clarify what it is we are attempting to do.

Until next time, see ya later!

Thanks again for your time, consideration, cooperation and Partnership.

Sincerely in your service,

Proposal Summary To The President

(as outlined by Ted Hayes, Chair, NCAG, January 1999)

The Intent of this Proposal is to move the President to accept and implement A parallel and separate comprehensive National Plan, which serves as an expansion or augmentation to the Department of HUD's Priority: Home, the Federal Plan To End Homelessness.

The concept to the National Homeless Plan (NHP) is a working Partnership between the Federal government (including local municipalities) and a private sector based agency. The civilian (non-government employees) agency and it's NHP is an expansion of the HUD's Priority: Home, and working in similarity as the already proven Welfare To Work Partnership.

As with the Partnership, the NHP agenda is national, independent, non-partisan, private sector funded (no tax dollars) with government in-kind participation, to create, develop and implement a National Plan to assist present efforts to eradicate American homelessness.

From the moment of the initial implementation of such a Plan, the cycle of homelessness in America is projected to be broken completing the Prime Objective within ten years.

There are three phases to achieving this Prime Objective

- I. The President authorizes a White House Strategizing Team (WWHT) to create and develop the mechanisms necessary to initiate and achieve the stated Prime Objective.
See Prime Objective

* Supported by council from National Citizens Advisory Group (NCAG) and National Legal Advisory Group (NLAG), in conjunction with HUD and Interagency Council On Homelessness, under the supervision of White House Office of Domestic Policy, Homeless activist Ted Hayes serving as Director, will recruit a Strategizing Team of 12 members (numbers subject to change).

- WHHST creates a civilian (non-government employees) Citizens Task Action Committee (CTAC) consisting of 25 members (numbers subject to change).
See Phase I Strategy To Obtain NHP

- The CTAC will recruit the personnel, procure the resources, (including financial fountains), collect the technology, develop the proposed Plan, appoint and designate a National Citizens Implementation Agency (NCIA). See Phase II Implementation of NHP

- II. President authorizes the NCIA to achieve the Prime Objective.

- III. The President orders federal government departments to cooperate, support and assist the NCIA movement, while simultaneously calling on and offering incentives to the Private Business Industrial Complexes to invest and contribute (cash and/or in-kind) to the endeavor.

The Prime Objective

A Mission Statement

(as outlined by Ted Hayes, Chair of NCAG, January 1999)

The Prime Objective of the Partnership of between the White House and the National Citizens Advisory Group (NCAG) is to simultaneously break the cycle of homelessness wherever it can be found within the towns, cities, counties, and states (local municipalities) throughout the United States, by first eradicating it's devastating ravages on society if not end it altogether, thereby removing it's threat to National Security.

The completion of the Prime Objective is projected to be achieved within ten years of the day of its implementation.

When considering the Prime Objective, there are two basic facts that all concerned, involved, interested parties do agree upon is, one, Yes! There is a need for A National Homeless Plan, and two, No! To outlawing American citizens because of their social status...Homeless.

The Objective can be achieved through a two phasc process of first, Obtaining A National Homeless Plan, and second, actually Implementing such a Plan. See Phase I and II

The Prime Objective

Phase I: The Strategy To Obtain A National Homeless Plan

How To Get There! How It Will work!

(As outlined by Ted Hayes, Chair of NCAG, January 1999)

The Role of The President

The President will issue a decree emanating from a new Executive Order, or an expansion of the original # 12848 of May 19, 1993 (a new Order is preferred...it eliminates or minimizes confusion), declaring the establishment of a mechanism to trigger A National Homeless Plan or an expansion of the HUD Priority: Home, Federal Plan can be designed.

The Executive Ordered Mechanism for Phase I, will function In Three Steps, They are;
The Establishment of A White House Homeless Strategy Team (WHHST); The National Task Action Committee (NTAC); The Creation of the National Implementation Agency (NCIA).

Step 1: White House Homeless Strategy Team

- A. President authorizes the establishment of a White House Homeless Strategy Team (WHHST) to initiate the civilian (non-government employee) citizens based National Homeless Plan by creating and developing a working group, which is the National Task Action Committee (NTAC). The suggested numbers for the WHHST team is twelve (12). The team will consist of the best qualified and equipped members as possible. See NTAC
- B. Presidents appoints a Team Leader who is also the Special Envoy will enlist the initial personnel (12), the resources, and the non-government financing for the creation and development of the Strategy Team. Presidential authority empowers TL to recruit and build the team. The selection of the suggested twelve, team members is subject to final approval from Presidential staff. (Time Limit ?)

The Presidential Authorization gives credibility to the Envoy/Team Leader to build the Strategy team, achieve whatever must be in order to bring about the NHP..
- C. The 12 member Strategy Team will devise a framework on which the desired NHP can be constructed. At completion of devising the framework, the Team Leader reports to Presidents staff. (Time Limit ?)
- D. The President Approves and Authorizes the WHHST and its framework..

Step 2: The National Task Action Committee (NTAC), A Working Group.

- A. The WHHST selecta a National Task Action Committee (NTAC) to procure the resources, collect the technology, raise non-Congressional funding and recruit civilian citizens to build on the initial framework as designed by the WHHST. The number of members of the NTAC is not yet determined. Twenty-five (25) is suggested (Time Limit ?).
- B. The Chair of NTAC will report and submit the selected plan for Presidential approval and authorization to move forward.

Step 3 The National Citizens Implementation Agency.

- A. The NTAC establishes and selects members for a private sector, civilian (non-government employee) based National Citizens Implementation Agency (NCIA) for the implementation of the selected NHP.

The Prime Objective
Phase II: The Implementation of National Homeless Plan

(as outlined by Ted Hayes, Chair of NCAG, January 1999)

Phase II is actually the continuation of Ph I Step 3, the establishing of the National Citizens Implementation Agency (NCIA) by the National Task Action Committee (NTAC), an evolvement out of the White House Homeless Strategy Team (WHHST) directed by the Special Presidential Envoy (SPE).

Based on the foundation of Phase I, laid by the SPE, WHHST, and the NTAC, Phase II will be the actual implementation of A National Homeless Plan to achieve the Prime Objective.

It will be the National Citizens Implementation Committee (NCIA), whose members consist of private sector, civilian (non-government employees), created by NTAC that will manage the implementation of A National Homeless Plan.

The exact character and clarity of the NCIA can't be fully appreciated or developed because it is based on the framework of Phase I. See Ph. I, Step 1-C. Until Ph. I, Step 2-B completed, the exact functioning of the NCIA is uncertain.

The Role of Presidential Homeless Envoy

As National Homeless Plan - Director OR "The Homie"

(As Outlined by Ted Hayes, Chair, NCAG January, 1999)

The Special Presidential Envoy

According to Phase I, the President appoints a Special Homeless Envoy or Director who will enlist the initial personnel (12 ?) to serve as active members on a White House Homeless Strategy Team (WHHST). See Phase I: The Strategy To Obtain A National Homeless Plan

The Envoy as Team Leader procures the resources, and private funding for the creation and development of the (WHHST).

The Significance of Presidential and White House Authority

It is imperative that Presidential/White House authority be invested in the Special Envoy. With the White House as a Credibility Partner, all goals can be achieved. This authority empowers the Envoy/TL to recruit and build the WHHST.

White House credentials, allows the Envoy ready access to top level executives of the nation's highest institutions of learning, private financial & banking institutions, corporate and commercial business establishments, legal firms, local municipal governments, and private sector social service agencies, etc. The selection of the twelve members is subject to approval from White House staff.

The Special Presidential Envoy will remain involved with the Strategy Team, (in fact he serves as Team Leader), National Task Action Committee, (NTAC), and the Phase II National Citizens Implementation Agency (NCIA), and, aspect and process in the creation, development and implementation of the NHP.

Homeless Activist, Ted Hayes As Special Presidential Envoy

The President appoints Ted Hayes to be the Special Homeless Envoy. Nicknamed "The Homie".

Supported by council from National Citizens Advisory Group (NCAG) and National Legal Advisory Council (NLAC), in conjunction with HUD and Interagency Council On Homelessness, under the supervision of White House Office of Domestic Policy, Ted Hayes as Special Envoy and Team Leader, will recruit a White House Homeless Strategy Team (WHHST).

As special Envoy he authorizes to have close contact with all levels and departments of the project in Phase I and II. The Envoy will make certain that the plan remains on course while regularly reporting to White House Staff.

HEADLINE: Grandstanding and the homeless

BYLINE: Arianna Huffington

BODY:

Last week in Baltimore, with much fanfare and surrounded by the cream of Maryland's political class, President Clinton announced $850 million in grants to help homeless Americans. It was presented as a Christmas gift, borne of the president's generosity and compassion for those left choking on the dust of the surging economy.

But this president's holiday generosity is more than a little like that of your rich old aunt who sends the same petrified fruit cake every year, with a gilded card with script lettering extolling, in iambic pentameter, the virtue of giving. Of the $850 million touted at the event, $700 million was actually appropriated in 1997, and the remaining $150 million has already been distributed as part of this year's budget allocation for emergency shelter funding.

"In this holiday season," the president pronounced, "we are giving Americans the most precious gift of all - a brighter future filled with hope and prosperity, instead of despair and poverty." Memo to the president: There are a lot of innovative local solutions to the crisis of homelessness that actually work - from the HERO program in Flint, Mich., to the Star of Hope mission in Houston - so why remain stuck in the old assumption that the federal government can "give" someone a bright future?

In any event, the president went on: "Our assistance will help homeless people across this nation to achieve the American Dream of decent housing, a job with a living wage and a chance for their children to build successful lives." How exactly, Mr. President? Will this American-Dream-for-all be achieved by continuing the same policies that in the previous year have, according to a Conference of Mayors survey, coincided with an 11 percent increase in demand for emergency shelter?

This holiday grandstanding is, of course, nothing new. Five years ago, again on Dec. 22, amid much hoopla during a White House ceremony, the president announced $411 million in grants to fight homelessness. Except that, according to the National Law Center for Homelessness and Poverty, "the money was already there. So this was an opportunity for them to appear to be doing something more than they are." This year, however, no brave homeless advocate has stepped forward to proclaim the obvious. Far from it. "They get it. They really get it," gushed Baltimore Housing Commissioner Daniel P. Henson III.

I called Ted Hayes, the homeless advocate and founder of Los Angeles' Dome Village, to ask what he thought. He thinks they don't get it. "This is more money down the same abyss," he said. "The system that exists does not break the cycle of homelessness. It doesn't work, and they know it doesn't work. The attempt to 'mainstream' homeless people misses the point. Many of them are too weak to deal with the stresses of mainstream life. They need an alternative way to be productive members of society."

During the Reagan years, the plight of the homeless was never too far away from the headlines. During the Clinton years, the media are largely silent, presumably assuming that a strong economy and a warm and fuzzy president who feels our pain must surely have lifted even the most dilapidated boats. But according to officials of 30 major cities surveyed by the Conference of Mayors, "the strong economy has had very little positive impact on hunger and homelessness." Indeed, 93 percent of those responding expected requests for emergency shelter to increase further next year.

Also, 1999 marks the two-year point when some state welfare-reform deadlines kick in. Yet, according to a Village Voice report, there's been a nationwide dropoff in column inches, frequency and prominence in the press coverage of homelessness. "In the fall of 1988, the New York Times devoted 50 stories to the homeless, including five front-page pieces. This year the Times has run only 10 pieces in the same period; none have begun on A-1." Homelessness is just not an A-1 story in our national conversation. With a compassionate New Democrat in the White House, it seemed safe to avert our eyes. Far from being lifted, the homeless fell right off our political radar screens.

According to the Conference of Mayors' report, 49 percent of homeless men are black. But where's the outrage? Where are the hunger strikes, the street theater, the nights spent on grates to to express solidarity? Can't you just hear Jesse Jackson, Charlie Rangel and Maxine Waters berating the president's policies - if the president were Ronald Reagan rather than Bill Clinton?

But now they, and many others on the left, are far too busy defending the president against his inquisitors to take any time off to defend those left behind against the very same president's ostrichlike neglect.

1998 CONTINUUM OF CARE ANNOUNCEMENTS

FACT SHEET

Announcement

On April 30, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) issued a Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) for its competitive homelessness assistance programs. The NOFA made resources available for three programs: the Supportive Housing Program (S HP), the Shelter Plus Care program (S+C), and the Section 8 Single Room Occupancy (SRO) program.

In addition to the Federal Register announcement, HUD held two national satellite broadcasts to homelessness assistance providers gathered in HUD field offices and other sites around the nation to provide information on the NOFA and answer questions from potential applicants.

Today, HUD announces $700 million in competitive homeless grants for transitional and permanent housing.

Response

The major announcement today is the Continuum of Care competitive awards. Nearly 450 communities submitted Continuum of Care applications. These applications contained more than 2,640 individual projects designed to address homelessness. The applications are evaluated by looking at local strategies for addressing homelessness, including the coordination and involvement of Federal, state and local governments agencies, nonprofit organizations, homeless persons, and in many cases, local businesses. This includes existing services for, and gaps in services to the various sub-populations of homeless people, including individuals and families, veterans, youth, persons with severe and persistent mental illness, persons with substance abuse issues, victims of domestic violence, and persons living with (HIV/AIDS) or other disabilities. Each community submits a list of priority projects for funding that addresses the needs that exist.

Results

The attached list of programs funded under this Continuum of Care competition provided $700 million in funding for 307 Continuum of Care efforts and approximately 1420 individual projects in 46 states, and the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

History

It is estimated that there are at least 600,000 homeless men, women, and children in the United States on any given night. The homeless population is a diverse group whose homelessness has been caused by a complex array of factors ranging from economic difficulties and lack of access to affordable housing to mental illness and problems with substance abuse. Approximately 20-25% of the homeless population is made up of families with children. An estimated 25% of the homeless population is experiencing mental illness, while as many as 50% of those who are homeless may have substance abuse issues. Some have become homeless as a result of domestic violence, while others were forced into homelessness by a health crisis, such as HIV/AIDS. Also, as many as one-third of all homeless men are Veterans.

It is the consensus of those who have been seeking to address homelessness in this nation that the solutions to homelessness must involve access to safe, decent, affordable housing and oftentimes, to supportive services, including job training and placement, day care, health care, mental health services, and substance abuse treatment. Toward that end, President Clinton has made the development of comprehensive efforts to address homelessness a top priority. With support from Congress, the President has more than doubled the HUD homelessness assistance budget, and under the direction of HUD Secretary Andrew Cuomo, the Administration has implemented the Continuum of Care approach to homelessness which encourages communities to plan comprehensively for the full range of needs of poor and homeless people, and to coordinate services in a way that maximizes the impact of existing resources. The goal of the Continuum of Care is to give communities the flexibility and decision-making power to craft plans which move away from short-term emergency measures toward permanent solutions which will allow homeless persons to reach the maximum level of self-sufficiency possible. The key elements of a Continuum of Care system are:

- Outreach and assessment efforts to identify an individual or family's needs and make connections to facilities and services
- Provision of Emergency shelter and appropriate support services as safe decent alternatives to the streets.
- Transitional housing and necessary social services to help persons who are get the support, skills, and resources they need to move to permanent housing and independent living.
- Permanent housing or permanent supportive housing to help meet the long-term needs of homeless individuals and families.

The results of the Continuum of Care efforts over the last few years were documented in a 1996 report from the Barnard-Columbia Center for Urban Policy. The study found that as a result of such efforts, at least 4 times and perhaps as many as 14 times as many homeless persons are receiving a wide-array of assistance to help them move into jobs and housing. Also, the study indicated that the number of children being assisted has grown from 6,500 in 1992 to 89,000 in 1995. The report pointed to a significant transformation in the way communities are addressing homelessness. The fragmented approach of the past has been replaced by comprehensive planning and coordinated housing and service delivery.

Emergency Shelter Grants

In addition, today, HUD is announcing $150 million in Emergency Shelter Grants distributed by formula to 311 local jurisdictions, all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and Insular areas. These funds can be used to improve the quality of existing emergency shelters, to make available additional shelters and transitional housing, to meet the costs of operating shelters and of providing essential social services to homeless individuals, and to help prevent homelessness.
