COPS

Under the COPS program, Cedar Rapids has received $832,405 in funding to hire or redeploy 13 community policing officers.

Other Crime Policies

Curfews

The city of Cedar Rapids has an official curfew policy. Everyone age 16 and under is technically to be indoors by 11pm, but this policy is not enforced, according to the police department spokesperson.

School Uniform

There are no uniforms in Cedar Rapids' schools.

Truancy

Cedar Rapids schools work closely with children to prevent truancy and drop out. The first step is for drop out specialists to work with truant kids to prevent further truancy. The second step is mediation with the parents and the child. The third step is for the school to refer the case to the courts. The first offense requires either a $100 fine or 10 days in jail. This has only happened one time and there has been no need to assess punishments for second or third offenses.

Important Points about the COPS Program

- Over 87% of American public will be served by the over 48,000 officers authorized by COPS to date.
- COPS funds small towns and rural areas; half of all COPS funding goes to agencies serving jurisdictions of under 150,000.
- COPS is non-bureaucratic and provides streamlined application processes, allowing the funding to quickly flow directly to police, sheriffs, and state police agencies.
- COPS has funded not only the hiring of officers, but also the purchase of equipment and technology, the hiring of civilians, and the payment of overtime. COPS has provided training to grantees through the Community Policing Consortium (over 2,000 grantees to date), U.S. Attorney Law Enforcement Coordinating Committees, and grants directly to police departments, universities and non-profit organizations with expertise in community policing.

In addition, COPS has already announced targeted programs such as the COPS Youth Firearms Violence Initiative, the COPS Anti-Gang Initiative, and the COPS Community Policing to Combat Domestic Violence grant program. Soon the COPS Office hopes to announce awards under the Problem-Solving Policing program, for which over 900 applications have been received.

- The Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994 was drafted with a extensive input from the law enforcement community. Law enforcement officers across the country -- chiefs, sheriffs, line officers and deputies -- as well as the U.S. Conference of Mayors, support the COPS Program.

COPS Grant Programs

Hiring & Redeployment Grants

UHP

(Universal Hiring Program) COPS grant program to assist police departments in hiring additional community policing officers. This COPS hiring program supersedes FAST, AHEAD, PHASE I. It is expected that all future COPS hiring grants will be awarded through UHP.

MORE

(Making Officer Redeployment Effective) COPS grant program which provides grants to police departments for the purpose of hiring civilians, purchasing equipment or paying overtime in order to redeploy officers from behind desks back out into neighborhoods.

AHEAD

(Accelerated Hiring, Education & Deployment) Expedited COPS hiring grant program for communities with populations of 50,000 or more. Superseded by UHP.

FAST

(Funding Accelerated for Smaller Towns) Expedited COPS hiring grant for communities with populations under 50,000. Superseded by UHP.

Phase I

Phase I - First COPS hiring grants to be awarded as a result of the 1994 VCCA. The Commerce, Justice, State Appropriations Act for FY '95 specified that the first $200 million of COPS grant funds should be used to fund additional PHS applications that were not yet funded.

PHS

(Police Hiring Supplement) Precursor to the COPS hiring grants, originally administered by BJA. Funds were made available under the 1993 Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act (prior to the passage of the 1994 VCCA) for local police departments to hire officers for the purpose of community policing. Only 9% of the applications were funded - hence Congress required Phase I.

Non-Hiring Grants

ICOP

(Innovative Community Oriented Policing) COPS grant program to fund proposals on problem solving, developing partnerships with community organizations, and institutionalizing community policing through training and organizational change.

Community Policing to Combat Domestic Violence COPS grant program to employ community policing to address the crime of domestic violence.

COPS Gang Initiative COPS grant program to provide select communities of varying sizes with resources to address gang violence and the fear of gang violence.

YFVI

(Youth Firearms Violence Initiative) COPS grant program to support targeted law enforcement efforts directed at combating the rise of youth firearms violence in 10 cities.

Evaluation Grants COPS funds awarded through NIJ to evaluate the effectiveness of COPS programs.

Technology Grants COPS grants for the purpose of developing technologies that will further community policing.

Training Grants

LECC Training funds managed through the individual offices of the US Attorneys for the purpose of addressing community policing training needs of those communities.

Targeted Training grants awarded to selected organizations for the purpose of addressing the need for training in community policing.

Troops to COPS Training grants to encourage the hiring of recently separated members of the armed services as community policing officers. Joint program by COPS and Dept. of Defense.

MESSAGE:

ERIN/DENNIS

June '95 was the first COPS award to NYC. This MORE award is scheduled to redeploy 2,175 officers. (Note - Many of these officers have yet to be redeployed) Bill McGovern of Rep. Schumer's staff will have any background if you should need it. He can be reached at 225-6616

6/23/95

LIMITED OFFICIAL USENew York City, NY*Population- 7,500,000Award amount- $54,399,065Sworn Force- 38,310Total redeployment- 2,175Amount requested- $93,250,061Items funded:

1. Civilianization. NYPD will receive funding to add 1170 civilian positions. The Department has not allocated funding for civilian hires due to the City's fiscal constraints. The NYPD must use sworn officers in positions where civilians could provide the same services. A civilian costs $33,333 per year. The salary and benefits of a newly hired NY police officer is $37,552 per year, not including training costs and equipment.
2. Decentralized arrest processing. NYPD will develop and install computerized technology which will allow the NYPD to process all arrest-related paperwork and background checks at the precinct level. Network services located in all 76 precincts and 10 boroughs will be linked by fiber optic cabling. Personal computers will be installed throughout the precincts to further enable officers to save arrest processing time and return to the streets.
3. Electronic pin mapping. NYPD will purchase 122 computers and printers to perform mapping functions. This technology will enable NYPD to enhance its efforts to track crime and develop proactive policing strategies in response to emerging trends.

Items not funded:

1. Hand held radios
2. Overtime

Community Policing Summary- Department formally implemented community policing in 1984. Police responses are not limited to such traditional police activities as making arrests and issuing summonses, but rather emphasize the development of creative solutions to recurring problems and beat conditions and the utilization of community-based resources. Recognizing the need to link community policing to crime reduction, Commissioner Bratton has developed and implemented six crime control strategies to take guns off of the streets, control the drug problem, revamp the City's response to domestic violence, reduce truancy and youth crime, address quality of life problems and reduce auto-related crime.

Points of Interest- Mayor Guiliani and Commissioner Bratton have undertaken a variety of initiatives designed to enhance and improve the efficiency of the NYPD's patrol resources. These initiatives are, in large part, responsible for the City's almost 12% decrease in the seven major index crimes in 1994, a decline which is four times the 1994 national average. The residents of NYC embrace these efforts:

"Just wanted to commend you and the Police Department for the IMPROVEMENT in my neighborhood on 57th Avenue. It used to be lined, literally lined, with drug addicts on every corner and cars pulling up selling drugs....It was so depressing. People used to walk around them, all these people with DEAD EYES and DEAD FACES...destroying themselves and everyone and everything around them...Mr. Mayor, I do thank you. I can go grocery shopping now on 57th Avenue without having to walk around 12 drug dealers and addicts on every corner."

*Arson is shown only if 12 months of arson data were received. Leaders (..) indicate zero data. The Modified Crime Index total is the sum of the Crime Index offenses, including arson.

¹Due to reporting changes, aggravated assault figures are not comparable to previous years.

²Complete data for 1993 were not available for the states of Illinois and Kansas. See "Offense Estimation," page 376 for details. Forcible rape figures furnished by the state-level Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program administered by the Illinois Department of State Police under the summary reporting system were not in accordance with national UCR guidelines. Therefore, the figures were excluded from the forcible rape, Crime Index total, and Modified Crime Index total categories.

³Due to reporting changes, figures are not comparable to previous years.

⁴Forcible rape figures furnished by the state-level Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Programs administered by the Michigan State Police and the Minnesota Department of Public Safety were not in accordance with national UCR guidelines. Therefore, the figures were excluded from the forcible rape, Crime Index total and Modified Crime Index total categories. However, some Minnesota law enforcement agencies verified and/or adjusted their forcible rape figures to comply with national UCR guidelines and are shown in this table.

⁵Twelve months of useable data were not received for any Montana cities over 10,000 in population.

PROJECT SUMMARY

Located in eastern Tennessee, Knoxville has been experiencing declines in population and economic growth. The 1990 U.S. census ranks Knoxville 91st among cities over 50,000 with the greatest percentage of residents living at or below the poverty level. Between 1988 and 1992, calls for police service increased 45 percent. Since 1988, the crime rate has been increasing steadily and is now twice the state and national rates. Well-organized, out-of-state drug gangs are attempting to establish footholds in the city and are contributing to the increasing crime problems. The police department has been working to develop a community policing model that blends strategic planning, problem solving, and crime prevention. The foundation of this effort is called "Service Excellence." The Mayor is forming a Community Advisory Committee comprised of representatives from the schools, neighborhoods, civic organizations, government agencies, and others to steer their overall effort. The police are using another Department of Justice grant to establish working partnerships between residents and city departments. Knoxville's community policing strategy includes regular roundtable group meetings to communicate with citizens. They form ad hoc problem-solving committees to resolve specific problems with those citizens who have first-hand knowledge of the issue. The police are also training volunteer safety specialists who will work in their neighborhoods with their local beat officers. The city has also been at the forefront of using environmental design as an element of crime prevention. The additional officers will allow the department to increase the amount of proactive patrol time and expand community initiatives.

PROJECT SUMMARY

About one-quarter of all serious crime in Tennessee (including one-third of all murders and half of all robberies) occurs in Memphis -- one of America's most violent cities. The police department participates in a variety of community activities in cooperation with schools (including local universities), religious organizations, the park commission, the business community, Boys and Girls clubs, etc. The department is moving toward adopting community policing on a citywide basis. A key program, Operation Saturation combines intensive enforcement efforts with a variety of community empowerment activities. The additional officers will allow for bicycle, foot, motorized, horse, and helicopter patrols to service new target areas. Regular meetings with citizens and the neighborhood watch coordinators will facilitate problem identification and solving. A mini-mobile precinct will be used to enhance positive community interaction. Some program components will continue to be funded by local education and health agencies.

PROJECT SUMMARY

Under this program, the Union City (Tennessee) Police Department will provide concentrated police service within the City's low- income housing areas. The two officers hired under the grant will conduct foot patrols around-the-clock and provide residents quick access to law enforcement. In addition, the department will establish a mini-police station in areas where people lack transportation and telephones. The goal is to establish rapport with residents and community relations, crime prevention programs, upgrade the standard of living, and serve as a point of contact for complaints.

PROJECT SUMMARY

Dyersburg is located in northwest Tennessee, 15 miles from the Missouri border and 45 miles from Arkansas. In 1992, both the overall crime rate and the violent crime rate for Dyersburg were more than twice the national average for cities of comparable size. In 1993, the police department began a community policing project funded, in part by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban. They established a new precinct staffed with five trained officers in an area with a large public housing complex. This precinct has already seen an improvement, but some problems have shifted to other parts of the city. A community leadership group has been formed, and one of its first goals is to establish a precinct on the other side of town. With the additional officers, the police will open this new precinct. The city's recreation department will provide space for the new precinct. Officers will mentor youth, work with community groups to identify problems, and respond to service calls from this limited geographic area.

PROJECT SUMMARY

Located in the southeast corner of Tennessee, Cleveland is a community that is confronting a steadily increasing rate of criminal activity, much of which is related to drug use and drug trafficking. Since 1992, the police department has been working closely with the Cleveland Housing Authority Police to implement a community-based policing model in public housing areas. Two officers (one of whom is funded through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development) spend the majority of their time on foot patrol and working directly with the residents on improving their quality of life. Community leaders and residents are directly involved with the police department in planning, implementing, and coordinating the community policing project. The additional officers will enable the department to expand its successful initiatives and provide similar services in the adjacent communities, including a neighboring park known for its high-levels of drug activity.

PROJECT SUMMARY

Jackson is a commercial and industrial center in west Tennessee, 82 miles northeast of Memphis on a major interstate highway. In 1992, Jackson had the highest overall crime rate and one of the highest violent crimes rates in Tennessee. East Jackson bears a disproportionate share of the crime. From 1989 to 1992, that area has experienced 73 percent of all murders, 50 percent of robberies, 63 percent of aggravated assaults, and 56 percent of rapes in the city. A city-wide leadership council with representatives from all segments of the community urged police to target implementation of community policing in East Jackson and eventually throughout the city. To date, the city has implemented community policing in housing developments. The additional officers will allow veteran officers, already trained in problem-solving and community policing, to be redeployed to community policing activities in East Jackson.

PROJECT SUMMARY

The Statewide Intelligence Systems (SIS) Program, which is based on the design of the Organized Crime Narcotics (OCN) Trafficking Enforcement Program, is designed to demonstrate the effectiveness of shared management decision-making in the collection, storage, and dissemination of criminal intelligence information on a statewide basis. The SIS Model will provide a mechanism by which intelligence information concerning multi-jurisdictional criminal conspirators and their activities can be collected and exchanged to support investigations and prosecutions.

The project is designed to continue the development, implementation, and demonstration of the efficacy of centrally coordinated statewide narcotics intelligence sharing using the OCN approach to system design, management, and operation.

PROJECT SUMMARY

This Officially Recognized Site will initiate a comprehensive, multi-agency program, entitled "Weed and Seed," to coordinate the delivery of criminal justice and social services to eliminate violent crime, drug-trafficking, and drug-related crime and to provide a safe environment for law-abiding citizens to live, work, and raise a family. Through the application of coordinated law enforcement and criminal justice services in a target neighborhood, the City will "weed" from that neighborhood criminal offenders engaged in drug crimes and other violent offenses, stabilize the neighborhood through community-oriented policing, and "seed" that neighborhood with housing, employment and social sustaining programs.

PROJECT SUMMARY

The RISS program is a multi-million dollar effort designed to support the regionally based information systems and investigation support mechanisms for participating agencies. The RISS program is comprised of six projects: MAGLOCLLEN, NESPIN, MOCIC, RMIN, and WSIN. Each project funded under the RISS program has implemented required service components:

1) Information sharing 2) Analytical services and 3) Telecommunications.

The overall goal of this RISS program is to enhance the ability of State and Local criminal justice agencies to identify, target, and remove criminal conspiracies and activities spanning jurisdictional boundaries.

The ROCIC project provides assistance in the States of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and West Virginia.
