THE HONORABLE CHARLES B. RANGEL
INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

H.R. 1512
THE EDUCATION OPPORTUNITIES TAX ACT OF 1997

MAY 1, 1997

Mr. Speaker, today, I am introducing legislation, entitled the Education Opportunities Tax Act of 1997, which consists of tax provisions that are designed to expand educational opportunities in this country.

My bill would expand opportunities for students in K-12 and beyond. This goal is crucial to the country's social and economic well being. It's a well known fact, that without the proper educational tools, young people lose hope for the future. We have only to look at the high levels of crime, drug use, juvenile delinquency, teen pregnancy, and unemployment to know the value of a good education. Without basic academic opportunities, the future is bleak. My bill identifies communities that shoulder a disproportionate share of these social problems and offers a solution for hope.

The bill that I am introducing today is based largely on education tax incentives contained in the President's budget recommendations. My bill modifies the President's proposals in two major ways. Both modifications reflect many meetings with education providers and the business community over the last several years.

First, I believe that providing additional financial resources to assist families in meeting the cost of higher education is vitally important but not enough. We must do more to ensure that those students who wish to pursue higher education are prepared for the challenges of a college education. We also must work harder both to educate and train those students who choose or need to earn a full-time living after high school. In pursuit of this goal my bill would permit qualifying educational institutions to make this a reality. Therefore, my bill includes provisions to enhance academic achievement below the college level through public-private education partnerships. I believe that we must have greater private-sector involvement in our educational system, and my bill contains tax provisions designed to encourage that involvement. Those tax provisions, called "education zone" tax incentives, are based on the principles of public-private partnerships that underlie the empowerment zone legislation.

Currently, this Nation is enjoying one of the longest periods of economic expansion in its history, with low unemployment and continued creation of new jobs. Much of the credit for that rests with the deficit reduction efforts of the Clinton Administration and the technological advantages that our industries enjoy over their competitors in other countries.

We will not remain competitive in the world economy unless we invest in our human capital to maintain that technological advantage. Any resources available after deficit reduction should be invested in human capital. A recent survey of economists by the Wall Street Journal found that 43 percent of the economists surveyed stated that increased spending on education and research and development would be the one policy with the most positive impact on the economy.

Amazingly, while the concept of investing in human capital goes unchallenged in debate, elected leaders are still spending more of our nation's limited budget resources on back-end, punitive programs like law enforcement and prisons, rather than front-end investments like education and training that can really pay off in increased workforce productivity.

Unfortunately, these skewed priorities are present at the local level, too. New York City spends $84,000 per year to keep a young man in Riker's Island Prison, yet only $7,000 each year to educate a child in Harlem.

We must change our priorities. Let's invest in the future of this country through our children. Let's bring the same zeal to encouraging and educating our children that we now apply to punishment and incarceration.

The following is a brief summary of the provisions contained in my bill:

1. Public-Private Partnerships

The bill contains a financing mechanism designed to provide needed capital and expertise to establish partnerships between public educational institutions and private businesses.

- (a) Local governments would be authorized to issue special bonds (or otherwise borrow money) to cover the cost of establishing specialized academic institutions. These institutions would have to be located in empowerment zones or enterprise communities or primarily serve disadvantaged students. Because of the tax credit described in subparagraph (b), this capital could be raised with no interest cost to the local government. No bonds could be issued for any school unless there were assurances of private business participation described in subparagraph (c). The required private business contributions and the terms governing the financing would be designed so that each member of the partnership would provide equal contributions.

- (b) The Federal Government would provide a tax credit to purchasers of the special bonds (or holders of other evidence of indebtedness) described in subparagraph (a). The credit would be paid annually in an amount equal to a percentage of the bond (or indebtedness) face amount that would permit the raising of interest-free capital by the local government. There would be an overall national limit on the amount of financing eligible for the credit. The annual limitation would be $6 billion for 1998, 1999, and 2000. Unless the program were extended by the Congress, no additional limitation would be provided after the year 2000. In order to avoid creating a tax-exempt bond with a substantial Federal guarantee, the credit would be included in income of the recipient and subject to tax.
- (c) In order to be eligible for the special interest-free capital, the local government would have to secure written assurances of contributions from private business. Such contributions could consist of goods, expertise, training, or services. The businesses would benefit from current-law tax deductions for charitable contributions.

The bill also provides a tax credit to employers for hiring recent graduates of the schools established through these partnerships. The amount of the credit would be 20 percent of the first $6,000 of wages paid during the first year of employment if the student is hired before a 6-month period after graduation.

2. HOPE SCHOLARSHIP TAX CREDIT

The bill includes a nonrefundable and a refundable HOPE scholarship credit. The nonrefundable credit would be claimed by taxpayers on their income tax returns if they have sufficient tax liability to fully utilize the credit. This credit would be administered by the Internal Revenue Service. Taxpayers with incomes too low to receive the benefit of the full amount of the nonrefundable credit would be entitled to a refundable HOPE credit. The refundable credit would be paid by the institution at which the student is enrolled under procedures similar to those used in providing other Federal educational assistance.

- For the first two years of college, the maximum amount of the credit would be $1,500 for a full-time student and $750 for a half-time student. For the third and fourth years of college, the maximum amount of the credit would be $1,000 for full-time and $500 for half-time. The limitations will be indexed for inflation.

- The credit would be available for the first four years of post-secondary education. A part-time student would have to be at least a half-time student for the year.
- The credit would be available on a per-student basis. To be eligible for the credit, the student would have to maintain satisfactory academic progress and remain "drug free" (not convicted of a felony involving drugs).
- The credit would be available for qualified expenses incurred by the taxpayer, taxpayer's spouse, or taxpayer's dependent (as defined in Code section 151). Qualified expenses consist of tuition and fees required for enrollment or attendance. The credit would not be available to married taxpayers unless they file a joint return, and would not be available to nonresident aliens.
- Expenses for this purpose would be net of grants, scholarships, and fellowships. Pell Grants and other nontaxable Federal scholarship assistance would not reduce the dollar limitation on the credit but like other scholarships would be offset against qualified expenses in determining the amount of credit.
- The credit would be phased out over the following adjusted gross income levels: Joint filers, $80,000 - $100,000; and Unmarried filers, $50,000 - $70,000 (indexed for inflation beginning in year 2000).
- The credit would be effective for expenses paid after December 31, 1996, for education furnished in academic periods beginning on or after July 1, 1997 (the beginning of the 1998 academic year).
