Dear Mr. Biddy:

On behalf of President Ford, I would like to thank you for your letter and Bicentennial suggestions. They were very well received.

The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, 2401 E Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20276 is the agency which was established by an Act of Congress to be responsible for coordination of all Bicentennial programs and activities nationwide. I have, therefore, taken the liberty of sharing a copy of your correspondence with them for further response.

The President greatly appreciates the efforts of so many individuals and groups who are working to make our nation's 200th anniversary a memorable occasion. He asked that I send to you the enclosed message.

Best of wishes for the Bicentennial era.

Sincerely,

Milton E. Mitler
Deputy Special Assistant

My Bicentennial Message

Let's make this Fourth of July one of the greatest days in America's history. I would love to see everybody display before man and the world their American patriotism. Especially those who have the roots of the American Dream deeply implanted within their hearts.

Let this also apply to the coming years.

Wouldn't it be great, if we could hear the Bell of Liberty ring out again all over the World?

Wouldn't it be great, if we could see Mother Liberty's torch in New York Harbor shine brighter than before?

Wouldn't it be great, if everybody would join together and sing our National Anthem from shore to shore?

Wouldn't it be great, if we could keep the peace within our nation and know there would be everlasting peace throughout the world?

Let us see each other this Fourth of July with Red, White and Blue.

Sincerely,
Randall Biddy
