Dear Stan,

Congratulations on your appointment!

I hope you remember me: Bob Williams (Greenville, Miss.), journalism class of '60.

Anyway....., my government students bring in news articles for extra credit and one brought an item headed: Ex-newspaperman Appointed to Nixon Staff. As soon as I read the name Stan Scott, I wondered if it were you. I told my class that I had attended college with a young man named Stanley Scott. Then a student came forward with a page out of Jet and asked, "Is this the man?" To my delight it was. There you were smiling that smile.

The article stated that you "will be the highest ranking black on the white House staff." How about that?

I am indeed proud of your accomplishments (especially this one) and I wish you all the success in this new position.

Presently, I'm teaching American Government (to seniors) and U.S. History (to juniors) here at Rancho. I enjoy working with the young people even though it is hectic at times.

If you ever have time from your busy schedule, do drop a line either at the school or my home address: 801 Willis Ave., North Las Vegas, Nev. 89030. My phone numbers are: (702) 642-1682 - home; and (702) 649-1700 (school).

Take care and I hope to hear from you.

Sincerely,
Bob

I saw the photo and piece in today's column in The Times by Jim Clarity, and I am delighted for you.

Frankly, the only thing that bothers me is the fact that you look exactly the same as the first day we met and I keep looking older and older...and getting heavier.

Dear Stan:

It's been quite a few years since we worked together at UPI and, after you ventured into radio news in New York, I lost track of your professional activities.

A few days ago, however, I was delighted to read in Editor & Publisher that you had been appointed to your present enviable position in the federal government. I wish you all possible success in your new post.

As you may have heard, I departed UPI a few years after you did. I'm now in public relations with Carl Byoir & Associates, assigned to the Eastman Kodak Company account in Rochester, N.Y. Byoir has had for some years a professional relationship with the North Carolina firm operated by your predecessor, Robert Brown.

I'm sure in time you'll have cause to meet the Byoir staff in Washington and I can assure you that Jim Sites, Bob Farrow and their associates are real professionals and personally exceptionally fine fellows.

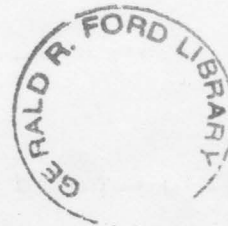

I hope an occasion will arise that I can get to Washington and offer my congratulations in person. Meanwhile, very best wishes in your new assignment.
