SUBJECT: Appointment of Board of Directors for National Institute of Building Sciences

The National Institute of Building Sciences was established by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The purpose of the Institute is to provide an authoritative national source of current, evaluated information on building science and technology, standards and regulations and to facilitate the introduction of new and useful developments in building technology.

Although a wide variety of public and private scientific, technical and financial agencies and organizations are engaged in activities pertinent to this field, the Institute will provide a framework to encourage maximum feasible participation by all and to promote the public interest.

The Board of Directors of the Institute will have no fewer than fifteen and no more than twenty-one members appointed by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The initial Board will serve staggered terms: one-third for one year, one-third for two, and one-third for three. Members of the Board will be entitled to compensation when actually employed. During their terms members may have no financial compensation of any sort with companies and groups associated with any specialized building products for which there are available substitutes.

We need members who are representative of the construction industry (including labor, product manufacturers, and builders), housing management experts, and building standards and codes experts. The majority of the Board, however, must represent the public interest. In this category, we are looking for architects, engineers, officials of federal, state and local agencies, and representatives of consumer organizations.

We would like to have your names and resumes by close of business, Monday, December 16. If you have any questions, please call Mrs. Jocelyn Waggoner at extension 2941.

MEMORANDUM FOR: WILLIAM N. WALKER
FROM: STANLEY S. SCOTT
SUBJECT: Assistant Secretary of State
for African Affairs
Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs

There are at least two perspectives from which these changes can be viewed, and each seems to me to have rather disturbing, possibly embarrassing, implications.

First, there is the question of the assignment of the candidate as Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs. It should be noted that we are dealing with the highest ranking black officer in the Foreign Service. The Ambassador is a Career Minister, the senior of only two blacks holding this rank and, I understand, ever to hold the rank of Career Minister. Further, he has had a Class 1 post over the past three years, the most important post in Africa by any standard and an extremely important one symbolically for blacks in the United States.

It seems to me that his follow-up assignment should be of at least comparable significance, both because of his own eminence in the Service and because of the public advantage which accrues for Administration for having made such an assignment. In any event, the follow-up assignment should be a substantive one.

Even though the head of the Bureau of Public Affairs carries the rank of Assistant Secretary, I question whether the position itself is regarded as equally substantive as others at that level and with the same title. I certainly question whether in terms of career and certainly prestige it is seen in the foreign affairs community to be so. I note, for example, that prior to the incumbent's tenure in that position, it was filled for an extended period of time by an officer listed as "acting" in PA while he headed another major Bureau at the same time. There is also the question of the prestige of the position held by the present Assistant Secretary in PA prior to taking over that office as compared to that of the designee's present position.

One other consideration should be the suitability of the officer for this assignment in terms of training and experience. If we are to avoid the appearance of "tokenism" and "window dressing," we must avoid assignments that obviously are incongruous. This is quite apart from the fact that this highest ranking black officer would seem on the face of it to deserve a better, more substantive assignment. If this happened, the Administration would earn great credit for doing the obvious but, on the other hand, would be castigated for doing the opposite.

Secondly, it is well known that the designee for Ambassador to Nigeria has been in his present position a relatively short time. Inevitably, the question arises as to whether going to Nigeria represents a "promotion" in this case or some other manifestation regarding performance in that position. On the latter point, his current involvement in the Southern African problem and his pronouncements on issues surrounding that problem cannot be overlooked as possible factors in the equation. Without any attempt to denigrate the designee, whom I understand to be extremely able, I would like simply to alert you to the possibility of the inference being drawn, especially in the black community, that the assignment of an American Ambassador to the most important country in Africa is being made other than on these terms.

MEMORANDUM FOR: STAN SCOTT
THROUGH: WILLIAM N. WALKER See
FROM: ROBIN WEST RW
SUBJECT: District of Columbia Commissions

The purpose of this memorandum is to solicit from you candidates for the District of Columbia Judicial Nominating Commission, the District of Columbia Commission on Judicial Disabilities and Tenure, and the Law Revision Commission for the District of Columbia.

The District of Columbia Judicial Nominating Commission and the District of Columbia Commission on Judicial Disabilities and Tenure were established by the Home Rule Bill (P.L. 93-198) and will begin their work on January 2, 1975. Both Commissions consist of seven members, one of whom is to be appointed by the President for a term of five years. Members of each must be bona fide residents of the District of Columbia and may not be members or employees of the Congress, the Judiciary, the Executive Branch or the District government.

The Judicial Nominating Commission (Legislation, Tab A) was established for the purpose of submitting nominations to the President to fill judgeship vacancies in the District of Columbia. Within thirty days of the occurrence of a vacancy on the D.C. Bench, the Commission must submit three nominees to the President. If the President fails to nominate one of the three within sixty days, the Commission makes the appointment with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Committee on Judicial Disabilities and Tenure (Legislation, Tab B) has the power to suspend, retire, or remove a District of Columbia judge and to conduct inquiries in connection with the exercise of these powers. This committee will replace the formerly constituted D. C. Committee on Judicial Disabilities and Tenure whose membership I have attached for your review (Tab C).

The Law Revision Commission for the District of Columbia was established by P.L. 93-379 of August 21, 1974 (Tab D). The purpose of the Commission is to identify defects and anacronisms in the D.C. law and recommend reforms to Congress and the D.C. Council. The Commissioner is expected to place the highest priority on criminal law reform. The President appoints two of the Commission's fifteen (15) members, eight (8) of whom must reside in the District of Columbia and the remainder in the National Capitol Region. The members serve a four year term.

I would appreciate receiving any suggestions you may have for the three Commissions by Tuesday, December 24.
