Dear President Nixon,

There has been talk of temporary "price and wage controls" to be imposed by the federal government to help curb inflation.

In the name of any person who has ever fought for freedom; in the name of freedom itself, this must never happen.

We excuse these unthinkable controls as being necessary to protect society. But we can't trample man into the ground while we save society.

We must not let fear cloud our senses. We must see that each new government control constitutes another blow against freedom.

Sincerely,

[Olga L. Chauncey
