PRESIDENT NIXON -- President Nixon has settled our present foreign affairs as no other living man could. We must realize that foreign policy is now shaping our domestic policy.

Minor troubles will flare up here and there. But nothing major will involve the United States until 1975.

A year ago I predicted that President Nixon's enemies would try to hang wire-tapping charges on him and make it look as though the Administration was personally involved in a wire-tapping scandal ... and of course the Watergate "bugging" case erupted as a scandal in 1972, to confirm that prediction.

President Nixon was not involved, but he should look quietly into the methods used by personnel deeply imbedded in a super-agency to maneuver some of his close associates, and also into a department linked closely with this super-agency. The people in that super-agency and department control vast sums of money not openly accounted for as are other governmental department funds. Long ago, back in the days of Alger Hiss, these manipulators made their nefarious plans and bulwarked their positions.

The President can never be 100% effective, or have full executive control until he stops the flow of funds into the hands of this unscrupulous group.

The "bugging" of the Democratic Party Headquarters was an unimportant episode in itself, but significant because it showed the tip of its structure -- like an iceberg!

President Nixon should thoroughly investigate our Cuban policies as the first clue on this dark, foreboding trail, and should adamantly refuse to let that accidental happenstance be blown out of proportion and used as a smokescreen. This super-agency is capable of doing great harm, and has plans for creating more embarrassing, and even dangerous, situations in the future.

I see grave problems for our good President ahead with Congress and the Federal bureaucracy; also with social unrest and numerous internal problems in both urban and rural areas.

The Federal Bureaucracy has stubbornly resisted ~~and~~ attempts of our last five presidents to streamline its functions and activities. The Civil Service, the seldom-mentioned military-civilian-combine within the Department of Defense, and to a lesser degree the Foreign Service and its allied Civilian Bureaucracy, will remain ~~stubbornly~~ resistant to President Nixon's reorganizational plans.

I do not see our President making the desired progress the first year of his second term, because Congress will again refuse to cooperate. Congress has ^{long} protected the "rebel ranks" and will try to continue doing so, but I see this protective screen becoming quite sticky. However, the President will not give up or give in, and I feel that in 1974 he will take matters into his own hands and the American people will see the first deep route ~~reform~~ in 50 years.

I see massive civil disorders beginning in 1976. The front-runners of this upheaval will be the self-styled champions of minority groups.

President Nixon is leading us in the right direction but he desperately needs the help of all the American people to pull a self-serving Congress into line. The President will try to create social and employment opportunities on an equal basis for all Americans, with racial, ethnic and sex problems designated for solution within the framework -- as he feels all are American s first.

Other dangers signals of revolution in 1973 will be dealt with in turn by the Administration as follows:

1. Crime
2. Drugs
3. Welfare
4. Schools
5. Energy sources
6. Older citizens
7. Youth

Perhaps not just in that order, but I feel very strongly these will be the main problems and they could be aptly labeled America's "Seven Horsemen of the United States Apocalypse".

During President Nixon's next term he will distinguish himself by bringing under control two evils which alarmingly threaten our society: drug abuse and crime.

These two defilers of our youth could surge into an epidemic with dramatic effects upon the future of our entire nation. Crime and illicit drug use are already out of hand and until halted will certainly continue to adversely affect some of our children, those born and some yet to come.

DIXON FORECASTS ...

PRESIDENT NIXON (continued)

The President has another grave problem -- that of an internal revolution fostered by the organizational geniuses of a foreign power, which has placed its agents in some vital key positions both in and outside the Government.

PRESIDENT NIXON'S CABINET --

Two of the President's new Cabinet members will be spotlighted. The able Mr. Richardson will come up against almost an impregnable wall when he attempts to delve into the military civilian bureaucratic "sacred cow" complex within the Department of Defense. The firmly entrenched "in house" structure which produces its own military equipment will frustrate his every move.

The Secretary of Labor, being in a key spot, will be called upon to solve many problems coming from illegal and semi-legal immigrants who deprive American workers of jobs. A prominent Democratic Senator will make problems along these lines for the Secretary much more difficult. Youth minorities will also create problems for Mr. Brennan.

The Commander-in-Chief will make top level changes in our Navy ... and giant steps toward a more modern and efficient Army through personnel changes at the top level and the development and supply of up-to-date equipment and armaments to our soldiers.

DIXON FORECASTS ...

Part III --

MISCELLANEOUS ...

CUBA -- Friendly and/or diplomatic relations between the United States and Cuba can not and will not improve. The present uneasy co-existence will continue.

CHILE -- President Salvador Allende's place in the sun is declining.

Three natural disasters will occur during 1973, bringing death and destruction. Relief agencies should be on the alert constantly.

WARS -- Wars and threats of war will continue in Southeast Asia, the Middle East and South America.

By the end of 1973 I feel there will be even more terror and bloodshed for the war-weary peoples of Vietnam.

the return of between four and five hundred U.S. prisoners of war during 1973, the result of our perennial peace negotiations.

South Vietnam, The Philippines, the Two Irelands, and Italy will remain selected victims of our opposing forces, and there will be no peace for these countries until 1975. In 1976 I get that world relationships with Russia will begin improving, carrying into the future ... then peace will come for these countries.

I do see a cease-fire soon in Vietnam, but we must remember our opposing forces do not consider a cease-fire an end to the war -- just a means to an end.

U. S. ECONOMY --

I feel a steady rise in our economy, bringing increased prosperity until almost 1976; then internal social unrest will begin to hamper its steady growth.

Part III ...

Silver will assume a more and more important role in our lives, and I feel its use increasing in industrial and automotive fields.

The stock market will make a slow, steady rise with the Dow-Jones average trend also moving steadily upward.

MAGAZINES -- A year ago I predicted that many news magazines, such as Life, would not continue publication because of the competition from television. It was destined that this fine periodical would end in 1972.

Now I feel more magazines, based on similar formats and techniques, will end in 1973. The remaining more or less successful ones will specialize in special fields such as sports, technical subjects and sex.

DIXON FORECASTS ...

Part III ...

MAGAZINES (continued)

~~declining in circulation, and some will be close to home.~~

MEDICINE -- I feel that the controversial method of healing by acupuncture has no real future in the United States. Organized medicine is reluctant to accept such a revolutionary concept.

I see the surface of the body having over seven hundred different areas where acupuncture might be helpful, each area a direct surface outlet for an inner organ or vital part of the body ... so it is easy to see that acupuncture is the basis of a very exacting and complicated medical science.

Acupuncture may be used on a limited basis from time to time in the United States, but primarily for relieving pain rather than for actual healing.

RELIGION --

The Lady of Fatima revealed that a Pope would be persecuted.

11 7/5

RELIGION -(continued)

Many people believe this reference is to a living or future Pope, but it is not. The persecuted Pope was Pius XII who was unjustly maligned by his own, as well as by his enemies. Some day all the facts will come out and then the truth will be published.

In spite of the popular "Jesus Movement" and fervent activities of our great religious crusaders, I see attacks against organized religion continuing.

THE POWER CRISIS -- For the past several years I have said there would be a shortage of electrical power or energy, with "brown-outs" or even "black-outs" occurring in many major U.S. cities.

Today the United States faces an energy crisis!

In the early '40's I saw the discovery of a new source of energy in our country from a "little black box" which I often

talk about. Unfortunately our American inventor was somehow, some way discredited, the important "little black box" found its way into the Soviet Union ... and was lost to America.

The Russians call this "life energy" ... however I feel they will never realize its full potential. President Nixon secretly will do everything possible to bring the harnessing of this energy potential within the power of our scientists. Possibly the most powerful energy source in the world -- that is, short of Divine Energy -- it would help ^{America} America solve ~~the~~ energy crisis very quickly.

J. PAUL GETTY -- The world's wealthiest TV commercial personality has magnificent plans for a new museum in Malibu, California to display his priceless art collection, but I feel that if he goes ahead now as planned, one day all his fabulous paintings and treasures will be lost, and our world will be the poorer for this needless tragedy.

* * * * *

Several soon-to-be-ex officials of President Nixon's Cabinet have suffered severe stings from the deadly political power bug and will run for national office in future elections -- some super surprises will result.

JEAN WESTWOOD -- I see her in the forefront again the last part of 1973 -- probably in some kind of government work requiring foreign travel; unfortunately it will be of short duration. I say "unfortunately" because Mrs. Westwood possesses keen executive and organizational ability.

The little lady may not seem deeply sensitive to most people, but when alone she weeps bitter tears for what might have been.

I see Jean Westwood quietly helping many people with their personal problems. Her real work in life is helping others become great -- not herself -- although one day she will become quite important in politics.

In the ~~Spring~~ of 1978 I get Mrs. Westwood will again hold national office, but there is much, much work for her to do in the interim ... then she will finally see her dreams come true.

~~X~~ 16

JANE FONDA -- I am not sure Miss Fonda will marry soon although she is pondering that step as I write this. If she does follow through with these marriage plans now, I feel her marriage will not last through 1975.

Miss Fonda is rather bohemian in nature -- not easy to reckon with. She throws herself completely into a thing of the moment, but works far too hard for what she accomplishes.

However, she is a talented actress and will give some excellent movie performances in 1973.

In late April or early May of 1974 I see pitfalls for her financially unless she holds on tightly to her money and pocket-book and refuses to go along with offers of investments from friends and acquaintances. Miss Fonda is making some financial investments which must also be watched during that same period next spring, for they somehow are involved with a friend who may later commit suicide.

In late 1973 she may have a health problem, arising from exhaustion.

I feel that through the influence of unpatriotic people and the wrong kind of company, Miss Fonda will suffer much; she is being manipulated by so-called friends who are using her to their own ends, and for their own purposes.

Miss Fonda does not realize what danger really is. She takes many chances, but should learn to be very careful.

There will be an eventual change in her life style and attitudes; however it will come only after a tragedy. I cannot tell if it is going to be an accident to someone near and dear to her ... or an accident to Miss Fonda herself.

The first point of stabilization in her life will come to her through religion which, I believe, will start around the middle of 1973.

The Jane Fonda book,

In 1974 Miss Fonda will write a book; it will be a good one ... although she will not gain as much from her writing as from her acting.

16

In 1975 she will be out of the limelight for a while and will have a confrontation with her father; after that she will undergo drastic changes in her life for good.

But the balance in life, the ultimate she is seeking, will not really be hers until 1977. At that time things will begin to come together for her, and then she will have the answers sought.

DIXON FORECASTS ...

HENRY KISSINGER -- Through no fault of his own or lack of effort on his part, Mr. Kissinger is going nowhere fast in the peace negotiations with Hanoi. As I have stated many times before, this is because peace now does not fit in with the master plan of our opposing forces. They will stall the negotiations along until they are ready for peace -- on their terms.

In January of 1973 there is going to be another big try for peace in Vietnam, and it will again look like the right opportunity for peace. But although there will not be a final peace settlement then, it looks as though there will be some headway made in negotiations the early part of February, and again the latter part of June as far as a cease-fire is concerned.

However, for our opposition, a cease-fire agreement is not an end in itself, only a means to an end.

Mr. Kissinger will try desperately for a meaningful

DIXON FORECASTS ...

peace treaty in April of ~~1973~~ ~~next year~~. Many concessions will be thrown into his pathway, but these concessions will entail loss of freedom and loss of territory for our allies, and therefore cannot be agreed to.

So I see that there will be some temporary agreements, but no permanent peace agreement in 1973.

As I pick up the thoughts of our opposing forces and their programmed time-table I feel that no one, but no one, will be able to negotiate a permanent peace until at least February or March or thereabouts in 1974!

No one, whatever is offered, will be able to negotiate a permanent peace until at least February or March of 1974 or thereabouts ... and no one, whatever the offer, will be able to change the timing of these plans on the part of our opposing forces -- at least as I pick up their thoughts at this time.

Their thoughts have been coming to me for a long time now, very strongly, and they have not changed from the first.

DIXON FORECASTS ...

In the end, Mr. Kissinger will not be the person to negotiate final peace in Indo-China.

Despite his many outstanding accomplishments and missions, I get that in 1974 Mr. Kissinger will not be in the same position he holds now as he will make a quick change at the end of 1973.

However he will still be very famous and in high office.

Unfortunately Henry Kissinger will be blamed for much which is not his fault or of his doing, and there are times when he will have to act the part of a double individual.

Especially in March of next year will Mr. Kissinger have to be careful of those who come to him as friends, for he will be dealing with deceitful persons, and cannot be too careful of whom he trusts. In fact, he better not trust anyone, anyone at all, with whom he is negotiating during this period.

I also feel that Mr. Kissinger has to be very, very careful next year about the places he visits, especially places of entertainment.

DIXON FORECASTS ...

In late August of 1973 there will be a turning point in Mr. Kissinger's career.

On the romantic side I see he will have a proposal from a younger person who has been or is in the movie world -- also one from a foreign personality. But Mr. Kissinger has no plans for marriage anytime soon. When he does, the woman he marries will be considered quite psychic.

In August of 1974 Mr. Kissinger will be writing, or ~~maybe~~ will have finished writing, a very interesting book. He will always work hard and one day will have a great deal of money.

DANIEL ELLSBERG -- At the beginning of next year it will look as though this young man will get out of hot water. However his legal affairs will remain unsettled during most of 1973 and I feel he could be detained for a while.

During this period of waiting he will write a best-seller, and through his writing, become wealthy.

Mr. Ellsberg's legal battle is not an easy ordeal for him as he is very sensitive and highly intelligent.

The year of 1973 will be an unhappy one for him, filled with red tape and legal maneuvering. Eventually, with the aid of influential friends, he will find a way out of these entanglements although there will be a deliberate stalling in April and May of next year to avoid legalities.

In late 1973 a judge's decision will ~~not be to~~ ^{upset} Mr. Ellsberg, ~~satisfaction~~, but due to a flaw in the law there will be still another trial. Then Mr. Ellsberg will emerge from his long-drawn-out legal battle, and I feel that he will come out of this with just a slap on the wrist. This will be in 1974.

In 1973 I see him finishing one book and beginning another one, but I do not see the second book finished.

DIXON FORECASTS ...

2/11

All along I believe that influential friends will be of immeasurable help to Mr. Ellsberg with his problems. One special, wealthy friend will come to his aid and, because of the help received from this one man, Mr. Ellsberg will find success. That will be the one man who really counts in Mr. Ellsberg's life.

JUAN PERON came back home at the wrong time.

While almost any period would have been ill-advised, the present political climate of Argentina is particularly unsuitable for the deposed dictator to return to the land of his one-time triumphs.

Vibrations of danger surround him and he must be carefully guarded at all times. Especially should he be hesitant about taking so-called friends into his confidence as betrayals will come from some he trusts most.

Senor Peron will enjoy the publicity his return brings. For a short while he will be in the limelight again, and it will seem like old times to him -- the adulation and cheering crowds -- for he still has many followers in Argentina. But his presence there will soon cause socio-political upheavals -- in fact enough so that I see him leaving his native country again. Most Argentinians want a political democracy -- not a dictatorship.

Early in February of 1973 I see Senor Peron having a bit of good luck, but it will be short-lived, and despite the fanfare attendant upon his visit, I do not see a political comeback or a position of importance in Argentina for him.

free 13 76
MARTIN BORMANN -- Despite continuing publicity to the contrary,

this top Nazi
I feel ~~he~~ is dead, lying in an unmarked grave underneath some kind of a barrier. This building or structure will either have to be torn down or removed before his grave is found.

In fact I get that even when the structure is finally removed and his grave discovered, it will not be recognized at first for its true significance. But I feel that definitely the grave will be found in Germany.

Early next year I see lots of publicity again about Martin Bormann ~~this man~~ -- speculating as to whether or not he is still [!]alive; also that some documents, forged by activists of an anti-Nazi group will appear in another futile attempt to prove Martin Bormann is still alive and in hiding.

A man of mystery during his lifetime, Mr. Bormann had an uncanny gift of prophecy, loved military life, and was musically gifted.

MIKHAIL SUSLOV

At present Mr. Suslov is almost at the peak of his power in Russia, and from now through the latter part of next year to the beginning of 1974, will continue to wield great power internationally ... but around the end of November or beginning of December 1973 a power struggle will erupt in the Kremlin's Central Committee.

Suslov wants to change his foreign policies, made them more benevolent and understanding. This change in attitude has been brought about by many internal failures of Communism ... especially the near starvation situation today in the U.S.S.R. A shrewd statesman and a keen student of international affairs, Mr. Suslov thinks revamping the present image of the U.S.S.R. and making its policies and actions more acceptable to the liberal western world is important -- but other Committee members will not go along with his concepts of fundamental change, and a power struggle the early part of 1974 will bring a power confrontation with them.

In the ensuing struggle for authority, and despite ~~his~~ fierce battling for what he believes important to his country, Mr. Suslov, although continuing to hold power in his own name, will delegate some of his power and authority to others because of overwork.

By the end of November next year, and because of his workload, Mr. Suslov's health will be jeopardized -- and he may even have to be hospitalized. I think it will either be his stomach or his kidneys which will cause his trouble. Too, I feel he has a predisposition to pneumonia, so he should watch his health.

Mr. Suslov and Vice President Agnew will have a compatible meeting late in 1973 or early in 1974.

The influence of Mikhail Suslov in Russia will be felt around the world for many, many years to come.

GOLDA MEIR is grievously troubled over the deaths of so many of her people -- "her children" as she calls them -- both from the war and from terrorist activities out side Israel.

Deeply religious, her faith means much to her, and indeed without it, I feel she could not keep on with her awesome responsibilities Ambitious for her country and its citizens, most of the time she gets what she wants for them through her own international contacts. She is especially successful in collecting monies for Israel.

Despite her financial shrewdness, I see her as the lowest salaried Prime Minister in the world. Money for her own needs however does not interest Mrs. Meir -- who lives very modestly -- only money for her country and her people.

The early part of this year I see great oppositon to Israeli efforts to move one of their country's boundaries. Forged documents will attempt to force Mrs. Meir out of her position.

DIXON FORECASTS ...

Part II ... Page

She does not know what is going on behind the scenes, but I see her being confronted with these forged documents in 1973.

I believe she will have a property loss in world court ... also that Mrs. Meir will be highly criticized for overstepping her authority as an Israeli official.

Although the Prime Minister is eminently capable of dealing with the espionage acts and agents which will face her this year, someone very close to her will try to doublecross her. This may be a clergyman outside her own faith. She is also being spied upon by other trusted friends. Ultimately they will be successful in having her removed from office, although I see her eventually resigning on the grounds of ill health.

In addition to her many duties as Prime Minister, Mrs. Meir will travel a great deal this year, and I caution her to be on guard at all times when traveling! A serious accident of some kind may befall her next year, although I do not get that it will be fatal. She should take special precautions for her person -- as an attempt may be made on her life from a vehicle of some sort. I feel she is fearful of being poisoned, but do not see this as a danger around her, only as something in her own thoughts.

Part II ...

Despite her many official duties, Mrs. Meir will find time to write, but I get one of her important books will not be completed. Her natural gift as a philosopher plus her brilliant intellect will make one of her books a rare gem in its field, and it could have a title something like: "A Dream of The Future" -- but if not it will at least contain much that is visionary.

The biggest disappointment of Mrs. Meir's life will be her inability to bring peace to the Middle East. Through no fault of hers, conditions in Israel will become worse instead of better for a while.

Although no one could try any harder than Mrs. Meir,

Part II ...

19

she will be unable to negotiate peace because of the trouble caused by those around her, and by lacking the necessary support and unity.

A general state of chaos, riots and other troubles caused by those hostile to her, will exist in Israel in 1973. Despite her complete devotion to Israel, Mrs. Meir will be unable to stem the rising tide of general dissatisfaction with her efforts, and her power will weaken.

However in 1974 I see her receiving many honors from her countrymen. A magnificent hospital will be built in her name and substantial recognition of her patriotism will also come to Golda Meir.

KAKUEI TANAKA -- The new Prime Minister of Japan will have to struggle to keep his power in the Japanese hierarchy. There will be an attempt to oust him before his elected term of office is over, so he should speak tactfully and work diligently.

January of 1973 will prove an important month for the Prime Minister, but beginning in March he will experience a period of great treachery from friends. There will be dissatisfaction over his efforts to push Japan forward economically and educationally, but I feel his motives are patriotic and his policies sound.

A man of great vision, Mr. Tanaka looks forward rather than backward, though some of his peers tend to pay more attention to what is past than what is coming.

While still in office Mr. Tanaka will have the responsibility of dealing with major life and death matters -- an extreme misfortune to his people -- which could result from a natural disaster.

DIXON FORECASTS ...

Mr. Tanaka will travel a lot for a Japanese Prime Minister ... but should exercise extreme caution while traveling, especially the latter part of this month.

Thoughts of political assassinations come to me constantly and government officials everywhere should have as much security as possible at all times.

I caution Mr. Tanaka also to take special care of his eyesight -- as neglect may bring serious problems.

Some of the people around the Prime Minister will think he is trying to exceed his authority and will try to cause trouble for him, but will be unsuccessful. Mr. Tanaka will get through 1973 in good shape, and will come out very well in 1974. In that year I see him receiving a very special and very valuable gift.

DIXON FORECASTS ...

Part II ...

One of Mr. Tanaka's prime goals is to change the Japanese educational system. The Prime Minister loves his country very much and wants to instill similar love and respect for Japan into every child.

He believes that kindergarten is not too soon for Japanese children to begin learning about their historical and cultural heritage, and that special lessons in Japanese history, political science, culture, art, music and craftsmanship should come early in life. The Prime Minister wants even the youngest students to learn basic facts about Japan ... why and how it came to be an empire ... and why and how it later came to be a democracy ... and why Japan's current form of government is best for them at present.

While he would place most emphasis on the historical and cultural heritage of Japan, Mr. Tanaka would also like to see the Japanese school curriculae enlarged to include professional education for women, and skills and trades for men taught in classrooms rather than by apprenticeships.

Part II ...

Mr. Tanaka will instill a sense of pride and civic responsibility into all Japanese children by letting them learn more about their country to realize that Japan is now a country and a government for all its citizens rather than just for a wealthy and powerful few.

The Prime Minister believes strongly in his program of educational reform and that in years to come it will constitute the very basis for Japan's future cultural and economic progress.

My dear Mr. President:

We all know you are deeply concerned with Watergate and the related items. But as you well know, I predicted this situation on Monday, October 21, 1968, and also said that it would improve your public image and put you in a position to right a great wrong, which will be for the good of the image of the United States. Therefore, I would advise the following on Watergate non-related matters:

Not to use our gold to buy dollars in Europe. This is a trap. Reverse the trap on the speculators, buy gold with our dollars.

Too, I think it advisable to record as soon as possible your conversations and discussions with Leonid Brezhnev. Place the tapes and documents in a secure place. This will be of great importance to the survival of our country after 1975.

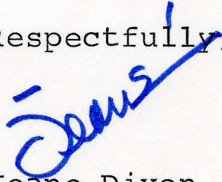

Next, on pollution and carbon monoxide. During the pollution alert in Washington and Baltimore (July 7-11, 1973) I had a premonition which I am determined to prevent, at least I shall try to prevent it. I feel that many people in our American cities may die, and, in fact, some cities even be annihilated, its inhabitants perhaps strangled through lack of oxygen and carbon monoxide poisoning. It seemed the cause could be a lack of knowledge on the part of some of our government officials. Too, there is the sin of omission by the large American automobile manufacturers, and last, but not least, the loud, vocal opposition from the so-called environmentalists, almost ignorant in their approach to the problem.

The automobile manufacturers have been forced to put virtually useless pollution devices on all auto motors. These have forced larger engines, using more gasoline, in a greatly reduced horse-power, but, above all, created automobile engines which gulp tremendous amounts of oxygen. Hydrocarbons and nitrogen emissions are relatively harmless in comparison to the deadly carbon monoxide being created.

Why does not Ralph Nader speak up on this? This issue should be dealt with, for many lives in the cities are in danger if nothing is done.

Know that you have the majority of the people behind you -- you will come out on top! So do not worry -- we all love you -- and our prayers are with you and yours all the way. Please take care of St. Stephen's Crown for me.

Respectfully,

Jeane Dixon

I know it seems tough now -- but remember -- it is going to be rougher in June -- it will be terrible for both of you -- Just tell him to keep his chin up and mind his own job --- I think there are more than two double agents -- don't pay any attention to these people.

When it gets worse -- don't worry too much -- it will all work He must keep on appearing the way he is now -- just doing his job and looking like he does.

On 5/8/74 she told M. A. that the 1st ten days of June would be the roughest & the President should not lose his temper -- everything will come out all right in the end.

JEANE DIXON: New Predictions About Personalities & Events

Startling events during the year 1973 have been predicted by Jeane Dixon, the psychic whose gift for probing into the future have made her one of the outstanding psychics of our time. Here are her forecasts, made exclusively for The ENQUIRER:

- Racial riots will recur in 1973, building up to massive disorders in 1976 and the danger of a Communist dictatorship in the U.S.

- President Nixon will have to cope with the threat of an internal revolution caused by agents of a foreign power in his own government.

- Two women will propose marriage to Kissinger. The woman he marries will be psychic.

- A "little black box" will develop the most powerful energy source in the world, short of divine energy.

For 1973, the psychic sees continuing bloodshed in Vietnam. She told The ENQUIRER:

"Despite any cease-fire in Vietnam, it will not mean lasting peace because our opposing forces do not consider a cease-fire an end to the war — just a means to an end.

"By the end of 1973 I feel there will be even more terror and bloodshed for the war-weary peoples of Vietnam.

"I see the return of between 400 and 500 U.S. prisoners during 1973, but I feel that no one will be able to negotiate a permanent peace until February or March of 1974 at the very earliest.

"And in the end, Mr. Kissinger will not be the person to negotiate final peace in Indo-China. In late August of 1973, there will be a turning point in Mr. Kissinger's career. In 1974 he will not be in the same position he holds now. However, he will still be very famous and in high office.

"On the romantic side, I see he will have a marriage proposal from a younger person who has been or is in the movie world, and another from a foreign personality. But Mr. Kissinger has no plans for marriage anytime soon. When he does marry, it will be to a woman considered quite psychic."

The racial riots that Mrs. Dixon sees coming to the U.S. this year she regards as a "danger signal." She said: "Unless we unite under our present government, I see massive civil disorders by 1976, led by the self-styled champions of minority groups. This upheaval could result in loss of liberties for the people of this country and the imposition of a dictatorship, a Communist regime.

"The President will have a grave problem within his own government — that of an internal revolution fos-

Six Predictions for 1973

Jeane Dixon is famed for the stunning accuracy of her forecasts. Early last year she made a number of predictions in The ENQUIRER for the year 1972 — which were proven exactly correct. Here is precisely what she said in our March 5, 1972 issue — and what actually happened:

1. "The world chess championship will be won by Bobby Fischer."

Fischer took the championship from Boris Spassky on August 31, 1972.

2. "Fidel Castro will be making many trips out of Cuba in 1972 and 1973 to enhance his 'social-international' prestige."

The Cuban dictator traveled to Chile, Algeria, Russia and a number of other "iron-curtain" countries during 1972.

3. "Governor George Wallace will cause a ripple, but will never be President of the United States. That is not his destiny."

On May 15, 1972, during his effective campaign for the Democratic Presidential nomination, Gov. Wallace was shot and crippled by tered by the organizational geniuses of a foreign power which has placed agents in key positions.

"At the same time, the President will distinguish himself during his second term by bringing under control two of the great evils threatening our society — drug abuse and crime."

Wars and threats of war will continue in trouble spots throughout the world, she predicted. "South Vietnam, the Philippines, the two Irelands and Italy will remain victims of opposing forces. There will be no peace for these countries until 1975. Conditions in Israel will become worse instead of better for some time.

"Within the U.S. economy, I feel a steady rise will take place, bringing increased prosperity until almost 1976. Then internal unrest will begin to limit it. The stock market will make a slow, steady rise."

America's critical need for energy could be solved dramatically, she said, by a "little black box" now in the hands of the Soviet Union.

"It is possibly the most powerful energy source in the world, next to the Lord's energy. But I feel that the Russians will never realize its full potential. President Nixon secretly will do everything possible to bring the harnessing of this energy potential within the power of our scientists."

The infamous Nazi leader, Martin Bormann, believed recently to have been found alive in Argentina, is dead, the psychic said. "I see his body in Germany, lying in an unmarked grave under some kind of barrier or structure. This will have to be removed before his grave is found."

The seer also predicted:

"One day Senator Tom Eagleton, removed last year from the Democratic late 1973 by a judge's decision, but then there will be still another trial. I feel he will emerge from his long legal battle with just a slap on the wrist. This will be in 1974.

"An attempt will be made this year to double-cross Premier Golda Meir of Israel. This effort may be made by a clergyman outside her own faith.

"She is also being spied on by trusted friends, and forged documents will be used to try to force her out of her position. These documents will be produced in 1973. But I see her resigning finally on the grounds of ill health.

"Vice-President Agnew and Mikhail Suslov, a top Soviet official, will have a compatible meeting late in 1973 or early in 1974.

"In Chile, President Salvador Allende's place in the sun is declining.

"Relations between Cuba and the U.S. cannot and will not improve during 1973. The present uneasy co-existence will continue.

"Three natural disasters will occur during 1973, bringing death and destruction. Relief agencies should be on the alert constantly.

"Acupuncture may come into more widespread use in the U.S. this year, but primarily for the purpose of relieving pain rather than for actual healing.

"And finally I must warn billionaire J. Paul Getty that if he goes ahead now with his plans for a new museum in Malibu, Calif., one day all his fabulous paintings and treasures will be lost and our world will be the poorer."

972 That Came True

an assailant, an event that many observers believe will prevent his ever becoming a candidate for President again.

4. "Senator Edmund S. Muskie has great charisma and can be very persuasive but I do not see him as the victor in 1972."

On April 27, 1972, Sen. Muskie dropped out of the race for the Presidential nomination.

5. "Senator Eugene McCarthy is trying very hard to be useful, but he will not have the impact on the 1972 elections that he did in 1968."

Sen. McCarthy's influence on the 1972 elections, observers agree, turned out to be minimal or nonexistent.

6. "Because of economic conditions, more big national magazines will fall by the wayside. 'Life' will survive 1972, but television has challenged the 'Life-Look' type of magazine, and will do so even more in the future."

"Life" magazine survived 1972 — almost to the day. Its last issue appeared in the last week of December.

JACK ANDERSON NEWS AMERICAN-THURSDAY.
APRIL 26th-1973.

How the Lid Blew Off

The astonishing story can now be told how the Watergate cover-up suddenly tore apart at the stitches.

From the most competent sources inside the White House and the Justice Department, we have learned the fascinating details.

Our sources declare categorically that President Nixon had no advance knowledge of the Watergate break-in and bugging. From the first, former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and White House counsel John Dean also swore to him that they had no part in the illegal operation. It was well known around the White House, however, that Jeb Stuart Magruder was neck-deep in the scandal.

As No. 2 man on the campaign committee, he directed the activities of Watergate ringleader G. Gordon Liddy. Magruder first introduced Liddy to his staff in January 1972 as a lawyer but added with a knowing smile: "Gordon Liddy also has other talents."

Liddy submitted regular reports to Magruder on the bugging operation under the code name, "Gemstone." Magruder also arranged for Liddy to draw cash out of the committee's safe. By way of accounting, Liddy signed small, white chits with a special mark that became known jokingly as "Liddy's mark."

After the arrest of the Watergate wire-tappers, an agitated Liddy immediately tried to contact Magruder in California.

Liddy demanded to use the White House security network so he could speak on a secure phone. Unable to get through to Magruder's hotel, Liddy left a message for Magruder to call him from a pay phone.

When the call came through, Liddy reported what had happened and received instructions to destroy all incriminating evidence. Finally, Magruder directed Liddy to report at once to Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst.

Liddy located Kleindienst at the Burning Tree golf course and rushed off to consult him. Powell Moore, the campaign press chief, asked to go along. They called Kleindienst into a back room and confided that the burglary-bugging squad, caught red-handed inside Democratic headquarters, was headed by the President's campaign security chief.

Coldly, Kleindienst picked up a telephone and reached Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry Peterson. "Henry," instructed Kleindienst, "I want to be sure that these people are treated as any other person would be treated who is arrested under those circumstances."

The chastened Liddy returned to campaign headquarters and began stuffing his files into a small shredder, which chewed them up too slowly to suit him. So he hustled upstairs with arms full of documents and ran them through a larger shredder.

Over at the White House, meanwhile, Dean ordered two aides to clean out the files of Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt. Eight cardboard cartons of papers were sneaked out of the White House and stored in a warehouse. They were later returned to the White House and most of the documents were selectively destroyed.

Dean was ordered by the President to find out whether any White House people were involved in the Watergate crimes. Contrary to the impression given out by the White House, Dean never submitted a written report.

Our sources state flatly that Dean used his authority to obstruct the FBI and to keep incriminating evidence away from the Justice Department. He even ordered Hunt out of the country. White House aide, Charles Colson, according to one source, exploded: "Do you want to make the White House an accessory to a fugitive from justice?"

One of the President's closest advisers, John Ehrlichman, wanted to put out a statement acknowledging Magruder's role in the Watergate conspiracy. This was vigorously opposed by Clark MacGregor who succeeded Mitchell as campaign chairman. Dean finally persuaded the President to announce merely that "no one in this administration, presently employed, was involved in this very bizarre incident."

A few presidential advisers, including Ehrlichman and Colson, warned the President in February that the Watergate decisions must have been approved by Mitchell and Dean. Nixon replied that both had denied any involvement and he asked for proof.

By mid-March, the President's faith in Dean began to waver. He ordered Dean to Camp David to write a belated report on his Watergate investigation. After a few days at the presidential retreat, Dean reported back to the President that he simply couldn't write a report. Angrily, Nixon took Dean off the Watergate case.

Colson, meanwhile, took a lie detector test to prove his own innocence. Dean was furious. "Now we're all going to have to take one," he grumped.

Colson and Ehrlichman also put together information that (1) Dean had advance knowledge of the Watergate bugging; (2) Dean had ordered Hunt out of the country; and (3) Dean had authorized payments to the Watergate defendants to keep their mouths shut. On Friday, April 13, Ehrlichman confronted Dean with the charges.

That night, Dean put together some documents he had been saving, which indicated both H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman had knowledge of the Watergate cover-up. Next day, Dean took the documents to Assistant U. S. Attorney Earl Silbert and made accusations against Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell and Magruder. In return, Dean asked for immunity.

Silbert refused to grant immunity. Instead, he called in Magruder and confronted him with Dean's revelations. This broke down Magruder who also confessed his role in the conspiracy.

The lid, which Mitchell and Dean had held on the Watergate scandal for 10 months, had blown off.

'Nixon Will Be Our Next President

By
Jeane
Dixon

DURING the 1960 election I saw Richard Nixon as the winner; I stated this in public print and have never retracted this statement. This telepathy forecast was shown as a Nixon victory, taken away from him by a handful of men in the Mid West. However, destiny cannot be denied.

In 1962 after Mr. Nixon was defeated in California and told a press conference that it would be his "last," I forecast that Mr. Nixon's most important role in politics and for his country was still ahead of him, that his work had barely started. He is the nominee of the Republican Party.

Richard Nixon will be our next President. But, of course, he must take security measures at all times. Man's words, plans or commentaries cannot block the path of destiny. The two factors which will determine his election are the main concerns of the American people — their own personal safety and national security. In simpler terms, I see them defined as law and order and communism. Until these two issues are settled, the words peace and prosperity are meaningless. I see the Democrats in great trouble over both.

At present the nation is divided. Richard Nixon will be a unifying force and will restore our strength and determination. Most colored people have little feeling for Mr. Nixon, but as their President he will do more for them than has been accomplished over the last hundred years. Sound economic gains and restoration of pride and dignity are in store for minority groups.

Wallace and Reagan

George Wallace has become an important factor in the campaign, as I predicted last January. But the telepathy waves I am getting from him have less weight than those from Mr. Nixon; I interpret this as Mr. Nixon getting the majority of votes.

However, George Wallace will become increasingly important. He, too, as the other candidates, must have proper security.

Shriver's star rising, and it is growing clearer and more prominent.

President Lyndon B. Johnson will retire to private life, and his advice will be sought on domestic issues by those in power. In retirement he will have many regrets that he did not exercise his own judgment.

More Blood in Vietnam

For Vietnam I see more blood, more terror, more heartbreak, there will be no lasting peace. At the present rate of the war there will be an increase in U. S. deaths. I see a grave threat building up within South Vietnam. It is there, but I cannot see it, it is an invisible government. I see these strange invisible cells as a cancer within the South Vietnamese government. They also spread their invisible shadow over the peace talks in Paris.

These cells cast their shadows in threes. So persistent is their presence that no matter what settlement we make in Vietnam, these cancerous cells of the invisible government will kill any democratic body established to govern the country. We can only win this game by using our own democratic elements on the same stage.

I see great changes in Soviet leadership. Premier Aleksei N. Kosygin actually has no real power at this time; his usefulness will soon be over. Leonid I. Brezhnev will be used only as a front. The real power in Russia lies in the hands of Mikhail A. Suslov. I see him in a room marked "special sector." With this group he controls world communism, foreboding ill for the United States. Mr. Nixon realizes this situation and will deal with it realistically.

More on the FOBS

Communist China will continue to be a power in the international racial revolution.

Responsible officials in the Department of Defense believe that the recent Minuteman 3 and Poseidon missile tests had an effect on the Soviet planners. The Soviets passed this stage years ago and do not consider them significant.

While we are experimenting on these smaller missiles and counting on them as a nuclear deterrent in the 1970's, we should at the same time look up to what I call the FOBS (Full Orbital Bombardment System). I have seen three of these. They are virtually invisible to our detection devices. But we should forget trying to detect them and check the tunnels they leave behind them in space. These sparking electrical tunnels will tell our scientists what is inside these three FOBS.

modern facades. The cities as we knew them years ago are relics of the past. I have seen the cities of the future, modern business and trade areas surrounded by satellite cities where people live in comfort and ease.

Pueblo

The release of our men will not come about by negotiations with the North Koreans. Their freedom has to be negotiated in Moscow. The nine or ten men running the North Korean Government are Soviet citizens and Soviet officers. The communist planners have calculated that every mention of our men being held captive is a sign to the world of our impotence and weakness. Until this propaganda illusion is dissipated we cannot expect the return of our men.

Supreme Court

There will be a decided change in philosophy in the Supreme Court. There will be a turn toward conservatism in the court's decisions on law and order, social problems, and subversion. There will be no changes until a new President is inaugurated. There will be reforms in the area of appointments of political judges.

Other Predictions

WIRETAPPING SCANDAL. A wiretapping scandal which I have predicted previously is yet to come. It will involve Richard Nixon, but will show him as a sincere man and will help his public image. I saw a ball going round and round in what seemed to be a roulette wheel; the ball seemed always to stop on a double-O. It seemed to indicate a name or names which I could not interpret. A tall, dark man also appeared to be involved. The entire matter will affect Mr. Nixon favorably and would seem to put him in a position to right a great wrong, which would be for the good of the image of the United States.

KING'S ASSASSINATION. Startling developments will emerge from James Earl Ray for the assassination of the Rev. Martin Luther King. It will reveal that

WATERGATE

A LETTER FROM THE PUBLISHER

EVERYONE wishes that Watergate had never happened—the press very much included. Yet, without smugness, it must be said that most of the dramatic and disturbing revelations of the Watergate affair would never have occurred without energetic digging by the press. Some of the more important disclosures, in fact, were made by TIME as a result of diligent reporting by correspondents in our 21-man Washington bureau. Correspondent David Beckwith, while covering the trial of the Watergate Seven, landed the only interview granted by confessed Wiretapper E. Howard Hunt. TIME was first to reveal Hunt's promise to his fellow defendants that unidentified "friends" would pay up to $1,000 a month for their silence while they were in prison, that Jeb Stuart Magruder of C.R.P. (the Committee for the Re-Election of the President) had been dispensing money from a secret campaign fund, and that the money had been rerouted through a Mexican lawyer. TIME was first to reveal that the bugging devices planted at the Watergate were monitored from a motel across the street by agents of the C.R.P.

Last October we disclosed that the Justice Department had information indicating that Donald Segretti had been hired by two members of the White House staff to subvert the Democratic election campaign. In March, 1973, a story in TIME revealed that Presidential Counsel Charles Colson was listed in White House records as Hunt's supervisor, and that Hunt's pay vouchers for the "caper" had been signed in Colson's office.

As the scandal broke open late last week, a large part of our Washington bureau was mobilized to track down information for this week's cover story. Dean Fischer filed on the tense mood in the White House; Hays Gorey covered the Justice Department; and Senate Correspondent Stanley Cloud reported on the Watergate Committee's continuing investigation of the scandal. Bureau Chief Hugh Sidey, meanwhile, returned to his home town of Greenfield, Iowa, to gauge the mood of some average citizens toward the Watergate affair and its implications.

The Washington files were Teletyped to New York, where Associate Editor Ed Magnuson wrote the cover story. In the past five weeks he has written our cover story on Senator Sam Ervin, who is directing an investigation of the affair, and our cover on L. Patrick Gray's contested nomination as FBI director—two stories spawned by the Watergate disclosures.

In her published 1968 prediction, she spoke of something "going round and round" in what seemed to be a circle like a roulette wheel and of a tall dark man in the background.

She continued in the interview: "The dream kept recurring throughout 1969, 1970, 1971 and 1972. Always there were these circles of wire around the men, and very clearly, the dark-haired man in back.

"I was amazed when I picked up a recent copy of 'Time' magazine to see pictured on the cover Mr. Nixon in the middle of his advisers and around them all, circles of wire. Equally startling was a tall, dark-haired man in the background."

The cover of "Time" for April 30, 1973, showed Nixon surrounded by James McCord Jr., H.R. Haldeman, John W. Dean III, John Mitchell, Maurice Stans and, at the rear, Jeb Stuart Magruder, a tall man with dark hair. Telephone wires encircle the men, all of whom have been questioned in the Watergate case and one, McCord, convicted.

"I also had a dream," the psychic went on, "in which I saw two agents of a foreign power working against Mr. Nixon and our nation in the Watergate affair. In the months ahead, this will also come to light.

"These agents are enemies of the President and out to discredit our country — they are people who would like to see America downgraded throughout the world. Their purpose is to make as many people in America as possible dissatisfied with our government."

"Now," predicted Mrs. Dixon for ENQUIRER readers, "Mr. Nixon will push new laws against wiretapping to protect the rights of all Americans and those laws will also affect big business.

"Under more stringent laws that will soon go into effect, the only time wiretapping will be allowed will be when it is absolutely necessary to the security of the nation and gets the go-ahead from the President himself.

"Mr. Nixon will make some powerful, sweeping moves that will convince the country he is forging ahead and he will get the full support of the nation.

"When you prune a tree you always have better fruit or more blossoms. Mr. Nixon will do a lot of pruning for the betterment of mankind."

REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

Viet Billy-Beating

If peace is really "at hand" — and not endangered by either Cong-Hanoi or B-52 treachery — then there may be an end to what could be called "Vietnamese Billy-beating."

Billy's last name is Graham and the question of where he stands on the Vietnamese War has been asked him almost every day since the war began. For he is regarded by most people as the most effective evangelist in U.S. history.

It was understandable for the public to wonder how this renowned evangelist felt about a conflict regarding which most people have had mixed emotions. For many were not anywhere nearly as assured as some of the war's critics — who seemed blind to the fact that neither the Cong nor the North Vietnamese were boyscouts.

When President Nixon resumed the bombing of North Vietnam (just before the long-awaited peace treaty which critics said could never result from bombing) the impatient questioning about Graham's position turned to demands. From Dallas to Manhattan's Riverside Church, clergy demanded that Billy Graham demand that his close friend, the President of the United States, cease and desist from this activity. (No one, however, demanded that Miss Jane Fonda travel to Hanoi and order her friends in the government to withdraw troops from the South.)

Just how Billy was to have gone about informing the President to cease and desist was never quite fully explained by the assorted urgers.

Should he have done so during dinner at the White House?

Well, of course he could have done so, actually. He might have also — and with no doubt similar effectiveness — in full view and hearing of the other guests, have winked and smiled lasciviously at either Pat, Julie or Tricia and drawled sensuously: "Read any good sex books lately?"

Or, after dinner, he could have asked for a few minutes alone with the President. And since it was Billy who counseled Nixon (when Nixon asked him) about trying again for the presidency after the California disaster in 1962, certainly the request would have been granted.

Instead of "About your breath . . ." Billy could have lead off this personal meeting with:

"About your bombing . . ."

Any clergyman with even minimal training, or more than a few months of experience, should know that taking advantage of one's personal friendship, or pastoral relationship, in order to deliver a gratuitous lecture is rarely an effective way in which to influence the powerful for good.

If Nixon were a King David, as in 2 Samuel 12:7, he might put up with denunciations by visiting Nathans — but only if he realized that he had sinned. But Nixon's refusal to see a collection of his critics who are heads of National Council of Churches denominations indicates that this is a different age. And, whether they like it or not, Nixon is not about to play host to clergy whose sole purpose in visiting is to engage in a game of Press The Pres, on an issue in which he is undoubtedly familiar with the various arguments.

Billy Graham could have, however, sounded off, suddenly, in one of those White House sermons. Sure. Like Eartha Kitt, who once sounded off, rather rudely, during a White House dinner. Eartha may be invited back someday, however. Along about 1999.

The subject of Vietnam has apparently been Nixon's deepest concern — for he certainly did not look glum in announcing the peace. Billy Graham, as one of his closest friends, could hardly have preached upon, or even issued a statement about Vietnam, without it appearing that he was revealing what he may very well have discussed with the President, in the confidentiality to which both men should be entitled.

This column has often criticized Billy Graham. But Billy can hardly be regarded as amoral for Nixon's sake — not when he has taken public stands for abortion law liberalization and abolition of capital punishment — both of which are strongly opposed by his friend in the White House.

JIMMY DIXON.

How the Lid Blew Off

The astonishing story can now be told how the Watergate cover-up suddenly tore apart at the stitches.

From the most competent sources inside the White House and the Justice Department, we have learned the fascinating details.

Our sources declare categorically that President Nixon had no advance knowledge of the Watergate break-in and bugging.

From the first, former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and White House counsel John Dean also swore to him that they had no part in the illegal operation. It was well known around the White House, however, that Jeb Stuart Magruder was neck-deep in the scandal.

As No. 2 man on the campaign committee, he directed the activities of Watergate ringleader G. Gordon Liddy. Magruder first introduced Liddy to his staff in January 1972 as a lawyer but added with a knowing smile: "Gordon Liddy also has other talents."

Liddy submitted regular reports to Magruder on the bugging operation under the code name, "Gemstone." Magruder also arranged for Liddy to draw cash out of the committee's safe. By way of accounting, Liddy signed small, white chits with a special mark that became known jokingly as "Liddy's mark."

After the arrest of the Watergate wire-tappers, an agitated Liddy immediately tried to contact Magruder in California.

Liddy demanded to use the White House security network so he could speak on a secure phone. Unable to get through to Magruder's hotel, Liddy left a message for Magruder to call him from a pay phone.

When the call came through, Liddy reported what had happened and received instructions to destroy all incriminating evidence. Finally, Magruder directed Liddy to report at once to Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst.

Liddy located Kleindienst at the Burning Tree golf course and rushed off to consult him. Powell Moore, the campaign press chief, asked to go along. They called Kleindienst into a back room and confided that the burglary-bugging squad, caught red-handed inside Democratic headquarters, was headed by the President's campaign security chief.

Coldly, Kleindienst picked up a telephone and reached Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry Peterson. "Henry," instructed Kleindienst, "I want to be sure that these people are treated as any other person would be treated who is arrested under those circumstances."

The chastened Liddy returned to campaign headquarters and began stuffing his files into a small shredder, which chewed them up too slowly to suit him. So he hustled upstairs with arms full of documents and ran them through a larger shredder.

Over at the White House, meanwhile, Dean ordered two aides to clean out the files of Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt. Eight cardboard cartons of papers were sneaked out of the White House and stored in a warehouse. They were later returned to the White House and most of the documents were selectively destroyed.

Dean was ordered by the President to find out whether any White House people were involved in the Watergate crimes. Contrary to the impression given out by the White House, Dean never submitted a written report.

Our sources state flatly that Dean used his authority to obstruct the FBI and to keep incriminating evidence away from the Justice Department. He even ordered Hunt out of the country. White House aide, Charles Colson, according to one source, exploded: "Do you want to make the White House an accessory to a fugitive from justice?"

One of the President's closest advisers, John Ehrlichman, wanted to put out a statement acknowledging Magruder's role in the Watergate conspiracy. This was vigorously opposed by Clark MacGregor who succeeded Mitchell as campaign chairman. Dean finally persuaded the President to announce merely that "no one in this administration, presently employed, was involved in this very bizarre incident."

A few presidential advisers, including Ehrlichman and Colson, warned the President in February that the Watergate decisions must have been approved by Mitchell and Dean. Nixon replied that both had denied any involvement and he asked for proof.

By mid-March, the President's faith in Dean began to waver. He ordered Dean to Camp David to write a belated report on his Watergate investigation. After a few days at the presidential retreat, Dean reported back to the President that he simply couldn't write a report. Angrily, Nixon took Dean off the Watergate case.

Colson, meanwhile, took a lie detector test to prove his own innocence. Dean was furious. "Now we're all going to have to take one," he grumped.

Colson and Ehrlichman also put together information that (1) Dean had advance knowledge of the Watergate bugging; (2) Dean had ordered Hunt out of the country; and (3) Dean had authorized payments to the Watergate defendants to keep their mouths shut. On Friday, April 13, Ehrlichman confronted Dean with the charges.

That night, Dean put together some documents he had been saving, which indicated both H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman had knowledge of the Watergate cover-up. Next day, Dean took the documents to Assistant U. S. Attorney Earl Silbert and made accusations against Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell and Magruder. In return, Dean asked for immunity.

Silbert refused to grant immunity. Instead, he called in Magruder and confronted him with Dean's revelations. This broke down Magruder who also confessed his role in the conspiracy.

The lid, which Mitchell and Dean had held on the Watergate scandal for 10 months, had blown off.

Answers vs. Silence

ONE OF the most serious faults exposed by the Watergate scandal has gotten very little attention in all the uproar over individuals. That fault is the lack in our governmental system of any really effective method of forcing the White House to answer unwelcome questions quickly, publicly, regularly and with the maximum of frankness possible.

Congress, of course, can react to executive silence in matters of clear public interest by conducting hearings to dig up the facts. But this is a cumbersome, irregular and slow process which may come too late and furthermore be hampered by conflicting claims of authority or privilege — as happened earlier in the Watergate mess.

The press faces equally tough problems. Only the most persistent, difficult probing often can provide answers to questions brushed aside in formal confrontations with the chief executive. The President, furthermore, calls press conferences only when he wants to and cross-examination is virtually impossible. He winds up saying exactly what he wanted to say, and nothing else.

James G. Driscoll, writing in the current issue of The National Observer, reminds us that not all heads of democratic governments enjoy the same relative freedom as our President to communicate with the people and their elected representatives when he feels like it. The Prime Minister of Great Britain is a notable example.

In England, as Mr. Driscoll points out, there is an institution in the House of Commons called the Question Hour. Twice a week, for about 20 minutes each session, the Prime Minister must respond in person to queries by the lawmakers. His cabinet members, furthermore, must appear in rotation for similar questioning at hour-long sessions held four times a week. Nearly 25,000 questions are asked during each term of the House of Commons.

We agree that some similar system, adapted to our own use, could be immensely beneficial. So would be mandatory, frequent and regularly-scheduled press conferences so constituted as to permit cross-examination of presidential responses. Evasion still would be possible — as it frequently is in England — but it would be far more difficult.

The big advantage would be that the American people would have something they now lack — a continuous, open, timely, personal probing and discussion of executive attitudes on all matters of public concern.

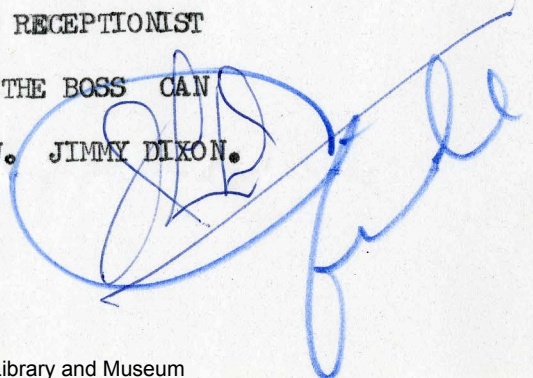

Under such a system no President could ever have claimed ignorance of the true extent of Watergate for nearly 10 months. A system of up-to-the-minute public accountability, in fact, would long ago have exposed the whole scandal and long ago forced the executive clean-up action which only now is being taken — far too late.

DEAR ROSE MARY:

I WROTE AND RAN THIS ADITORIAL ALMOST FIVE YEARS AGO. PLEASE BE SURE THAT BOTH THE

BE IN TROUBLE. GOD LOVE YOU. JIMMY DIXON.

Aditorial

THE PROFESSIONAL RECEPTIONIST

If you are the PRIVATE SECRETARY to the BIG BOSS: the SWITCHBOARD OPERATOR at the front desk; the combination "HANDY MAN" to Drs. or Dnts; or whether you are the PROFESSIONAL RECEPTIONIST at the main entrance of THE ESTABLISHMENT - paid to cheerfully greet all those who dare enter therein - this Aditorial is respectfully addressed to you, my dears. For more than 50 years now it has been my job to crash the sacred portals of "On Guard" RECEPTIONISTS. However, in all my business experience - I find less uniformity of courtesy in the world of THE PROFESSIONAL RECEPTIONIST than in any other profession I know. In fact - many PRIVATE SECRETARIES I meet take it upon themselves to protect their bosses so well that they actually protect them against making more money for the firm - REALLY!!!

A recent humorous experience proves a point: I walked into an office and asked for - let's call him MR. JONES. I was greeted with that "icy-stare" that made me feel unwelcome. The RECEPTIONIST asked me if I had an appointment. I told her "No." She inquired the purpose of my mission. I advised her that I had come to invite MR. JONES to luncheon. She seemed pleased to inform me that MR. JONES was not in. As I turned to leave - she asked me my name. When I handed her my card - the transfiguration on her furrowed countenance was sensational. She really looked beautiful but not until AFTER she recognized (from my card) that I was their newest cash-paying customer.

And speaking of PROFESSIONAL RECEPTIONISTS - it has always amazed this advertiser of the reluctance of front-office employees to learn, and know how to be, an expert switchboard operator!!! The telephone switchboard is, in our opinion, the most important and sensitive point of "reception" in any organization - large or small. And to be worthy of the title - PROFESSIONAL RECEPTIONIST - every Dixon front-office employee is required to be a proficient switchboard operator. (Incidentally, if our front-office staff didn't know about this requirement yesterday - they sure as heck know about it today.)

Dear Mr. Wilson:

Have been wanting to reply to your letter of June 15th -- which begins, "As you know, the Republican Party is in trouble" ... as far as we are concerned the Republican party is not in trouble, so why start with such a negative approach? All that has to be done is to recognize a greater challenge to be even greater! President Nixon is not guilty, his enemies are trying to make him appear guilty, but the people must rise above such accusation, and put the blame where it belongs -- on our opposing forces, double agents, etc. ...

There is so much to be said about this, wish I had the time to elaborate ... but know that we are behind the President ... BUT LET US STAY POSITIVE AND NOT NEGATIVE -- who said the Republican party is in trouble? -- not the President's fans!

Most sincerely yours,

Jeane Dixon

The Dean Memo

1/8/72

There is a case to be made for Nixon's declining to enter into a dialogue with the Senate investigating committee, though I find it formalistic. There is no case at all, that I can see, to delay presidential comment on the exchange of memorandums between Charles Colson and John Dean; and in particular, the memorandum from John Dean to John Ehrlichman, which will go down in the history of syntax, if not in the history of politics, as the memorandum on Maximizing the Incumbency.

Thus it began, with that perfect fidelity to bureaucratic pomp so appropriate to the bloated ego and the diminished mind. "This memorandum addresses the matter of how we can maximize the fact of our incumbency in dealing with persons known to be active in their opposition to our Administration." Get that "our Administration." And he was addressing, in this memorandum, the two top officials in the Nixon staff: Robert Haldeman, the chief of staff, and John Ehrlichman, the chief adviser on domestic political affairs. This wasn't the cleaning woman then, addressing the night watchman at the Metropolitan Opera, referring to "our production of Aida." The memorandum went on: "Stated a bit more bluntly — how we can use the available federal machinery to screw our political enemies."

Dean suggested a modus operandi. "Key members of the staff (he named top presidential assistants) could be requested to inform us as to who they feel we should be giving a hard time. The project coordinator should then determine what sort of dealings these individuals have with the Federal Government and how we can best screw them (e.g. grant availability, Federal contracts, litigation, prosecution, etc.)"

In other words, a citizen who is listed as in "active opposition" to "our Administration" would pop up in the "project coordinator's" radar screen whenever he came into contact with a government agency. He might be a business man seeking to deal with the SEC, or the FCC, or the FTC, or the CAB, or the OEO, or the DOD, to limit to a half dozen the hundreds of executive agencies with which a business man might need to deal. Or he may be a journalist, filing his tax returns with the IRS, or seeking the aid of an Embassy abroad on assignment.

And finally Dean acknowledged the need to proceed with his plan to persecute people who are hostile to Our Administration with some care. "I feel it is important that we keep our targets limited . . . low visibility of the project is imperative . . . we can learn more about how to operate such an activity if we start small and build." Build means, presumably, to expand the list of people to be "screwed" by the Nixon Administration for insufficient servility to it.

I have lodged a lawsuit against people who use the term imprecisely, a fact I mention only for the purpose of drawing attention to the holy precision with which I think the term needs to be used. Dean's memorandum was an act of proto-fascism. It is altogether ruthless in its dismissal of human rights. It is fascist in its reliance on the state as the instrument of harassment. It is fascist in its automatic assumption that the state in all matters comes before the rights of the individual. And it is fascist in tone: the stealth, the brutality, the self-righteousness. It is far and away the most hideous document to have come out of the Watergate investigation.

And the most serious, surely. Here, one repeats, is a document circulating around the offices immediately contiguous to the Oval Office of the President. There is no record, so far, that Haldeman or Ehrlichman took offense at Dean's memorandum, or that Colson did, who takes offense at the drop of a hat. No record of a repudiation of it from any of the dozens of White House staffers among whom it circulated.

Never mind that for a minute. Of course, we must assume that Nixon had not seen it. But we must assume that he has seen it now, a document written by his official Counsel, to his principal assistants. Why does he not denounce that document and the thought it embodies?

There isn't anything in the doctrine of the separation of powers that makes it inappropriate for the President to comment on a document issued from the bosom of his household, simply because that document was unearthed by another department of government. There is no reason for Nixon to delay in denouncing — except one, which I decline to consider.

Dear Mr. Wilson:

Have been wanting to reply to your letter of June 15th -- which begins, "As you know, the Republican Party is in trouble" ... as far as we are concerned the Republican party is not in trouble, so why start with such a negative approach? All that has to be done is to recognize a greater challenge to be even greater! President Nixon is not guilty, his enemies are trying to make him appear guilty, but the people must rise above such accusation, and put the blame where it belongs -- on our opposing forces, double agents, etc. ...

There is so much to be said about this, wish I had the time to elaborate ... but know that we are behind the President ... BUT LET US STAY POSITIVE AND NOT NEGATIVE -- who said the Republican party is in trouble? -- not the President's fans!

Most sincerely yours,

Jeane Dixon

Mr. James L. Dixon

Washington, D. C. 20036

Dear Mr. Dixon:

As you know, the Republican Party is in trouble. We need your help.

The deplorable Watergate scandal, in which a few misguided political adventurers exercised extraordinarily bad judgment and performed assorted questionable acts, has cast a pall of suspicion over the activities of the entire Republican Party. The Democrats are quite naturally making the most of the situation. They would like to paint all Republicans as bad, immoral, and unworthy of public office.

You and I know that this is not so. Unfortunately, however, because of the Watergate scandal, many staunch Republican supporters have withheld their usual financial donations to the Party, pending a clarification of the Watergate issue. As a result, the Republican National Headquarters is very badly in need of funds.

Because you are a loyal Party supporter, I know that I owe it to you to tell you exactly where the Republican National Finance Committee stands in all this.

1. No news organization, Democrat spokesman, or governmental investigatory agency has ever suggested that the Republican National Finance Committee is even remotely connected to Watergate. The money that you and other loyal supporters give to the Committee is carefully and frugally expended to keep the National Party going and to help elect Republican candidates.

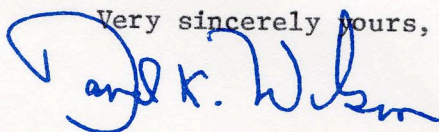

2. The big job of the Republican National Party and of the Republican National Finance Committee, which supplies the majority of its funds, is to keep the Party going in 1973 and win more Congressional seats in 1974. To do this, we must have a continuing organization: we must have funds for support of candidates, and we must have funds to keep the Party alive.

Watergate has badly damaged our normal inflow of such funds. Accordingly, I am calling upon you and our other loyal supporters to rally around at this time and to give the Party at least as much as you have given in the past.

It would indeed be a shame if a disgraceful scandal perpetrated by a few wrong-headed men were to bring down the Republican Party and all it stands for. We can't let this happen. I am appealing to you personally to help me provide the funds to keep the Party going.

I will appreciate it very much if you will sit down now and write a check and mail it to me today.

Very sincerely yours,

July 10, 1973

Dear Mrs. Dixon:

Thank you for your recent note and I appreciate your concern about our support of President Nixon.

I can assure you that our entire organization stands steadfast in support of the President and his Administration. No one has waived in the slightest and we are working each and every day to support him and his programs.

However, the facts speak for themselves. Our letter of appeal did begin with a negative, but a negative which is factual and most disturbing and that is that "the Republican Party is in trouble..." as far as money is concerned.

A contribution from our past loyal supporters at this time is not only important financially, but also would be a morale boost to our organization and a demonstration to the public that our contributors are sticking by our Party.

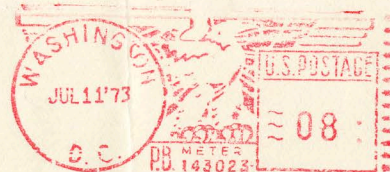

Thank you again for your letter and I hope you understand why our letter began with a negative. We are positive, however, in our loyalty and enthusiasm for the President and our great Party.

With warmest regards,

David K. Wilson

JUL 5 1973

Dear Mrs. D.,

Here is the remaining half of the article I started to write on the monetary mess. Actually, I had originally planned to keep it limited to 8 or 9 pages, but instead it has developed into a 12 page outline. Just read the red penciled areas for you will find they will give you a fair idea of what the problem is and what is being done. In my last letter to you I stated that I would relate my forecast on Point 5 regarding the forthcoming IMF meeting at the end of June. I've had time to do a bit of research and I FEAR (but do not forecast) that the International Monetary Fund at their next annual meeting in Nairobi will reach an agreement which will result in eliminating gold as the common denominator of the new monetary system. I believe the set-up will be such as to allow Central Banks to retain gold as their reserve assets, but the two-tier system will be abolished and the price of gold will not be tied to any currency or Special Drawing Rights at a fixed rate, as was the case under the IMF rules agreed upon at Bretton Woods. That would mean that Central Banks will be allowed to purchase and sell their gold in the free market. In order not to compete against themselves, they will probably use one common agent like the Bank for International Settlements, the Bank of England or the IMF. Sales and purchases through any of those would help stabilize the price of gold and prevent undue pressure in either direction on the market price. However, aside from my FEAR that they might eliminate gold, I still believe that when the new international monetary system is set up, it will almost certainly incorporate gold as the prime standard or common denominator or currencies.

Wall St. is very bad and probably the biggest unemployment in N.Y.C. and businesses (brokerage houses) failing has been in this sector of the city. Today, I received notice that I will only be putting in a 15 to 20 hour week. At least I still have a job and have that to be thankful for. I shall try to do some work on the side if I can find any. In the meantime, sometime next week I shall go to Cape Cod and stay with my mother. While there I will work on your speech regarding the gravity of the National Debt. I will promptly dispatch the speech to you upon completing it so that you may edit it to your satisfaction.

Because I have had to budget very carefully, I cancelled my appointment with the Canadian Minister of Communications and will defer it until September and hopefully he will be agreeable to same. If that is the case and should your Canadian friend be interested in discussing I.C.C. with me, I shall be very happy to stop by and see him. In this way I shall be able to things through one trip (meeting with the Minister and with your Canadian friend). I hope he does express an interest as it would mean I would be able to return to Brazil and finally conclude that which has taken 11 years and a fortune to accomplish, and since I will be practically unemployed that would be an ideal time in which to do it.

*Best wishes,
Frank*

Washington is doing a terrible job of running the economy. The great engine of inflation there continues its contribution to the empire of currency and credit. Investors can expect more rather than less inflation of prices, further rapid decline in the buying power of the dollar and further reason to establish safeguards by moves into stronger currencies than the dollar, to gold (where legal), gold coins and gold mining stocks. If you can possibly buy another 100 shares of stock, I would suggest Pres. Steyn at this time (24 3/4).

The monetary picture is still a mess and the dollars seems to be dropping day by day. Allowing for variations in their economies nations with the strongest currencies generally have the most favorable stock market climates. Today all currencies are distrusted, but none has fewer friends than the U.S. dollar. The basic weakness of the dollar would be cured immediately on re-establishing convertibility into gold and funding the foreign mass of U.S. deficit-accumulated dollars, but unfortunately such action is not in sight.

Should you want to do your friends who are traveling abroad a favor I suggest that you URGE them to get their travelers' checks payable in the currencies of the countries they plan to visit, with the exception of the Italian lira. If several countries are to be visited it may be more convenient to have the checks payable in a single currency in which case I strongly suggest, Swiss franc travelers' checks----banks abroad will be delighted to receive them. But dollar travelers checks are to be avoided.

"The weakness of the dollar in the international currency markets is 'a puzzling matter' because the prospects that the U.S. will limit inflation are better than most other countries." (Note, that three days later, the Labor Dept. reported that wholesale prices in May increased at the highest peacetime rate since W.W. II--an annual rate of 23.4% over the last 3 months.).

So you can see why I am so strong on gold stocks---they are the best buy around as long as we have a weak and inept government at handling monetary, fiscal and economic matters. Watergate has not helped matters any and if anything it has brought the wheels of government to a standstill and in consequence the whole nation is paying a very dear price. Things look like they'll get worse before they get better.

Before you, under the stars, lies the whole world. Go out, see it, and claim it . . . learn about it and love it. Discover where it came from and where it is going. Follow Your Star!

Following your star or "sign" can open the horizons of your soul and bring you to new worlds of adventure and insight. As the great psychologist Carl Jung said in writing to Sigmund Freud: "I daresay we shall one day discover in astrology a good deal of knowledge that has been intuitively projected into the heavens."

If you can extend your starry trip to a circular tour of the whole planet, bear in mind that in star lore the Middle East, for example, goes from Pisces to Aries in a cycle we will understand only when it finally dawns on us that our inner world, like the world around us, is round. This fact should be no more startling to us than the fact that Arabian oil barons will be collecting sufficient wealth in Middle Eastern oil interests by 1985 to purchase the stock of the entire list of the 500 largest, proudest American corporations.

But do not let it worry you. The sun never sets on the human empire that is yours to have and behold—from the Leone Islands of the British to the other enchanted isles of the South Pacific and Indian oceans. Do not miss or ignore it! (Suppose "They" gave a world and nobody came? . . . Well, "They" have!) The great error of our time is to look down on and disparage things, simply because they are less than perfect in our eyes. (If we must look down on humanity's struggles upon the good earth, let it be from 39,000 feet up, or thereabouts, where modern magic—along with Pan Am—makes the going great.)

You each have some sign that symbolizes your unique personality. Start with that until you can embrace the whole of the universe.

★ Since we are in America, let us start with Gemini—the sign most commonly taken to the mast top that flies the Stars and Stripes. (And that of the late President John F. Kennedy.) The sign is both exuberant and thoughtful, impatient and energetic, scientific and whimsical, sentimental and yet enduringly tough, a mixture of studied carelessness and genuine wisdom. If this Gemini character is yours, fly the friendly skies of the United States so you can see unfolding beneath you—like a miniature travelogue come to life—the land whose people made it broad and bright. Like an ancient deity look into the depths of the Grand Canyon and, for contrast, the canyons of New York and Chicago.

The Gemini personality should see America first. Go West, young man or woman, and reflect upon whose footsteps you follow, for the pioneers who made your trip possible took days to cover miles you traverse in minutes! They cleared and built and fought every inch of the way. Sometimes they waited a week just to cross a river you flash across in seconds. This land is our land—but it did not become ours easily. You are an instant Lewis and Clark, Casey Jones, or Old John Henry, as you sit in Olympian splendor sipping vintage wines and flying like Mercury—the winged ruler of your sign—exulting in the sheer joy of high and mighty living!

★ If you are a Piscean, go the other way. Pisces is the sign assigned to cover all of continental Europe. This dual, watery sign of Neptune—the sign of George Washington and Albert Einstein—will lead you across the Neptunian North Atlantic. In the spirit of Charles A. Lindbergh, who first proved that flight to France was possible, you will feel the deep vibrations of a people who thrilled to the cause of human liberty and helped our founding fathers achieve it. Indeed, a Statue of Liberty stands in Paris, similar to the one in New York. You can see it from a bridge across the Seine. Like Gemini and Pisces, the statues are twins. You are great in France simply because you are an American. During the two world wars, French people learned that Americans at their best were kind, sensitive, and generous—true Pisceans! The French know they helped us survive in 1776-89, and we returned the favor twice in 1916-18 and 1939-45.

London is a city of Gemini (Paris is Virgoan) and New York is the other twin city under the same sign. Our roots are in both places—as well as the rest of Piscean Europe. The language we speak, our customs, our social systems, our ethnic cultures, transcend the differences of the past as the regional signs transcend the local scenes. This is how the West became one: by emphasizing the positive signs and overcoming the differences. With one foot in London and the other in Paris, like the Piscean symbol bridging diversity and difference, you are a great human being. You combine the best of both worlds!

But there is much, much more to your sign. As the Age of Pisces blends into the Age of Aquarius, you pass from the vagaries of a confused past to the developing clarity of the mature native.

★ Aquarius. The fixed, yet airy sign of the seeker of truth, the honest, probing and friendly sign of the scientist, the philosopher, the humanitarian. Aquarius is assigned one of the biggest territories on earth—the Soviet Union. As you ride the Trans-Siberian rails, or flash across the blue waters of Lake Baikal in a hydrofoil, you feel the change of heart now going on in the great Russian people, the budding of minds and hearts in the people who eye you closely. They are entering another spring of the spirit, and you can almost hear the cracking of ideological walls and see the melting of frozen faces. Yet you feel they are still locked in an Ice Age of modern man; for the present they must be content with helping you carry a bag or drive a Volvo, but the chill is gone as the glimmering light begins to break in the dawn of a new age. Dr. Strangelove is making way for the rule of Venus over Libra!

★ You will feel even greater joy in this if you are lucky enough to be a Libran. Libra is the sign of the balance and Venus is the symbol of love. Both are essential to the Age of Aquarius; no light of the Zodiac has so much under its influence as Libra. As the Trans-Siberian Railroad takes you through Libran country, it connects with the Chinese Eastern Railway, which binds together the most numerous people on earth—all under the Libran influence. This extends into Japan, Manchuria, down into Indochina, Burma, and across Tibet into parts of India. You will experience movingly the perfect balance of this cardinal airy sign; it crosses the "backbone of the world" in the Himalayas. This is what made President Nixon's goodwill visit to the Great Wall so important! The Wall is the only earthly wonder that can be seen from the moon. What a sign! It balances half the world—and gives hope to the other half. Libra will take you to Egypt, the center of ancient civilization, thence to Austria, the center of the latest empire that sought to make the Roman Empire holy. Libra, ruled by Venus, is astrology's way of saying that the most needed force in the age to come is the balance of love!

★ Sagittarians should first visit Australia, Hungary, Damascus, and Spanish-speaking countries. They will feel the vibrations of local as well as regional signs. Australians, like Americans, built wonders of the modern world on lost continents under Sagittarius, the most resourceful of the signs. Sagittarius is at once both the great Dreamer and the great Doer. Pope John XXIII and Winston Churchill were both Sagittarians. The Archer shooting for the stars shows a key to a happier Aquarian future.

★ The Scorpio native also should go first to Australia, then north to Norway, and south again to southern Africa.

★ Capricorn will land you in India to commence your travels, another subcontinent shining from sea to mountain top. Hindustan goes along with it, the sign of the goat with the fish tail ascends the mountain in the sky and climbs up from the tidal waves and demographic disasters of the south to the heights of Everest north of Calcutta. In India you have no place to go but up! Greece belongs to Capricorn, too. The heights of Periclean Athens still hold our democratic and republican beginnings.

★ Brazil, other parts of Latin America, Greece, and Switzerland are ruled by Virgo. Their vibrations quiver with the tension that comes of a determination to be free plus a sense of responsibility that binds a people to its past. Hawaii is also Virgoan. It is Paradise; leave it until last!

★ Spiritual progress comes relatively easy to the Cancer native because this sign is ruled by the moon. Symbol of the subconscious, this helps the Cancerian to bring hidden motives and pressures to the surface for clarity of understanding and decision.

The best beginning location for the Cancer type is Scotland. Therefore, take the low road to Edinburgh and its surrounding highlands in summer, and you will feel the warmth of the people and see them in the great shimmering green lochs and pungent fields. The feeling of Scotland is one of indomitable strength and cool, even temper. The skirl of bagpipes and the splendid rhythm of marching men identified by their Clan plaids is one of the hallmarks of greatness in the free world.

But should you have to begin your star trek to knowledge as a Cancerian in winter, begin with New Zealand—another country associated with the sign. This island group adjacent to Australia strikes deep into the consciousness of the Cancer native through its link with the Maori Tribes' primitive past, now an active part of New Zealand life. Keen awareness takes you all the way from virgin forests, hardly touched till now, through sheep and cattle ranges to the ultramodern production of electric power from deep underground through geothermal steam. New Zealand will awaken within you depths of inner consciousness you never suspected you had.

Holland and Paraguay are claimed by this sign too, and should not be neglected by the Cancerian. The Netherlands link the stability of the north with the adaptability of the south, while Paraguay offers a lesson in self-reliance. Most of West Africa and parts of North Africa (except Egypt) are Cancerian strongholds, too, but should be reserved for a time when the Cancer native, secure in his rate of growth in spiritual progress, is ready for the advanced stages of travel education.

★ The Leo tradition will take you back in time to see changeless Ethiopia, struggling to be reborn . . . Turkey torn by factions like bleeding Ireland . . . the awakening restlessness of North and West Africa.

★ If you were born under the sign of Taurus, you will grow in mind and spirit as do the indomitable Poles—and must see the massive strength of the bull in White Russia, the Georgian Republic, and the deep south of the Soviet Union.

★ No active Arian should miss the green fields and crusty courage that go together in New Zealand, whose beauty and variety will make the Aries native gasp. West Germany, no longer in the grip of the ruling planet Mars, is now a ram with a golden fleece! Lufthansa and the Volkswagens have replaced the legend of Jason and the Argonauts in the old Arian myth! I believe we shall see Germans in a great upward spiral of intellect and spirit in the next century, which will eventually help save Western culture for the world.

In astrological science the moon symbolizes the subconscious. Aquarius will bring the age when we can at last plumb the depths of our minds. It is our human destiny to travel to the stars and beyond in a rebirth of hope and progress. With 300 centuries of study and experience behind us, we are almost ready to take off for a preordained destination that will bring us to a fuller realization of human spirituality.

Then there will be a raising of consciousness and awareness through developing our extrasensory perceptual capacities such as no one today can imagine. It will completely displace the psychology of disparagement which has been the hallmark of the current Piscean Age.

Tennyson asks:

Why are we weighed upon with heaviness,
And utterly consumed with sharp
distress,
While all things else have rest from weariness?
. . . Is there any peace
In ever climbing up the climbing wave?

The answer to life is, of course, that we must climb ever upward on the wave of the future, ever upward on the spiral of human progress, ever upward on the spiral of spiritual progress, ever onward into the adventure of the unknown and the unexpected. Like the surfer in the curl of a colossal wave at Waikiki, we must perform well or perish! By following our star we can discover hidden depths of both our inner and outer worlds, making life a priceless joy for ourselves.

The discovery of the secrets of astrology, like the discovery of love, is not Up There somewhere in starry space, with someone else.

It is within you!

Take it along. Take it everywhere—when you follow your star. H

THIS IS NOT THE FIRST TIME A PRESIDENT OF THE
UNITED STATES HAS BEEN GROSSLY DECEIVED.

(Bay)

ONE EXAMPLE -- PEARL HARBOR.

FOR YEARS, CONTROVERSY HAS RAGED OVER WHO WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS DISASTER.

OVER EIGHT, TOP-LEVEL,
OFFICIAL, INVESTIGATIONS WERE CONDUCTED AND THE RESPONSIBILITY HAS NEVER REALLY BEEN ESTABLISHED.

to this day!

IN THE MEANTIME, MOST OF THOSE OFFICIALS CONCERNED
HAVE DIED.

TRAGICALLY, A NUMBER OF TOP MILITARY OFFICIALS
CARRIED FALSE ACCUSATIONS
WITH THEM TO THEIR GRAVES.

UNLIKE WATERGATE, THE DESTRUCTION AT PEARL HARBOR
INVOLVED THE NEEDLESS LOSS
OF MILLIONS OF LIVES, IT PROLONGED
THE WAR AND COST BILLIONS OF DOLLARS WHICH COULD HAVE BEEN USED FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES — — —

PEARL HARBOR IS A TRAGEDY,
BEYOND COMPARISON, WITH WATERGATE.

IN THE LATE 1940'S, AFTER ALL THE HEARINGS WERE OVER, I MADE A PREDICTION TO A PERSON became acquainted with ~~I HAD GOTTEN TO KNOW~~ WHO HAD BEEN IN AN OFFICIAL POSITION DIRECTLY CONCERNED WITH OUR RELATIONS WITH JAPAN.

I PREDICTED TO THIS MAN THAT HE WOULD NEED MANY YEARS OF GREAT
PATIENCE; THAT IN GOD'S TIMING, NOT HIS, AND AS A RESULT OF
CIRCUMSTANCES, IT WOULD BE HIS MISSION TO BRING OUT THE REAL TRUTH ABOUT PEARL HARBOR.

PARENTHETICALLY, ONE OF YOUR IPA PRESIDENTS, NOW
DECEASED, WROTE A COLUMN SHORTLY
AFTER PEARL HARBOR, AND I QUOTE, IN PART, "IT IS NOW POSSIBLE TO TELL THE TRAGIC INSIDE STORY OF
THE" NEGOTIATIONS WHICH WERE BEING CONDUCTED WHILE THE JAPANESE
WERE PREPARING THEIR SECRET
ATTACK ON PEARL HARBOR AND THE UNITED STATES.

I SAW PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT
BEING DECEIVED ABOUT PEARL HARBOR
IN THE SAME MANNER I SEE PRESIDENT
NIXON BEING DECEIVED ABOUT

WATERGATE

32

~~29~~

I HAVE PREDICTED REPEATEDLY THAT I FEEL PRESIDENT NIXON WILL BE COMPLETELY EXONERATED.

I ALSO SEE HIM GOING DOWN
IN HISTORY AS A PRESIDENT
WHO DID MUCH TO RESTORE THIS COUNTRY TO GREATNESS.

I SEE THIS ADMINISTRATION
MAKING IT POSSIBLE FOR THE AMERICAN PEOPLE TO LEARN THE TRUTH ABOUT PEARL HARBOR AS A MEANS OF PREVENTING FUTURE PEARL
HARBORS AND FUTURE WATERGATES.

37/ *

THE CHOICE IS OURS.

YOU, HERE TONIGHT, CAN DO
~~and unite~~
MUCH TO HEAL OUR COUNTRY.

IS THIS NOT WHAT WE ARE ALL PRAYING AND ASKING FOR
-- FOR OUR LAND TO BE HEALED,
JUST AS THE ISRAELITES ASKED FOR THEIR LAND TO BE HEALED OVER
2000 YEARS AGO? - ~~at a time~~

THEY WENT BEFORE THEIR
WATERGATE, GATHERED TOGETHER
AS ONE MAN.

THEY DID NOT GO BEFORE
THEIR WATER GATE AS A DIVIDED PEOPLE.

(THIS WILL BE THE CLOSING OF MY SPEECH)

In the near future the press will bring to light a great discrepancy involving Lt. Calley and the My Lai Massacre and ~~John Dean~~ John Dean someday somehow John Dean will be involved.

2. Pres. Nixon Will make the contents of the much discussed tapes available to the American people in a way which they cannot be used for partisan political purposes.

3. I see an internal scandal involving the manipulations of large grain and feed companies. Pres. Nixon will take a personal hand in exposing political and foreign ties in this matter -- Anti trust actions and conflict of interest cases will be much involved in these events of the past six months.

The dollar will steady and continue to rise. As I predicted it survived the onslaught of the speculators and will remain the worlds number one currency.....

So let us unit in counting our Blessings and gather together as one man, as the Isralites did before their Watergate.... and make America's dream come true.

Box 777

SALISBURY, RHODESIA

18th March 1974

Dear Mrs Dixon,

It has been raining here almost every day since 23rd November, and the whole of Rhodesia is water-logged. However with the onset of Winter, it must soon ease off.

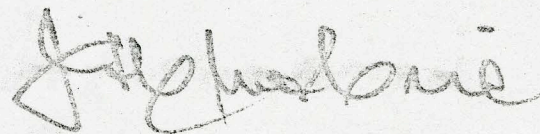

I am wondering if you received the letter from Mrs Lin Mehmel (addressed to 1312 Nineteenth Avenue). I must tell you that I do not give your address to anybody. She is the only person to whom I have given your address as I realise you do not want to be bothered with an avalanche of letters. Lin is a very special case as she has met you personally.

Surely the United States Administration is not so simple minded as to really believe that the Soviet Communists (the Godless Ones) will be halted in their objective to conquer America and the world if America trades with them and refuses to trade with Rhodesia. It is obvious that as and when Soviet Russia is ready to attack America or any other country (i.e. China) it will not even give a thought to the fact that you put riches their way by way of trade and by way of depriving a friendly country (Rhodesia) of trade.

I hope that Buckley is wrong about Impeachment and that Americans will stop harassment of your worthy President by means of this Watergate drivel; which is being pursued solely for political party ends and not for the honour of America. These jackals snapping at the President's heels could not care less about America; they would sell America down the river for a couple of dollars. If they cared about America they would not impede the President in his very important, complicated and nerve wracking task on the INTERNATIONAL scene where the real danger to America exists. Watergate pales into nothing compared with the numerous important and dangerous problems which Richard Nixon has to try to solve. Mr Nixon's time must not be wasted on Watergate. Every PATRIOTIC American should cease to harass the President and pray for him each and every day. It is their duty to support the President. Let the politically pure of his enemies be the first to cast a stone.

With best wishes for your health and happiness, and trusting to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

J.H. McGrie

Impeachment near says Buckley

By Fred Cleary

RICHARD NIXON will be impeached sooner than many people think — probably in May. This is the view of American writer and broadcaster William Buckley who left Salisbury yesterday after a flying visit.

The processes of law and public opinion are rapidly building up against our President, and I cannot see how he can escape impeachment," said Buckley in an interview.

The outcome of such an impeachment? "He will not be convicted of anything, of that I'm sure," said Buckley. "Americans will fight shy of pinning criminal guilt on their President as the President is someone rather special, whatever the name of the man in the White House."

Should Mr. Nixon be impeached, but the Congress proves him guilty of "moral crime," what then?

"I think he would seek escape in a clause in the Constitution which allows a President of default from office by declaring his inability to carry on . . . health, personal doubts about his competence, anything, and then Vice-President Gerald Ford would take over for the remainder of the three-year term of this presidency."

Ambitious Republicans would rather see Mr. Nixon hang on to power, says Buckley, for, as the incumbent in the White House, Ford would certainly get the nomination for the 1976 election.

"This would ruin the aspirations of John Connolly, Nelson Rockefeller, Elliott Richardson and Charles Percy because the President seeking re-election always gets back into office," he said.

Buckley is well-placed to comment on the intricacies of U.S. politics as his pungent pen, famous Firing Line TV show (220 stations across the country), and reputation as a brilliant conservative satirist has given him entree into the inner corridors of American political power.

Buckley, a New York brahmin with an enviable reputation of a man still on the right side of 50, treated the 300 guests at the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce 80th annual banquet at Meikle's Hotel on Thursday night to one of the most erudite and incisive speeches ever to echo round that splendid old dining room —

Regrettably, his speech was aimed at an American audience and I suspect his terminology and superb turn of phrase at times wafted over the heads of captains of commerce and their ladies who had just enjoyed fine wine and an excellent meal.

His dry humour, delivered slowly with carefully enunciated phrases of an educated New Englander, was best evident when he gently criticized this newspaper for saying that at one time he was associated with the John Birch Society.

"I can only liken such an association with that of Abraham Lincoln and John Wilkes Booth," said Buckley.

(For the record, his association with the Birch Society was mentioned in his official biography sent to the Herald).

Buckley agreed to come to Salisbury on the condition that he interviewed the Prime Minister, Mr. Ian Smith. This was agreed to and on his way he taped an interview with South African Prime Minister Mr. John Vorster ("very nervous"), before spending an hour with Mr. Smith. Yesterday he flew to Kenya and then to Senegal.

MR WILLIAM BUCKLEY with the Mayor of Salisbury, Dr Alves, at last night's dinner.

THE PM AND I—BY BUCKLEY

AMERICAN TV personality William F. Buckley gave his audience at the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce dinner last night a taster of his interview with the Prime Minister.

Mr Buckley, who interviewed the Prime Minister for his American TV programme Firing Line yesterday, said that he, like the Prime Minister, cared little about what people said about him.

"I take it then, that I have

something in common with Mr Ian Smith. It is unfortunately true not that I don't care, but that I'm not exactly a successful seducer of the kind attention of everyone.

"Ian Smith told me this afternoon that one mustn't believe what one reads in the newspapers. I asked him if he would mind very much if I exempted from that category that which I write in the newspapers.

"I intend tonight to spare you my meditations on Rhodesia. Most of what I have heard about Rhodesia, other than today, was as a delegate to the United Nations.

"The United Nations talk about Rhodesia approximately one-third of the time. The other two-thirds are shared equally between South Africa and Israel."

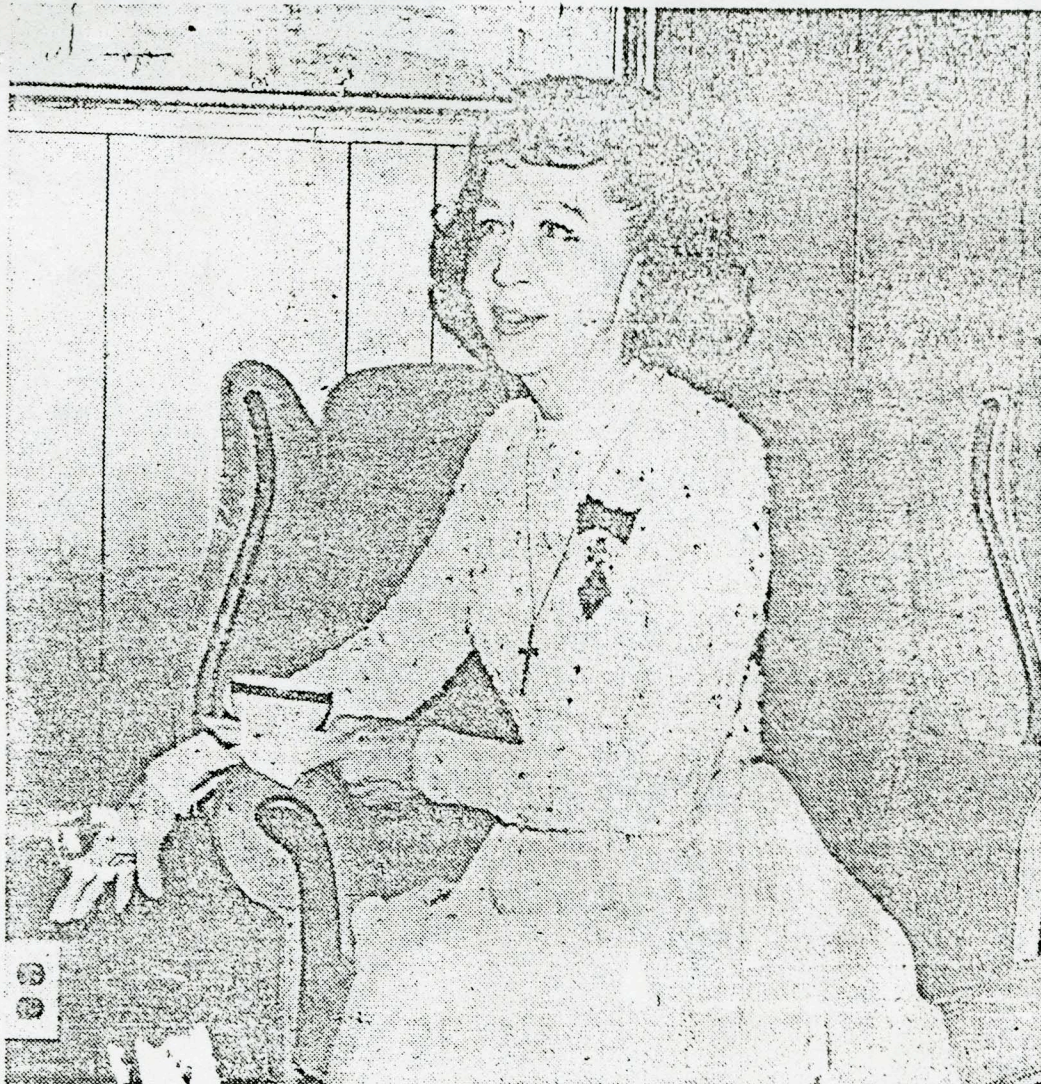

Mr Buckley spoke about American politics, his doubts about the theories of leading American economists and voiced a powerful plea for freedom of thought in Russia today.

"The books of Solzhenitsyn accumulate, even as the disdain for the institutions of freedom perversely accumulate, for an understanding of which paradox there you will find no help at all in Marx but considerable help in Jesus."

Seer Sees President Nixon As One of History's Greats

EAST BRUNSWICK TOWNSHIP — Jeane Dixon, internationally known seer and prophetess, has predicted that President Nixon "will go down in history as a great president."

Watergate and Nixon's future were among the topics Mrs. Dixon discussed last night at a press conference held at the Ramada Inn.

Mrs. Dixon, whose most famous prophecy concerned the assassination of John F. Kennedy, said she predicted as early as 1964 a "wiretapping fracas" would occur in the present administration.

She said her foreknowledge of the Watergate scandal was revealed to her through visions of a "roulette wheel" and a "tall, dark-haired man."

Mrs. Dixon said she predicted the "fracas" would "put the President in a position to right a great wrong."

During a speech last night sponsored by the Psychic Research Society of New Jersey, Mrs. Dixon called Watergate the "high-water mark of dissension in our history" and predicted a "birth of America in the aftermath of the scandal."

"Watergate will mold us into a stronger people," she said, "but it is up to us to see whether it will mold us into a better people."

Mrs. Dixon said that Watergate, like the assassination of John F. Kennedy, will serve as a "lesson" that will unite America.

In the days after Kennedy's death, the "world was one with grief" and "there was a kind of peace," Mrs. Dixon said. She predicts a similar ending to the Watergate affair.

Mrs. Dixon also predicted last night that August will be an important month in the Patricia Hearst case.

"Patty Hearst was programmed for tragedy," she said.

Mrs. Dixon said she feels Miss Hearst was under the influence of "drugs and sedatives" and has been a "victim of circumstances."

"At this time they (the SLA) have no thought of killing her," she added.

A deeply religious woman, Mrs. Dixon continually supported her predictions and ideas with references from the Bible and Christian doctrine.

Concerning her own political ties, Mrs. Dixon said, "I am both a Republican and a Democrat, yet I am neither. I am a Christian American."

Jeane Dixon

No Nixon in seeress Jeane

By ANN LEDESMA

Home News staff writer

EAST BRUNSWICK — Richard Nixon will not be impeached, George Wallace will move from politics to the pulpit, and a tremendous breakthrough in the war against cancer is due in 1976.

An enthralled crowd of 1,300 heard these and other predictions last night from famed seeress Jeane Dixon, who spoke at the Ramada Inn before the Psychic Phenomena Society of New Jersey.

Headed by George D. Adler, the organization has brought parapsychology luminaries such as Hans Holzer and Sybil Leek to the area.

Small and slender, gowned in shimmering white, Mrs. Dixon emanated a radiant stage presence. She speaks openly and with deep conviction of her religious beliefs and the foundation they provide for her predictions and prophecies.

"God has assigned roles and missions to each of us," she said.

Often, she explained, God will use strange means to carry out His will. "He is using Nixon right now. The President has the opportunity to right so many wrongs! Watergate can mold us into a stronger people, if we do not let strife over it separate us from love for our country."

In 1964 Mrs. Dixon foretold a wiretap scandal involving Nixon. However, she believes he is innocent of any knowledge of wrongdoing and feels that history will one day acknowledge him as one of the great presidents.

The words "water gate" figure strangely in some ancient readings, she pointed out. In the biblical Book of Nehemiah, Mrs. Dixon said, when Israel was torn with political turmoil, "the people gathered before the water gate" to hear the prophet Ezra read them the laws they had forgotten, which eventually united the nation.

The Chinese philosopher Tu Fu also speaks of the "baying of wolves" near the water gate, and his concern for war, she said.

"Unless we go, as one, before our own Watergate, in support and love for our country, we will be bitterly divided and in only a handful of years, we will lose our freedom."

In an earlier press conference, Mrs. Dixon spoke of the Patricia Hearst case. "Patty was programmed for tragedy from birth," she said. "She is a victim. I believe she is alive now, but heavily doped and sedated. August will be an important month for her."

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., TH

The Home

npeaching: ne Dixon

How, she was asked can a good God program a person for tragedy?

"Often tragedy will bring about good," she replied. "The day of President Kennedy's funeral, the world mourned — but we were united. There was sadness, but there was peace, everywhere."

Audience questions were largely political. Wallace, she said in response to a query, would play an important role "in humanity."

"God gave him to us to teach us not to hate. Even when he stood in the school doorways keeping black children out, he was learning. But he is not programmed to be president. He will leave politics, come to the pulpit and preach against hate."

No lasting peace in the Middle East is seen by Mrs. Dixon. She also warns that we may have to tighten our belts even more next year and do some serious skimping on food. But good things are in store for Henry Kissinger, says the seeress, who envisions him moving to a higher position.

Does she believe in astrology? "Yes, but not as a thing to be worshiped. It is purely a guide." Life after death? "I believe in a reincarnation of missions," she explains.

"The talents and the spirit of one who has died may pass into another living person, to be used to carry on the flow of history."

Active in philanthropic causes for children, particularly those handicapped at birth, Mrs. Dixon always asks that her fee be given to the "Children To Children" Foundation she has established.

An ardent advocate of the Right to Life cause, she frequently speaks to medical and political groups on abortion and allowing newborn defectives to die. She terms these acts "Death by Committee."

Asked if extermination of mongoloid infants would become law, she predicted that it might in some states but would never be approved by the American Medical Association or the national government.

"The Holy Spirit lives in each of these little creatures," she says. "And we are truly their debtors. They can bring out the best or the worst in us. They are here, I believe, to teach us mercy."

After Mrs. Dixon's talk, she requested that the entire audience join in singing "God Bless America." She then devoted nearly two hours to signing autographs for hundreds of people.
