Dear Mr. Nixon,

This is to thank you for your generous gift to the Boys Clubs of America in the memory of my father. Your thoughtfulness was a great solace to our family.

Also please accept our most sincere congratulations on your nomination by the Republican Party. We feel that they have made a great choice, and we are praying that you will be able to win in November.

If there is any way I might be able to help in the Yale Community or here in Cincinnati, please don't hesitate to let me know. I would be pleased and honored to help in the struggle for freedom we face.

REUBEN ROBERTSON DEATH COMMUNITY LOSS; CHAMPION PRESIDENT KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

Fifteen Traffic Mishaps Listed

Report Six Persons Hurt During Weekend; Driver And Passenger Injured On Rte. 72

Six persons were injured in 15 Butler County traffic accidents investigated during the weekend by sheriff's deputies, the state highway patrol and Hamilton police. John Mitsch, 23, 1200 Market St., Reading, Ohio, driver, suffered a fractured left leg and chin lacerations, and a passenger in his car, Edward Nichol, 23, 1408 Konsig Ave., Reading, suffered a possible fractured left knee cap about 2:10 a. m. Sunday when the westbound automobile in which they were riding went out of control on Rte. 73, one and six-tenths miles east of Oxford, the state patrol reported. The injured were removed to McCullough-Hyde Memorial Hospital, Oxford, by Sgt. Harry McDaniel and Special Deputy John Demis of the sheriff's department, who assisted the patrol at the scene. Both were admitted for treatment.

Inogene Cox, 15, R. R. 1, Brown's Run Rd., West Middletown, suffered body and right eye bruises about 7:40 p. m. Saturday when the automobile in which she was riding and driven by Ronald Cox, 20, Brown's Run Rd., went off the highway in front of 6943 Franklin - Madison Rd., Lt. James Davis of the sheriff's department reports.

She was removed to Middletown Hospital for treatment.

Mary Klaassen VanOorschot, 50, 1305 Reynolds Ave., Middletown, suffered back and chest injuries Saturday morning when the westbound car in which she was a passenger and driven by Ann J. Coughlen, 37, 1011 Nelbar St., Middletown, went out of control on slippery pavement on Rte. 73, near Jacksonburg Rd., sheriff's deputies report.

She was treated at Mercy Hospital. Cpl. James Powell and Deputy Sheriff Darrell Collins of the sheriff's department investigated the accident.

James Calvin Nelson, 23, 3521 Evanston Ave., Cincinnati, was arrested by sheriff's deputies about 1:45 a. m. Sunday on charges of reckless driving and failing to stop at a stop sign at the junction of Boyle Rd., and Rte. 130

Eclipse Viewed In Hamilton Area

Local "astronomers" who traded a couple of hours of sleep for a glimpse of the total eclipse of the moon early Sunday morning apparently were not disappointed.

The lunar eclipse which occurs as the shadow of the earth falls across the moon's face reached its full stage on schedule around 2:41 a. m. Sunday.

As the eclipse unfolded, a brilliant ring of pink and orange could be seen in Hamilton, according to Elmer Rahmes, local astronomer and Hamilton Journal-News photographer.

"Everything seemed to be on schedule," Mr. Rahmes said.

MR. KYGER

John Flenner Kyger, 79, 668 Ridgewood Ave., a member of a prominent Butler County family, died Sunday at 6 p. m. at his home after being ill with a heart condition for the last five weeks.

He was born in Darrtown, Dec. 26, 1880, a son of H. D. and Louise Flenner Kyger and received his education in Darrtown School and Miami University.

Snow Hinted In Forecast

Possible Tonight, Tuesday In Area

Sunny skies with occasional cloudiness is the forecast for Hamilton area today with cloudy skies and snow possible tonight and Tuesday.

The high weekend temperature according to John Suedkamp, official weather observer for Journal-News, were 30 degrees Saturday and 34 degrees Sunday. The low Sunday was zero and low Monday 9 degrees.

The barometric pressure at a. m. Monday was 29.94 inches indicating clearing.

The high temperature Monday is to be in the range of 34 to 38 degrees; the low tonight between 14 and 18, and the high Tuesday between 32 and 36.

The extended forecast calls for temperatures to average about eight degrees below normal for the next five days. The normal high is 50 and the normal low is 31. Not much change in temperature but warmer Friday and Saturday. Precipitation will total about one-half inch in snow Tuesday and again about Saturday.

Home Burns; Loss $8,000

Willard Berling Residence Afire

Fire apparently resulting from defective electrical wiring caused an estimated $8,000 loss at the residence of Willard Berling, 7500 River Rd., about 8:25 p. m. Sunday, Fairfield Township Fire Chief Robert Sroufe said Monday. The blaze was at the scene of a $5,000 barn fire on Dec. 21, 1957.

Chief Sroufe said firemen from Fairfield City and Venice fire departments were the first on the scene. Fairfield Township firemen were forced to detour down U. S. Rte. 127 to By-Pass Rte. 50 in Hamilton County to reach the fire.

Two Charges Faced By Driver Of Vehicle After Sunday Accident On Paddock Road; Industrialist Active On Hamilton Scene

Reuben B. Robertson Jr., president of the Champion Paper and Fibre Co., of Hamilton, was injured fatally early Sunday morning when he was struck by an automobile in Cincinnati.

The death of Mr. Robertson, former U. S. Deputy Secretary of Defense, is a staggering blow not only to his family and friends but also to business associates, employees of the far-flung Champion paper operations and countless others.

Mr. Robertson's interest in the City of Hamilton, seat of Champion's largest operation and the city of its founding, was a dedicated one. Just recently in a public address here, Mr. Robertson spoke encouragingly of the business and industrial future of Hamilton and pledged his wholehearted support and the support of Champion toward constant Hamilton advancement.

The funeral services for Mr. Robertson will be held Tuesday at 11 a. m. in Christ Episcopal Church, Fourth and Sycamore Sts., Cincinnati. The Rev. James E. Clarke, rector of Christ Church, Glendale, will officiate. Burial, which is private, will be at the convenience of the family. There is no visitation at the funeral home. It is the family's request that there be no flowers. The family suggests that friends so desiring may contribute to the heart fund or to their favorite charity in Mr. Robertson's memory.

The active pallbearers for Mr. Robertson are business associates and close friends: Henry Rigby, Karl Bendetson, Herbert W. Suter Jr., Harold Wright, Stephen Chase, Leo Geiser, A. W. Fairbrother, and John Zimmerman, all Champion vice presidents and senior officers.

Returning Home Mr. Robertson, 51, and his wife, of 9974 McKelvey Rd., near Glendale, were returning home from a social function in Cincinnati when the accident occurred early Sunday morning.

Expressions Of Regret In Robertson's Death

Deeply shocked, Hamiltonians today found it hard to accept the fact that Reuben B. Robertson Jr., president of the Champion Paper and Fibre Co., is dead.

Mr. Robertson's tragic death in an automobile accident early Sunday was on the lips of all, as the passing of a great industrialist and civic leader was discussed.

The Journal-News presents here some expressions in the loss of Mr. Robertson as given by other Hamilton leaders:

Robert L. Bartels, Mayor of Hamilton:

Once in every person's life he knows a man who is destined to greatness. Reuben Robertson was such a man. The loss to his family, to Champion and to the City of Hamilton is indescribable. His devotion to the welfare of his country, to his company and to this community will not soon be equalled. It is with great sadness that I extend to the members of his family and his company the sympathy of the citizens of Hamilton. He was truly a great man.

William Beckett, president of the Beckett Paper Co.:

The desolate news of Reuben Robertson's Jr.'s untimely death leaves the senses stunned and faculties benumbed. Nevertheless, I want to try to say something which, in tribute to him, may express the feelings of our whole community.

We can with utmost gratitude always remember his genuine in-

Robertson Considered Nixon's Running Mate

The sudden and tragic early Sunday morning death of Reuben B. Robertson Jr., president of the Champion Paper and Fibre Co., was not only a great loss to this community, but also to the entire nation, said Martin A. Coyle, chairman of the Butler County Republican Committee.

As a delegate to the Republican convention to be held in July at Chicago, Mr. Coyle reported that he was aware that extensive plans had been made by top Republicans in the country to consider Mr. Robertson as a strong potential candidate for the vice Adm. Radford serves in an advisory capacity at the Champion Paper Co., and was one of Mr. Robertson's personal friends.

It was expected that words of tribute would be paid to the late Mr. Robertson in both houses of the United States Congress during meetings Monday.

interest in the growth and welfare of Hamilton and its institutions. In behalf of Hamilton he was generous and warmhearted, giving gladly of his time, energy, and substance, and guiding his great paper company in support of many good works within the community.

We may with utmost pride always remember his courageous and constructive service to our country at the highest level of authority and responsibility.

I shall with utmost respect always remember his dynamic leadership in the growth and prosperity of his company, through which thousands of employes have enjoyed the satisfactions and rewards arising from success.

I shall always value the memory of a genial companion, a friendly counsellor, and a spirited competitor. He was vigorous and vital, and his loss occasions great grief among many thousands who had abundant reasons to be grateful to him.

C. L. Hardin, executive vice president of the Hamilton Area Chamber of Commerce:

The community, state and nation have suffered an incomparable loss. Reuben was a great civic and community-minded person, one who was optimistic about the future, but at the same time realistic. He was a man of great convictions as evidenced by his activities and successes.

to the right, his automobile grazed the stalled car. Mr. Robertson stopped his car within a short distance and returned to talk to the persons in the other auto.

It was while Mr. Robertson was investigating the mishap that another automobile, also headed northward on Paddock Rd., swung to the right and struck Mr. Robertson. He was hurled 50 feet. He was killed instantly.

Taken to Cincinnati General Hospital, Mr. Robertson was declared dead on arrival.

Mr. Robertson suffered fractures of both legs, a head injury and internal injuries. Mrs. Robertson suffered a leg injury when the car which struck her husband careened into the rear of the Robertson auto in which she was seated. Mrs. Robertson was wearing an automobile seat safety belt at the time.

Charges Filed

Cincinnati police said the driver of the car which struck Mr. Robertson was Willie Lee Griffin, 31, of 676 Rockdale Ave., Cincinnati. Griffin is charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless driving. Cincinnati Police Sgt. Frank R. Duritsch Jr., and Patrolmen Raymond Easterling and Lawrence Woods brought the charges against Griffin.

Occupants of the stalled vehicle first grazed by the Robertson car were Clausell Rankin, 55, 322 Findlay St., and Wilson Dock, 521 Elizabeth St., both of Cincinnati.

Mr. Robertson's career at Champion followed a family tradition. The firm was founded in Hamilton in 1893 by his grandfather, Peter G. Thomson, who remained president until his death in 1931. Mr. Thomson was followed in the presidency by his two sons, Alexander Thomson Sr., in 1931, and Logan Thomson in 1935. In 1946 Reuben B. Robertson Sr., husband of Peter Thomson's daughter, Hope, became president. Reuben B. Robertson Jr. succeeded to the presidency of Champion in 1950.

United Appeals

Mr. Robertson was a past campaign chairman of United Appeals of Hamilton, and was co-chairman of the organization committee that established the local UA organization. He was a past member of the Board of Directors of the Hamilton Community Chest, and in 1959 was co-chairman of the UA Campaign Advisory Committee.

Mr. Robertson was also an active member of the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce and the Hamilton Industrial Council, and was one of the organizers of the Hamilton Safety Council. He was a former director of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Robertson married the former Margaret Watkins, of Charleston,

Charles E. Wilson, former Secretary of Defense and former president of General Motors, now a member of General Motors Board of Directors, spoke from the Surf Club in Miami, Fla.

Mr. Robertson was associated with Mr. Wilson during the two years he was with the Defense Department and was a personal friend of the Wilson family.

"I'm deeply shocked by the news," said Mr. Wilson.

"He was a great individual, he had great energy and great ability," continued Mr. Wilson. "He was one of the most patriotic men I ever had the opportunity to know."

Arraign Driver On March 25th

Willie Lee Griffin, 31, 676 Rockdale Ave., Avondale, is to be arraigned Friday, March 25, in Cincinnati Traffic Court on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless driving.

The charges were filed against Griffin early Sunday after the automobile he was driving struck and killed Reuben B. Robertson Jr., president of the Champion Paper and Fibre Co., of Hamilton, and former Deputy Defense Secretary of the United States.

The charges were filed by Police Sgt. Frank R. Duritsch Jr., and Patrolmen Raymond Easterling and Lawrence Woods following the accident. Griffin was released on $800 bond pending hearing.

Soldiers Intervene

Police said private citizens spotted the Oklahomans taking pictures of a street scene and made citizens' arrests to confiscate their film. Two soldiers intervened and took the men to a police station.

The police released the Americans, but held the Cuban civilians briefly to admonish them against stopping anyone from taking innocent pictures.

Sharp, news director of Tulsa TV station KOTV had shouted "Here we go again" as he was arrested the second time. He vowed "Senator (Robert S.) Kerr (D-Okla.) will hear of this."

They said after their release yesterday that they had been partially stripped, searched and interrogated during their original 10-hour detention.

Sharp said yesterday that intelligence agents had confiscated a list of oilmen he intended to interview.

Castro Stages Rally

Meanwhile, Premier Fidel Castro staged a day-long rally that started as a commemoration of a patriotic student uprising and steadily developed anti-American overtones.

President Osvaldo Dorticos Torrado, first speaker of the day, told a cheering crowd of 20,000 civilian militia in the plaza outside his palace that the country was determined to free its economy from "foreign domination."

Castro called today's rally in commemoration of the third anniversary of the student attack on the palace of ousted President Fulgencio Batista, March 13, 1957. The students that day reached the outer floor of Batista's office before they were quelled. Thirty-four persons died, including several innocent bystanders.

Earth Tremors Felt in Algiers

ALGIERS, March 13 (AP) — Four earth tremors of varying strength were registered in Algiers and vicinity today. There were no reports of damage, although windows rattled and furniture shifted.

The quakes were felt within a 100-mile radius around the city, in Tizi-Ouzou, Menerville, and Orleansville. Officials at the Algiers University Observatory said the center of the quake was located approximately 25 miles north-east off the coast

Former Defense Official Reuben Robertson Killed

CINCINNATI, March 13 (AP)—Reuben B. Robertson Jr., 51, Deputy Secretary of Defense from 1955 to 1957, was killed today by an automobile.

Mr. Robertson, president of the Champion Paper & Fibre Co., of Hamilton, Ohio, was struck after alighting from his own car, which had brushed a man who had got out of a stalled auto.

Mr. Robertson and his wife were en route to their home in Glendale, a Cincinnati suburb, early today when the accident occurred.

The police report said an automobile driven by Clausell

Rankin, 55, of Cincinnati, ran out of gas in the center lane of a highway, in front of Robertson.

Wilson Dock, 21, a passenger in the Rankin car, alighted.

Mr. Robertson swerved to avoid the stalled car but side-swiped Dock, who suffered minor leg injuries.

Mr. Robertson stopped, got out and was walking back to the stalled auto when he was hit by an auto police said was driven by Willie L. Griffin, 31, of Cincinnati.

Police said the impact knocked Mr. Robertson 50 feet and killed him almost instantly.

Griffin was charged with driving while intoxicated and with reckless driving.

Mr. Robertson, who was Deputy Defense Secretary from July 12, 1955, to March 26, 1957, under Charles E. Wilson, was outspoken in upholding the country's defense efforts. In a recent speech he said that "if there is a missile gap, it is, if anything, a Symington gap."

Mr. Robertson criticized Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), the Nation's first Secretary of the Air Force, for what he called Symington's "failure to speak out while sitting at the highest defense councils and while Russia is making missile progress."

Mr. Robertson had served the Government in other roles. He was vice chairman of a committee that studied the De-defense Department's business setup for the Hoover Commission on Governmental Reorganization.

In 1953 he was one of a group of businessmen whom the President sent abroad to evaluate the U. S. Mutual Security program. He was a member of the Wage Stabilization Board in 1950-51.

The National Association of Manufacturers named Robertson man of the year in 1953 for his work on the Mutual Security evaluation team. He was named man of the year in the paper industry in 1957 for outstanding service to his country.

He was a director of the Procter & Gamble Co., the Cincinnati & Suburban Bell Telephone Co., and the B. F. Goodrich Co.

He served 3 years in the Army during World War II and before that, in 1942, had been on the War Production Board.

He was born at Asheville, N. C., where his father, Reuben Robertson Sr., still lives.

Mr. Robertson married the former Margaret Watkins of Charleston, S. C., in 1938. They had six children, Reuben B. Robertson III, 20, a student at Yale University; Daniel H., 18, a student at the University School, Shaker Heights, Ohio; Peter Thomson, 14; Margaret Laurens, 11, Louisa Hope, 7, and George Watkins, 5.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a. m. Tuesday in Christ Church, Cincinnati.

Illnesses Are Mild

Moscow's influenza epidemic has also hit a number of members of the government and police. It is a fairly mild variety in which the victim requires three or four days in bed.

Khrushchev is believed to be resting at his dacha near Moscow with his family and some of the officials due to accompany him to Paris.

Moscow Radio interrupted a drama program to announce the Premier's illness and the postponement of his visit.

In Paris tonight, Soviet Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov called on President de Gaulle and discussed the fixing of a new date for the visit. There was speculation in the French capital that the visit may be cut to a week or less.

Informants said Khrushchev probably would concentrate on talks with de Gaulle. He originally had planned to spend 9 days touring the French provinces.

Postponement of the trip followed reports that Khrushchev was dissatisfied with several aspects of the whirlwind tour proposed to him. It left little opportunity for speech-making or contact with the man in the street.

Khrushchev, who returned 8 days ago from a 4-nation tour of Southeast Asia, must

IRBMs Reported On Italian Pads

ROME, March 13 (UPI)—An intermediate-range ballistic missile base which can zero in on the Communist countries of Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union itself has been installed "somewhere in Italy," reliable sources reported today.

The location of the base and the date of arrival of the missiles were not disclosed.

But the source said the missiles are "on the pad."

The Italian government last year agreed to accept IRBM missile bases despite threats from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that this NATO ally was leaving itself "open to destruction with the most modern weapons" in case of war.

Details of the arrival of the 1500-mile range Jupiter IRBMs and where they are located have been classified as "top secret" by Italian and American officials.

My dear Mr. Vice President:

Like the citizens of Hamilton and Southwest Ohio, you were no doubt stunned by the untimely death of our mutual friend Mr. Reuben Robertson, Jr., President of the Champion Paper and Fibre Company.

Knowing of your great attachment to Mr. Robertson, we felt sure you would want the enclosed copy of our newspaper containing the story of his death. Also please note the pictorial review we have made of his life of service not only in our community, but also the state, the nation, and the world.

Yours respectfully,

Dear Mr. Helm:

This is just a note to thank you for your letter of April 16, inviting me to attend the dinner which you are giving in honor of our mutual friend, Reuben Robertson, on Thursday, May 16 at the Links Club.

I know I would particularly enjoy having an opportunity to be with you on that evening, but Mrs. Nixon and I have already accepted an invitation to attend the annual dinner of the Women's National Press Club here in Washington. Consequently, I regret I cannot accept your cordial invitation.

I would greatly appreciate your extending my very best wishes to Reuben. The whole nation owes him a debt of gratitude for the splendid service he has rendered in one of the most difficult and important posts in the government.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,

Richard Nixon

Dear Reuben:

It was a pleasure to hear from you, and I want you to know how much I appreciated your writing as you did on July 8 concerning the invitation I received from Dr. Vinton Siler. I know how much I would enjoy an opportunity to participate in the meeting of the Commonwealth Club in Cincinnati next March, and I would particularly welcome a chance to see you again.

No matter how much I might wish it were otherwise, however, it is not possible for me to commit myself to an appearance that far in the future. I realize fully how much work and planning must be done in connection with a program of this type, and I know that Dr. Siler will want to complete his arrangements as soon as possible. Consequently, as you will note from the enclosed copy of my letter to him, I have suggested that, under the circumstances, it would be best for him to go ahead and obtain a speaker who would make a firm commitment now.

With kindest personal regards,

Sincerely,

Richard Nixon

JUL 16 1959

Dear Dick:

During the past few weeks we have seen both encouraging and discouraging signs regarding the prospect for enactment by the Congress this year of a much needed labor legislation. Now it is becoming evident that the enactment of effective labor legislation will depend in large measure on whether the public shows a demand for it.

The enclosure has been prepared in an effort to emphasize the fundamental issues. I hope you will find it useful, and additional copies can be made available promptly if you wish to have them.

Sincerely,

Reuben

*I thought you'd be interested

Honorable Richard M. Nixon
Vice-President of United States
Senate Office Building
Washington, D. C.

A BILL OF RIGHTS FOR LABOR WHO WANTS IT? WHO OPPOSES IT?

"I do not believe that racketeering, corruption, abuse of power, and other improper practices on the part of some labor organizations can be, or will ever be, prevented until and unless the Congress of the United States has the wisdom and the courage to enact laws prescribing minimum standards of democratic process and conduct for the administration of internal union affairs. I mean by that, Mr. President, that the Congress should prescribe and define by law what the rights of union members are, place in them by democratic process the power to secure those rights, and protect them in their efforts to do so from reprisals of any kind from their would-be exploiters, manipulators, and bosses. Without such protection, other provisions of law may be of little benefit and meaningless."

— Senator John McClellan
In the U.S. Senate
April 22, 1959

From the N.Y. Times
May 21, 1959 —

"Labor leaders view the so-called 'bill of rights,' even in its modified form, as the most threatening amendment inserted in the Kennedy labor reform bill.

"A confidential analysis and evaluation of the bill, from a union point of view, describes the penalties provisions as 'exceedingly harsh and punitive,' but it is the bill of rights that is found most disturbing.

"It is that provision primarily that guided the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations in deciding yesterday to oppose the Senate-approved bill in its present form."

A summary of the Bill of Rights proposed by Senator McClellan is on the following page.

A FOUNDATION FOR UNION DEMOCRACY

"Labor's Bill of Rights" as originally proposed by Senator McClellan:

1. EQUAL RIGHTS — including all voting rights and equal protection of union rules.
2. FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND ASSEMBLY — without "penalty, discipline, or interference."
3. FREEDOM FROM ARBITRARY FINANCIAL EXACTIONS — no change in dues or fees without majority vote of union membership.
4. PROTECTION OF RIGHT TO SUE — guaranteeing judicial protection against arbitrary action of union leaders.
5. SAFEGUARDS AGAINST IMPROPER DISCIPLINARY ACTION — to protect against fines, suspension or expulsion without proper notice and hearing.
6. INSPECTION OF MEMBERSHIP LISTS — assuring access to such lists to all candidates for union offices.

WHERE IT STANDS

In the Kennedy-Ervin bill the guarantees have been weakened considerably by making most of them "subject to reasonable rules and regulations in [the union's] constitution and bylaws."

Among the issues that the House Committee must resolve is whether to restore the original McClellan Bill of Rights, accept the modified Kennedy-Ervin version, knock it out altogether, or substitute an even stronger set of guarantees such as those offered in Rep. Barden's H.R. 4473.

"... I am convinced that retrogression and decay are the necessary result of unlimited government, just as they are the necessary result of unlimited power in trade unions. No civilization can long survive unlimited power in any hands. The greatest contribution of the McClellan Committee lies in its overwhelming documentation of that truth."

— Prof. Sylvester Petro, New York University School of Law,
In his documented report on the McClellan
Committee Hearings,
"Power Unlimited—The Corruption of Union Leadership," Ronald Press, N.Y.

TO SUM IT UP

Whether the Congress will enact effective labor legislation this year may well depend on whether the citizenry of our United States request their Representatives to restore or reinforce these fundamentals:

1. A strengthened Bill of Rights for American workers;
2. Prohibition of Secondary Boycotts;
3. Prohibition of Organizational Picketing; and
4. A sensible solution of the "No-Man's Land" problem.

IT'S UP TO YOU!

JULY 2, 1959

LABOR LAW, UNION POWER, AND THE PUBLIC WELFARE

"Complete and effective labor-management legislation, not a piecemeal program, is essential to assure the American public that true, responsible bargaining can be carried on with full protection to the rights and freedoms of workers and with adequate guarantees of the public interest."

— President Eisenhower,
Message to Congress on Labor Legislation,
January 28, 1959

What the coming showdown in Congress means

- TO YOU . . .
- TO LABOR . . .
- TO OUR NATION . . .

... and what you can do about it →

THE NATION'S NEED

During the last two years the McClellan Committee (composed of four Democratic and four Republican Senators) has revealed shocking evidence of corruption and racketeering on the part of union "bosses"—and has shown that many thousands of union members have been denied a voice in the conduct of union affairs.

In addition, the Committee's hearings have disclosed how the boycott and the picket line have been used to coerce employers and employees.

The McClellan Committee's disclosures make it clear that federal legislation is needed to assure democracy in unions, effective curbs on secondary boycotts and organizational picketing, and safeguards against corruption and racketeering.

The fate of such legislation in this session of Congress will fix the posture of federal labor law for some time to come, in all probability. It is unrealistic to assume, with an election year coming up, that the defeat of an adequate bill providing effective labor legislation—or the passage of a half-way measure—can be rectified next year. CONSEQUENTLY IT IS IMPORTANT TO PRESS FOR THE ENACTMENT OF EFFECTIVE LABOR LEGISLATION THIS YEAR.

If you favor such legislation, you can have an effective voice only by informing your Congressmen that you will support them in their efforts to produce effective labor legislation this year.

THE ANSWER IN CONGRESS

The Kennedy-Ervin bill recently passed by the Senate purports to answer the call for corrective labor legislation. Thanks to the persuasive force of Senator McClellan (D.-Ark.), this bill was improved somewhat in the Senate but political compromise resulted in the passage of a half-way measure. It is a start in the right direction, but it needs strengthening if it is to be a dependable vehicle for effective labor legislation.

The Law As It Stands

The Kennedy-Ervin bill is now pending before the House Labor Committee. Also pending before that Committee are bills introduced by Rep. Barden (D.-N.C.), Chairman of the Committee, and by Rep. Kearns (R.-Pa.), on behalf of the Administration, which provide effective coverage of the needs shown by the McClellan Committee.

A Deadline For Action

The House Labor Committee has held hearings on all of these bills, and is expected to submit its report to the House about the middle of July, using the Kennedy-Ervin bill as a basis for its recommendations. THE FORM OF THE LEGISLATION RECOMMENDED TO THE HOUSE BY ITS LABOR COMMITTEE WILL DEPEND IN LARGE MEASURE ON WHETHER THE PUBLIC DEMONSTRATES SUPPORT FOR EFFECTIVE LABOR LEGISLATION.

THE FUNDAMENTALS

Secondary Boycotts

In such a boycott, firms not involved in a labor dispute are forced to stop supplying or dealing with a strike-bound employer or one whose employees have voted against representation by the boycotting union. The Kennedy-Ervin bill provides no remedy. The Taft-Hartley Act has a provision aimed at the prohibition of such coercive boycotts, but loopholes have been found in the provision and it has proved ineffective. The Administration, Senator McClellan and Rep. Barden advocate inclusion of a plain and effective prohibition against secondary boycotts in the current labor legislation. The late Senator Taft said: "A secondary boycott is an absolute denial of the entire theory of free collective bargaining and free enterprise in the United States. I just cannot see any argument for supporting secondary boycotts."

Organizational Picketing

Under the Taft-Hartley Act unions are left free (with very limited exceptions) to carry on picketing as a means of organizing a business establishment, even though there may not be a single employee involved who actually desires to join the picketing union. The McClellan Committee produced evidence of such picketing also being used purely and simply to exact payment of tribute to union leaders, or to obtain a "sweetheart" contract between employer and union not desired by the employees. The Kennedy-Ervin bill provides no effective remedy.

No-Man's Land

Under the Taft-Hartley Act, the NLRB is assigned exclusive jurisdiction of labor disputes affecting interstate commerce. However, in a number of cases, upheld by the courts, the NLRB has refused to exercise its jurisdiction on the ground that in such cases the effect on interstate commerce is "relatively insubstantial." Consequently, many small employers, their employees, and the unions which deal or seek to deal with them are denied access to the NLRB. They are left in a "no-man's land," for they cannot apply in the alternative to any state court or agency.

The Kennedy-Ervin bill grants authority to state labor agencies for the handling of cases in "no-man's land," provided such agencies apply federal law in resolving these cases. Only 12 such agencies exist among the 49 states at the present time, and many labor lawyers believe that attempted application of federal law by state agencies would simply transform the "no-man's land" into a legal morass.

The President, the McClellan Committee, and Rep. Barden all advocate a simple solution: authorize any State or Territory court or agency to assume and assert jurisdiction of labor disputes over which the NLRB declines to exercise its jurisdiction. Adoption of such a solution would wipe out "no-man's land" and provide an effective and quick-acting forum for the parties to a labor dispute denied relief by the NLRB.

Spanning these issues is the basic one of a bill of rights for the 16 million rank and file members of the American labor unions.

Since I have long been an admirer of your brother Reuben, it was a special pleasure to meet you and your husband during my recent visit to your beautiful part of North Carolina.

I am most grateful that you took the time and trouble to write as you did to the editor of the Asheville Citizen. Your letter should certainly have set the record straight.

No man could be more greatly honored than to be selected as the running mate of President Eisenhower, and I deeply appreciate your congratulatory comments and good wishes for the coming campaign.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,
