Dear Mr. President:

I was very pleased with your announcement of the establishment of a new staff in the White House to take charge of national planning. The "National Goals and Research Staff" under Mr. Leonard Garment has a massive assignment, but perhaps the most important one in the nation today.

I am pleased that the federal government is now moving, under your initiative, to coordinate and direct the planning activities of the many federal departments and agencies as they seek to move in the direction of national goals.

With the development of sophisticated electronic forecasting and decision-making devices, we are now able to closely examine alternative courses of action and select the most effective and most economical approach. Our country has planned only from crisis to crisis for too many years. We now have the technique as well as the equipment to anticipate social and economic problems far enough in advance to develop carefully calculated remedies for these problems.

Many city governments and state governments are more further advanced in the art and technique of planning than is the federal government. Now that you have taken the first step for comprehensive planning on the national level, our states and cities will find it easier to mesh their local planning behind national goals.

I hope that some day this agency which you title National Goals and Research Staff can develop into a Cabinet-level department charged with coordinating national planning and research efforts behind national goals.

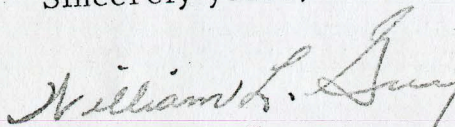

You will be interested in knowing that the recent Midwestern Governors' Conference, composed of the Governors of 15 states, discussed at great length the need for the federal government to become less crisis oriented and more oriented to comprehensive planning for the future.

Dear Mr. Robbins:

You are absolutely right. My plaint is of course a familiar one to you. But it was also somewhat personal. I have been involved over the years in the effort to get a system of social indicators going and so was excited that at long last a President decided to do so.

If you can wade through the syntax, my briefing might give you some sense of what the subject is all about. I'm sure Leonard Garment would be very happy indeed to talk with you, as would I.

Most sincerely,

I agree that we probably should have given it better display and we hope to treat the subject in greater depth as soon as there is some further development. We are thinking particularly about discussions with you and with Mr. Garment about the approach and plans for the studies to be made.

WHITE HOUSE PANEL TO STUDY PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) — President Nixon announced today the creation of a staff at the White House to anticipate national problems in advance and to develop possible solutions.

"We can no longer afford to approach the longer-range future haphazardly," Mr. Nixon said in a statement disclosing the establishment of the National Goals Research Staff, under the direction of Leonard Garment, a Presidential consultant and a former law partner with Mr. Nixon.

"Only by marshaling the facts can we know how to marshal our resources," Mr. Nixon said.

He said the staff would forecast future developments, assess longer-range consequences of present social trends, estimate the range of alternative goals that would be feasible and measure the probable future impact of alternative courses of action to meet anticipated problems.

The staff of 10 is expected to have a budget of about $250,000.

Dear Dr Moynihan

Perhaps you will recall that a few years ago, when you were Assistant Secretary of Labor, I met with you and a number of other Administration officials with regard to increasing the consumption of coal at Consolidated Edison's generating facilities. Your concern with this matter was based on employment conditions in Appalachia. Since that very pleasant meeting and several subsequent telephone conversations with you, I have followed your career with the greatest of interest.

About three months ago I left Consolidated Edison to become Managing Director of the Edison Electric Institute. The Institute is the national trade association of the nation's investor-owned electric companies which provide about 80 percent of the power used in this country.

Recently your comments relative to the establishment of a national goals research staff came to my attention. Your remarks pertaining to future patterns of energy consumption were of particular interest because the Institute carries out studies of such subjects on a continuing basis. Attached, by way of illustration, is a copy of our staff study entitled, "The Year 2000," which undertakes to predict future developments in a number of fields, including energy use.

It occurred to me that the Institute might be able to be helpful to you and Mr Garment in making available information about the electric power industry, both as to the present status and expectations for the future. I am in Washington frequently and would be delighted to drop by your office to renew acquaintances and to explore this situation with you.

President Richard M. Nixon
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear President Nixon:

In 1776, if you asked any person then in America, "What is the purpose or reason for existence of the United States?" you would have gotten a quick clear answer from everyone.

Problem

Mr. Nixon, I'll bet, if today you asked the same question you would find almost none who could answer.

You, Mr. Nixon, know better than any one else, the country is beset by a malaise of the spirit, a not so vague feeling of lack of satisfaction.

Lacking constructive goals and purposes of their own and supplied with none by our country's leaders, our people have directed their energies toward destruction.

The symptoms you will recognize are evidenced by: The great increase in use of drugs, increase in use of liquor, high speed autos, careless dress and uncivil deportment, unreasoning riots, and confrontations.

The symptoms exhibit conscious and subconscious efforts toward individual destruction and common effort destruction of our society.

Need

The few who have a drive, an all-consuming purpose (like your drive to become President) -- those few are lucky. You, Mr. Nixon, have it in your power to make the rest of us equally lucky.

All-consuming purposes are needed by everyone to be happy.

The entire nation needs attainable goals and purposes to which we may all individually and collectively work with dedicated enthusiasm.

November 5, 1969

We have set forth our goals for space exploration, but we have not set forth our goals as a national policy in the broad other spectrums of life.

Every year or two we need a crystallized declaration of the major collective goals and aspirations of the United States for the use of the entire populace.

Solution

I suggest you establish a NATIONAL BOARD OF ASPIRATION, HOPES, AND PHILOSOPHIES made up of the following under 72 years of age:

The President of the United States, as Chairman
All past Presidents
The Speaker of the House
President of the Senate
Supreme Court Chief Justice
A President of a University, selected by a Convention of University Presidents
An eminent scientist, like Lee DuBridge
One Governor, selected by the National Governors Council
One Labor Union President, selected by the Labor Unions
President of the National Chamber of Commerce
Military Head of the Joint Chiefs of Staffs
The past two Secretaries of State
Head of an ethnic minority group
An eminent sociologist like Dear Abby or Anne Landers
President of the American Academy of Medicine
A manager of a think tank, like Herman Kahn
A student, who would be the annual student contest winner who writes a best essay answering the question, "What should be the purpose and reason for existence of the United States of America?" The BOARD should judge the contest.

The executive director might be called "The Secretary of New Ideas" and might even be an ex officio cabinet member.

The board would have no authority -- just an obligation and duty to prepare a crystallized declared goal every year or two of national aspirations, hopes, and philosophies for the nation. It would become a guide for the nation until the next declaration was published.

Broad goals published by a board of this type should be accepted more widely than those stated only by any President and his political party.

President Richard M. Nixon - 3

November 5, 1969

This would automatically bring the President and the Congress closer together, for they would have a guide for common established goals to achieve. The stated goal would not be binding on anyone. It would set a sort of purpose, a common aim and give a feeling of a reason for being, a direction through space which so many in the nation seem to lack and which lack has led to the aimless irrationality evident throughout the world today.

Some Communist countries do this with demonstrated appeal to their populations, for it fills a very human need. We can learn from them in this respect.

After you had established a NATIONAL BOARD OF ASPIRATIONS, HOPES, AND PHILOSOPHIES, I'll bet most could again answer enthusiastically and definitively the question, "What is the purpose or reason for existence of the United States?"

Satisfying
The Young

National accepted declared goals are what the young people of America are restlessly crying for, need, and want! It could greatly reduce the confrontations in America. Properly run, the annual essay contest would make most young people think about and feel they had a voice in planning America.

You, Mr. Nixon, can give us a new spirit of 1776, new reasons for existence.

Proper dramatic advertising of declared common attainable goals to which all could address themselves in enthusiastic concert would change divisiveness into cohesiveness of the people, and thereby reduce the chances of the development of future anarchy leading to dictatorship.

Mr. Nixon, if you initiate this new board, America could truly move ahead with internal peace and purpose faster than it ever has before.

Goal declarations by the board might just be the most important happening for the country since the Declaration of Independence.

Cordially yours,

F. W. Moffett, Jr.

The President has asked me to thank you for your letter to him of October and I apologize sincerely for the delay in responding.

The President has established in the White House a National Goals Research Staff to try to do at least some of the things to which you have pointed. With respect to the idea of "hearings," the President is asking senior members of his Administration to begin a series of "listenings" in different cities of America: visiting and exchanging views directly with community representatives. One such visit was held in Philadelphia last October 28 when Secretary Romney spent the day there on the President's behalf.

Dear Ken:

Belatedly, and with chagrin, I respond to your November 14 letter. First, let me thank you for your kind words of my elevation. So far I don't feel any different and there has been no noticeable change in the working schedule.

Now to your problem. In checking into the matter, I discovered that you ran into George Bell a short time ago and he mentioned the difficulty was in the fact that the National Goals Commission had not been funded as yet, therefore, no one could be hired for the Commission. George tells me that he is going to take the matter in hand and work something out so that you will be working with Len Garment. I feel sure, from speaking with him, that something will be resolved before too much time passes.

Unfortunately, Ken, there is no opening on the Congressional staff at present, and I can't forecast anything as yet insofar as my new appointment is concerned.

DEC 10 1969

Dear Bryce:

First, congratulations on your new appointment! I was most pleased to hear of your elevation to cabinet status in the White House.

This letter finds Meredith and me in Long Beach, California, where I am temporarily employed as an Administrative Assistant to the Majority Floor Leader of the California State Senate. He is also a candidate for Attorney General of the State of California, and I am assisting him in that effort.

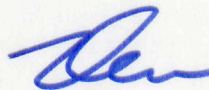

I am still waiting for definite word from the National Goals Staff. It seems that there has been a considerable delay in its formulation. Charles Williams, though most cooperative, has been unable, thus far, to give me any certain answer. I am becoming more concerned about the delay since Meredith is now nearly six months pregnant, and moving and travel from California to the Capital will soon become increasingly difficult.

I am writing to inquire as to whether the recent change in positions at the White House will necessitate your developing of new personnel arrangements to assist you in your work. If this is the case, I would be most interested in being able to secure one of those positions or to assist you in any way I can.

Should anything be inconvenient to arrange at this time, I will surely understand. However, I would be very grateful if you gave me consideration in the event that such a position opens.

Again, please accept my appreciation for your continued assistance. Meredith has asked me to send her best regards.

Dear Len:

You may recall that I wrote you in July with respect to the possibility of my obtaining a position with the National Goals Research Staff. You, in turn, referred me to Mr. Charles Williams, the Acting Staff Director of the National Goals Staff.

Although I have been in communication with Mr. Williams on a regular basis since then, I have yet to receive a definite "Yes" or "No" answer as to whether or not there is going to be an opening for me on that staff. I would be very grateful if you could arrange for me to have some sort of definite answer in the very near future.

When I began my inquiries in July, I was still studying for the California Bar Examination. At that time, Mr. Williams felt I would have a certain answer by September 15. For that reason, I delayed accepting employment elsewhere. Finally, at the end of October, having decided that I could no longer sustain financial loss, I accepted a temporary position as an administrative assistant to the Majority Floor Leader of the California State Senate.

Quite frankly, I am most disappointed to find that in over nine months' of efforts to secure a position with the Nixon Administration, I am no closer to a position than when I began those efforts in February. In light of my role on the writing and research staff and my responsibility for the entire coordination of all agricultural policy-making during the campaign, I do not feel it presumptuous to ask to be considered for a position.

In short, I believe my effort in the campaign played, as it did with others, a small role in the election of a President. And beginning early this year I sought to get a commitment from some of the men I had worked with---Pat Buchanan, Martin Anderson, Alan Greenspan, Bryce Harlow, and Jim Keogh---for a position within the White House staff operation.

Mr. Leonard Garment

December 8, 1969

Thus, before I left New York, I placed my family's belongings in storage, thinking I might return to Washington after the California Bar. These items are still in New York and have accordingly cost me a great deal of money--not a loose commodity for someone so recently out of school.

I am still very hopeful of gaining a position of the sort discussed above. However, time for me is becoming short. As my wife is expecting our first child in February, there is less time allowed for me to make any kind of arrangements to return to Washington. I remain most eager to be able to make a contribution to Mr. Nixon's Presidency.

What I wish to know is this: Will I receive an appointment to the National Goals Staff or to the White House Staff, or should I consider these avenues foreclosed at this time?

It appears that all my efforts to this moment have not met with any response, although I can surely understand the difficulties of staffing the Administration. Yet, after dozens of telephone calls and letters, I am no closer to an answer than when I first broached the subject with Bryce Harlow last November.

As you can see, I can no longer afford the luxury of waiting indefinitely for a response. I am hopeful that you will understand the position in which I have been placed and that you will be kind enough to lend me your assistance in this matter.

If no position is open at this time, I can secure permanent employment here in California and seek to renew my efforts sometime next year. Indeed, should present arrangements be inconvenient, I would be more than happy to be considered for a position at a later date.

Please know that I am most appreciative in advance for your efforts and consideration. I would be grateful if you could telephone me at the following numbers: 213 435-4865 (Business)

Dear Bill:

In further reference to my letter to the President of December 22, and your response, signed by Dick Cook, of December 29, concerning protests I had received about certain participants at the scheduled White House National Goals Research Conference, I am enclosing a letter I have received from a Negro resident of the District of Columbia describing the reaction of the 200 members of his local civic association to the same participants to whom I had registered objections.

I sincerely hope that you will make Mr. Thompkins letter a part of your presentation of my position to the President in this regard.

Thanking you, and with best wishes, I am

Hon. Joel T. Broyhill:

This is simply to compliment you on your true comments about the apparently intentional "sabotaging" of the proposed White House meeting by the presidential aides who invited the three anti-social black racists namely - Julius Hobson, Marion Barry and Willie Hardy. If those aides were not aware of the anti-American and pro-Marxist, and pro-Hanoi confessions openly made by these three self-styled leaders, they are definitely unqualified aides.

All that you said about these three racists is true and such is commonly stated about them by any and all literate Negroes in the various community civic associations that truly represent the Black communities of Washington, D. C. But Mr. Broyhill you failed to mention the fact that Hobson, Barry and Hardy are charter members of the central committee of that infamous little group of boisterous revolutionaries called the Black United Front who actually represents no one in Washington but their own little vicious hate-Whitey membership of about 50 to 60 social misfits who are still dedicated to the revolutionary philosophies of violent overthrow of the government as taught and advocated by Stokely Carmichael the pro-Castro originator of BUF.

Your press article about these three nuts and the White House meeting was read at our local civic association last night which was attended by about 200 members and all expressed surprise and disgust that these characters were even considered for such a top level meeting. The consensus of opinions of the members present ~~WAKE~~ was best summed up by our vice president when he said and I quote, What in the name of God could they learn from these screwballs except their low culture strategy of completely disrupting and sabotaging meetings where ever their ilk are in the ~~majority~~ minority. Their method ^{have} is well known which is done simply by pre-arrangements wherein they/their goon squad following to invade such meetings and spew out a constant flow of loud mouth vulgarities of all of the known four words together with open threats of bodily harm mixed with obscenities of the worst kind. This is the particular strategy used by Barry's Pride hoodlums. And what has disgusted the law-abiding Negroes of Washington is the fact that Barry and Hobson have been known to disrupt and close down even our city council meetings in our city hall and in our city prosecutor's office while city ~~AM~~ our city hall top officials scooted out of their offices to safety etc. And as to Barry openly harrassed the Metropolitan police on so many occasions without prosecution that our intelligent Negro citizens have simply lost all respect for such officials. In fact the citizens are now betting that Barry's present indictment for his ~~xxx~~ most recent assault on the police will simply be squashed and dropped, by the same weak officials that he insults at will.

B. Thompson
Yours truly, B. Thompson.

Mr. Broyhill -

Attached is a photostatic copy of a sleezy circular villifying a couple top city officials. It was produced by Barry at his Pride Hqg., and distrivuted by his Pride hoodlums in NW Washington. This is how bold and defiant ~~XXXXXXXXXX~~ Barry is in using his government subsidized building, meterial and equipment for political purposes while our extremely naive Labor Dept Officials continue to dole out tax payers money to him by the millions. How in the name of God can this be stopped.

Dear Mr. President:

This office has received numerous protests and complaints about the selection of Mr. Marion Barry, Mrs. Willie Hardy, Father Gino Baroni, Mr. Julius Hobson and Mr. William Simon to represent the views of the District of Columbia at the pending White House National Goals Research conference.

The anti-American, revolutionary, pro-communist, militant background of these individuals, which is well known to most people in the Washington area, led me to believe that someone on your staff has made a grave error in your behalf, because this is bound to lead to great embarrassment to your Administration. I plead with you to have these appointments reviewed with a view to having someone else represent the District of Columbia who would not only be more representative of the people but would be the type of people you could trust in their opinions as to what is in the best interest of the future of this nation, and particularly someone who would not use the occasion to publicly embarrass the Administration.

Dear Mr. Frenkel:

On behalf of the President, I wish to acknowledge your letter of December 1, 1969, regarding your idea for a domestic satellite communications system for job-placement.

I recall that you wanted to discuss this with me and regret my schedule did not permit that. However, Charles Williams has told me of his conversation with you and assured me that the National Goals Research Staff will be considering your proposal along with a broader analysis they are doing on the labor force and on communication systems.

We appreciate your support in bringing ideas to the President. Mr. Williams will be in further touch with you as the evaluation of the idea progresses.

RE: Tele-Job Corporation Project

Dear Mr. President:

Today, a meeting is being held with Mr. Charles Williams of National Goals, at the White House's Executive Office Building, whereby Dr. Richard Frenkel and I will submit a written presentation and budget to the Executive Branch of the United States Government, pertaining to our project, entitled, Tele-Job Corporation. Stated succinctly, we envision the creation of a newly integrated instrumentality to reduce unemployment in the United States of America, through the utilization of a domestic satellite communications system, which will include television, radio, computers, as well as other technologies at our country's disposal.

As a Republican, I respectfully urge that you give serious consideration to the Tele-Job Corporation Project, inasmuch as the successful implementation of it will have a salubrious effect on the voters, nationally, in 1972. In my judgment, the successful promulgation of a domestic satellite communications system for job-placement of our citizens, on a perpetual basis, will be the greatest achievement of all your domestic policies. While your "Public Welfare Speech" alluded to the implementation of a computer network job-bank, your administration has overlooked one of the most vital resources, namely, the utilization of the public airwaves to resolve unemployment problems in our country with the greatest technological immediacy available, that is, the use of satellite communications technologies.

As the late-President John F. Kennedy saw fit to have the Satellite Communications Act of 1962 passed, he created a public corporation, now known as the Communications Satellite Corporation (COMSAT). However, should you decide to create the Tele-Job Corporation, its vital significance to the nation would be infinitely greater than the purposes of COMSAT.

Inasmuch as we sent you a courtesy copy of our published book, entitled, "World Peace via Satellite Communications", it may be worthwhile to have your staff evaluate pages #13 through 82, as a matter of historical reference, to ascertain how COMSAT came about, and, then, evaluate our presentation and budget.

Mr. President, should your staff evaluate our project with positive results, a great deal of work will be at hand in coping with the divers complex problems that will arise. In that event, Dr. Richard Frenkel and I will devote as much time on your behalf, as we possibly can, in assisting with the implementation and promulgation of this very important project, for the benefit of our country.

In the meantime, we would appreciate the exercise of your good offices in having this project's issues studied and resolved, accordingly.

Dear Mr. President:

It is my understanding that someone on your staff has invited Marion Barry, Julius Hobson and Mrs. Willie Hardy to a White House meeting on national goals.

I am disturbed at the lack of judgment on the part of your staff. I am sure that in defense of the invitations we will receive unctuous rhetoric to the effect that we should listen to all viewpoints in order to reach an understanding as to what should be done. Such reasoning would justify asking a Hitlerite for his views on race relations or a Marxist for his views on strengthening the free enterprise system.

Julius Hobson is, of course, a professional malcontent who at last reports was repudiated by his constituency when he ran for reelection to the School Board. Your staff would also presumably be familiar with his describing the United States as a rotten, lousy outfit.

Marion Barry was recently involved in a street disturbance on 14th Street near the American gas station Pride, Inc. operates. It was alleged at the time that Pride, Inc.'s funds were being spent for gas masks. He was also trying to establish some form of sanctuary for the troublemakers at the gas station. At no point do you find any cooperation by Marion Barry with the law enforcement officers.

As for Mrs. Hardy, who took a trip to Canada last summer where she met North and South Vietnamese women at a conference of a section of Women Strike for Peace, how do you think it must be for a G. I. prisoner of war to hear that such a person has access to the White House?

It would seem to me that if you must get some BLACK viewpoints, then there must be any number of respectable people that could qualify. It seems to me you have fallen into a trap of inviting the self-serving Liberal's Uncle Toms.

If you need BLACK viewpoints why don't you approach respectable members of the Negro community. Why not approach such Negroes as Mr. Doyle Mitchell, President of the Industrial Bank of Washington, Mr. McGuire of the McGuire Funeral Service, Dr. Lorraine Williams of Howard University, or Wylie H. Whisonant, Jr. of Bache and Company. I believe Mr. McGuire and Mr. Whisonant, Jr. are both registered Republicans.

Very truly yours,

Chris J. Ray

LY I am the vice president of one of the largest/^{black} community civic associations in Washington, D. C. And at our most recent meeting a member read a news article in re Mr. Broyhill's ~~co~~condemnation of White house aides who invited Julius Hobson (the self admitted Marxist-Leninist), Marion Barry (a SNCC anti-police, anti-White advocate) and Willie Hardy (a well known pro-Hanoi radical). And I might add that all three of them are members of the central committee of that most infamous group of extremist racists who have publicly announced that they are anti-White, anti-American, /anti-law-enforcement known as the Black United Front. This little group is composed of no more than 65 members who are avowed revolutionaries and who have over the past few years spent most of their time disrupting and completely stopping city council meetings, civic meetings, school board meetings via loud mouth spewing of filthy four letter word diatribes interspersed with threatening obscenities. The constitution of this group was formulated by one of this country's greatest anarchists and traitors (Stokely Carmichael) and these three members are staunch activists of his theories.

The attendance at our civic meeting was over two hundred and they very angrily expressed disapproval of such social misfits being chosen to represent the hundreds of thousands of loyal and intelligent Negroes in this city where as a matter of fact Hobson, Barry and Hardy represents none other than themselves and a following of about 100 Negroes who are for the most part illiterate kooks and screwballs. Most members registered their disgust in no uncertain terms since they like Mr. Broyhill believed that the White House aides did indeed intend to sabotage the proposed meeting because the publicity of the anti-American activities of the three said characters could not have possibly escaped the attentions of any efficient White House aide.

In conclusion I would like to quote what one of our members said succinctly said which is "What in the name of God could any meeting of intelligent people learn from the very uncultured three social misfits named above but their low culture strategy of throwing public meetings into chaos by the use of their hoodlum following".

PS: Enclosed another letter from a member of the same civic association.

Respectfully,
Barrington Thompkins
Barrington Thompkins.

Note: This is a typewritten copy of a hand written letter by another member of our community civic organization. I have typed it because the letter was not too legible since it was so lightly written.

Dear Mr. Thompkins:

I remember at our civic meeting you said that you were going to write a letter to the White House explaining our disapproval of Hobson, Hardy and Barry as being representatives of our community. So if you do please add these few pieces of information about them in your letter because it may just be that those aides really do not know about them. And since such antics indicates that Hobson is a little bit on the lunitic fringe they should know briefly about them, such as the time that he set out rat traps and caught rats and turned them loose in Chevy Chase area according to his statement to the press. And again when the 13th precinct police promised our association that they would start a drive to clear the 1900 block of 14th Street, NW., of hoodlums, dope peddlers and prostitutes so that the hospital nurses from nearby and other citizens could go to the T Street post office without being molested, Hobson procured a bull horn and rode slowly thru that block and hollered out to those hoodlums telling them not to move when the police ordered them to do so. And thus the police drive was a failure as it is even till today. And next he published in the press and on TV that he had invented a combination camera and tape recorder and he intended to harrass and molest various White policemen who sought to arrest any Negro for any kind of crime in the Negro communities.

Now as to the Hardy woman she being a stooge of Hobson's villified White people in general every time she spoke around here in the parks etc. And like Hobson she always announced that the only cure for capitalism was to overthrow our government by any means.

And as to Marion Barry, it is a matter of public record as to how he directed from 100 to 200 of his toughies and ex-convict teen-agers of the Pride group to help over run various public meetings over the past years and by cursing and threatening the law-abiding residents who attended causing them to flee the meetings in fear of life and limb. Using these Pride hoodlums he has even ran our top city officials out of their own offices in the District Building, including the top prosecutor (Duncan) himself. And as to the police, Barry has openly harrassed them by violating traffic laws and assault laws repeatedly only to be indicted and via the same/weak prosecutors have these indictments (4 or five of them) dropped. He is under indictment right now for assault upon two police officers several months ago and citizens of the 13th presinct are simply disgusted and sick over the fact that they know there will be no prosecution of Barry who is simply a local nuisance and even morally unfit to head that organization of youngsters who he has constantly taught to hate, hate hate all White people.

Mr. Thompkins I hope you get a reply from your letter from the White House so you can read it at our next meeting.

Signed: Mrs. Cora Jenkins.
