HOWARD UNIVERSITY

WASHINGTON, D. C. 20059

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

November 20, 1984

Dear Mike:

Bull
what does
J. Wright &
J. Jones think about this?

I have received the Department of Education's FY 1986 Appropriation allowance for Howard University. Both the Executive and Legislative branches of the Federal Government decided in 1978 that before additional funds for new construction and/or renovation of existing buildings would be appropriated, a comprehensive study of the University's physical facilities needs should be conducted by external architectural and engineering consultants. Toward this end, the Congress appropriated $425,000 over a two year period (FY 1979 and FY 1980) for this purpose.

It was our understanding that after these studies were completed, both the Executive and Legislative bodies would be receptive to Howard's requests for appropriations for new construction and renovations of its physical facilities.

The FY 1986 appropriation is the first opportunity we have had to submit requests to fund our physical facilities needs. The required studies have been completed. We have had an opportunity to review the findings and recommendations of the external consultants, and to determine priorities. Our priorities were contained in our submission to the Department for FY 1986 and we anticipated that at least one of these projects would be supported by the Administration, viz. the request for construction of a new Physical Sciences Building.

I am requesting the Department to support this project in our FY 1986 appropriation. Although the external architectural-engineering consultants have projected a total cost of $30 million for this project (with a 9 percent increase per year for each year before actual construction begins) it is important to emphasize that the University would not expend $30 million in one fiscal year because this project would require at least three years for completion. Budget authorization of $30 million in FY 1986 would not result in $30 million of outlays in 1986. This appropriation request should be supported because of the need, the impact it would have on bringing Howard's academic programs in science and technology up to standards, the understanding between all parties that favorable action would be considered after external studies were conducted and the needs documented. The $425,000 provided from federal funds for these studies carried a commitment to implement the University's requests that relied upon the recommendations of these consultants.

Although we had requested support for other projects in the "construction" category for FY 1986, I am willing to defer these projects because the necessity to begin upgrading our physical facilities for science and technology teaching and research is now critical.

I am not appealing the Department's allowance of only $421,000 for academic programs increases (the University Libraries) on the assumption that the Administration will vigorously support a FY 1985 supplemental request that will carry forward the FY 1984 supplemental for the academic program (including built-in increases in the University's base). This should not be an issue because during the period of my administration any supplemental appropriations adopted by the Congress have automatically been included in the base for the succeeding and subsequent years where funds for built-in increases and academic program increases were involved. Funds appropriated in the construction category have, of course, been appropriated to remain available until expended.

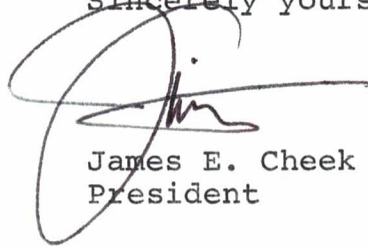

Relying upon historical precedent and assurances from the Department that the academic program funds contained in the FY 1984 supplemental would "automatically" be included in the University's base, I did not request new funds in FY 1985 or in FY 1986 for these programs. The additional funds requested for FY 1984 were at levels that only partially supported the needs and requirements of the academic programs and were below the President's budget for Howard in FY 1984. Because of the assumption that these funds would be recurring -- as they always have been -- we developed a phased development of increased resources for the academic programs affected. I have represented to our Board of Trustees, administrators, and faculties that the 1984 supplemental appropriation, except for "construction", would be included in the University's FY 1985 and subsequent years funding in our federal appropriation.

During my fifteen years as President of Howard, I have never before had such an occurrence and had no reason or basis to expect otherwise.

I have had a personal conference with Undersecretary Gary Jones. The result of this conference was positive. Understandably Doctor Jones could not give us any guarantees, but he did urge us to communicate with you to insure that the Department of Education vigorously support our request with respect to the FY 1984 supplemental and funding to undertake construction of the proposed physical sciences building.

You and Undersecretary Gary Jones during the past three plus years have been genuine friends and supporters of Howard and its programs. Your commitment to insuring the implementation of the President's policies with respect to increasing support for historically black institutions of higher learning has been both unequivocal and exemplary. I implore you to continue on this course as we pursue to successful completion our minimal objectives for increased support in FY 1986.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Deaver,

Just a brief note to thank you again for taking time out of your busy schedule to do CBS News Nightwatch. I do appreciate it and hope we can do it again sometime.

As promised, I am enclosing another dub of your interview on VHS. This should be the second copy you have received...the first being on 3/4" cassette. Now you can watch yourself in 'stereo'.

I am also enclosing a print of a White House photo that was used in the interview. If it is not too much trouble, I would appreciate it if you could sign it for me. In my six years as a producer, yours will be the second signature I have sought.

Again, thanks for your outstanding cooperation and willingness to share a part of yourself that is not shown on television frequently.

I hope our paths cross again.

Sincerely,

December 13, 1984

Dear Mr. Deaver:

I have your letter of December 5 confirming the earlier understanding that the President desires me to administer the Oath of Office at the White House, January 20, as well as at the formal public inaugural, January 21 at noon.

Please inform the President I will be honored to perform these functions. This is my fifth time, but the first "repeat."

I look forward to seeing you.

Cordially,

PRIVATE VILLA ON THE ISLAND OF SYROS – GREECE

If relaxing on sunny terraces overlooking the Aegean Sea from a cliff-top villa owned by an Irish baronet and far away from the tourist crowd sounds appealing – read on!

Sir Richard and Lady Musgrave, a delightful couple we met while shooting in Ireland, welcome small parties to their villa, Fili tou Anemou (Friend of the Wind), weekly from May through September when the Greek Islands enjoy nearly perfect weather. A private group of four to eight guests can experience a memorable and informal vacation of exploration and relaxation – the pace is up to you.

A typical week includes picnic excursions to nearby legendary islands, luncheon feasts at the local tavernas, quiet nights with a guitar, or an evening with the throbbing rhythms of “Zorba” music accompanied by inimitable Greek folk dancing – all interspersed with pleasant hours swimming, sunning, water skiing, wind surfing, or just relaxing while sipping a chilled wine.

An exceptional staff is on hand to attend to your needs and prepare memorable meals served on a sun-washed veranda. This unique vacation hideaway affords a splendid week enjoying a carefree lifestyle amidst the culture-rich historical heritage and beauty of the Aegean. Cost per person in a private party of four to eight is only $1,000.00 per week, all-inclusive.

CRUISE ABOARD THE “VIRGINIA ANNE” ON THE CANAL DU NIVERNAIS BURGUNDY REGION OF FRANCE

Last year, Frontiers proudly introduced the luxury barge for small chartered parties – THE VIRGINIA ANNE. This 99-foot, Dutch-built, 74-year old barge, tastefully refurbished and privately owned by Mr. Gerard Morgan-Grenville, maintains the highest standards for any barge cruising the French waterways. The BIG news this year is twofold:

1. The Virginia Anne will be moving from the Canal du Midi to the lush, ancient, wine-rich region of Burgundy, cruising the Nivernais Canal. This is surely the most beautiful navigable waterway in France. It is certainly our favorite.
2. You can incorporate a “mini-cruise” into any European itinerary by taking EITHER A 3-DAY OR 6-DAY CRUISE. Departures are Wednesday AND Saturday throughout the season. If the full 6-day cruise is your preference, you are merely seeing more of this scenic canal, combining two “3-day” itineraries into one longer sojourn.

The Nivernais stretches for 108 miles through scenery that is occasionally spectacular and always attractive, passing hill-top villages and old fortified farms between locks.

The Virginia Anne is the largest vessel (with the greatest passenger room space) able to negotiate the canal’s restrictive narrow and shallow passages. This gracious floating carriage is UNIQUE by accommodating your own private party of six persons maximum in three cabins – each with shower/bathroom to provide privacy rarely found in this special mode of travel.

As one would expect in France, each meal is a delight, served to Cordon Bleu standards, including regional specialties and complimentary local wines. The impeccable service provided by the all-British crew assures Virginia Anne passengers of individual attention, whether it be a desire to explore a cathedral along the way, or have a special omelet for breakfast – your every wish is their command. Daily excursion possibilities abound and the pace is up to you. A private minibus follows the barge’s progress along the canal for sightseeing to any village, shop, antique store, or local domaine. Access is frequently gained to privately-owned chateaus to sample their estate-bottled wine.

Perhaps the best part is taking time to “smell the roses” as you glide gently through the beautiful landscape of central France, reflecting on how “good” the “good life” is. Season is spring-autumn. Cost for a party of six $658.00 per person on a 3-day cruise and $1,233.00 per person, 6-day cruise.

Three Very Special, Very Exclusive Unique Vacation Ideas For the Most Discriminating Traveler

ROLLING THROUGH THE SCOTTISH HIGHLANDS ABOARD THE LUXURIOUS ROYAL SCOTSMAN TRAIN

Mention the words "luxury train" to any seasoned traveler and they'll respond with "South Africa's Blue Train, or the Orient Express." To that list we now proudly add THE ROYAL SCOTSMAN, making its maiden journey in May of 1985.

This prestigious train includes historic carriages from the late Victorian and Edwardian periods and covers over 1,000 miles of breathtaking Scottish countryside, while allowing the privileged passenger to enjoy the inimitable British style and service from the comfort of this rolling 5-star hotel. Gliding effortlessly through a constantly changing panorama, thoroughly relaxed in the restored elegance of antique coaches, and pampered with outstanding service, passengers will experience the highest point yet reached in luxury train travel.

Eight coaches, hauled by private locomotive (and, for you steam enthusiasts, a private 4-6-0 steam engine on the West Highland Line!) make up THE ROYAL SCOTSMAN, yet the maximum number of passengers has been limited to just 30 — an average of fewer than four per coach — which is unequalled on any train worldwide. Well-appointed private compartments, double the size of any we know of in Europe, include four which have their own private bathroom — also unique! The Dining Car is the oldest railway dining car in use in the world, built in 1891 for the London and North Western Railway.

In contrast to other "luxury" trains, THE ROYAL SCOTSMAN does NOT offer fast service to travel from point A to point B. This train will make a stately progress on little-used railway lines through the mountains and lochs of the Scottish Highlands — considered to be some of the world's most enchanting scenery. It will stop often to allow passengers to see many of the castles, battlefields, (and scotch distilleries!) for which this country is famous, using deluxe mini-vans which follow the train's itinerary.

An additional major difference to other celebrated trains is the individual attention paid to YOUR comfort: no cramped sleeping compartments, no hitching and unhitching of rail cars next to your pillow, you can have your own bathroom, and once you've paid for your journey, you can put away your wallet — there are NO bothersome extras in this all-inclusive price. If you'd like champagne for breakfast — simply ask.

The itinerary is divided into two three-day tours, a southern and northern route. Together, they make a standard six-day tour, covering different, equally interesting sections of Scotland. Departures are from Waverly Station, Edinburgh, on Wednesdays and Saturdays from mid-May through September. Per person cost for three days is $1,340.00, private bath supplement $480; the six-day itinerary is $2,380.00, private bath $860. THE ROYAL SCOTSMAN can be chartered with a minimum of 20 passengers.

Note: This company has operated the highly acclaimed private six-passenger train, the Highland Belle, which Frontiers guests have responded to this past season most enthusiastically. Frontiers has completely filled the 1985 Highland Belle departures and we're pleased that THE ROYAL SCOTSMAN will continue the same tradition of quality and excellence.

Canada Goose Shooting in New Zealand

February-March, May-June

New Zealand, a lovely country acclaimed for its fine trout fishing, is also now recognized as a great Canada goose shooting destination. South Island's best shooting operator, John Gemmell, has produced consistent and exhilarating waterfowl action for both Orvis and Frontiers representatives during the past two seasons. Itineraries can now combine John's high-quality shotgunning with incomparable angling for stealthy browns, or sightseeing throughout New Zealand or Australia.

Hordes of Canada geese nest in the mountains surrounding the beautiful alpine valleys near Hanmer Springs, where John and his charming wife, Robin, have built a cozy lodge with a spectacular view; here, guests reside in comfort close to the shooting and fishing areas.

Geese move into the fertile valleys to compete for grass and water during the first week in February; from February 14 to March 31, John is accepting small goose-shooting-only parties of up to four. The minimum stay for the shoot is four days at US$325.00 per day, based on double occupancy. With outstanding dry fly action available with John or elsewhere on South Island at this time, this option represents the ideal fly-fishing/bird-shooting combination during New Zealand's summer.

New Zealand's waterfowl season is closed during April, but from May 4-mid-June a mixed-bag of geese and ducks can be enjoyed from Gemmell's lodge; the daily rate during the second half of the season is US$375.00 per day. Late-season trout fishing at North Island's Tongariro Lodge can be combined with a week of South Island waterfowl gunning, and it's possible to include a stay at the Waikato River Lodge for ducks to extend the shooting on North Island.

Guns should not expect the volume available in Argentina, for example, but compared to Canada goose shooting anywhere in North America, limits are very, very generous. No visa is required for entry — passport only. Gun permits are easily obtained upon entry into New Zealand. The ideal party is four, but costs are based on a minimum of two.

Many different options can be offered to tailor-make the experience in New Zealand meet your objectives. Stops in Fiji, Tahiti, or Hawaii are possible — even a week at Christmas Island, the new bonefishing hot spot, can be included in your customized itinerary. We're certain you'll agree that New Zealand is a worthwhile shooting destination.

MEMO TO: Bird Shooting Clients

FROM: Mike Fitzgerald

Enclosed are several diverse bird shooting opportunities we are offering during the next eight months. We hope one or more might meet your objectives for an outstanding shooting experience.

1. Exotic dove shooting in Morocco. This year, the season begins May 18 (instead of early May), and we have booked the first two shoots. Remember, this is staying at the luxurious Golden Gazelle, one of our favorite hide-aways in all the world, while enjoying three days of wonderful gunning. Non-shooters will love this trip -- it includes two days in Marakech and Paris. Everything is included.

2. Fabulous mixed-bag wingshooting in Botswana . . . combined with excellent game viewing, all in classic safari country, May-September. Private aircraft travel throughout the itinerary allows you to maximize shooting and fishing time, while eliminating uncomfortable transport. Both upland birds and waterfowl shooting are available in two areas, combined with exciting tigerfish angling in the crystal-clear Okavango, to make this a fine overall African experience and a great value.

3. Canada goose shooting in New Zealand, combined with either trout fishing in February and March, or ducks in May and early June. John Gemmel runs a fine operation in Hamner Springs and offers very productive shooting. Minimum stay is only four days, and Frontiers can include other sightseeing or travel to make this a wonderful reason for shooters to now visit in New Zealand.

4. Outstanding private hunting ranch in Mexico -- truly trophy-quality whitetail deer hunting and excellent goose, duck, dove, and quail shooting. This is all available December 8-January 20. Bird shooting continues through the end of February. This combination has just become available with a maximum of only 30 shooters accommodated. Reservations must be finalized immediately since gun and license permits must be submitted no later than Nov. 28th.

The enclosed brochures will provide additional details. We look forward to hearing from you if we can be of service in finalizing arrangements for you in coming months.

DOVE SHOOTING IN EXOTIC MOROCCO

GREAT GUNNING AND GOOD LIVING...

We "discovered" Morocco in May, 1981, and our only regret is that it had not been ten years earlier. Ours was the first American shooting party hosted by Malik Laraichi and his staff, even though they've had a loyal following of knowledgeable European shooters since the 1960's. Somehow, the superb dove shooting in Morocco was a well-kept secret in the States – until now!

After the exploratory expedition being such a success, we operated full seasons the last two years with great results. Shooters and nonshooters both enjoyed the ideal blend of outstanding dove shooting sport, a beautiful climate, excellent accommodations and cuisine, a relaxed pace – all in a friendly, colorful country. We're pleased to invite you to join us this season.

The African turtle dove of Morocco is, we think, in a class by itself: more challenging in normal circumstances than whitewings, mourning doves, or even the eared dove of Colombia. They're fast, strong fliers after migrating as much as 2000 miles north from sub-Sahara countries to spend the spring and summer in the orange groves, olive groves, and grain fields on the fertile coastal plain of Morocco. These doves are very elusive and you'll enjoy fine pass shooting at its best.

Our parties will again stay at the Gazelle D'Or (the Golden Gazelle) and will virtually have it to ourselves. This is one of the unique hotels we've seen in all the world and is only about a half-hour from the dove fields. On entering the gates to the expansive grounds, you'll discover a different world – an oasis described as a small piece of paradise and only an hour-and-a-half after deplaning in Agadir.

You'll stay in comfortably-appointed, shaded stone bungalows overlooking 80 acres of flamboyant, palm-studded gardens with the snow-capped Atlas Mountains rising majestically beyond. Reflecting pools and fountains intersperse showers of hibiscus, oleander, poinsettias, roses and geraniums surrounding outdoor dining patios and a sparkling swimming pool. All of this can be enjoyed during bright sunny days with low humidity and temperatures most likely in the upper 70's, then cool starlit nights.

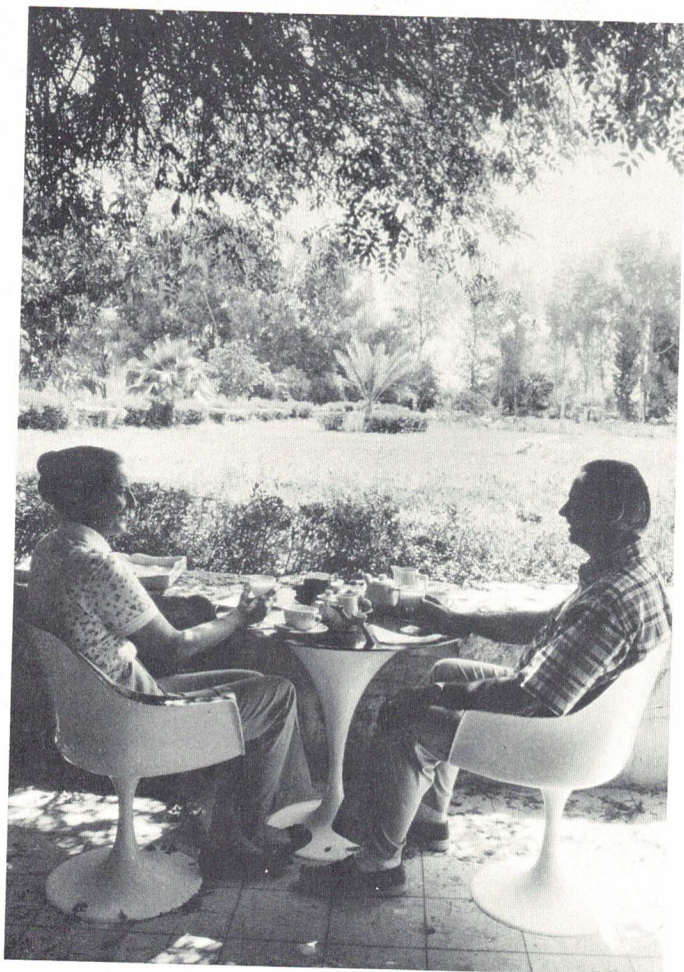

Interior, Gazelle D'Or

... IN A COLORFUL, FRIENDLY COUNTRY

Morocco has a well-deserved reputation for a great heritage of cuisine, blending the interesting elements of local dishes with Spanish and Arabic influences, all with the distinct overriding traditions of French cooking. Breakfasts highlighting steaming, homemade croissants and orange-blossom honey served on your porch-patio with the sun rising over the mountains — relaxing six-course luncheons in the gardens — dinners by candlelight in a Moorish dining room — all are part of life at the Gazelle D'Or.

Our program provides six dove shoots through three shooting days, and most people use over a half-case of shells a day. There is no problem taking guns to Morocco — we will handle the necessary paperwork, and customs clearance was smooth. Malik Laraichi provides high-quality European plastic shotshells at a reasonable price in either 12- or 20-gauge.

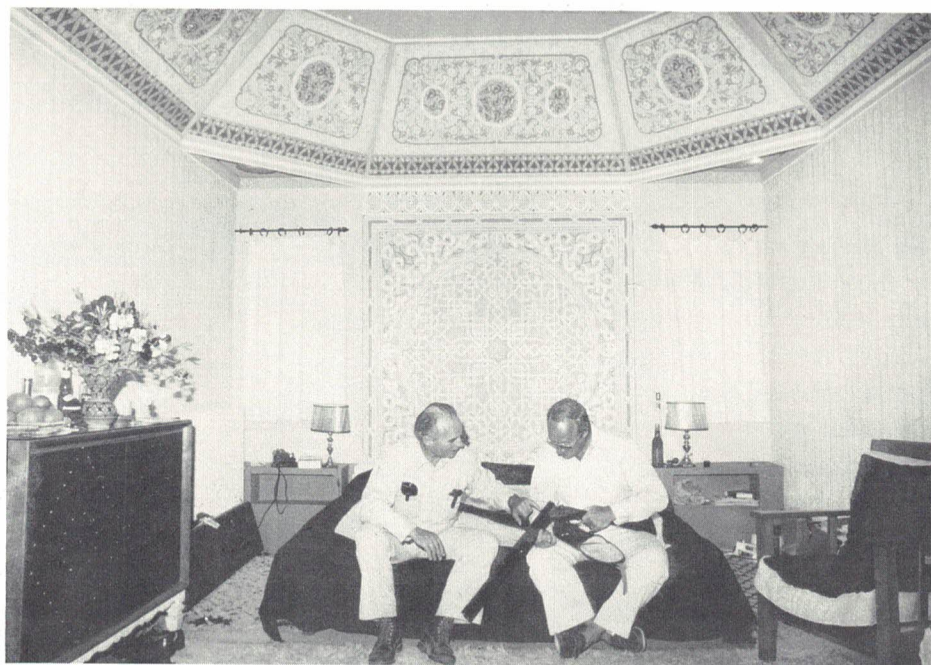

Breakfast on bungalow porch at Golden Gazelle

Bargains in copper and brass at Marakesh

While we're certain the shotgunner will find dove shooting in Morocco to meet expectations, we are equally sure that nonshooting companions will delight in our program. Nonshooters will have their own capable guide and transportation available at all times, and the sights and shopping nearby are great. Taroudant, a classic walled city dating from the 11th century, is only five minutes away and one can explore endlessly the souks (markets) for beautiful caftans, carpets, brass and copper, leather, and beautiful spices. Then, too, we've added two nights in the fabled city of Marakesh and its famous Mamounia Hotel.

In 1985, we offer two departures in prime time of the short Moroccan dove season, during the month of May when the doves are at their peak and the weather beautiful. A Frontiers staff member will be in Morocco throughout the season to look after every need of our guests. With only two trips planned, space is limited and we must advise early reservations. We hope you can join us for an unforgettable spring shoot and good living in sunny, colorful Morocco!

THE SHOOT

Three days of dove hunting in Morocco, with both morning and late afternoon shoots, provides high-volume gunning at a relaxed, comfortable pace. The African wood dove flies in great numbers about two hours in the morning from 7 until 9 o'clock, and again in even greater numbers from 5 o'clock to 7 in early evening. During these periods, the action is normally hot and heavy. Most people last year felt this was just about enough shooting, and we all enjoyed the relaxing midday breaks and felt well rested. It was great not to have to face the scorching sun and oppressive heat, together with the excessive recoil syndrome often associated with quality dove shooting.

The average shell consumption was about half a case during four shooting hours, although this will vary upward with many shooters. Most shoots are at passing birds, and they are difficult to hit — the Moroccan dove seemed to us to be unusually fast and elusive.

Our Moroccan host, Malik Laraichi, is a fine shotgunner himself and has seen the best shooting that Europe and other parts of Africa have to offer. He takes pride in exposing his guests to shooting that matches their ability. He'll accommodate less experienced guns, with concentrated shooting at feeding fields, and will challenge the guns who want the best sport dove shooting can offer, with high-passing birds. Malik and his staff scout flight patterns constantly and know the fields being harvested, the roosting areas, and right where to put the guns.

Malik is well equipped to handle a large number of shooters, even 20 guns at a time. He has the vehicles and staff to do this efficiently, and some 23 different shooting areas available within close proximity to the Gazelle D'Or. There is plenty of elbow room for good shooting and good safety.

A straw basket that makes a unique shell bag is provided, along with baskets for the harvested doves. Each hunter is furnished a small wicker shooting stool for comfort in the field. Soft drinks and beer in coolers are taken to the field. Every gun is assigned pick-up boys, sometimes more than are necessary, and an all-out effort is made to recover downed birds. The doves are utilized as a food source by villagers in the area.

Because of the tremendous number of birds, they do great damage to some crops raised by farmers who can ill afford losses; thus, the few shooters each year are welcomed by landowners, even though the total harvest of doves makes no impact on the population. The Moroccan game department limits shooting to three days a week during the short season.

On a typical double-shoot day, breakfast is available at six in the morning served in the dining room or in your room. At six-thirty, it's off to the dove fields. Shooting generally begins no later than seven and may last until nine-thirty. After that, return to the Golden Gazelle for a second breakfast, a little more sleep or a swim before lunch on the patio at 1 o'clock. Hunters depart for the afternoon shoot at four-thirty, generally lasting until seven or seven-thirty. The shooting terrain is easy with very little walking required, so older, less active hunters will have no problem with the pace.

Shotguns used are a matter of personal preference, but should be 12- or 20-gauge due to ammunition availability. Many prefer automatics on this type of shoot because of lighter recoil and the good shells, but if you bring an automatic, a back-up gun is suggested. Doubles should have automatic ejectors. The matter of choke is debatable — last season, guns in our party were shooting everything from skeet to improved modified, and all seemed to be happy because of the great variety of shooting distances and conditions encountered. We would suggest a more open choke rather than a tighter one, if you have a choice.

A very pleasant surprise was the excellent quality German, French and Italian shotshells available. All were plastic hull and no one had any malfunction problems of any consequence, even with automatics. The shells in Morocco are more reasonable than we've seen in any foreign country in recent years. The cost can only be estimated, but last season they were $9.50 a box.

Dress in the field is whatever is comfortable in lightweight, muted colors like khaki, beige or camouflage. Mornings can be cool enough that a chamois shirt will feel good for the first hour or so. Lightweight, comfortable, ankle-height shoes are all you need, since walking is limited and easy. We experienced no insect problems of any kind, but you should have sun protection if you're sun-sensitive, even though shooting is early and late. Dress at the Gazelle D'Or is very informal for lunch and even dinner. We will provide a complete list of suggested clothing and equipment and take care of processing necessary hunting license/gun registration forms.

Happy hunters at day's end

THE ITINERARY

1985 DEPARTURES — MAY 16 & MAY 23

Day 1, Thursday — Evening departure from New York via Pan Am nonstop 747 service to Paris.

Day 2, Friday — Arrive Charles De Gaulle Airport, Paris; then connect with Royal Air Maroc jet service to Agadir, departing 10:45 a.m., arriving early afternoon. You'll be met by Malik Laraichi and staff for the short transfer to the Gazelle D'Or, where your rooms are waiting. Afternoon at leisure to rest. Tonight a welcoming dinner at the Golden Gazelle.

Days 3-5, Saturday-Monday — Shooting days with morning and afternoon dove shoots.

Day 6, Tuesday — Day at leisure to rest and relax on the beautiful grounds of the Gazelle D'Or. Optional sightseeing and shopping is available for hunters. Tonight a special dinner is planned in a dazzling, luxurious Moroccan tent, with colorful entertainment by local troupes. This will be an evening which will live brightly in your memories!

Day 7, Wednesday — After breakfast, depart the Golden Gazelle for the scenic drive over good roads through the Atlas Mountains, arriving early afternoon at the fabled city of Marakesh and its famous hotel, the Mamounia. Lunch by the pool; afternoon sightseeing. Dinner and overnight.

Day 8, Thursday — Day in Marakesh with private guide and transportation for sightseeing, shopping and a special lunch in a private home. At sunset, we've planned the traditional horse and carriage ride through the tranquil parks and French Quarter of the city and among the pulsating souks of the old city. Tonight an exotic dinner and floor show in the Medina. Overnight Hotel Mamounia.

Day 9, Friday — Midday departure Royal Air Maroc's flight to Paris, arriving about 6 p.m. Meeting and transfer to the deluxe Bristol Hotel for gala private gourmet dinner and overnight.

NOTE FOR NONSHOOTERS: Throughout the itinerary in Morocco, a competent English-speaking guide (Abdul, our favorite last year) will be at your disposal with private transport to explore the fascinating sightseeing and shopping in Taroudant, Agadir, and other areas nearby.

Malik positioning a shooter

Day 10, Saturday — The day is yours to explore the delights of Paris in the springtime, with dinner on your own at one of the great Parisian restaurants. Overnight Hotel Bristol.

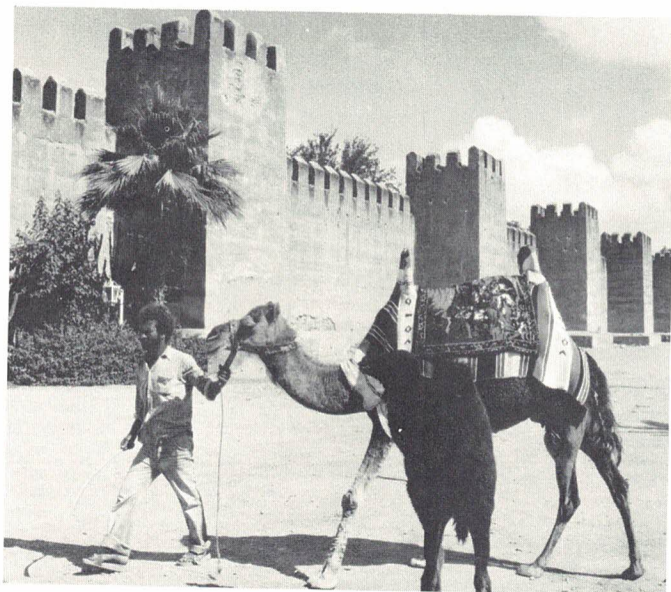

Day 11, Sunday — Morning at leisure. Late morning transfer to Charles De Gaulle Airport for 1 p.m. flight via Pan Am 747 nonstop service to New York.

*ITINERARY OPTIONS (Cost quoted on request)

1. It's possible to join these parties for just the 3-day shooting itinerary only. However, it is imperative that you fly with the shooting party on the direct Paris/Agadir flight on Friday, Day 2, for gun clearance procedures to work smoothly.

2. Another option, which we recommend, would be to fly to Paris on Wednesday evening, overnight and spend the day in Paris, joining the party on Friday departure flight to Agadir. This would be a more relaxed itinerary and allow you to arrive rested in Morocco.

3. Extensions to other cities in Morocco can be arranged.

WINGSHOOTING SAFARI

~Presented By: Frontiers~

in cooperation with

Enjoy The Finest Mixed-Bag Wingshooting And Safari Living.

After experiencing the Frontiers bird shooting safari with Safari South in Botswana, one is often at a loss for words to describe the outstanding shotgunning, the kaleidoscope of wildlife, the classic safari living, the colorful sights and sounds which can only be called "The African Experience." Most importantly, shooting time is maximized by utilizing Safari South's excellent charter aircraft to efficiently transfer you from camp to camp, instead of facing long time-consuming and dusty overland drives between shooting areas. We believe this safari is the finest overall value and most stimulating bird shooting program we've offered in our outdoors world. It is equally appealing to nonshooters who enjoy wildlife and being outdoors.

Where else in the world can you hunt birds in the middle of big game country and enjoy a superbly equipped camp stocked with fine food and a large selection of domestic and imported wines and liquors. After a long day in the African bush, you will really appreciate the luxuries of camp life — iced drinks and hors d'oeuvres — as you relax by the campfire and relive the day's events in the company of fellow hunters.

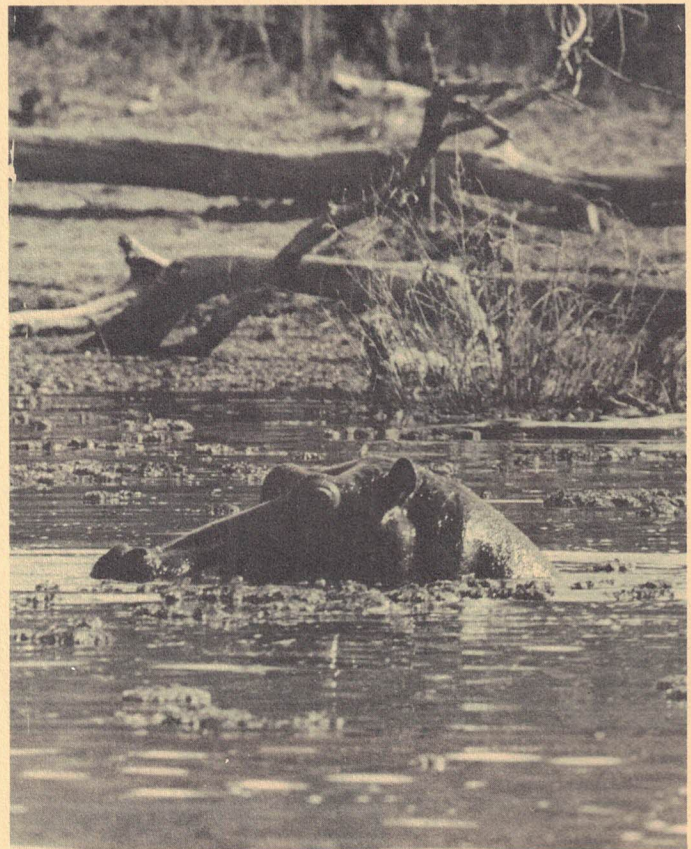

This is a trip-of-a-lifetime — and you can do it for no more than a quality one-week European driven shoot, yet you'll shoot more birds, a greater variety, have more shooting days and enjoy twelve memorable days in Botswana — all of this with the backdrop of an unexploited area in Africa.

BOTSWANA

This is one of the last great safari countries in Africa. Botswana is about the size of France, is in southern Africa and offers one of the most pleasant climates anywhere during the shooting season, June-October. It is a politically stable, peace-loving country which has been spared the exploitation and turmoil of other parts of southern Africa. Botswana is one of the least densely populated countries on earth and its people have set aside more land for national parks and game reserves than any other region in Africa. It is composed of two areas you've likely heard of — the enormous Kalahari Desert and the lush Okavango Delta — and in these vast contrasting areas live a profusion of magnificent wild animals, bountiful birdlife and colorful tribal elements.

Types Of Shooting

Sandgrouse — These pigeon-size birds abound in Botswana, inhabit dry country and flock to watering points in the morning and evening. They fly fast in packs of six to fifty birds with a rapid, twisting and turning flight. This provides spectacular hot-barrel shooting.

Doves and Pigeons — Dove shooting in Botswana is as good as anywhere in the world. Cape turtle doves come to water by the thousands and provide outstanding morning and evening high pass-shooting.

Guinea Fowl and Francolin — These ground birds are the equivalent of our pheasants and partridge and are there in great numbers. They are hunted two ways in Botswana — conventional walk-up shooting with a line of guns and beaters advancing through flat country with good cover, or with a line of beaters driving the birds toward positioned guns. Both ways are enjoyable and consistently productive.

Duck and Goose Shooting — Botswana is rich in waterfowl, but like wild waterfowl anywhere, they are unpredictable. In the first half of the season, the waterfowl shooting must be thought of as a bonus, but in the second half of the season, from August to October, it can be excellent for eight species of ducks and the big Egyptian and spurwing geese.

Landlocked, Botswana is blessed with water and a very temperate climate. It is virtually flat at an average elevation of 3000 feet and, with seasons reversed from ours, the weather during the hunting season is usually wonderful. April and May are still fairly warm, the winter months of June-August characterized by crystal clear blue skies, crisp mornings, and evenings which can sometimes get cold and warm sunny days with little humidity. September to October are generally warm to hot during the day but pleasantly cool in the evenings.

When in the Kalahari, you will find this not a true desert — it is a sandy sea of grass and scrub where salt pans are focal points for wandering game herds. The Okavango Delta, known as the pearl of Africa, is an inland flood plain of crystal clear water over firm white sand. Contrasts are memorable and the weather throughout is attractive and insect problems minimal.

The Botswana Expedition is a great trip for a family or group of friends to experience together. However, we can combine individuals and parties of two's and three's to build the minimum departure of seven.

OPTIONAL EXTENSIONS: This safari is ideal for nonshooters to accompany. On request, Frontiers will make suggestions for further travel in Africa . . . a visit to Cape Town, staying at Mountain Shadows; to Durban or Zululand; a relaxing stay at the deluxe Mala Mala Safari Lodge, or perhaps an overnight excursion on the famous Blue Train operating between Johannesburg and Cape Town. This year, Victoria Falls is offered either as a day-trip charter during your safari or at the end of the shooting itinerary.

Mr. Michael Deaver
Assistant to the President and Deputy Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. Deaver:

Enclosed is a mailing I recently received from California party Chairman Ed Reinecke. The context of the letter is an understandable result of duplicate mailing lists, however, I absolutely resent the letter's nature.

California is a key GOP state yet our position there might easily be reversed. Securing additional support for the '86 elections will be difficult enough without such caustic antagonism by outgoing state party chairmen.

Aware of your long involvement in California politics, I am appealing to you in hopes of preventing any future mailings of this type.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

Wm. M. Macfadyen

Ed Reinecke
Chairman
California Republican Party

My dear friend:

This will be the last time I will write you as Chairman of the California Republican Party.

Within just a matter of weeks, Vice Chairman Mike Antonovich is scheduled to begin his term as Chairman and lead our State Party into the critically important elections of 1986.

But before I begin packing up the photographs, letters and other mementoes of my thirty years in active Republican Party politics, I wanted to write you one last time for two reasons.

First, I wanted to say thank you.

Even though we did not hear from you this year, the financial support you've given to the California Republican Party in years past served as the seed which grew into our dramatic victory this past November 6.

Because you were there long ago when we needed you, the Party grew stronger than ever this year, enabling us to make gains in the State Assembly and House of Representatives.

Most important of all, it meant we had the momentum we needed to re-elect Ronald Reagan to a second term.

Of course, winning this victory without your support wasn't easy.

And that brings me to my second reason for writing you now.

You see, I am still curious why we didn't receive your help in this historic campaign year.

When I became Chairman nearly two years ago, the outgoing Chairman indicated to me you had been one of the Party's best supporters in years past.

And he said your help would again be critical in putting together the funds we needed for our Presidential victory drive.

Within just the first weeks of my term, I saw what he meant.

The California Republican Party receives nearly 90% of its support from men and women who are willing to commit $15, $25, $50 or $100 each year to help us fund the programs that our candidates depend on to win.

(Over, please)

We simply don't have access to the huge checks spent by limousine liberals on left-wing Democrat candidates like Willie Brown and Tom Hayden.

Instead, we survive on the funds from committed Republicans and conservatives like you who are willing to join us in the fight to keep our taxes low, our defenses strong and government off our backs.

That is why I mailed you a Presidential Campaign Year membership card in January, with a reminder in March.

Then, when more time went by, I asked leaders such as Governor Deukmejian, Vice President Bush and President Reagan to write you on behalf of the State Party as well.

Yet, when I went over the records which list our many supporters this year, I was disappointed when I realized that, for some reason I can't determine, we haven't heard from you all year.

There's always a chance you may have sent a check, but it was somehow misfiled or did not reach us.

Or, it could be that you've made contributions to other organizations, thinking your support went directly to the California Republican Party.

But my gravest concern is this:

I sincerely hope you haven't decided to turn your back on President Reagan and the Republican Party.

Frankly, I don't believe you have.

But, as I finish out my term, I must let our new Chairman know who he can rely on during his upcoming term.

And at this moment, we still list you as "inactive".

That's why I thought I would make this one last request.

You see, even though election day has come and gone, the Party still needs your help very, very much.

During the closing weeks of the campaign, the polls showed our Party had a chance to pick up several key seats in the state legislature and Congress.

As you know, the Democrats have so thoroughly gerrymandered California's voting districts that no one expected the Republican Party to gain any seats at all.

What was worse, the decision by the big eastern news media to make voting projections before the polls closed in California made us afraid many Republican voters may stay home, thinking the election was over.

Continued . . .

We couldn't let Ronald Reagan or any of our candidates go down to defeat simply because Dan Rather, Tom Brokaw and Peter Jennings wanted to be "first" with the election night tally.

So, in the final weeks of the campaign, I decided we needed to contact Republican and other "swing" voters one last time and urge them to turn out.

The cost of our last-minute mailings, phone banks and door-to-door drives was nearly $321,000.

And, because others had supported the Party all year, we had all but the last $79,000 we needed.

Even though I knew that the spending of this final $321,000 would mean the Party would face a small debt, I had no other choice.

I simply could not let our President be defeated in his home state.

So, I went ahead and made the most difficult decision of my term as Chairman.

And now I must find some way to pay off this extra, unforeseen bill of $79,000.

That is why I am turning to you now.

Couldn't you send the California Republican Party just $25 now?

Even $20 or $15 would help.

But, if you and the others I am writing will each send $25, I am certain we will have the funds to pay off this small balance and close the books on our 1984 campaign.

More important, your check for $25 will place you back on our 1984 "Active" list as a sustaining member of good standing in the California Republican Party.

And, if you'll send your check for $25 or more before December 31, two things will happen:

1. I will gladly present you with our official 1984 Certificate of Merit which identifies you as a key Party supporter in this Presidential election year.
2. By contributing to the Party before December 31, you can take a tax credit of as much as $12.50 when you file your 1984 tax returns.

Most important of all, you'll be helping the California Republican Party at a time when your support is critically needed.

As I mentioned earlier, this letter marks the end of nearly thirty years in active Republican Party politics for me.

(Over, please)

Thanks to the help of individuals just like yourself, I have been privileged to serve in the United States House of Representatives.

In addition, I was with Ronald Reagan, serving as Lieutenant Governor, in the days when the Reagan revolution first began.

Now, in the closing days of my term as California Republican Chairman, it's terribly important to me to leave our Party in strong financial shape.

We've won many victories this year. Ronald Reagan was elected by a 49-state landslide; we helped in the national drive to pick up new Republican congressional seats; and we even made gains in the California State Legislature.

I know that, now that the election is over, it would be the easiest thing in the world for you to put my letter aside and let someone else cover the cost of our campaign success.

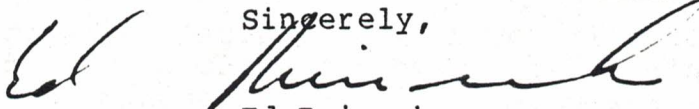

But, you've been a key part of the growth and success that enabled us to remain strong.

And, your donation now, at the end of this year, will help us remain strong in the tough elections to come.

So, won't you please use the reply form and envelope I have enclosed and show your support once more for President Reagan and the California Republican Party?

Please, let me know your answer now.

Sincerely,

Ed Reinecke
Chairman

P.S. In 1986, Governor Deukmejian will be running for re-election, probably against someone like Tom Bradley.

Willie Brown is hoping to consolidate his power in 1986 by contributing millions to left-wing puppet candidates.

And, tired liberals like Alan Cranston will be campaigning hard to keep his Senate seat under the control of the left-wing of the national Democrat Party.

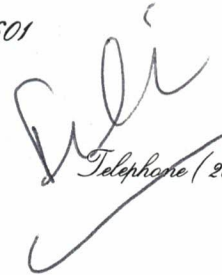

We can't let our Governor lose. And we can't afford to let the liberals gain more power. But, to get started for 1986, we must finish the work of 1984.

Please, take a moment now to send your check for $25 to the California Republican Party today. We truly need your help.

Dear Mr. Deaver,

After several telephone calls I was told that you were the "advance man" who set up the unexpected visit to our Nursing Home this past October by the President.

First of all let me say that I am the envy of every Activity Director in Bergen County. Not many Activity Directors could swing the President of the United States as an activity event. I thank you!

Enclosed is the Activity Departments Christmas card. I hope that you have the happiest holiday ever and I just want you to know that you've made some Senior Citizens and an Activity Director in Hackensack very very happy.

Many thanks,

Mr. Deaver had a call from Senator Grassly yesterday re: the President meeting with Anatole or Avital Shcharansky.

Would it be possible for you to call Sen. Grassly -- or advise us of the status of this request.

Thanks.

Chris Lehman:

Please call Sen. Grassley and tell him we (NSC) will handle the Shcharansky meeting. Coordinate first with Jack Matlock. Basic point is that we do not think a Presidential meeting is appropriate at this point, but Mrs. Shcharansky will be seen.

Dear Mr. Deaver:

While we are naturally disappointed that the President and Vice President cannot join us for our prayer service on Sunday, January 20, I certainly understand the many reasons for the decision that was made. In light of this decision, I have changed the hour of our prayer service from 9:00 to 12:00 noon, and we are inviting our 19,000 parishes to join with us, almost literally, before the President and Vice President take the oath of office.

As you may gather, I am very proud of the National Shrine. Hopefully, sometime in the future, when things quiet down, I would like to give you a "Murray tour," (brief or long), when your schedule permits. Finally, I want to convey my deep appreciation for the consideration given to our invitation and express my hope that the National Shrine may be considered for some future events.

With the warmest of wishes for a joyous and blessed Christmas season.

Sincerely,

Monsignor Harrold A. Murray

Dear Mike:

Please accept my apologies for the article that appeared in the Washington Post on Sunday, December 9, 1984. In early 1981 I prepared a list of individuals with whom I had worked with on the Presidential campaign and were later appointed to public office. Our staff while preparing resumes for our key clients, enclosed a list of references which your name appeared. When I found out that this was being used improperly, I instructed this use to be discontinued. During the past week the Post began questioning the use of the list of references that had been used by Gnau, Carter, Jacobsen. I was completely unaware that the brochure or list was still in existence.

Regarding the Indian controversy, I am aware of no improprieties. Both Mr. Jacobsen, former President and CEO and Mr. Blanchard, Vice President are no longer with the firm.

I am appreciative of your past support Mike, and again my sincere apology.

Sincerely,

Dear Mike:

Because of my handling a West Coast Federal Court case and a tremendous amount of travel since November 6, this note is tardy, for which I apologize.

I want you to know, as an American, how much I appreciate the very great effort you put forth which helped make possible the tremendous triumph for the finest President in our nation's modern history.

I felt that we were going to "win," Mike, but you helped make it decisive, and in a truly "big way," through some very skilful efforts, and over a considerable period of time.

Mike, one of these days, some of my colleagues and I would like to talk with you regarding the election of 1986. We cannot afford to have the usual "off Presidential year" losses in the House and Senate. Rather, I feel with some good research and very advanced planning, we can capture added Seats in both Chambers. I have some thoughts on this, as do my colleagues, and as we express ourselves in this manner, we do so strictly in the interest of our Party and above all, in behalf of our great President. I feel, Mike, that this work should start in January.
