MEMORANDUM

NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL

January 7, 1985

MEMORANDUM FOR MICHAEL K. DEEVER

FROM: ROBERT M. KIMMITT RM

SUBJECT: James Forrestal Memorial Award for the President

We see no particular problem with the President accepting the James Forrestal Memorial Award (Tab A). It should be noted, however, that other than the first (1954) recipient -- President Eisenhower -- all subsequent award winners have been of less stature.

JAMES FORRESTAL MEMORIAL AWARD

History

The James Forrestal Memorial Award for outstanding service to the Nation was established by the Executive Committee of the National Security Industrial Association on 12 March 1954. At this meeting Mr. Frank M. Folsom was appointed Chairman and Mr. C. C. Felton was appointed Vice-Chairman of a Committee to prepare procedures and rules for selecting the recipients, determining the type of award, and preparing the citation for each recipient. The rules are as follows:

RULES

Article I

Name

This award shall be known as the James Forrestal Memorial Award and shall be evidenced by the Forrestal Memorial Medal.

Article II

Purpose

The James Forrestal Memorial Award shall be the highest honor bestowed by the National Security Industrial Association. It may be awarded annually to that person who has most effectively applied Mr. Forrestal's ideals of a close working relationship between government and industry to the concepts and requirements of National Security.

Article III

Eligibility

The award shall be made not more frequently than once each year to that person who, in the opinion of the Committee, meets the standard set forth in Article II. The recipient of the award shall be a citizen of the United States of America and may be from the Military Services, Government or Industry.

Article IV

Selection Committee

(a) This Committee shall be known as the James Forrestal Memorial Award Committee and shall be responsible for selecting the recipient, determining the type of award and preparing the accompanying citation.

(b) The Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the National Security Industrial Association shall appoint the first Chairman and the first Vice-Chairman of the James Forrestal Memorial Award Committee who will jointly have the authority to appoint the necessary sub-committees

(c) The James Forrestal Memorial Award Committee shall consist of the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, the President and the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Association and eight (8) additional members selected by the Executive Committee of the Association from among the members of the Association. Four (4) shall initially be designated to serve for one (1) year and the additional four (4) to serve for two (2) years.

The Executive Committee shall annually select four (4) such members to serve for two (2) years. The President of the Association shall serve as permanent Secretary of the Award Committee. No member of the Award Committee shall be appointed for two (2) consecutive terms.

(d) The Chairman of the Board of Trustees shall, after the introductory year, appoint the Chairman of the Award Committee from among the holdover members of the Award Committee. He shall also appoint the Vice-Chairman of the Award Committee from among the newly appointed members of such Committee.

Article V

Selection of Recipient

(a) Nominating Procedure

Nominations shall be made by member companies, regular committees and chapters of the National Security Industrial Association on forms furnished by the Association and describe the nominees' accomplishments in five hundred words or less. Each nomination must be signed by the Official Representative of the company, by the Chairman of the NSIA committee or by the President of the chapter submitting it, as the case may be. Each company, committee and chapter may propose not more than three nominees in each year, one from each of the categories mentioned in Article II, listing them in order of preference. Additional nominations may be made by the Award Committee.

(b) Method of Selection

If more than fifteen nominations are submitted, a sub-committee will be appointed by the Chairman of the James Forrestal Memorial Award Committee to review all nominations, obtain any additional information required, and select the ten most eligible candidates for the award.

The Award Committee shall meet and review the ten recommendations of the sub-committee, or all nominations if there are less than fifteen, and select an individual to receive the award. Final selection will be by unanimous vote of the Committee members present and voting.

(c) Basis for Selection

The primary consideration in selecting the recipient of the award shall be his performance in the preceding calendar year in promoting national security. Secondary consideration may be given, however, to a nominee's long term contribution in these fields.

In choosing the award winner, the Committee shall be guided solely by merit; and if it is the Committee's opinion that no outstanding contribution has been made by any individual, the Committee is not required to select a recipient.

Article VI

Presentation of Award

The award shall be formally conferred by the Chairman of the James Forrestal Memorial Award Committee at the Annual Forrestal Dinner of the National Security Industrial Association unless otherwise determined by the Executive Committee.

Article VI

Publicity

Publicity for the James Forrestal Memorial Award Committee shall be handled by the established public relations channels of the NSIA, it being the responsibility of the Association to give adequate publicity to the award through the various media.

Article VIII

Changes in Rules

These rules may be changed by majority action of the Executive Committee of the National Security Industrial Association. When a change is proposed the Chairman of the Executive Committee shall cause ballots to be prepared which clearly set forth the proposed changes and shall poll the membership of the Executive Committee by mail. If the proposed change is approved by written vote of the majority of the whole Executive Committee these rules shall be deemed to have been changed accordingly.

Any member of the Association desiring a change in the rules may secure a vote by the Executive Committee by first obtaining ten signatures to his petition from voting members of the Association and then submitting such petition in a letter to the Chairman of the Executive Committee.

(As amended by the Executive Committee 8 November 1967)
