MEMORANDUM FOR: MICHAEL K. DEEVER
FROM: FREDERICK J. RYAN, JR. FJR
SUBJECT: Presidential Themes and Events February through May 1985

The suggested Presidential theme for this period would be "The Future" with a focus on such sub-themes as Education, High Tech, and Economic Growth. By continuing to take this "high road" approach, the President would be above the fray of the criticisms by special interest groups over budget cuts. Each Cabinet Officer would be given responsibility for dealing with complaints about budget cuts in their areas of responsibility while the President focuses on the positive side of the budget.

THE FUTURE

Ronald Reagan should be presented as the man who is uniquely capable of preparing America for the Twenty-first century. Since he was overwhelmingly re-elected he cannot be accused of acting out of political considerations. He should emerge as the man who is charting America's course into the Twenty-first century. In response to Congressional criticism, the President would point out that a Congressman's calendar abruptly ends in 1986 while his calendar goes to the year 2000 and beyond. (I'm sure the speech writers could put some good lines together for the President to make this point clear.)

EDUCATION

I believe that the time is right for another focus on Education as we did last year. This would be a good way to continue the President's positive relationship with young people and would be a key component of the President's program to prepare America for the Twenty-first century.

HIGH TECHNOLOGY

This sub-theme is particularly suitable since it highlights the industry of the Future and is an area that fares well under our economic package. It is important that the President demonstrate that High Technology has benefits for all Americans, not just those in computer related industries. He should be highlighting the applications of high technology in a variety of areas -- such as, health care, agriculture, and manufacturing.

The following proposed events are designed to highlight the above themes:

Dick with comments:
(YES)

1. Meeting with David Gardner, Chairman of the Commission on Excellence in Education [February 26, 1985]

As discussed previously, this would be an opportunity to re-launch our emphasis on excellence in education. We may want to include some members of the original Presidential Commission. They would review what progress has been made since their report was issued as well as begin a program to design an education system to prepare us for the challenges of the Twenty-first century.

- (YES-TIE INTO VOUCHERS)
2. Address the National Association of Independent Schools Washington, D.C [February 28, 1985]

This forum would provide an opportunity for the President to speak to 5000 educators on the role that individual schools will have in designing an agenda for the Twenty-first century.

- (YES)
3. Attend the Howard University Convocation - Washington, D.C [March 1, 1985]

Every year Howard University holds a special convocation to commemorate its founding by act of Congress in 1867. This would be a positive ground on which the President could express his concern that blacks enjoy the economic progress that is reaching the rest of America.

- (CAUTION:
May be problems
re: student loans)
4. Address the American Association of University Students' National Conference - Boulder, Colorado [March 2, 1985]

The President could speak to this organization about the role of the student in our nation's education system.

- (YES)
5. Attend the Launching of the Space Shuttle - Orlando, Florida [March 3, 1985]

This would be the first time in history that an American President has attended the launching of a space vehicle. The crew on this mission will include Senator Jake Garn as well as female astronaut Rhea Seddon. In order to avoid possible problems that frequently accompany these launchings, the President could arrive in Florida the evening before to give his address. In that way, if the launch is postponed the next morning, the President will have been able to get his message out.

- (YES-Plays on Growth Theme)
6. Address the Association of College Entrepreneurs - Dallas, Texas
[March 15, 1985]
- This event provides an opportunity for the President to speak to young people who share his interest in promoting entrepreneurship.
- (YES-May want to do it as a positive measure after the Budget Battle)
7. Announce the "Commission on the Twenty-first Century"
[March 26, 1985]
- This would be a blue-chip group charged by the President to make recommendations for ways to better prepare America for the challenge of the Twenty-first century. It could be announced in a Rose Garden or East Room event.
- (YES)
8. Lunch with Innovators in High Tech Applications - Cabinet Room
[March 27, 1985]
- In order to brief the President and raise public awareness on the many applications of high tech, we could schedule a luncheon briefing in the Cabinet Room. This would include individuals who are applying high-technology techniques to traditional fields -- such as, manufacturing, textiles, construction, health sciences, etc.
- (YES)
9. Address National Space Club Luncheon - Washington, D.C.
[March 29, 1985]
- The National Space Club was formed in 1957 for the purpose of promoting U.S. leadership in the field of astronautics. Each year, the Goddard Memorial Trophy is presented to the individual who has made a major contribution to the development and exploration of space. This year, we have been informed that Ronald Reagan may be the first President in history to receive it. Although they have invited him to a black-tie dinner on the evening of March 29, we would suggest that the event be change to a luncheon.
- (Questionable because of Budget cuts)
10. Address the National Association of School Boards - Anaheim, California [April 1, 1985]
- Over 22,000 local school board members are expected to attend this annual convention. The President could speak to them about the importance of the local community's role in shaping our country's educational system.

- (Questionable because of Budget cuts) 11. Address the National Association of Elementary School Principals - Denver, Colorado [April 2, 1985]

This forum of school principals may be a good opportunity to focus on the role that early education has on school children. It should be pointed out that a child who entered elementary school last fall will be graduating from college in the year 2000.

- (YES) 12. Visit Genetech Company - San Francisco, California [April 5, 1985]

While en route to the Ranch, the President could drop by San Francisco to visit this high-tech health research facility. This company is on the cutting edge of using high technology in the battle to eliminate disease. This event would dramatize the fact that high tech has benefits in a wide variety of areas.

- (YES) 13. Address the National Catholic Education Association - St. Louis, Missouri [April 10, 1985]

This would provide a good forum for the President to push his tuition tax credit program. Over 12, 000 Catholic school leaders are expected to attend this national convention.

- (YES) 14. Attend the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Ringling Brothers' Circus - D.C. Armory [April 15, 1985]

This traditional American event would be an opportunity for the President to entertain the students from Martin Luther King School, which the White House has "adopted." A special performance has been set for the morning of April 15 for school children from D.C. schools.

- (YES) 15. Presentation of Medals of Freedom - White House [April 19, 1985]

This event would continue the theme of focusing on America's greatness. We may want to emphasize those whose accomplishments have resulted in the long-term benefit of mankind when selecting the Medal of Freedom recipients.

- (YES) 16. Commencement Address to U.S. Naval Academy - [May 22, 1985]

The President could give an address on the importance of education and national defense.

- (YES) 17. Presidential Address to High School Graduation Ceremonies - [May through June 1985]

With a minimal amount of the President's time, we could have his address reach every high school graduation ceremony in the country. An audiotape could be recorded and a copy distributed to every high school in America. Then, when the commencement ceremony takes place, it could be played through the public address system. This would be a means of reaching millions of young Americans on such an important day in their lives.

- (Good idea but only if it can be controlled) 18. Students' News Conference - [Date TBD]

In place of or in addition to the normal press conference during a particular month, the President could hold a satellite "News Conference" with our nations' college students. By teleconference, the President could address and answer questions from students at hundreds of college campuses across the country. Many college campuses currently have the technology to participate in satellite teleconferences. For those that do not have such equipment, with sufficient planning, I'm sure that arrangements could be made through an existing nation-wide satellite network such as Holiday Inn.

- (YES) 19. Visit "Enterprize High School" - Macomb County, Michigan [Date TBD]

Two years ago, an innovative program was launched to turn high school drop outs into entrepreneurs while earning their high school diploma. The program, which began in an abandoned elementary school, combines academic learning with the experience of running a small business. The school operates a store to sell the students' products.

- (Caution!!) 20. Visit Weirton Steel Plant - West Virginia [Date TBD]

Weirton, one of the largest steel producers in the U.S. and the largest employer in West Virginia, was on the verge of closing down in February of 1982. At that time, Craig Fuller met with Weirton representatives and coordinated an effort involving several federal agencies to allow the employees to purchase the Weirton Steel Plant. As a result, an agreement was eventually reached whereby the employees assumed ownership of the company. Although it now faces major expenses in terms of product promotion and plant modernization, as a result of White House effort, 10,000 jobs were saved and an entire West Virginia community of 26,000 people was preserved.

(YES) 21. Enterprize Zone Package - [Date TBD]

As we discussed earlier, we could arrange a three-day focus on Enterprize Zones consisting of: a Congressional Meeting, an East Room event, and a site visit. We are working with Lee Verstandig to determine the appropriate site for a recommended visit before scheduling this three-day package.

MEMORANDUM FOR MICHAEL DEEVER

FROM: MAX FRIEDERSDORF m.f.

SUBJECT: Recommended Presidential Travel In Support of Budget & MX Issues

*Bill talk to Fred Ryan
I give me
his comments tonite.*

Attached are memos pertaining to legislative targets on the budget and MX.

In addition to these recommendations it should be noted that Senate Foreign Relations plans arms control hearings next week and MX will likely be discussed.

Also, on February 26, Senator Goldwater plans arms control hearings with Shultz and Weinberger testifying, and MX likely to be discussed.

Goldwater has no MX hearings per se scheduled at this time in Senate Armed Services.

However, MX will heat up after this week's recess and we can expect the issue to be engaged heavily between now and the expected vote in mid March.

I concur in Pam Turner's state and regional recommendations for trips with the caveat they be structured, if possible, to avoid confrontational scenes.

Targeting states and regions is preferable to announced visits to individual Congressional Districts which could "martyr" an incumbent by over kill.

MEMORANDUM FOR MAX FRIEDERSDORF

FROM:

M. B. OGLESBY, JR.

The House list is geared to MX only -- no budget action until later this year. Looks like North Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas, Georgia in addition to the natural major markets.

The Senate list is more detailed and there is substantial overlap with the House.

Chiles*

TO: M.B. OGLESBY, JR.

FROM: PAM TURNER

SUBJECT: Presidential Travel in Conjunction with the Budget and MX Issues

In reviewing the outlook for both the budget and MX in the Senate, it appears at first glance that the President could go just about anywhere and his presence would be helpful in shoring up our vote count. Having said that, and having reviewed the current outlook on these important issues, we would suggest the following agenda.

I. INDIVIDUAL STATE TRIPS

- a. New York -- D'Amato is running for reelection and will be extremely sensitive on both of these issues. As you recall, he has supported us on the last two MX votes, but always after considerable discussion. New York is also a good media market generally with the potential of some spillover into Connecticut and New Jersey.
- b. Florida -- Both Chiles and Hawkins will be key on MX and the budget. Hawkins is up for reelection. She has stayed with us on MX but could feel pressure to change. Chiles was with us in 1983, but voted against us in 1984. His position on the Budget Committee will also be crucial.
- c. Arizona -- An isolated trip in terms of spillover media markets, but an important one in view of Goldwater and DeConcini. Goldwater's help on MX and the defense budget will be crucial. Also, DeConcini has been with us on MX, but his support may be wearing thin. In 1984, he did not vote but gave Bentsen a live pair (DeConcini - yea; Bentsen - nay).
- d. Pennsylvania -- Heinz and Specter will be important votes on both budget and MX. You recall our lengthy discussions with Specter on MX, and the fact that he voted against us the first time last year. Heinz stayed with us, but there will be tremendous pressure on him if we can't get Specter back.

II. In addition to the individual states mentioned above, the President might consider some regional trips as follows:

- a. Southern States -- Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, and possibility of Alabama and Tennessee.

This trip would hit a number of key Democrats such as Nunn, Long, Johnston, Stennis, Heflin, Hollings, and possibly Gore. This would also help Denton and Mattingly who are up for reelection, as well as Thad Cochran.

- b. Mid-Atlantic States -- Virginia and West Virginia (a day trip).

Robert Byrd has stayed with us on the MX thus far, but party politics could push him away this time. Also, Warner has been talking about reducing the number of MX missiles. Warner serves on the Armed Services Committee, and the trip would also be helpful to Paul Trible.

- c. Mid-Western States -- Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri, and possibly Wyoming.

This area harbors a number of swing Senators, particularly Kassebaum, Grassley (who voted against MX the last time), and Danforth. Zorinsky has been a good supporter, and this trip could be helpful to him. Also remember that Simpson has been making funny noises about the MX and the defense budget. You should bear in mind that a trip to this area of the country would undoubtedly put the President in the position of having to deal with a number of farm issue questions.

- d. Other States

In addition to the above, we could use help in New Hampshire (which could be a one-day New Hampshire/Maine trip) to help Rudman and Cohen. Finally, we should also think about Washington state. Gorton and Evans are very active on budget issues, and have always been waivering on the MX.
