Honorable Howard H. Baker, Jr.
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. Baker:

As an old admirer of yours, I was elated that you were chosen to the most critical position in our country today: reestablishing confidence in the Presidency of our country.

I remember full well our lengthy conversation when we met in your office, through the introduction of my very dear friend Jack Javits. I left our meeting with a deep appreciation of your unusual talents and insights.

At this critical juncture in American history, your success will mean more than simply helping our country get back on an even keel. Actually, the very credibility of our nation as a leader in the Free World is at stake. This gives your task an awesome responsibility.

My prayers will be with you. If there is anything that I can personally do within the framework of the Jewish community, where the 65-year old Agudath Israel of America is the broadest based grassroots religious movement, please feel free to call on me.

Good luck and best regards.

Warmly,

Dear Rabbi

Dear Howard:

And I was saving all my pennies for your Presidential Campaign. Perhaps it will yet take place.

There are a great many people and institutions grateful for your selfless coming to the aid of the President, the Nation, and indirectly the Republican Party. I wish Everett could see the reservoir of goodwill you enjoy in Chicago, banked and hoping for your success.

Gingiss Formalwear is now being run by my son Joel (Naval Academy Class of '64) and I have retired to pursue other interests. Since I am exactly President Reagan age with somewhat the same management philosophy, the operation of our 251 stores in 37 States was better suited to my son than to me.

My best wishes for your success in this most difficult assignment.

The Hon. Howard Baker,
Chief of Staff,
The White House,
Washington D. C. 20013.

Dear Senator Baker:

As a former member of your presidential steering committee here in San Juan, Puerto Rico back in the summer and early fall of 1980, it was really gratifying to learn of your appointment as the president's White House chief of staff.

I certainly do hope that in picking you for such high office President Reagan may very well have chosen his successor. I sincerely feel that if the president really wants a reasonable nonpartisan solution to the problems he will encounter in the remainder of his term, you certainly can help him in what will be a very difficult task. If you succeed in such a task, it is at least conceivable that some time in the near future you could be drafted for higher office as our well remembered Ike was back in 1952.

The ways of the Lord are some times strange and mysterious. I pray that I will live long enough to see you become President of our great nation.

Cordially yours,
Luis Domingo Miranda

Another act of service to America! I wanted to add my own congratulations to the thousands that you are receiving.

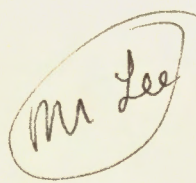

Your great father-in-law, Everett Dirksen was my sponsor for the first of six Presidential appointments. He would be very proud of your self-sacrifice in what appears to be a major crisis in current America.

In semi-retirement, I seek no office or honor but I wanted you to know that this Washington-wise old codger is very much in your corner and would be happy to offer his services to you in the challenge that lies ahead. May God be with you -- but not too soon!

I am ecstatic about the fact that you have accepted the responsibility for the Chief of Staff assignment. I had almost given up hope for any progress for Republicans in the next two years, but your appointment puts a completely different complexion on the situation. I now feel that we can restore the agenda and move forward for the balance of this Presidency.

Your appointment met with universal approval in our industry and I want you to know that I will personally make myself available to assist you in any way possible.
