I am sure that you will pardon the use of a form letter such as we are sending to-day, when you try to realize under what great stress this office is working in order to give as prompt advice as possible concerning facts which are of such very vital importance to our sorrowing friends, whose brave men have suffered martyrdom on battle-fields within our sphere of European operation.

It is with great sorrow that I am writing you, and only the urgency of your desire to know, prompts me to push forward this notification when my note is required to be so formal because of the great number to which my name has to be signed.

You have probably already received official advice concerning the death of the one whom you gave to your country and the world for the saving of civilization.

You will be comforted in knowing that his body has been recovered, that it lies buried in a spot which is under our care and control, and that there will be no danger of its loss or neglect.

We are sending you, herewith, a note which gives general answers to a number of questions which our bereaved friends are often asking, and it will probably give information concerning some of the things you are anxious to understand.

Please be sure of our earnest desire to guard your interests in every possible way, and our satisfaction in being able to care for the resting places of our dead.

Dear Sir:

It is regretted that your letter of July 10, 1929, could not have been answered sooner. However, the voluminous amount of correspondence incident to the Act of Congress of March 2, 1929, and the fact that an investigation must be made in each case has caused the delay.

In connection with your desire to visit the grave of your brother, the late Private John W. Barnett, Company B, 110th Engineers, in the Meuse-Argonne American Cemetery in France, I regret to advise you that the Act above referred to authorizing pilgrimages to the cemeteries in Europe, provides only for the mothers and widows of deceased members of the American forces who are interred in the cemeteries in Europe. There is no provision in the Act which would permit a brother to make the pilgrimage at the expense of the Government.
