National Blood Donor Month

January, 1975

It is most appropriate that we set aside the month of January to honor those Americans who have given their blood freely to benefit their fellowman. During this traditional National Volunteer Blood Donor Month, I welcome the opportunity to salute these fellow citizens whose generosity has helped to save so many lives. I urge all our people to join the noble ranks of these volunteer blood donors, and I express my deep appreciation to those who have dedicated so much of their time and energy to this vital effort.
