FROM: GENERAL DEANE, MOSCOW, RUSSIA

TO : GENERAL MARSHALL

NO : M 23291, 19 March 1945

During the past few months Harriman has had several informal discussions with the Swedish minister here, Staffen J. Soderblom, regarding the possibilities of Swedish participation in the war. Last Monday Soderblom again brought up the subject, and indicated that there was growing public and private discussion of it in Sweden, particularly with the view of preventing German atrocities in Norway. He asked Harriman whether Sweden's entry in the war would be of importance to the Allies from a military standpoint. Harriman suggested that Soderblom see me and discuss this aspect and I lunched with him on the 15th for this purpose.

Soderblom opened the conversation with me along the lines indicated above and asked me if Swedish participation would be effective and what part the Swedes might play. I replied that I could only give my personal opinion and that he must remember that by virtue of being in Moscow I am far removed from the picture elsewhere. I said that Swedish entry into the war would be of material assistance to the Allies and would certainly have an adverse effect on German morale. Properly timed, it might be a deciding factor in shortening the war by some months. Immediate occupation of Norway would not only protect that country and its people from destruction and atrocities but would prevent the use of Norwegian ports as enemy submarine bases. Another contribution would be to permit Allied fighter planes to operate from Sweden. Finally, a Swedish landing in Denmark might be considered. I suggested to Soderblom that the Swedish Military Attache in Washington might seek an appointment with you and Field Marshal Wilson for an exploratory talk on how Sweden might participate to advantage without making any commitments at this time. Soderblom was interested but of course indicated that his talk was to satisfy only his personal interest.

I report this conversation to you because at the time of Soderblom's arrival in Moscow as Minister some 5 months ago he was described to Harriman by the State Department as being an influential member of the Foreign Office, friendly to the Allies but one of the strongest advocates of Swedish neutrality.

FUTURE OF GOTHENBURG TRAFFIC STILL IN DOUBT - GREEK RELIEF "SAFE-CONDUCTS" MAY BE REVOKED - SWEDISH SHIPYARDS FULLY BOOKED.

FUTURE OF "APPROVED" VOYAGES UNCERTAIN

1. In the Swedish Gothenburg traffic partial disruption of "approved" voyages continues and the developments for February are as follows:

On 6 February MV YARRAWONGA cleared the Faeroes for Gothenburg and two days later MV MONGABARRA cleared Gothenburg for Faeroes enroute Buenos Aires, both vessels apparently having received assurance of "safe-conduct" from Great Britain and Germany.

20 February the MV MINDORO, MV TUNAHOLM, MT FALSTERBOHUS and MV CHILE departed the Faeroes for Gothenburg and on 21 February the MT MALMOHUS departed Gothenburg for the Faeroes enroute Gulf of Mexico in exchange for MT FALSTERBOHUS. German "safe-conduct" was obtained for FALSTERBOHUS on 19 February and the Swedish Foreign Office announced the sailings of the MINDORO, TUNAHOLM and CHILE without evidently receiving objections from Germany. British permission had previously been secured. No compensatory sailings for the MINDORO, TUNAHOLM or CHILE have been announced.

MV DAHLIA enroute Spain to Sweden passed Faeroes on 27 February and is believed to have arrived Gothenburg.

VESSELS OUTSIDE BLOCKADE

2. Although the original "approved voyage" arrangements with Germany called for the return of all such vessels to the Baltic on termination of "approval", Sweden's future action in the event of the cancellation of the Gothenburg traffic is not clear. The following vessels operating under "approved" voyages were outside the blockade on 9 March 1945:

3. It is possible that the MV BULLAREN and SAMELAND may make round-trip voyages in the near future between Buenos Aires and Lourenco Marques.

OTHER SWEDISH BLOCKADE FREE ACTIVITIES

4. In addition to a number of Swedish vessels under charter to the American, British and Portuguese Governments there are 13 Swedish ships engaged in transporting Greek Relief material, 5 vessels under charter to the Red Cross, and 2 large ships, the GRIPSHOLM and DROTTHINGHOLM, operating as repatriation vessels.

5. No significant changes have occurred in recent months in regard to Sweden's relief and Red Cross tonnage except for an indication from Germany that "safe-conduct" might be rescinded on the Greek Relief vessels due to the changed relief situation.

BLOCKADED TONNAGE

6. The bulk of Sweden's merchant fleet is tied up in Sweden at the present time, however, a certain amount of activity continues under escort in the Gulf of Bothnia between Finland and Sweden and several small Swedish vessels are engaged in ferrying Red Cross supplies from Sweden to Germany (Lubeck) and Holland.

SWEDISH SHIPYARDS

7. Swedish shipyards will be utilized to their capacity for new construction and repairs for at least the next three years. However, several problems face shipbuilders in Sweden, one of them being a shortage of material, and another the necessity to maintain a sufficient differential in the wage level to enable profitable competition in the international market. The fact that the Swedish shipbuilding industry has a capacity considerably exceeding the tonnage needs of Swedish owners has caused Swedish shipbuilders to eye with some misgivings the gigantic shipbuilding industry developed in the United States during the present war; however, Sweden's reputation for excellent workmanship and her low shipbuilding costs in comparison to other nations, if maintained, should enable her to retain a prominent place among shipbuilding nations.

8. An example of Sweden's international construction is shown by the fact that under a three year program Sweden will build more than 30 vessels for the Norwegian Government, the ships reportedly ranging in size from 3,000 to 17,000 g.r.t. These vessels are in addition to 20 Norwegian ships totaling approximately 160,000 g.r.t. which were built in Swedish yards between 1939 and 1942 and now laid up. Seventy-five per cent of the vessels in the latter category are tankers.

POST-WAR ACTIVITIES

9. In view of the large number of vessels presently tied up in Sweden and the necessity to utilize them fully in the immediate post-war years, it is expected that many of these ships will be chartered to foreign governments. Present information indicates Swedish owners will attempt to secure long term charters with a purchase option for these vessels. Possibility exists that some ships may operate with a few Swedish officers, the balance of the crew being made up of nationals of the chartering country.

Following from British Chiefs of Staff

The civilian population in northern Norway is reported to be in desperate plight on account of scorched earth policy adopted by Germans. C-in-C Royal Norwegian Forces proposes that some 3,000 tons of civil supplies, and certain naval vessels to distribute them should be sent to this area.

2. SHAEF has agreed to the release of supplies and it will be possible to ship a part of them to Murmansk in next J.W. convoy.

3. It is proposed to send in same convoy 2 Norwegian Corvettes and 4 minesweepers for distributing supplies. This number should be adequate for immediate relief purposes. They would be placed under Russian operational control and would be manned by Norwegians.

To AGWAR for Joint Chiefs of Staff and to SHAEF for info of Eisenhower [REDACTED] MX 21433.

The Norwegian Ambassador in Moscow came to see me tonight and informed me that the Soviet Government has given approval and promised all possible assistance in having a token Norwegian force operate with the Russians when and if it becomes necessary to pursue the Germans into northern Norway. The plan, as I understand it, is to request that a token force of Norwegians be sent from England to Petsamo; and the matters will probably come up to General Eisenhower for decisions as a result of a request that will be submitted through diplomatic channels by the Norwegian Government.

It is my personal view that it would be extremely important to assist the Norwegians in every way possible in carrying out this project. I am surprised at the ready acquiescence of the Russians and the Norwegian Ambassador indicated that he was, too. However, he said he had direct assurances from Molotov. I think it would be helpful from a political and military point of view to have a small group of Norwegians participate with the Russians in their advance into Norway. It would lessen the prospects of the Russians assuming a dominant attitude in Norway as they have in Balkan Countries into which the Red Army were the first troops to enter.

CORCORAN IN A TELEGRAM DATED MAY 3, NO. 52, STATES HE HAD JUST TAKEN UP THE QUESTION OF EXCEPTIONAL PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES WITH THE CIVIL GOVERNOR, WHO TOLD HIM THAT AUTHORITIES IN THE PROVINCES HAD RECEIVED NO SPECIAL DIRECTIVES FROM THE FOREIGN OFFICE DESPITE CONVICTION OF MILITARY LEADERS THAT EXTREME MEASURES WERE CALLED FOR BY EXISTING CONDITIONS, WHICH CONSTITUTES AN APPARENT DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN THE MILITARY AND THE MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS. ON MAY 2 MORE THAN 100 TANKS WENT TOWARDS THE SOUTHERN COAST THROUGH GÖTEBORG.

THIS SITUATION IS BEING INVESTIGATED BY THIS MISSION.

From: Stockholm
To : MILID

Nr : 8 7th January 1944

Situation in Norway unchanged. The Oslo student incident fades out. An A2 source states that only about 240 of the 1400 students originally threatened have been deported.

In Denmark disorder and sabotage increase daily. Doctor Best has failed and is reduced to a figurehead while Von Hanneken dominates the German machine. Hanneken becomes more ruthless and the resultant violent Danish reactions completes the cycle. A Danish official rated B2 believes Kajmuk murdered by Quisling Schallburg Corps and anticipates serious reprisals.

From a reliable source we have learned that last June at the time of Mannerheim's return visit to Hitler Estonian Quislings proposed German agreement to give Estonia to Finland and that Finnish troops should be dispatched to Estonia from which point they would launch attack on Leningrad. This proposal was made possibly at the behest of one of the Nazi factions. It is believed that Hitler was in favor of the plan; that Rosenberg was against it, and that the attitude of Mannerheim was uncertain.

I have been informed by former Estonian Minister Varma that there has recently been a considerable increase in the number of Germans stationed in Estonia

Rec'd: 11/9/42. 1:38 p.m.

A reliable source has informed our Military Attache that during his recent visit in Berlin Danish Foreign Minister Scavenius received from the German Government a list of eight demands. The Germans demanded that the Danish Government supply 150,000 workmen for labor in Germany. The 150,000 included the 40,000 workers already in Germany. The Germans demanded that Danish submarines, destroyers and torpedo boats which are suitable for operation in the Baltic be turned over to complete German control. The German Government has also demanded that the Jewish problem in Denmark be settled in accordance with German desires. The other demands are not known in detail but are understood to be of relatively minor importance.

It is understood that the Danish Government intends to reject these demands. The demand concerning the Jewish community in Denmark meets with particular objection. In Denmark there are only 1600 Jews, whose spokesman is one Hynriques. It is understood that sometime ago Hynriques expressed personally to King Christian the willingness of the Jewish people in Denmark to be interned en masse if that might thereby save Denmark complications in her relations with Germany. It is said that the King declined this offer and said to Hynriques that there would be no discrimination on the part of the Danish Government between Danish citizens.

The current Danish quip is that Denmark is approaching bestial condition since the appointment of Werner Best as German plenipotentiary.

From Stockholm

Officially it is said that these measures are necessary because the food supply has been put in peril by acts of sabotage. It is evident, however, that there are other causes than the one mentioned above, and this is indicated by other reports of the Trondhjem political situation. In September of last year the labor situation involving a strike of iron workers over the milk ration was the real reason for a state of emergency proclaimed in Oslo although officially it was claimed that acts of sabotage with regard to the food supply were the cause.

2777, October 6, 6 p.m., (SECTION THREE)

Present emergency may be connected with reports published in Stockholm press this morning to effect that important Nazis in Trondhjem have been purged, presumably within last day or two. Members expelled from party and arrested connection with internal struggle for control of district party organization. Conflict which apparently has come to head in Trondhjem is widespread throughout the country where party members violently disagree regarding internal party policies, relations with Germany and mobilization of party members for east front. Labor difficulties, particularly mass resignations from Labor Federation, may also have bearing on situation.

Owing to the nature of this message, its contents should be carefully guarded.

The Department and FEA approve your argument that an embargo on the export of ball bearings to all belligerents, if the measure were properly framed, could be completely within the boundaries of Swedish neutrality. You may wish to expand your argument thus:

A Royal Swedish decree, No. 396 of 20 June 1935, prohibits the export of war materials to all belligerents. Under modern warfare, ball bearings can be considered as war materials and the above-mentioned decree can be construed to cover the export of ball bearings to all belligerents. Such action would be logical and within the terms of Swedish neutrality.

A minor argument which you may find it desirable to advance is the fact that during the negotiations which took place in London in June 1943 the Swedes were willing, in connection with discussions regarding German transit traffic over Sweden, to consider a long list of commodities as war material. The list included such things as crude petroleum, gas respirators, airdrome equipment, military cooking stoves, and other camp equipment. The fact that the Swedes were willing to consider such commodities as war materials from the point of view of transit traffic would tend to show that their own construction of the phrase "war materials" is somewhat elastic, and presumably that this elasticity is within the terms of Swedish neutrality.

Paraphrase of State Dept. Cable for Info. W. D.

7 May 1944

Stockholm, 4 May 1580 Johnson, Min SCSECRDT

The managing director of SKF, Hamberg, has let Waring look over the books and Waring has gone back to London with detailed figures on particular kinds of bearing delivered to the Germans since July of last year, German order rejected since then, and outstanding orders of the Germans, including dates of placement. This data tends to show that SKF has been rejecting orders by Germany for types not in the regular catalogue, that the Allies have been given at least equal treatment in connection with orders placed since July, 1943, that a large proportion of the bearings Germany is getting was ordered in late 1942, and that since the raids of last year the Germans apparently particularly have needed roller bearings, rollers, and balls. This information will be scrutinized by London experts, especially to see if we could accept a compromise under which SKF would make no further exports to any belligerent of any kind of bearing used in tanks, planes, etc.

Waring wants to know our minimum limit for bargaining because he thinks SKF would with financial inducements agree on this limited embargo and would even take the initiative in getting the Swedish Govt to approve it. He thinks if we insist on a complete embargo we cannot count on SKF to work on the Govt, which would mean we would be obliged to take it up with the Govt. Waring thinks this limited embargo would give us substantially what we want, as there would only be small shipments of bearings for railway cars, trucks, etc

SKF apparently now expects a proposition from us, and does not intend to offer one. Waring will see Griffiths at London and perhaps come back with him to Sweden. Because SKF obviously wants to make concessions to avoid measures we might take to hurt them, Waring suggests that the parent company be advised of the control measures put into effect against SKF in Philadelphia.

Message number 304.

Now somewhat relaxed are German restrictions Denmark, Sweden. Reason for cutting communications is still a matter of conjecture Reur 28501.

In my opinion the fundamental reason was and is invasion jitters. The recent violent effective wave of sabotage in Denmark now appears to have been interpreted by Germans as invasion signal. The first reaction was an organized man hunt for saboteurs and underground operators, and to facilitate same by preventing contact with directors outside Denmark, commercial communications were interrupted.

Allied mining of shipping lanes was only incidental excuse since obviously wire and radio communications were not affected by sea mines. United Press reporter states his story must have been distorted.

Indications point to shifting of troops inside Denmark as already reported.

April 27, 1944 Signatures PHH

The State Dept is tremendously interested in the report of Stahle and Wallenberg that the Swedes are thinking of solving the bearings problem by putting an embargo on exports of them to all belligerents.

According to your 23 April, 1419 our Government knows that in requesting compliance with its demand the implication is that the Swedish Government failed to fulfill engagements previously contracted. Our 8 April 2764 said that "we were willing to go along with the British suggestion that we demand a three months embargo during which time we should negotiate and that the department's 2604 to London (No. 576 to Stockholm) was to be changed in accordance in the third paragraph, subparagraph (a)". Of course our real aim is the complete stopping of bearings exports to Germany. According to your 17 April, 1317 quoting DAGENS on the 16th, "a precedent is offered by German irregularity if the Swedes wish to cut off exports of ball bearings for an indefinite period, without breaking their obligations, while they consider the conflicting trade demands of both sides". It should be remembered that in a letter of March 3rd to Foote, Hogloff agreed that there should be exported each month to Germany about a twelfth of the bearings called for by the German Swedish agreement. Your 14th April 1273 said that exports of 10-20 ton range machine tools, according to January statistics, amounted to 352,115 crowns whereas the ceiling set up for the whole year 1944 was 273,000 crowns. This seems to indicate that the Swedes under their agreement with the Germans do not have to ship commodities at a special time, and in fact, have shipped the whole 1944 amount according to the ceiling in the first month. Hence, the Swedes could put off the export of certain commodities until the end of the year having shipped the total of some in January and thus the cutting off of bearings exports to Germany for three months would not seem to violate the Swedish agreement with Germany. It is not an obligation of the Swedish Government if as it may turn out it is SKF that has made a promise of definite dates of delivery to the Germans and so the German Swedish agreement would not be violated by a failure to carry out these schedules. Point out at your discretion this non-violation to the Swedish Government as the negative reply from them is based on the charge by them that our request for action constitutes a violation of their agreement with Germany (see your 17 Apr 1328). According to your 25 April No. 1454 the possibility of an embargo was not talked of by Boheman when he saw you on April 25th. This message has also gone to London as our 3403.

All Swedish defense components including ARP are quietly on guard. Army now has 250,000 in the mobile field forces principally disposed to defend South East Coastal Frontier, Stockholm region, Norrbotten Mining Area and Finn Frontier. Gotland garrison also strengthened. Personality 112 inquiring the reason was told by 116 that action taken was precautionary against a coup. In same conversation 112 denied significant concentrations of German troops in Konigsberg Area. Sweden alert but calm. Rated B2 except 112's denial which merits inquiry.

Excluded
Personality 132 informed Military Air Attache in strictest confidence as follows: that all SAF Fighter Groups with AA units are now at vital air fields partially mobilized and fully alerted against German air borne invasion. These precautionary moves taken by reason of German action in Hungary and Rumania and drawn out Finn Russian negotiations. Mining of key air fields can be completed within 2 hours. Swedish troops are massed along Finnish border. Sweden is prepared to make surprise move into North Norway. In event German air borne invasion SAF war plane will be available to Allied. Quick Allied fighter air support would be necessary. Recently Germans offered prompt delivery of 200 Focke Wulfs in barter exchange but Foreign Office declined the offer. Sweden requested 300 Spitfires of Britain without success. Sweden now requests approval of purchase of US 200 SE fighters preferably Mustang type; 120 urgently needed to fill 2 trained fighter groups.

In my opinion 132 probably over emphasized his concern in present situation and used it as a vehicle to support request for fighter aeroplanes. However alert of SAF partially confirmed by Masin air trip from Visby, Gotland to military fields vicinity Stockholm. Source emphasizes necessity of protecting his confidence. Name must not be revealed in Washington or London.

Sweden would greet situation cited in your 304 with acute alarm. She would consider the presence of Soviet troops on the Finno Swedish frontier or in the Aland Islands a definite menace. Public concern would be tremendously aroused. The people and the government would present a strong common front. The governments attitude toward Russia would be firm, cold and proper. Strict neutrality would be observed to prevent an incident. The difficulties of the political situation would be greatly magnified by the presence of several hundred thousand Finnish refugees. Present undertakings and understandings with the US and other governments would be revised wherever they presented an opportunity for Russian leverage. Industrial mobilization would be accelerated possibly to the extent of absorbing products now going to Germany. Military mobilization would approach 60%, approximately half million men, with concentrations to support dispositions in Norrbotten and Uppland. Political parties except the Communist would rally to the support of the government. Coalition government would be maintained as is. Social Democrats would become more conservative. Labor Party initially less Communistic possibly later affected by Communist penetration.

A book could be written on this subject but boiled down the substance would be that in Sweden neutrality and freedom are synonymous and Sweden will fight desperately to the last to defend its neutrality. Minister concurs in this estimate.

BRIEF.—(Here enter careful summary of report, containing substance succinctly stated; include important facts, names, places, dates, etc.)

GOthenBURG TRAFFIC RESUMED 10 JANUARY 1944 CONNECTION RENEWAL SWEDISH-GERMAN COMMERCIAL AGREEMENT. TRAFFIC TWICE SUSPENDED 1943 - STARTED MARCH 1941. 137 SHIPS HAVE ARRIVED GOthenBURG WITH OVERSEAS CARGOES SINCE START OF TRAFFIC - MOST SHIPS SAIL FOR BUENOS AIRES - STANDARD ROUTE - MARKINGS - CONTROL OFFICERS.

1. Overseas Swedish "safe conduct" traffic to Gothenburg was restored 10 January in connection with the signing of 1944 German-Swedish commercial agreement.

TRAFFIC IN 1943 TWICE TERMINATED

2. In 1943 Germany first suspended "safe conduct" traffic on 18 January 1943 following Swedish refusal to turn over the LIONEL and DICTO, the remaining two Norwegian vessels, refuged in Swedish waters. Sweden had assented to prospective departure of these ships for U. K. and the German counter move was refusal to accept responsibility for any Swedish ships in North Atlantic. The obvious background was Germany's desire, by cutting off Gothenburg traffic, to force further concessions from Sweden.

3. On 5 May 1943 Swedish Government with British consent, gave assurance to Germany that no attempt would be made to move the two Norwegian ships from Swedish waters before 1 October 1943. Traffic was resumed 7 May and continued until 28 October when Germany notified Sweden that "military dispositions in the Skagerrak" again necessitated the suspension of "safe conduct" guarantee.

4. According to the Germans, this second shut-down was to prevent the two Norwegian vessels from making a break for England.

Note: Much more potent reasons were: stoppage of transit traffic across Sweden of German troops and war materials in August; halting of German fuel oil transits to Norway 1 October; rising anti-German sentiment in Sweden; a stiffening of the Swedish Government to German demands in connection with renewal of German-Swedish trade agreement for 1944.

PREVIOUS HISTORY OF GOTHENBURG TRAFFIC

5. With the German occupation of Denmark and Norway 9 April 1940 and the German mining of the waters between those two countries, overseas shipping from and to Sweden was entirely stopped and the Swedish Government started negotiations with British and German authorities to obtain permit for the passage through the mine fields for some Swedish ships.

6. Traffic was not regulated by formal arrangement until March 1941 although during 1940 a few Swedish ships managed to pass the blockade and arrive at Swedish ports. At that time Great Britain and Germany confirmed an agreement by which the passage of five ships inbound per month was granted provided that a corresponding number of ships left Sweden. The composition of cargoes was subject to negotiations in each case.

137 PERMIT SHIPS ARRIVED GOTHENBURG FROM OVERSEAS SINCE SEPTEMBER 1940

7. Since September 1940, 137 Swedish permit ships have arrived at Gothenburg carrying a great variety of necessities. Through this traffic Sweden has been able to import chiefly from South and Central America petroleum, coffee, hides, foddercakes, and other articles that are scarce or not produced in Sweden. A few of the ships have come from Gulf ports of the United States.

8. During calendar year 1943 there have been 46 arrivals and 43 departures from Gothenburg. From May to October 1943, the last active period in this traffic, there were 42 departures against 39 arrivals. In September alone 13 arrived and 13 departed. (The original arrangement was 5 inward and 5 outward each month, plus one tanker each quarter.) Although the original arrangement has not been adhered to, the total number of arrivals and departures for the period since resumption of traffic in May 1943 to its termination 28 October have been fairly balanced.

17 "SAFE CONDUCT" SHIPS HAVE BEEN OUTSIDE BLOCKADE SINCE 28 OCTOBER 1943

9. Of the 17 ships caught outside the blockade by the termination of the traffic last October, 12 have been idle - most of them at Buenos Aires; 5 ships were released to owners by the Swedish Government; 3 of these were chartered to carry grain to Lisbon for the Portuguese and 2 assumed "independent" roles and made a trip to west coast South America. As of 10 January 1944 all 12 ships were either enroute to Gothenburg or were making preparations to sail. The 5 ships which were temporarily diverted are expected to re-enter the Gothenburg service on completion of current voyages.

MOST OUTBOUND SHIPS SAIL FOR BUENOS AIRES

10. Prior to the Rio conference in January 1942 the Germans permitted exports from Sweden only to neutral countries. Imports were allowed from any country. This permitted trade both ways with all South American countries. In February 1942 the regulations were modified to forbid exports to Colombia and Venezuela. Then in March Germany required special written permission to stop at Brazilian ports. Germany now prevents exports to the United Nations or to any country in the Americas, except Argentina. This confines the bulk of the outbound ship movements to the Buenos Aires run.

11. Greater latitude is permitted in assembling import cargoes. It is reported that present arrangements permit Sweden to bring in goods from South American countries, and in certain cases from the United States, Iceland, Spain and certain African colonies. Sweden is expected to receive whale oil from Iceland, oranges from Spain and various necessities from United States.

STANDARD ROUTES OF "SAFE CONDUCT" SHIPS

12. The routing of "safe conduct" vessels proceeding from Gothenburg to River Plate is as follows: From Gothenburg to Kristiansand for German examination, thence Skopenfjord in Faeroes for British examination; thence via

62.00 N - 13.00 W
59.10 N - 23.40 W
54.00 N - 30.50 W
45.00 N - 35.00 W

and per standard routes as shown in detail in Op-16-FT Serial 89-43, dated 27 December 1943 (Restricted), subject: NEUTRAL SHIP ROUTES - ATLANTIC, paragraphs 5, 6 and 7.

MARKINGS

13. Ships travelling this route are painted with Swedish colors and letters for ready identification - are fully illuminated at night and broadcast positions daily for transmittal to belligerents.

14. Hull markings consist of following: Name - Swedish flag - Sverige amidships, with blue, yellow and blue vertical stripes fore and aft of lettering. Same stripes on bow and quarter. Deckhouse, pilothouse, poopdeck house and hatch-covers are also marked with Swedish flag, name of vessel and/or blue-yellow-blue stripes. For detail see photo B reproduced in Op-16-FT Serial 83-43, dated 3 December 1943 (Restricted), subject: NEUTRAL SHIP LANES VICINITY OF GIBRALTAR.

NEUTRALITY CONTROL OFFICERS

15. Each "Gothenburg" ship carries a control officer appointed by Swedish Ministry of Foreign Affairs from officers of the Swedish Naval Reserve. The duty of these officers, who rank as commanders or higher, is to see that Swedish neutrality is not compromised by actions of crew, cargoes carried, nor jeopardized by actions of other nations.

No. 5 January 8, 1943

Informed military circles here believe lower donets strongly fortified and third stand will be made there with lines extending south to include Krasnodar and Novoroslisk. Believe that invasion of Spain was the most logical move but now too late. Possibility invasion of Sweden to forestall allied move against Norway not overlooked and February and March considered critical period. Trondheim Area being strongly fortified against all directions and apparently will be held to last. No developments expected on Finnish front Senior German officers apparently feel victory impossible deplore transfer military operations into party hands but consider their oaths binding. Source reliability excellent.

Necessity of efficient civil affairs planning for liberation of Denmark requires that we enter into more formal relations with Danes. We have therefore informed Danish representatives in the United Kingdom that we are prepared to accept the appointment of a small Danish technical liaison mission to this headquarters, on the understanding that this does not involve United States or British political recognian advisory capacity on technical matters affecting the lib-

REC'D SEPT 4. 8:34 a.m.

The Military Attache was informed by a reliable source on the Swedish General Staff yesterday that the Germans have increased their pressure to gain control over the Danish police by using the Gestapo since the death of Stauning. Until now firm resistance to this has been given by the Danish Government but an excuse for renewed demands has been given to the Germans by recent sabotage. Prime Minister Buhl of Denmark broadcast a strong warning to the population against acts of sabotage on September 2.

London Times today carries article and editorial covering general election Finland this weekend. Makes following points: Finland first belligerent European nation to so vote. Election approached in orderly manner.

Expectation is for truly representative Parliament with large credit given to Russia for moderation.

Finland fortunate to have reached present point in contrast to not only other defeated Axis satellites but liberated areas.

My opinion important point apparent desire Russia for true expression popular will in contrast with doubtful and clouded policy Rumania. This may be for fear discouraging Finnish reparations payments or because as Times indicates all the responsible party leaders in Finland are agreed that friendship with Russia must be keystone foreign policy.

Finns expect first serious German delaying position will secure the Kemi-Rovaniemi-Salla Road. Germans organizing rear delaying positions facing east astride highways vicinity of Savukoski and Kemijarvi. Finnish battalion in Kemi guarding industrial district in presence of larger German force so far without incident. Rated B 2.

Finns exerting every effort to advance rapidly enough in west to gain and keep contact with Swedes on common border presenting no excuse for Russians occupying this area. Finns relatively disinterested as due to concessions already granted Russians in that area.

Seven German transports out of Kemi 23 Sept gained Baltic Sea and protection German surface units. Limited personnel and supplies aboard indicates escape of ships was practical consideration.

Have received visit from Finnish Charge D' Affaires who voluntarily opined that if Finnish refusal of Moscow terms means sudden death their acceptance would signify slow suicide. He stated decision was taken in full knowledge of popular feeling and bears approval of Elder Statesmen whose knowledge and experience Russian affairs cannot be contested. Source said cessation hostilities between Russia and Germany at some given point of military and political juncture is possible.

Disregarding completely political aspects this situation and reasoning entirely in military terms recent development in Russo Finnish controversy gives food for thought to Intelligence Officer as follows:

A. Finns are hard headed people not given to rash judgement or decisions.

B. Having lived over thousand years with Russia their knowledge that country and people can hardly be questioned.

C. They have shown high military prowess and excellent staff work.

It is to be reasonably assumed their military intelligence is at least on par with other achievements in that field therefore, I believe, decision just taken to risk further war with Russia opens up vistas of at least speculation on our part as regards immediate capabilities of both Russia and Germany. My purpose is to invite attention to certain channels of intelligence exploitation but not to draw conclusions.

No. 242 6 April 1944

The full importance and military significance of King Gustavs recent memorandum to the Finnish Government advising acceptance of peace terms was overlooked by the Swedish and Anglo-American press. To appreciate the full meaning of the act other than what appeared on the surface requires a consideration of Swedish mentality, procedures, precedences. In business, finance and politics the top flight Swede is a clever, penetrating, analytical, conservative egoist. These qualities have brought him success, they characterize his actions. His estimates are not superficial, his decisions are not rash. Before the decision was made for the King to intervene publicly in the Russo-Finn negotiations his capable advisors doubtless weighed all consequences including probable German reprisal now or in the future. Therefore one must conclude that Swedens best brains after a thorough study of the wealth of available information have decided that Germany is irretrievably beaten. The importance of Swedens departure from her traditionally neutral position to the extent indicated by the Kings advice is a bold confirmation of Swedens estimates of the situation. The public announcement will not be forgiven

PARAPHRASE OF TELEGRAM

From: Helsinki

Dated: April 1, 1944, 5 p.m.

No. 301

Rec'd: April 1, 1944, 2:52 p.m.

Reference is made to my 293 of March 30.

1. A neutral Military Attache, though not willing to reply categorically to my question concerning whether he believed German troops had increased in numbers in Finland, informed me today that while the Germans had withdrawn troops on an increasingly diminished scale for some time, by October, those withdrawals had completely ceased. He pointed out that so-called replacements were arriving but no Germans were departing from the country. He said that replacements were fresh combat troops and stressed the point that those replacements had not be compensated by the withdrawal of other troops.

2. The Military Attache stated that in Estonia more than one division of airborne troops was available for possible use against Finland providing it could be relieved from that sector.

3. The reinforcements sent to the Aland Islands by Finland were, in his opinion, simply symbolic of the interest of that country in that district and of its wish to make resistance against either Russian or German aggression. In spite of such resistance as the Finnish garrison, which is still small, might make, the Germans could take the islands if they desire to devote troops to that conquest.

The foregoing has been sent to Stockholm for the Army at Helsinki's no. 63.

Finnish situation unchanged. There is no evidence of German evacuation. North Finnish nickel deposits become more important to Germany each day as other sources are blocked. The ore is shipped in small boats out of Petsamo following the Norwegian coast to Germany. Regardless of what happens in south Finland the Germans can continue to exploit the nickel finally withdrawing via Norway.

The German High Command has assured the Finns there will be no voluntary withdrawal from Leningrad Front such as to expose south coast of Finland. Nazi and Finnish propaganda continues to be very effective outside of Metropolitan districts convincing the Urban population of desirability of fighting to the end rather than capitulate and lose control of their own destiny. This attitude on part of the people bolsters the government's position toward Russia. At the same time leaders apparently desire to placate USSR but their good offices vitiated by tactless defiant remarks. Believe no significant change in Finland is imminent.

For Strong from Hohenthal Finnish Charged Affairs in Lisbon calling on me today on his own initiative made following statements: Finland desires separate peace and if United Nations will guarantee Finland boundaries held prior to winter war 39 and also necessary food shipments to enable nation to readjust. Says Gerns now furnishing 40 pct Finland's food which will certainly stop if Finland signs peace. Says the 150,000 Germ Troops now in Finland will not be able to dominate Finnish Nation which is resolved to fight them if need be for its rights says President, Prime Minister and party in control of Finnish Parliament are all pro Anglo American in sentiment. Ribbrop recently complained bitterly to Finnish Minister in Berlin about Finnish desire to contact me when Germany was facing grave difficulties explaining that sole cause disaster at Stalingrad was failure of German Allies to hold their sectors. Finn Minister reiterated Finnish right to peace under conditions which guaranteed her future as a nation since that was sole reason she had entered war. Says Finns have had no fighting beyond minor engagements on their fronts during past 18 months. Finns have remained in defensive position as only possible solution until United Nations could guarantee boundaries and food shipments and Gerns were no longer in position to force them to continue war. His opinion that Gerns preparing now for great offensive in 43 but doesn't know its direction. Believes Germany has no chance to win war and this offensive if carried out and unsuccessful will be her last. My comment: This officer known to me past

A good source has given me information to the effect that recent withdrawals of troops have considerably reduced the present German garrison in Finland, and German forces do not exceed 75,000 men according to present estimates. Report contained in the last sentence of my 238 of February 10 would seem to be corroborated by this information. It would be appreciated if the Office of Strategic Services was informed.

Fear has recently been expressed in certain quarters here that all their troops in Finland may be eventually withdrawn by the Germans, and as a result, the Finns would be left alone to face the Russians.

The story of the recent secret sessions of the Finnish Diet regarding their military situation has come to us from a large number of sources. Reference is made to paragraph two of my 261 of February 13.

Colonel Paasonen, the Finnish G-2, early last week lectured the secret session, pointing out Germany was losing the war and that Finland was face to face with the immediate problem of getting itself out of its participation. Members of the Diet refused to believe him and were highly annoyed at what they considered to be derogatory remarks on his part.

Therefore they demanded his appearance at a second session for further explanation of his views. Accompanied by General Heinrichs, Chief of Staff, Colonel Paasonen made a second appearance and changed his remarks only to the extent of declaring that he considered that the Germans had only sufficient strength remaining for one more last-ditch offensive against the Russians in the spring. The Germans had not yet called up their 1924 class, he said, and that this could be used in their final offensive together with the Germans' last reserves possibly drawn from Western Europe. He repeated and emphasized his insistence that it was imperative for Finland to terminate its war with Russia in view of their military position in the light of German defeats. All that he said was confirmed by General Heinrichs, and deep gloom settled on the Deputies. Heinrichs added that Finland must arrange with Russia either its peace or an armistice while it still had United States friendship.

Helsinki is now being visited by a group of 20 or so Rumanian officers in civilian clothing, some of whom have their "wives" with them. They appear to have visited various occupied countries and have arrived here from Sweden. We are attempting to learn the reason for their visit. They show considerable lack of tact in openly comparing conditions here unfavorably with those in Oslo, Copenhagen and Stockholm. Their ranks are not indicated but their ages indicate they are probably Junior Field officers.

On December 20th, according to a reliable source, a German transport arrived at Jakobstad and landed an unstated number of troops for the North. He adds that in such cases those Germans who are not placed in barracks are, on orders of the local commander of Finish Civilian Defense Corps, quartered upon local citizens to which the term "voluntary hospitality" is applied.

The Military Attache was advised last night that there are no Finnish troops in Salla and that it was "probably" that the Finnish soldier reported killed there was serving as an interpreter with the Germans. The Finnish soldier's death was believed to be caused not by ground attack but by an air raid. The informant, who was Colonel Rosenbrojer, Chief Liaison Officer of Finnish G-2 at Helsinki, added that it was his impression that the limit of the northern flank of the Finnish line is located somewhere between Uhtua which is held by the Russians and Kiestinki.

The statement was recently made that if Finland were at the time still at war with Russia resistance would be put up by the Finns against American troops in case of an American invasion of Finland or northern Norway. It was also stated, however, that no assistance would be given the Germans in opposing such an invasion if Finland was not fighting Russia at the time. These statements were made by the source referred to in my no. 1289 of this same date when he was speculating regarding the chances of an invasion by American troops as many people do these days.

In the extreme northwestern section of Aho the German military authorities are constructing a large underground shelter, according to information received by our Military Attache. The labor employed on this project seems to be Finnish and the seeming German hurry is perhaps suggested by the fact that the wages they are paying are as high as 500 marks a day for qualified carpenters, which is extraordinarily high

The address given by Joachim von Ribbentrop has without doubt had a stimulating effect on pro-German elements in Finland. The view has again been expressed in the Foreign Office that the Allies will not be able ever to invade the continent.

The source referred to telegram no. 834 dated September 22, says that Reike of Uusisuomi has stated that after the mobilization by the Finns recruiting in Finland of men above 17 years for German SS battalions has not been possible although he thought that numbers of 16 and 17 years are still being recruited or may have been recruited.

It is felt by this source that the Finns and Germans are in such close contact on the Salla front that cooperation during the past months must have taken place.

The Legation has heard many comments made recently by Finns with regard to the domination of the secret police by Germans. One of these Finns who deplored the state of affairs was the source mentioned in my telegram 861; and he and others spoke openly about the Gestapo and its control of the police. An attempt was made in these conversations to excuse the Finnish Government for recent steps taken by the police against the Legation and to indicate that the police alone were responsible and were thus distinct from the Government. The Germans and Nazi sympathizers among the Finns who are in control of the police were given all of the blame for the actions of the police.

On the other hand it is understood that Marshall Mannerheim gave direct instructions to the police in connection with its recent activities which involved this Legation. This information came from the source mentioned in my telegram of September 22, no. 831. When Colonel Huthsteiner inquired directly regarding the reason for the Marshall's failure to receive him, Major de Prado of the General Staff told him the Marshall finally decided that he would not receive any military attaches from "neutral" countries, although it had previously been intended that he should be received by the Marshall. The absurdity of this explanation is emphasized by the fact that the retired Military Attache of Sweden was received by Marshall Mannerheim.

The deterioration of the morale of the Finnish Army during the last few weeks is reported by the source given in my telegram No. 1925. According to information obtained from Swedish volunteers in Finland there is considerable dissension among the Finns and the volunteers find them increasingly difficult. Apparently the Finnish Army was considerably impressed by the withdrawal of the American Consulate which is being discussed widely.
