Wilson cite FHGBI. G-2 summary number 91.

A. Italy.
Nothing to report.

B. Balkans.
1. Hungary.

Area west and southwest Baja on LXVIII Corps front Russians established deep bridgehead capturing Pecs, Mohacs and Bataszek in sector only lightly held by enemy.
Further direction of offensive unknown but probably northwards in endeavour to encircle Budapest and lay open approach to Vienna via Danube plain.

2. Yugoslavia.

Kraljevo evacuated by rearguards Army Group E and fighting in progress Novi Pazar presumably also involving rearguards. Enemy apparently abandoned all hopes of advancing north via Niksic and now reported withdrawing grain and stores.

A. Italy.

1. General. Right flank and center of 76th Corps behind Lamone river as far north as 28 northing, but neither 356th nor 114th Div shows as yet any hurry to conform.
Former continues to offer stubborn resistance between Montone and Lamone rivers. No significant change on remainder of front.

2. Order of battle. Long range deserters from Littorio Div state they left their units in Alessandria, whence Division was due to move to Alps. Statement borne out by recent ground reports indicating relief of 157th Mountain Div by Italian troops. All informed.

A. Intelligence.

Aegean. On Crete enemy has further decreased fortress area by withdrawing perimeter in southeast and center. PW statements show Island supplies for winter assured.

Reports from Rhodes refer to formation of an Italian "Regiment Rhodes" under Italian flag. Strength said to be 4000.

Arrival of mail plane from Austria in Aegean and probability that regular service will be attempted should assist in maintaining morale beleaguered enemy garrisons.

B. Operations.

Following is summary of information obtained from PW Major Schenk, former ADC to General Oberst Loehr.

1. General withdrawal from Greece and Aegean, though pressed for by Loehr early August, was only sanctioned by Hitler after collapse of Rumania. Hitler at same time insisted on retention of proportion of German forces in Aegean Islands which were to be sacrificed if necessary.

2. Main object of Loehr was to bring back forces of Army Group E intact to area north of Sava. Two main routes of withdrawal were to be:

(A) Mitrovica-Valjevo-Sabac

(B) Mitrovica-Uzice-Visegrad-Zvornik-Bijelina.
Loehr considered it essential to avoid contact with Russians even if this involved use of less suitable routes. Partisan opposition however was not considered a serious obstacle to withdrawal. After main body of Army Group E had arrived north of Sava a redistribution of forces was to be carried out.
Details of plan were unknown to PW.

3. Defence lines. Loehr was strongly of opinion that line on Danube from Budapest to Apatin could be held for a long time. He also envisaged possibility of line from Lake Balaton to area north of Ljubljana to link up with positions of Army Group C when latter had withdrawn to Alpine line. According to Loehr, Kesselring had already completed plans for such a withdrawal in early October and had moved at least part of his HQ to Kitzbuehl.

4. Crete and Aegean Islands. PW estimated garrison of Crete at approximately 14,000 Germans and 1,500 Italians and of Rhodes at 3,000 Germans. Original plan had been to withdraw approximately 50% of troops from Crete as well as all tractors, tanks, assault guns and 88 MM guns. PW was uncertain how far this programme was carried out but believed that very few heavy weapons were evacuated. Supplies on Crete and Aegean Islands were sufficient for at least three months. Practice of faking supply returns was general among commanders of islands in order to accumulate reserves and was overlooked by Loehr who used their returns to support his own demands on OKW.

Accumulative total to 2400 hours 20 November

5. General.

North of Mulhouse enemy not believed to have any prepared or suitable defense position across Rhine valley.
Essential for him to hold at Mulhouse especially in view of this bulge southwestwards towards Belfort: 269th and 30th SS Divisions have, however, taken heavy losses in recent counter attacks.

In area of Saverne Gap and to north and east of it enemy's position now very involved and difficult, not helped by recent capture of headquarters of corps responsible.
Panzer Lehr Division alone will not be enough to restore situation: 553rd and 361st Volksgrenadier Divisions are in a very reduced state and have little fighting value.

To Chiefs of Staff, repeated: J. S. M. Washington for U. S. Chiefs of Staff from A.F.H.Q. signed Wilson.
Msg srl nbr 56326. This is MEDCOS 210.

1. Since the dispatch of MEDCOS 205 there have been certain developments which radically effect the proposed course of action set forth in paragraph 3 of that telegram. These are:

(A) The main weight of the Russian effort in southeast Europe has gone in even further north than expected and the Partisans having received little support from the Russians have made but slow progress westwards.

(B) Largely as a result of (A) it now appears that the Germans may be able to extricate from Yugoslavia the equivalent in personnel of some 12 Divisions. While these troops will initially be disorganized and largely without major equipment it seems certain that the enemy's line joining his Italian and Hungarian fronts will, by the time we should be in a position to attack it, be substantially stronger than had formerly been appreciated. In particular, he will undoubtedly be able materially to reinforce the Istrian Peninsula and the projected operation against Piave is likely to prove more formidable undertaking than I originally expected.

(C) The decision to continue intensive operations by SHAEF throughout the winter calls for the exercise also of continuous pressure on Kesselring if this theater is to do its utmost to contain the maximum enemy forces away from the Western Front at this decisive time.

(D) The critical artillery ammunition situation to which I referred in Para 1 (C) of MEDCOS 205 will last for a longer period than had previously been expected and this combined with the consideration under (C) above will materially restrict offensive potentialities in this theater next spring.

2. I am convinced therefore that the proper course under my present directive is to concentrate my resources primarily on the Battle in Italy. The following considerations support this conclusion:-

(A) From the administrative point of view it is possible to develop a weightier thrust more rapidly in Italy than across the Adriatic, since the L of C is now well developed behind AAI, but would require to be developed almost from scratch on the Dalmation coast.

(B) The grouping of the German forces in this theater, disposed as they are on interior lines, coupled with the lack of sufficient ammunition to undertake a prolonged offensive at intense rates of fire, rules out the possibility of simultaneous major operations on both sides of the Adriatic with any good prospect of success. These are also precluded by the time factor and the necessity for sustained pressure on Kesselring in conformity with SHAEF's operations.

3. Accordingly, I propose to direct General Alexander, after the capture of Bologna, to exploit to the limit of his resources with the object of destroying or containing the maximum enemy forces in Italy. I would point out, however, that initial failure to capture Bologna will necessitate a pause. If during this pause the enemy starts to withdraw I will of course resume the offensive to the maximum extent possible to prevent the dispatch of Divisions to other theaters. At the same time I propose to contain the maximum number of German formations in northwest Yugoslavia by creating threat across the Adriatic:

(A) By providing supporting arms to build up the strength of the Partisans in that area.

(B) By affording the Partisans the maximum air support, and

(C) By deception methods. To effect these objects I propose to establish across the Adriatic an air base for the operation of Fighter Bomber Squadrons, together with such light forces, artillery, armor and administrative resources as can be spared without serious prejudice to the continuance of the campaign in Italy. This will have the added advantage of facilitating the transfer of forces across the Adriatic, should this course later commend itself.

4. The abandonment of the pincer movement suggested in Para. 2 of MEDCOS 205 will, in view of the terrain considerations referred to in that paragraph, render the effective destruction of Kesselring's force difficult, particularly if he starts his withdrawal in good time. To confine major operations to Italy does, however, make it possible to attack Kesselring in the greatest strength at the most suitable moment in conformity with operations in other theaters. This appears to me the only course which offers reasonable prospects of preventing Kesselring from withdrawing formations to reinforce other fronts.

5. On the other hand, by the end of this year the enemy will be faced with the necessity of holding a very long front, from the high Tatra to the Po or the Adige, which he will in any event be severely stretched to hold in the face of the greatly superior strength of the Russian and Allied forces opposing him. The possibility that Trans-Adriatic operations may later be desirable to exploit a weakness in this line cannot therefore be ruled out. The rapid transfer of Divisions across the Adriatic will require the provision of the assault shipping indicated in Para 6 of MEDCOS 205. I recognize, however, that there may be other urgent demands on the United States assault shipping at present in this theater. If it is considered undesirable that I should retain my present assault resources against what at this stage can only be regarded as a contingency, I would urge:

(A) That equivalent British amphibious resources may be made available to me in good time if trans-Adriatic operations later become desirable.

(B) That I be permitted in any event to retain in the theater sufficient amphibious lift to enable me to continue landing forces to support the Yugoslav Partisans, to enable LFA to undertake harrassing operations in the northern Adriatic, and to launch minor operations in the Aegean. In addition, it may well be desirable to make an and run on a brigade group scale in support of AAIs operations.

While I should much prefer to retain my present assault resources which give me an important degree of flexibility, if my allocation is to be restricted to the requirements stated in Para (B) above, I estimate that I could release landing ships and craft to the order of 20 LST, 40 LCI and 15 LCT. These numbers are in addition to the landing ships and craft already offered for release in MEDCOS 205, some of which have already been withdrawn.

6. I therefore suggest:

(A) That the proposals outlined in Para 3 above be approved as a basis for action subsequent to the December offensive.

(B) That the amphibious resources asked for in Para 6 of MEDCOS 205 be allowed to remain under my control until it becomes clear that trans-Adriatic operations will in no circumstances be called for.

Situation report nr 488

1. Night of 18th November, coastal craft fired 6 torpedoes into Cigale Cove on Lussin-Piccolo, detonating concentration of human torpedo and enemy small craft had been reported on previous day. 5 torpedoes seen to explode in the cove.

2. Sweeping operation in progress in Valona Bay and approach to Sibenik.

3. Off Sestri Levante in Gulf of Genoa on night of 18th Nov, enemy south and northbound convoys met. They were engaged first by shore batteries, and then by each other unwittingly, our coastal force having observed this engagement attacked each convoy in turn with torpedoes. Results against northbound convoy not observed, but in southbound, one ship blew up with terrific explosion. Both our attacks made without casualties under very heavy enemy fire.

A. Italy.

1. Bathe front.

On Adriatic sector no enemy now believed forward of line Uniti-Montone-Cosina rivers. Contact yesterday only with rearguards. Responsibility for route 9 apparently taken over by 26th Panzer Division. Latter's boundary with 278th Inf Div probably follows line of railway. In central sector identifications confirm arrival of remainder 42nd Jaeger Division and indicate complete withdrawal 362nd Inf Division from Line.

2. Northwest Italy.

No further evidence of move of either 5th Mountain or 157th Reserve Division and now seems probable that movements previously reported concerned normal seasonal thinning out from mountain positions.

Reluctance to move any of his reserves from central front to support of 76th Corps suggests he is prepared to continue policy of withdrawal on left flank and is conserving strength to meet expected resumption of major Allied thrust towards Bologna.

B. Balkans.

2. Yugoslavia and Albania. Kacanik north of Skoplje, Durazzo and Tirana evacuated. Remnants enemy rearguard between Elbasan and Tirana reported suffered heavy casualties from Partisans. Drina bridge at Visegrad still down 16 November but enemy advance guards appear to have infiltrated across the river.
German garrison Knin in north Dalmatia reported reinforced from

2. Northern Albania. Scutari is now full of Germans with large numbers of Bulgars and Kossovars; many of these troops are said to have arrived from Greece, their destination being Austria.

3. (1) Fresh Partisan brigades have been brought in to reinforce one divisions battle for Tirana.

(2) 3,000 German troops have been surrounded by the Partisan at Oehajas on the main road Tirana-Elbasan.

4. (1) On 14th November Partisan forces attacked a north bound German convoy in the Llesh area on the main road Durazzo-Scutari.

(2) One German column which left Elbasan on 11th November attempted to proceed along the road Elbasan-Tirana, but was turned back by Partisan activity and is following a second German column along the road Elbasan-Durazzo. The German Force has been halted by the Partisans at Peqin and heavy fighting continues. In the above engagements the Partisans claim to have inflicted 450 casualties on the enemy.

(3) The German column which has just passed through Elbasan is said to be the last of the troops at Struga and to have consisted of 300 vehicles and 8,000 troops.

A. Italy.

On Eighth Army front enemy withdrew from Casale Nuovo night 13th/14th. New main defence line appears likely to be Montone River as far as bend at M 3921, thence continuing southwest to hills south of route 9.

Identifications indicate reshuffle between 356th Inf
Div and 26th Panzer-20th GAF Div group now completed.

According to a number of independent PW reports 162nd Inf Div has been withdrawn completely. In view of low fighting value of division after surrender of large proportion of its strength as replacements for 114th Jaeger Division this seems reasonable.

Central sector quiet.

Albania. Tirana area. The Partisans are fighting magnificently in the battle for Tirana which is now reaching its climax. Although the Germans hold four key points the Partisan attack appears to be succeeding. Partisan forces are now holding the north of the main Skanderbeg Square and have cut the main road to Durazzo.

Scutari area on the day of November 10th 200 German vehicles were seen moving west on the main road Kukes to Scutari. On night 11th to 12th November LRDG personnel blew up the bridge and the telephone line at Fildane (G29) on the main road Durazzo Scutari and laid mines further south, the road is said to have been completely cut at the bridge below and one German diesel truck was destroyed.

Reliable report that supplies on COS sufficient to last seven months suggests island garrisons are prepared for a long siege.

B. Operations.

1. 23rd Armd Bde and 6th Para Bn remain in Attica and the Athens area where the situation is satisfactory.

2. ~~Kelforce~~ arrived at Salonika on 8 November and are disembarking according to plan. A Coy of this force was sent to Drama on 9 November. Guards have been established on VPS in Salonika. A Convoy with 7th Indian Bde has arrived in Salonika Bay and follow up convoys are arriving according to schedule. Force CDR estimates it will be possible to land 20,000 tons of stores per month by making use of all available LCT and LCMS.

3. Patrols of Pomforce are operating along the Albanian and Yugoslavian frontiers and the general situation is quiet.

4. Due to determined enemy resistance our forces were completely withdrawn from the island of Melos on 6 November. It is intended that HMS King George V bombard Likadia battery in near future as part of her working up programme.

5. Greek based aircraft of Balkan Air Force during the week attacked road and rail transport targets in Yugoslavia. A large number of locomotives, rail cars and motor transport were damaged and destroyed. From Kalamaki Beaufighters patrolled the Aegean Islands, mostly without incident.

C. Political. Political is not included in this weekly report as it is assumed that the Chiefs of Staff will obtain political information which they require from the Foreign Office, to whom the British Ambassador is reporting direct from Greece.

Note from Russian Chief of Armistice Commission denouncing good faith of Rumanian Government has revived Rumanian fears lest Rumania be treated as Baltic States were for few years ago. Point out Baltic States were treated fairly well for short time and then Sovietized by vigorous methods. Previously Rumanians seemed somewhat encouraged over situation and had said (see report 11229 of 9 Nov) that Russians were not interfering in internal Rumanian affairs. Now they profess to fear that all Rumanian Governments will be frowned upon less they become mere Russian stooges. Rumanians deny any intention to sabotage armistice or desire to fail to observe terms.

Russian comment is repetition of note wording.

Difference of interpretation of armistice clause whereby Rumania agreed to furnish supplies as demanded by Russian GHQ is evident.

Believe future Russian course of action in Rumania is still matter of doubt. So far most reports indicate Russian behavior in Rumania is good and restrained.

3. The 75 sailings for US account in January and February make provision for the closing out of installations in North Africa and for the continued clearance of installations in the Peninsular Base Section. Full utilization of these sailings will depend on the ability of the ports in the south of France to handle the programme envisaged.

4. Within the allocation requested for British military account there is an allowance of 9 sailings in January and 78 sailings in February for the launching of a trans-Adriatic operation as contemplated in MEDCOS 205. It is relevant to point out that of the 78 such sailings requested in February 80 per cent will be on an MT only basis working on short voyage between the Italian heel and the eastern Adriatic coast enabling a minimum of three turn-rounds per month with each vessel employed. The number of ships therefore which it will be necessary to use for this operation will prove small in relation to the number of sailings required.

5. I am anticipating that the greater part of civil relief in liberated areas of the Mediterranean will be met by direct sailings from extra Mediterranean sources but I have made provision for the necessity of trans-shipping and re-shipment of a portion of this relief in the Middle East, in Italian base ports and in the major ports of liberated countries.

6. The requirements quoted above are based on the Summary report to 1200 hours 9th November.

Part 1.

Eighth Army. Improvement in the weather enabled V Corps and II Polish Corps to launch attacks both of which are now making good progress. Coastal sector held by Porter Force an improvised Brigade Group patrolling towards Ravenna and on the line of the R. Ronco. V Corps with under command from right to left 12L 4th Div with 25th Tank Bde and 46th Div with 2nd Armd Bde. 4th and 46th Divs attacked night 7/8 November with the object of capturing Forlì and seizing crossings over the river Montone. Very heavy fighting against determined resistance all day 8th Nov forced enemy to withdraw west of R. Montone during night 8/9 Nov. Leading troops now in Forlì and reconnoitring for crossings over River Montone. Pol Corps with right 5th Kres Div left 3rd Armd Div and 2nd Polish Armd Bde in reserve have made good progress in difficult terrain against scattered resistance.

Eighth Army Reserve. 1st Cdn Corps with under command 1st Cdn Inf Div with 21st Tank Bde and 5th Cdn Armd Div. 2nd NZ Div 56th Div 7 and 9 Armd Bdes.

Fifth Army. Activity has been largely confined to regrouping which was initially considerably delayed by G-2 Summary number 70.

A. Italy.

1. General.

No change general enemy attitude. Stiff local fighting in active sectors. In Adriatic Sector enemy returned British PW under flag of truce with written request agreement whereby historical monuments of Ravenna may be spared battle destruction. In western coastal sector steady trickle of deserters from Italian formations together with miscellaneous Germans.

2. Order of Battle.

Recent lack of contact suggests four Parachute Division largely if not entirely out of line in addition

1. Operations.

In south France the enemy withdrew from heights east of Scepel (S79). Enemy troops arrived in trucks 3rd November area north of Cornimont (V 32) where strong enemy artillery reaction to Allied advance. Stubborn enemy opposition offered in hill positions southwest of St Die (V 46). Enemy shelling Allied occupied towns area Montigny (V 39). Enemy contact maintained. Allied patrols report 30 foot gap blown east side of bridge Aulnois Sur Seille (U 9530). Enemy cleared from high ground at Rettel (U 9794).

After unsuccessful counter attacks with infantry and tanks enemy believed to be 116th Panzer Division forced Allied troops to withdraw from Schmidt (F 0629) but his attempt to push further contained. Other point this area fierce resistance from pillboxes slowed Allied progress.

Limited Allied progress southeast of Liesel (E 61) Drunen (Z 24) captured. Prisoner of war states enemy expected attack and withdrew to Maas River in afternoon. 59th and 712th Infantry Divisions believed much depleted by captures: Many surrendered easily. Allied bridgehead over Maas north of Tilburg. Only enemy bridgehead south of Maas east of Geertruidenberg under Allied fire. To west enemy withdrew to crossings at Moerdijk (D 84) and Willemstadt (D 74). Rearguard action moderate eastern part only.

North Beveland clear of enemy. On Walcheren Allied bridgeheads linked up and good progress made inland. Oost Souburg (D 12) occupied without opposition and no enemy contact 1000 yards to north. Mine fields and resistance from some strong points delayed progress other areas.

2. Order of battle. Identifications: By prisoner of war: 3rd November 60th Panzer Grenadier Regiment 116th Panzer Division, southwest of Hurtgen (F 0335); stated Division commanded by Colonel Von Waldenburg left Munich gladbach two days ago for the Germeter Schmidt area.

5th November II Battalion 1055th Grenadier Regiment 89th Infantry Division southwest of Schmidt (F 0629).

4th November elements I Battalion 959th Grenadier Regiment Hemmel (E 7468). Also unconfirmed ground source states telephone exchange 363rd Infantry Division at E885801. Comment: Has moved across to Arnheim sector from Renkum since three days ago: Stated however to be only small elements compensating for elements 10th SS Panzer Division recently sent to Hertogenbosch area.

By document: Undated, possibly 2nd November, gives southern boundary of 48th Infantry Division on line Fronzahan (U 9627). Northern boundary from north edge of Eply (U 8636) to Rafeourt (U 8837). 85th Corps order dated 15th October found on prisoner from 338th Infantry Division suggests corps sector now extends as far north as exclusive 198th Infantry Division. Comment: IV German Airforce Corps presumably also shifted northwards.

Notes: Order by Field Marshall Model quoted in document of 21st October: Battalions must have fighting strength of at least 300 men, battalions less than 200 men to be dissolved and amalgamated: Foregoing also applies to companies under 50 men.

AGWAR FX 48716 signed SACMED cite FEGCT

1. With effect from 6th November control on special operations in Austria will be assumed by SACMED.
2. Political guidance in this connection will be exercised through US political adviser and British resident minister at this Hq.
3. SOMTO and 2677th Regt OSS will arrange that SOE and OSS/SO units operating in that country
 - (A) Maintain close liaison
 - (B) Submit daily and weekly summaries of their activities to this Hq with copies to Adv Hq AAI and Hq BAF
4. In view of limited aircraft lift available, no new commitments whatever involving air supply will be taken on without the prior approval of this Hq.
5. Bearing Para 4 in mind and the limitations imposed by winter conditions, the policy is to build up resistance and sabotage on a long term basis in south Austria as the logical extension of operations in north Italy and north Yugoslavia.
End

No. FX 48311, MEDCOS 207 4 November 1944
FX 48311, cite FHCOS, signed Wilson.

In view of information given to General Rooks, my Deputy Chief of Staff, when in Washington on 27th October, it may be an advantage to the Combined Chiefs of Staff to be informed more precisely of the operations which it is proposed to carry out in Italy before end of the year. These operations can be divided into two phases.

(A) First phase - up to the end of November.

1. Eight Army to continue their present offensive with the object of driving the enemy out of his salient between FORLI and M Grande. It may be that these operations will lead to the capture of Ravenna.

2. Fifth Army to regroup and rest their exhausted divisions preparatory to further operations designed to capture Bologna.

3. Both armies to prepare plans for a combined offensive about the end of November to drive the enemy out of Bologna, and Ravenna if not already in our hands.

In this phase, Eight Army will continue its offensive astride highway nine with two corps whilst resting its third corps during the period necessary to regroup Fifth Army. When Fifth Army is regrouped, the renewed offensive will be opened by both Fifth Army and Eighth Army, the latter employing all its three corps.

B. Second phase - end November, onwards.

This phase covers operations designed to capture Bologna and Ravenna. Timing will depend on the weather but to afford the minimum time required for rest and regrouping the offensive cannot be launched before the end of November. If enemy resistance continues on the present scale this operation will be the last major effort of which General Alexander's forces are capable this year without resting formations which have been continuously engaged in operations, and rebuilding ammunition stocks.

The timing and scale of the operations across the Adriatic next year proposed in MEDCOS 205*will of course depend on the outcome of the offensive against BOLOGNA and Ravenna.

Early approval in principle of my proposals for operations across the Adriatic is however essential if administrative provision and planning is to be completed in time.

For MIS and JICAME from Baker number M 3257.

Question of vote of confidence in Government was not brought up in two recent sessions of Parliament and next session scheduled for tomorrow is postponed to 5th November. Situation continues evidently tense and critical.

Following obtained from Iranian Chief of Staff today:

On 30th October additional demonstration took place before police station in Tabriz with shouts against Saed Regime; about 20 Iranian soldiers attempted to disperse crowd and in ensuing fracas shots were fired and several demonstrators killed and wounded; about 500 armed mounted Russian Cavalry appeared promptly on scene and took Iranian soldiers into custody; Iranian Military Commander has been unable to secure release of 20 arrested soldiers and furthermore was told to place himself under command of Soviet Military Commander which he refused to do; Iranian Commander was then instructed by Russians that his troops must remain in their barracks and must not any longer participate in control or maintenance of order in Tabriz which functions were in effect being assumed by the Russian authorities; Russian sentries were posted around Iranian barracks; Iranian Chief of Staff requested explanation this morning from Soviet Military Attache here of these actions; demonstrations have also Soviet censorship has prevented release of dispatches to outside world by foreign press representatives touching on situation. In addition to stopping rail shipments mentioned in digest report 52-44 dated 25th October other measures indicating Soviet pressure are discontinuance of local Russian Air Lines to Meshed, Tabriz and Pahlevi and stopping for 36 hours all commercial telegraphic communications with Northern Zone.
