1922 - 1924	Kommandeur Gebirgsjaegerbataillon, Inf.Rgt 19
1926	Reichswehrministerium
1927	Abteilungsleiter, Heeresausbildungsabt. Oberst
1930	Kommandeur Infanterieschule Dresden, Gen.maj.
1932	Generalleutnant
1934	Kommandeur der vierten Division, Dresden Befehlshaber im Wehrkreis IV

List, a native Wuerttemberger, never played any part in the political intrigues going on in the former Reichswehr and therefore was not very well known outside of army circles. He seems to be a purely professional soldier, but as such always had very high qualifications, which is proved already by the fact that in 1930 he was made commander of the officers Infantry School at Dresden, which was the most important instructional post of the Reichswehr. If at that time he would have shown the slightest Nazi sympathies, Minister GROENER who always made the most important very thorough investigations in this respect would most surely not have given him the job. The predecessor of List as Commander of the Inf. School was General von FALCKENHAUSEN (Now military commander in Belgium) who was sacked because of rightist political tendencies and later went to China as military adviser. It is therefore likely that the personal relations between List and Falckenhausem are still not too good. WVP

List was appointed as successor to Falckenhausem as commander in 1930. SCHLEICHER had got rid of F. by having the Left papers, including the Vorwaerts, print stories of F.'s rather witty remarks about the Republic. I don't know how far these stories were true, but Schleicher's purpose was quite clear to me. He saw in F. one of his two possible rivals. Groener selected List for this position because he was firmly convinced, as he said to me, that List held moderate democratic political views and there would be no danger of his influencing young officers in Dresden in any way contrary to the Constitution. He had first-class qualifications but not those of a c-in-c. He came from Wuerttemberg, as far as I know, and was very young when he was promoted. S.
