THE WHITE HOUSE

OFFICE OF THE PRESS SECRETARY

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

June , 2007

The President today made additional disaster assistance available to the State of Kansas impacted by severe storms, tornadoes, and flooding during the period of May 4-18, 2007, by authorizing an increase in the level of Federal funding for debris removal and emergency protective measures under the Public Assistance program.

The President's major disaster declaration issued for the State on May 6, 2007, initially authorized Individual Assistance, Public Assistance, Hazard Mitigation, and any other forms of assistance under the Stafford Act subject to the completion of Preliminary Damage Assessments. Public Assistance, Hazard Mitigation, and Other Needs Assistance under Section 408 were authorized at 75 percent Federal funding of total eligible costs.

Under the President's order today, the Federal share has been increased to 100 percent of the eligible costs for debris removal (Category A) under the Public Assistance program for any consecutive 30 day period of the State's choosing and for emergency protective measures (Category B) under the Public Assistance program for the first 30 days.

The cost-share adjustment is retroactive to the date of the President's major disaster declaration for the State of Kansas.

DRAFT

June 11, 2007

Chairman Jeff Bingaman
Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee
304 Dirksen Senate Building
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Chairman Bingaman,

Thank you for writing me regarding the Administration's view of the intent of language contained in subtitle A of title I of S.1321. In your letter, you raised two specific questions with regard to the administration of the Renewable Fuels Standard (RFS) program:

- First, ~~is it~~ ^{it is} the Administration's view that the language of S.1321 transfers authority for the Renewable Fuels Standard from the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency?
- Second, is it the Administration's intent, should this language be enacted into law, to transfer the Renewable Fuels Standard program from the Environmental Protection Agency to another federal agency?

In 2005, the President signed into law the Energy Policy Act of 2005, which made EPA responsible for promulgating regulations to ensure that gasoline sold in the United States contains a minimum volume of renewable fuel. This program is commonly referred to as the Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS) program. It is the Administration's view that S.1321 does not transfer the RFS program out of EPA. Should the language contained in S.1321 be enacted into law, it would not be the Administration intent to remove the administration of the RFS program from EPA.

Yours Sincerely,

James L. Connaughton

P. 1

UNITED STATES SENATE
WASHINGTON, DC 20510JOHN E. SUNUNU
NEW HAMPSHIRE

June 13, 2007

*One page hand delivered to The President*The President and Mrs. Bush
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President and Mrs. Bush,

I write to extend personal thanks and appreciation for today's White House greeting of the "Wounded Warriors" - a group of twenty disabled veterans - who began their annual bicycle trek from Washington, D.C., to New York City this morning.

After finding out this group had hoped to kick off its ride from the White House (although it turns out that no formal request was ever made), your impressive staff reacted with remarkable speed and acumen to accommodate these great American heroes. Within hours of the request, the Wounded Warriors were informed they had a special tour and - best of all - a meeting with Tony Snow.

Although countless staff stepped in to move this forward, I would like to mention in particular Keith Hensley and Vanessa Beebe (Public Liaison), Sara Armstrong and Stephanie Higgins (Visitors Office), Ed Buckley (Tony Snow's office), Dori Thornton (Social Office), and Katelin Dial (Senate Liaison) for dropping everything to make this happen.

I can't think of a more worthy group for which to open the gates of the White House, and you both should be very proud of the staff who made that happen.

Sincerely,

John E. Sununu
United States Senator

Subject: Letters for the President's read book...

We have two letters for the President's read book, per staff officers recommendation:

11 June 2007 letter from Rebiya Kadeer (she met the President in Prague last week)

28 May 2007 letter from Jaap de Hoop Scheffer (who recently met with the President)

Originals are in Mr. Yanes' mailbox, along with the four packages that were sent electronically to the Ranch.

Have a good weekend.

FAX LETTER

To: US President George Bush, Russian President Vladimir Putin
From: Harold Burbank, Veterans for Peace USA (www.veteransforpeace.org)
Re: 7-1-07 Kennebunkport, Maine meetings; Disarmament
Date: 5-30-07

Dear Presidents Bush and Putin:

I was pleased to read today the President GHW Bush will host you both July 1 and 2, 2007 at his Kennebunkport, Maine home, where I spent four summers as the sole family groundskeeper. Kennebunk is my hometown and I am sure that the Kenneburks and the nation will welcome all meetings between you for peace and disarmament.

I write to send a simple notice and request. I grew up watching President GHW Bush make his way into US and world history. It was a privileged viewpoint with many fond memories. It influenced me to study international relations (2 degrees) and law, with a focus on human rights law. President GHW Bush has kindly answered my notes to him on war and peace through the years. I tell my children, family and friends these anecdotes often. I admire the noble things he has done for our country.

So too have I watched and studied the USSR and the new Russia, as a student, lawyer, and United Nations volunteer for Veterans for Peace. The former Soviet republics and Russia have taught the world much about what political and economic ideas are possible and not possible. I wonder what Russia will plan in my children's lifetimes. I am encouraged when I hear Russia speak of peace, and of leading Eurasia to progress and stability, if not democracy. Stability and progress will come in time, I believe, if east and west are committed to peaceful relations.

As a Veterans for Peace United Nations volunteer of many years, I know Russia has been active in a new UN peace movement which asserts that a new international relations paradigm is required for peace - one involving consensus and cooperation of common spiritual and religious values among nations. The movement is lead by the UN Tripartite Forum on Interfaith Cooperation for Peace, founded by the Iran, Philippines, Pakistan and other Muslim states, including Russia in its membership, but lacking the US and Israel. Key UN agencies and all religious NGOs complete the Tripartite. The Tripartite's mission is to engage former and current enemies in deep spiritual as well as political dialogue toward consensus for peace - an historic approach which many UN experts think is critical to responsibly address terrorism, energy shortages, climate change, and other current crises.

As a young man the I was told an oral history of the Bush family at Walker's Point, Kennebunkport, Maine, that few know. Ernest and Ann Spencer served the family there for at least four generations of Bushes. Ann especially would tell me stories of how President GHW Bush's grandmother would host Yale Divinity students at Walker's Point each summer so they might rest from their studies. This was one quiet way the Walker-Bush families worshiped their God, supported their church, and expressed hope for humanity. It would therefore be very fitting, I believe, for the July, 2007 US and Russia Walker's Point talks, to consider how America and Russia, for spiritual reasons, can and should rekindle policies of nuclear disarmament, mutual security, human rights, and common humanity. I request that President Bush and President Putin do so, for the sake of past and future war veterans of all nations who have sacrificed their lives for peace, and for humanity, so that war might end. I will pray for your success in this work.

Thank you for your attention.

Exec Sec,

All required EOP offices have cleared the disaster declaration staffing for Missouri. White House Counsel's Office (John Mitnick) provided edits to both letters for the President's signature, which have now been incorporated. The change replaces the sentence with the detailed language regarding the Public Assistance pilot program in each letter, and replaces it with a sentence that has broader language that is simpler and more appropriate for a Presidential letter of this sort.

Please let Staff Secretary know so that they can present the disaster declaration packet to the President for approval. I will bring the new hardcopies of the two documents referenced above to Staff Sec now.

Thank you.

The Honorable George Walker Bush
President of the United States of America

Dear Mr. President,

I would like to extend my deepest gratitude to you for meeting with me in Prague last week. It was a great honor to have the opportunity to speak with you about the human rights situation of the Uyghur people in East Turkestan. Words cannot express my joy at meeting with you, the leader of the freest nation on Earth, a beacon of hope to people living in repressive societies.

I would also like to thank you for including me in your speech about the spread of freedom and democracy throughout the world. The Uyghur people of East Turkestan and those Uyghurs exiled abroad were undoubtedly greatly encouraged by your words, as they know that their quest for lives free from repression has not gone unnoticed. Your remarks in Prague sent a strong message to the international community that the United States cares about the Uyghurs and other oppressed peoples.

I applaud you for your commitment to spreading liberty and justice internationally, and for lending your support to dissidents in Burma, Cuba, China, Sudan, and elsewhere. My own personal freedom would not have been possible without the efforts of your administration. As you stand by the side of those who suffer under tyranny, the repressive regimes holding power in these nations will come to know that it is only through listening to voices for freedom and promoting human rights that they will achieve success and respect.

With the support of great leaders like you, we can continue to inform the international community about the widespread repression in East Turkestan, and we can continue to work toward a China with greater respect for human rights. I look forward to that day, and I thank you again for standing on the side of peace, freedom and democracy.

With warmest regards,

Rebiya Kadeer

Growing Economy and Fiscal Discipline Working to Reduce Budget Deficit President's Goal to Balance the Budget by 2012 On Track

Today, the Office of Management and Budget Reported the FY2007 Budget Deficit Is Forecast To Be Lower than Last Year and the President's Goal to Balance the Budget is on Track. The President's pro-growth policies have encouraged sustained economic growth and job creation, thereby strengthening government revenues and helping to reduce the deficit.

ing deficit project at the start of the fiscal year
The new report estimates this year's deficit to be $XXX billion or XX percent of GDP, a $XX billion decrease from $248 billion. The federal deficit is declining for the third year in a row and the President's goal to balance the budget by 2012 is achievable with a budget surplus in 2012 of $XX billion under the President's policies.

A Growing Economy Delivered Higher Than Expected Tax Receipts

- Sustained Economic Growth. The economy has grown for 22 consecutive quarters with real GDP growth averaging 2.9 percent a year since the end of 2001. Solid real GDP growth is expected to continue, averaging 3.0 percent a year from 2008 to 2012. The economy is now ——— larger than it was
- Job Creation And Low Unemployment. Since the full implementation of the President's tax relief in 2003, the economy has created over 8.2 million jobs. At 4.5 percent, the unemployment rate is lower than the averages for the 1970s, 1980s, and the 1990s. The U.S. has had the longest period of uninterrupted job growth since June 1990.
- Higher Tax Receipts. In the last three years, tax receipts have increased more than 37 percent. Receipts are projected to continue to grow at X percent this year. → (comparison)
- This Year, Millions of Americans are Keeping More of Their Hard-earned Money Because of the President's Tax Relief.
 - Average taxpayers will keep an average of $2,216 more;
 - Nearly five million low-income workers will not pay income taxes;
 - Seniors will keep an average of $2,934 more;
 - Small businesses will keep an average of $4,712 more; and
 - Families with children will keep average of $2,864 more.

Spending Restraint is Essential in Balancing the Budget

- Republicans are Driving Spending Discipline. In February, the President proposed to restrain spending by holding growth in non-security discretionary spending to a reasonable and responsible level for each year of the five-year budget horizon, while adequately addressing key national priorities, including education, healthcare, and energy.
- Increasing Transparency; Reducing Wasteful Spending. In January, President Bush called on Congress to cut the number and cost of earmarks by at least half. To establish a benchmark for accurately measuring this goal, OMB launched www.earmarks.omb.gov, which houses more information on earmarks in one place than has ever been publicly available through the Federal government. Also, the President's FY08 Budget proposed the reduction or elimination 141 inefficient or duplicative programs, saving $12 billion in 2008.
- Securing Long-Term Fiscal Health. The President's Budget includes sensible, needed changes to important entitlement programs like Medicare, Medicaid, and Social Security to address our nation's biggest budgetary challenge.

Democrats' Tax and Spend Approach Jeopardizes a Balanced Budget

- Tax Hikes And Overspending Will Not Reduce The Deficit Or Balance The Budget. Just this year, Democrats proposed a massive tax increase and more than $200 billion in additional spending over the next five years. how
- Democrats Have No Plan for Nation's Biggest Budget Challenge. By 2040, spending for Medicare, Medicaid, and Social Security will begin to crowd out the rest of the Federal budget if needed reforms are not made. The President's sensible reforms would slow the growth of entitlement programs by $92 billion over five years. Democratic leaders have chosen to ignore this critical issue in their budget plan from proposals.
- The Administration Will Hold the Line on Spending. The President proposed a responsible level of discretionary spending in his budget, and he will veto annual spending bills that exceed this level.

LEON WIESELTIER

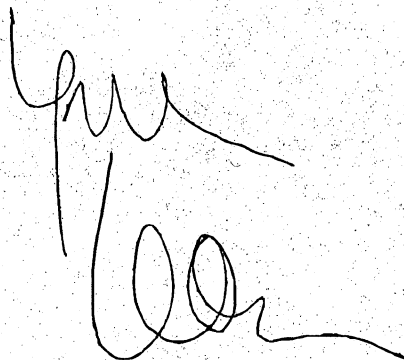

2 July

Dear Josh,

Hello! It's been too long.

Fouad Ajami and I have organized a letter to the president asking him to pardon Scooter. Now that Scooter's legal options seem exhausted, I attach it to this fax, and will consider it to have arrived on the appropriate White House desk. Poor Scooter. He doesn't deserve this.

I'm here if you have any questions or comments. Let's see each other again sometime. I hope you're well, my friend. I know you're busy.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Leon', with a stylized, cursive flourish extending from the bottom.

July 2, 2007

Mr. President:

We write to urge a Presidential pardon for I. Lewis Libby, a good and decent man, now facing imminent imprisonment for the next two and one-half years of his life. We who have signed this letter do not agree on all of the major issues in our national debate. We are members of both political parties, and have widely-differing views of the American war in Iraq: some of us support it, others among us oppose it.

But we are united in calling for your compassion for Mr. Libby. We are also united in our belief that the interests of fairness and justice would be best served by a Presidential pardon now. The causes of Mr. Libby's present plight is well-known to you: the immediate cause was the investigation into the leaking to the press of the identity of a CIA operative, and the larger cause was the country's deep division over the Iraq war. It is widely acknowledged that Mr. Libby was not the official of your government who disclosed the identity of a CIA operative to the press. The judicial process—an entirely inappropriate venue in which to conduct the debate over Iraq—has sentenced Mr. Libby to prison and a fine of a quarter of one million dollars. This is the fate now facing a man who tirelessly and selflessly devoted himself to the service of this nation, and of this administration.

Constitutional scholars and lawyers will debate the merits of the process that concluded in Mr. Libby's conviction and sentencing. We are not writing to join the legal discussion. We are writing only to urge timely and well-deserved compassion. Mr. President, this is a public servant you have known well, whom you and the Vice President entrusted with our nation's most sensitive assignments. He carried out his duties tirelessly, and out of principle. His loyalty to you and to the Vice President and to our country is beyond reproach. He does not deserve to have his life shattered by the passions of our day.

It is deeply unjust that this man – and he alone – was prosecuted, thereby dealing a devastating blow to a distinguished and selfless public career. We are indeed a nation of laws, but the legal process has taken an unfairly heavy toll on Mr. Libby, his wife and their young children. While no one has the power to make Mr. Libby whole again, you alone have the power to put his ordeal to an end. We urge you to use that power now.

A Presidential pardon is the only way to limit the injury and the adversity that this good man will suffer. We understand that a pardon will ignite a controversy, but the human claim seems to us paramount. Your intervention, a matter of the most elementary compassion, is Mr. Libby's only avenue of deliverance.

Americans for Peace Now:

Middle East Peace Report

July 2, 2007

Vol. 8, Issue 31

Working for a Secure Israel through Peace

On the Horizon: Prime Minister Ehud Olmert's approach to the schism in Palestinian government was evident at last week's Sharm el-Sheikh summit: "The new PA government [in the West Bank], which recognizes Israel's right to exist as well as the solution of two states for two peoples and negates terror and violence, is a government that we recognize and will work with in order to implement the Road Map and advance our goals." At the same time, Israel "will not cooperate with these forces [who took over Gaza], who wish to lead the region into ruin and prevent the moderate Palestinian people from realizing its aspirations." In order not to punish the Palestinian population in Gaza, Israel "will continue to provide this population with electricity, water, medical services, food and medications, in order to prevent a humanitarian crisis."

Olmert announced a number of goodies that the new PA government in the West Bank will receive: Israel "will continuously pass on the tax monies which we collect; we will renew the security and economic cooperation between us; we will improve the freedom of movement of the Palestinian population in Judea and Samaria in a significant manner; we will renew and expand trade relations between us in Judea and Samaria, which will lead to economic well-being. The residents of Judea and Samaria will feel that the choice of a path which is not terror and violence, but rather a path of dialogue and peace opens up new political possibilities and leads to a better life, one which is more comfortable and tranquil."

Indeed, Israel transferred $118 million in withheld tax revenues to the Palestinian government on Sunday. The remainder of the tax revenues, collected by Israel on behalf of the Palestinians, is expected to be transferred to Abbas' government within six months.

The three Arab leaders at the four-nation summit clearly asked Israel to go beyond these measures and open negotiations. Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas said: "I ask Olmert's partnership to begin serious negotiations, according to an agreed upon timetable, for the establishment of an independent Palestinian state with its capital in East Jerusalem, which will live in peace and security besides its neighbor, Israel." "I became joyful, as I saw agreement from our perspective about breaking the present freeze," said Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak. Meanwhile, King Abdullah of Jordan said: "The opening of serious negotiations necessitates supporting Abu Mazen [another name for Abbas] and the removal of the siege from the Palestinian people."

The calls to renew negotiations are also coming from within Olmert's cabinet. Ha'aretz columnist Akiva Eldar wrote that Foreign Minister Tzippi Livni "is explaining to those in Jerusalem that salvation will not come from releasing tax monies. She left no doubt in the hearts of her listeners that if it were up to her, she would bring entirely different baggage to the summit." Indeed Livni said last week that "Israel must clarify with the Palestinians the possibility of reaching agreements on all of the disputed issues." Livni also said that "The mistake of Oslo is that we left the question of the Palestinian state, the borders and the refugees for the end."

Veteran Ha'aretz Palestinian-affairs columnist Danny Rubinstein explains that Israel's approach has "one chance of success," which "depends on whether an offer of a genuine alternative is made to the Palestinian people. What is now on the agenda is transfer of financial assistance to Abbas in the West Bank. Most of the tax monies that the government of Israel has confiscated from the PA will be returned, and this will be done on condition that Abbas fights against terrorism. The United States and other countries will also contribute funds to the emergency government of [Palestinian Prime Minister] Salam Fayyad. The Israel Defense Forces will lift a few roadblocks, perhaps even evacuate the Havat Maon outpost again, and maybe even evacuate another illegal outpost that is uninhabited."

"This, of course, is not an alternative," writes Rubinstein. "All the efforts to crush Hamas without undertaking a dramatic step such as pushing for an accord along the lines of the Arab Peace Initiative will be meaningless. The political reality and the living conditions in the Palestinian territories since September 2000 have prepared the ground for a Hamas victory, and without offering a genuine alternative, Hamas will not be defeated - and may even continue to succeed."

It is clear that the Palestinian public does not perceive the existence of such a credible alternative. 70% believe the chances for the establishment of a Palestinian state in the next five years are low or nonexistent, according to a new poll by the Palestinian Center for Policy and Survey

Research (PSR). The poll also found that if new parliamentary elections are held today, Fatah would receive 43% of the vote, the same percentage it received three months ago in PSR's March survey. But support for Hamas drops modestly from 37% three months ago to 33% in this survey. If new presidential elections are held today and the only two candidates were Abbas and Ismail Haniyeh, 40% would not participate in these elections. Among those who would participate, 49% would vote for Abbas and 42% for Haniyeh. If the competition was between Marwan Barghouti and Haniyeh, non-participation would drop to 31%. Among those who would participate, 59% would vote for Barghouti and 35% for Haniyeh. (Israel Foreign Ministry, 6/25/07; Ha'aretz, 6/25 & 6/26 & 7/2/07; Ma'ariv, 6/26/07; PSR, 6/28/07)

More Than Words: At last week's summit in Sharm el-Sheikh, Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Olmert unexpectedly announced that the next Israeli Cabinet meeting would review a proposal for the release of 250 Fatah-affiliated prisoners from Israeli jails. This gesture was understood as one in a series of actions that Israel would undertake to bolster the credibility of the Fatah government. "I do this because it is important to me that all Palestinians know that those who are ready to maintain relations of peace and reconciliation with us will receive a hand extended in reconciliation and acceptance," explained Olmert.

Yet, the item did not come up at Sunday's Cabinet meeting. The Jerusalem Post reported that Israel was having a hard time identifying 250 Fatah security prisoners who have been in jail for a long time but do not have "blood on their hands." Government officials now reportedly say that the issue will be addressed at next week's cabinet meeting.

Olmert's announcement sparked a great deal of debate on prisoner releases. "I support the release of Palestinian prisoners, even those with 'blood on their hands', as long as they are adults ... they won't go back to terror," said Environment Minister Gideon Ezra, a former head of Israel's General Security Service. Knesset Member Yitzhak Levy (National Union-NRP) said that he would agree to the release of his daughter's killers in the context of a deal that would release Israeli soldier Gilad Shalit, who is being held captive in Gaza. Levy's statement, however, suggests that the prisoner release be part of a deal with Hamas, and not as a gesture that would bolster Fatah.

London-based, Al Hayat reported that Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas requested that Marwan Barghouti, a popular Palestinian serving five consecutive life sentences, be included in the release. "The release of Barghouti is the most correct step that Israel can take at this stage," said Ashraf Ajrami, the Palestinian minister for prisoner affairs, adding "it is better for Israel to release prisoners for Abu Mazen, not for Hamas. It is better to do it as a gesture of good intentions in the framework of a political move, and not as a deal under coercion."

An Israel Radio poll released on Wednesday found that 57% of Israelis support, and 37% oppose the release of Fatah prisoners as Olmert proposed. 64% oppose the release of Barghouti. A Yedioth Ahronoth poll found that 61% of Israelis are prepared to release "hundreds of prisoners, including murderers, in exchange for Gilad Shalit." (Israel Foreign Ministry, 6/25/07; Ynet, 6/27/07; Ma'ariv, 6/27/07; Jerusalem Post, 7/2/07; IMRA, 6/28/07; Yedioth Ahronoth, 6/26/07)

Roadblocks to Peace? Prime Minister Ehud Olmert said today that Israel intends to remove roadblocks between Palestinian towns in order to grant Palestinians "increased freedom of movement." A Peace Now report on roadblocks released Wednesday reveals that there are 560 roadblocks in the West Bank, of which 93 are manned checkpoints and 467 are permanent structures, such as gates, cement blocks, and earth mounds. Only 35 manned checkpoints – and nearly none of the roadblocks – control access between the West Bank and Israel, while the remainder only impact traffic within the West Bank.

"These checkpoints don't prevent terrorists from infiltrating into Israel," Peace Now's Hugü Ofra told reporters on Wednesday at a checkpoint roughly half-way between Bethlehem and Ramallah, where Palestinian travelers would have to face at least one additional checkpoint if they wanted to enter Israel. If Olmert "wants to show he is serious about going towards some kind of political negotiation, the easiest thing to do is to ease traffic in the West Bank," Ofra added. It remains unclear how extensive Olmert's move to remove roadblocks will be or when it will be carried out. The United Nations says the number of checkpoints has increased more than 40 percent since Israel promised in 2005 to reduce the barriers.

A statement released by Peace Now suggested that decreasing the number of roadblocks would give the local Palestinian population a "sense of normalcy" and help Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas "prevent the West Bank from becoming another Gaza." Peace Now also observed that checkpoints are dangerous places for Israeli soldiers and use up a great deal of military manpower. "Each checkpoint requires at least 6 soldiers per shift for many hours of the day, using a large portion of the army's personnel," noted Peace Now. (Washington Post, 6/26/07; Ynet, 6/27/07; Ha'aretz, 6/27 & 7/2/07; Peace Now, 6/27/07)

Changing Tunes: The outpost issue is back on Prime Minister Ehud Olmert's agenda, according to Israeli political sources, who told Ha'aretz that "this year we will see the evacuation of outposts." The unnamed sources said that Olmert is motivated by two factors: Commitments that Israel made to the United States, and legal proceedings, including a petition filed by Peace Now before the Israeli High Court of Justice regarding the evacuation of Migron, the largest unauthorized outpost. In these proceedings, Israel has already committed to evacuating Migron, but it has asked for a series of extensions before taking action. Chief Justice Dorit Beinisch requested an update on the progress of the state's evacuation plan by July 8th. The political sources speaking to Ha'aretz explained that "we can ask the High Court for further extensions, but Olmert is planning to deal with the issue seriously." (Ha'aretz, 6/28/07)

Extending an Olive Branch: In an unusual move, settlers from the unauthorized outpost of Adei Ad planted hundreds of olive trees in a Palestinian-owned grove on Tuesday. The settlers were following orders issued by the Civil Administration, which – after a complaint by a Palestinian farmer – discovered that 300 trees had been stolen from this grove and replanted in the settlement and along the access road leading to it. The Civil Administration ordered the settlers to replant 300 trees – 140 of the original trees, 40 mature trees from a different location and another 130 young trees – and to set up an irrigation system at the grove.

Pinhas Wallerstein, chairman of the Benjamin Regional Council where Adei Ad is located, insisted that there was no theft here to begin with, and that the grove was not Palestinian owned. A senior Civil Administration source told Ha'aretz that its investigation concluded that the land is Palestinian-owned. Muhammed Mukbal from the village of Karyut, told Ha'aretz that the trees were planted in 1965 on a plot he inherited from his father. The theft of the trees was not his first clash with local settlers. Last fall, the Israeli military provided soldiers to accompany him during the first day of the harvest. But when the soldiers were not there, settlers reportedly beat him and his family. Mukbal even identified one of his assailants as being present at the replanting.

Israeli attorney Michael Sfard, who specializes in West Bank property rights, says that theft of trees is a daily occurrence in the West Bank, especially in areas where Palestinians' access to their land is restricted. "I cannot remember a case in which the Civil Administration intervened to replant the trees," he added. A Ha'aretz editorial praised the Civil Administration's extraordinary action in this incident: "Uprooting trees is a deplorable and illicit phenomenon that characterizes the way settlers harass their hapless neighbors. It focuses on olive trees, a source of revenue for their owners and a symbol, because of their longevity, of an ancient claim to the land. In most cases the trees are cut down simply as vandalism, but the Civil Administration suspects that at Adei Ad, those uprooting the trees are also thieves... In the case of Adei Ad, the Civil Administration is worthy of praise." (Ha'aretz, 6/24, 6/27, & 6/29/07)

FOR THE NEWSROOMRE: COMMUNIST CHINA*EXTREMELY URGENT

Dear Members of the U.S. Congress:

Communist China is watching the U.S. Immigration with a GREAT INTEREST and they have come to a SOLUTION. That it would take 100 to 200 years to overrun both the U.S. and Russia with 600-million Chinese immigrants; 300-million for the U.S. and 300-million for Russia. At that time, both the U.S. and Russia would have no choice but to wage a nuclear war. The Chinese could take a nuclear war and would still have at least 300-million people survived. At that time China will take over the world and we would all be their slaves working for them at gunpoint. Maybe we should start learning chinese before Washington, DC is renamed New Peking. Please NOTE the fact that Joseph Domossy served with the U.S. Intelligence Community.

Congress keeps mentioning that we only have 12 million illegals. The actual number is around 40 million we call them GREEN-GOES (greenback raiders). It cost America $150-Billion a year for welfare, food, medical, crimes, jail; and now America imports $20-billion of food to feed them. WHAT HAPPENED TO FARM WORKERS? On top of this, the illegals do not pay taxes and send home $70-billion a year so it has to be 40-million illegals. They also defraud the U.S. Banks of $15-billion a year by means of computers.

The only thing the Illegals contribute to America is to stampede across the borders for freebies, commit crimes and pillage America of $225-billion a year. The repeated border crossers must be sentenced to one year farm work for a dollar a day. All illegals already here must go to their port of entry and properly register with a complete medical check-up and wait their turn, NO EXCEPTION.

70% of illegals are total welfare rip-offs.

26% of illegals are total criminals.

Executive Order No. _____

For Immediate Release

July _____ 2007

I, GEORGE WALKER BUSH by the authority vested in me as President of the United States of America by the Constitution and the laws of the United States of America and for the furtherance of the purpose for recovering EMPIRE WASHINGTON CORPORATION'S (EWC) assets which were stolen by government wrongdoings, do hereby agree to affix my signature to the Executive Order to release EWC's stolen assets. As of June 30, 2007 with interest EWC's assets amount to $14-BILLION $380-MILLION $200-THOUSAND. I have before me copies of the letters from Senator John Warner (VA), Senator George Allen (VA), Senator Bob Graham (FL), Senator Bill Nelson (FL), Senator Barbara Mikulski (MD), Congressmen James Moran, Tom Davis, L.F. Payne (VA), Mark Foley (FL) and the governments of Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Qatar also requesting the release of EWC's stolen assets. Vice President Cheney, Karl Rove, along with the entire White House Cabinet Members, the U.S. Treasury, Federal Reserve, FDIC, State Department and the Homeland Security are aware of EWC's stolen assets.

MY ATTENTION IS DIRECTED TO THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION THAT EXPLAINS HOW EWC WAS ADVERSELY AFFECTED BY GOVERNMENT WRONGDOINGS:

In trying to build Empire City, EWC was robbed, four people murdered and EWC's CEO was terrorized by government wrongdoings. Empire City in Northern Virginia consists of a 5,000 unit retirement condominium, a hospital, a 3,000 room hotel, and a shopping center among other projects. EWC's 2,652 investors include domestic real estate companies, and individual investors in addition to 3 Arab governments; Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Qatar, whose investment to date with interest amounts to $400-Million. Also about 300 Jewish-American investors to date with interest amounts to $100-Million.

These assets were stolen through four federally insured and controlled banks of Northern Virginia: Arlington S&L, Fairfax S&L, Piedmont Federal S&L and Northern Virginia S&L. EWC and its investors received fraudulent mortgage and construction documents by herein mentioned banks. The banks in turn invested EWC's assets in out-of-state banks. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board (FHLBB), Federal S&L Insurance Corp (FSLIC), and Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC) closed and/or assumed control over these banks, leaving EWC with worthless fraudulent notes. Congress in turn, ceased operation of the FHLBB, FSLIC and RTC. Congress had the S&L scandals investigated by two different agencies. I have before me the two 100-page Congressional documents of the investigation. Congress, as an answer to the S&L scandals, appropriated $60 Billion for loss compensation. President H.W. Bush and President William Jefferson Clinton signed the Bill into Law, since this was investigated by the 100th Congress 2nd Session, 72nd Report by the Committee on Government Operations Combating Fraud Abuse and Misconduct in the Nation's Financial Institutions.

I, President GEORGE WALKER BUSH hereby instruct the Department of the U.S. Treasury to release EWC's stolen assets in the amount of $14 BILLION $380-MILLION $200-THOUSAND effective immediately. EWC and its investors, are herein requesting the President and the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States of America to release EWC's stolen assets in the amount of $14-BILLION $380-MILLION $200- THOUSAND.

URGENT NATIONAL SECURITY MATTER

The Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of EWC, Joseph Domossy has made claims against the U.S. Government and its agencies of having been improperly held hostage against his will for four and a half months and furthermore, after his release, agents of the Secret Service, with the help of local Falls Church and Northern Virginia Police forces, on three occasions, physically and emotionally terrorized EWC's CEO by threatening to end his existence, on Grove Avenue, Falls Church, VA. in front of 60 witnesses, including the police.

An allegation has been made by EWC that its Attorney Joseph A. Bonis of 8605 Cameron Street, Silver Spring, MD 20910 was murdered by the Secret Service, after his office was ransacked of all important files and documents belonging to EWC and were illegally confiscated and destroyed; and four people were murdered, including the previous FDIC's Chairman William Taylor and CIA's Director, William Casey who were trying to help recover EWC's stolen assets.

EWC's stolen assets were further delayed by allocation of funds, by the Department of Treasury to bailout the Republic of Mexico. The funds were repaid by Mexico but to date, EWC has received no payment. In the midst of all this fraud by the U.S. Government wrongdoing, Kuwait, an EWC investor, donated $500-million in Hurricane Katrina relief funds to help in the rebuilding of New Orleans. Saudia Arabia and Qatar also EWC investors, donated $100 million each, in addition to United Arab Emirates' donation of $100 million, for a total of $800 million.

I, President George W. Bush understand that each day I delay the signing of the Executive Order, I permit $3-million daily interest to accrue.

THEREFORE: This Executive Order hereby authorizes, effective immediately, the U.S. Treasury to release EWC's stolen assets in the amount of ~~$14-BILLION~~ $380-MILLION ~~$200-THOUSAND~~ EWC and its investors agree not to file charges against the U.S. Government, its agencies, agents, offices or any person. EWC also agrees not to file a Cease & Desist & Freeze of Assets Order under Racketeering Influenced & Corrupted Organization (RICO) Criminal or Civil law suit for punitive damages in the amount of $900 Billion against the FDIC, Federal Reserve, and the U.S. Treasury for $900 Billion punitive damages. This action by EWC would have left the FDIC without insurance and would result in the collapse of both the banking system and the stockmarket.

We all agree with former U.S. Attorney General John D. Ashcroft that when Congress investigated this matter twice and Presidents, George H.W. Bush and William J. Clinton signed the Bill into Law, it is illegal to investigate any further or go to any court.

THEREBY: I, President GEORGE WALKER BUSH, with my signature, authorize the recovery of EWC's stolen assets effective immediately in the amount of ~~$14-BILLION~~ $380-MILLION ~~$200-THOUSAND~~

President George W. Bush
1600 Pennsylvania Ave. NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President,

I am writing you today to express my concern on an issue of great importance to millions of Americans, an issue that goes straight to the heart of fairness and due process; the International Trade Commission.

The ITC recently ruled in an ongoing case involving the wireless technology sector and in so doing exposed the inherent danger in having so much power vested in one agency. The ITC usurped the justice system and imposed their opinion on a matter still being adjudicated in the civil court system.

By inserting themselves in an on-going case and imposing a permanent ban on the importation of third generation (3G) wireless technology, they overruled the due process rights of Qualcomm. But more importantly, they introduced themselves in a civil case that is far from reaching conclusion.

The ITC decision to permanently ban importation of this crucial technology, if not overturned, could have a stifling effect on innovation in any number of areas of our economy. In this case, the expansion and deployment of new broadband technologies is threatened due to capital loss.

This decision has wide-ranging ramifications beyond those effecting Qualcomm. Nearly every wireless carrier uses products that contain the technology now facing an importation ban. The unintended consequences of this ruling will inevitably affect many other companies, having a devastating impact on the entire wireless industry, as well as the overall economy and individual Americans.

The authority assumed by the ITC is dangerous, and something you have the authority to overturn. I urge you to overturn this decision and return this case to its proper venue: this civil court system, best suited to hear evidence and deliberate on the facts of the case, the civil court system.

Onward,

Grover Norquist

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: LIZA WRIGHT LW

SUBJECT: Delegation Selection

I recommend you approve the following individual to lead a Presidential Delegation to attend the opening ceremonies of the 2007 Special Olympics World Summer Games in Shanghai to be held October 1-4. Special Olympics is a unique organization with chapters in more than 160 countries that currently serves more than 2.25 million people with intellectual disabilities. The State Department, with the concurrence of the National Security Council, has recommended the designation of a Presidential Delegation to attend the opening ceremonies of the Special Olympics Games to demonstrate the United States' commitment to volunteerism, broad citizen engagement, and the dignity of all human beings, as well as to serve as a symbol of goodwill in U.S.-China relations.

The Honorable Margaret Spellings, Secretary of Education

APPROVE: ✓

DISAPPROVE: _____

Delegation to the Special Olympics Shanghai World Summer Games October 1-4, 2007.

- The State Department and NSC are recommending the designation of a Presidential Delegation to attend the opening ceremonies of the Special Olympics Shanghai World Summer Games to demonstrate the importance the United States places on respecting the dignity of all human beings, and to serve as a symbol of goodwill in U.S.-China relations.
- This will be the largest single sporting event in 2007, with a Chinese audience expected to be as large as one billion. This delegation would underscore, in an apolitical context, America's respect for and commitment to good relations with China. Also, in the context of the Strategic Economic Dialogue and other ongoing negotiations with the Chinese, this delegation offers an opportunity for the U.S. and China to demonstrate common objectives for individuals with intellectual disabilities.
- Secretary Spellings is available and interested in leading this delegation.
- Should you approve her as the head of delegation, she will be announced at the torch lighting ceremony on Thursday, July 25, 2007.
- We will be recommending accompanying delegates in a separate memo.

DRAFT STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

Conclusion of Negotiations with India on a Bilateral Agreement for Peaceful Nuclear Cooperation

I welcome the conclusion of negotiations on a bilateral agreement between the United States and India for peaceful nuclear cooperation. I commend those ~~on both sides~~ who have worked hard to make this deal happen, and I now look forward to working with Congress to realize this important initiative. This marks another step in the continued progress that is deepening our Strategic Partnership with India.
