What happens if I do not have the capacity to decide for myself?

You, in the care of another physician, are responsible by law to be mentally capable of deciding about CPR unless two physicians of your choice decide for you. If you do not have the capacity to make a decision, your physician must either:

- Reversal a DNR order, or
- Transfer responsibility for your care to another physician responsible for your care, or
- Make the decision to dispense medication system (PDRs) or
- Make the decision to dispense medication your physician must authorize if you don’t want to be resuscitated and you honor my wishes. You may change your decision. What happens if I change my mind after I consent?
Service Organization

A Not-for-Profit

Ambulance

Delta

professionals and family
DNR orders are available online for downloading on our website. In the event of these forms are available online for downloading.

A DNR order is a legal document that indicates a patient's wishes regarding end-of-life care. It is a way to communicate your wishes to your healthcare providers and family members.

What is a DNR order?

A DNR order is a legal document that indicates a patient's wishes regarding end-of-life care. It is a way to communicate your wishes to your healthcare providers and family members.

How will I know if I have a DNR order?

Your doctor or healthcare provider will inform you if you have a DNR order. They will also provide you with a copy of the DNR order.

Ineffective CPR

CPR (Comprehensive Prehospital Resuscitation) is a medical procedure used to restore circulation and breathing to a person who has stopped breathing or has a pulse. CPR is performed by medical professionals who have been trained in this procedure.

Is my right to refuse and receive other

Do certain circumstances exist where CPR is not appropriate or effective?

CPR is not appropriate or effective in certain circumstances, such as when the patient is in a terminal state and there is hope of recovery. In these situations, CPR may not be in the best interest of the patient. It is important to discuss these situations with your healthcare provider to determine the appropriateness of CPR for your particular circumstances.

What are the advantages of a DNR order?

A DNR order can provide peace of mind for you and your family. It can also help to ensure that your wishes are respected by healthcare providers. Additionally, a DNR order can help to reduce medical costs associated with end-of-life care.

How can I make a DNR order?

To make a DNR order, you will need to complete a DNR form. This form can be obtained from your healthcare provider or hospital. You can then sign the form and return it to your provider or hospital.

Let's make an informed decision. It's recommended that you make an informed decision. Let's talk about your wishes. It's important to be clear about your preferences and communicate them to your healthcare providers. Let's make an informed decision. It's recommended that you make an informed decision. Let's talk about your wishes. It's important to be clear about your preferences and communicate them to your healthcare providers.