

Genesis New life

Taking a deep breath in and letting it go. I would love for you to focus your attention and your spirit being in the center of your head. We are going to be looking at a master cell a stem cell that was with you seven days after your parents conceived you. This cell holds the direction of life. It holds all the direction for regeneration and for generating fracturing a new genesis. In this master cell we allow the quantum field to bring the cell to its perfected God state and all the parts of this master cell, the stem cell are being flooded and infused with quantum field as the nucleus returns to its God state. As the absorption and elimination organelles return to their perfected state you could just watch as the cell recharges, refuels, regenerate and as even the DNA strands perhaps broken talamaures begin to reassemble and become part of the perfected master cell part of divinity, part of a great and powerful healing.

Continue to focus light and love and great gratitude in the direction of this master cell that you are looking at in your mind's eye. You are feeling the possibility now of genesis of the beginning of new life of creating and restoring your body to its perfected state, to its healthy state to its state of full self expression. We allow the quantum field to permeate the cell and continue to restore it and bring it to a higher and higher function and the cell just continues to be more enrich and more full and more whole more a part of you within a more complete story. We see the human blueprint, the design of the human blueprint, the perfection of the human blueprint and the master cell each of these cells with a special encoding of how to grow a gland, an organ, a brain or body part. It is magnificent to observe. As the quantum field continues to bring more and more perfection closer and closer this master cell goes to its God state and as it comes to its Gods state as it is now reaching its 100% perfected state, we see a program in the mitochondria, the fuel generator for the cell. Mitochondria, if you want to imagine it looks like a little caterpillar crawling on the membrane of the cell and it provides the fuel for the cell. In the mitochondria is the program for regeneration and we are so ready for some new cells. So pushing on the program maybe you have a little button that you imagine pushing on in that little caterpillar light mechanism. Let's go ahead and push on the program for regeneration and a cascade of new cell growth perfected God state cell growth is now beginning and we see this as being amplified, being magnified and bringing new life to parts of your body that you did not think was possible until now and you feel tingly and you feel the quantum field supporting you. You feel an alignment with who you are and what you were meant to do. We begin to really see a new regeneration. A new life with new cells, cellular nuerogenesis is now taking place in your body. Be sure to get lots of sleep for the next few days. As you sleep cells grow back. Drink lots of water and may be blessings of everyone and everything and the divine that this healing regeneration meditation be complete. May these cells grow to a younger state and may you be blessed with beautiful, radiant, youthful vitality to toss to so be it
