

GLYCONUTRITION

THE DISCOVERY
OF YOUR LIFETIME

MANNATECH

What is Glyconutrition?

Simply put, it's specialised ingredients derived from plants that provide targeted nourishment for your cells.

Glyconutrients can help nourish your cells, but they do so much more. Mannatech's Ambrotose powders also help:

- Support your immune system function to benefit your health.
- Support digestive functions to encourage a proper working gut.
- Improve cognitive functions to aid your intellect.
- Improve memory, concentration and attentiveness to maintain sharpness.
- Improve mood and decrease irritability to support a happier life.

Harness Your Body's Potential

The cells in your body know when they need nourishment, protection, repair or even destruction. They do this by communicating with other cells to determine the best way to promote good health within your body.

Our Glyconutrient products were formulated to help support and optimise cellular communication so your body can do the amazing things it was created to do.

The Innovation of Glyconutrition

Mannatech scientists are the innovators of this incredible technology that's revolutionising nutrition, immune health, anti-aging, skincare, weight loss and more.

There are trillions of cells in your body that talk to each other, but eating poorly can make it harder for them to communicate. That's why it's important to include Glyconutrient supplements in your diet.

In fact, studies have shown that Glyconutrients are often inadequate in typical modern diets, so it can be important to receive them from other sources, like many of our products.

1996

Mannatech files patents on the world's first composition of Glyconutrients.

1998–2002

Mannatech is issued more than 50 patents in major global markets for technology related to our Ambrotose[†] complex product.

2002

New Scientist article emphasises glycobiology as basis for understanding immunology, neurology and developmental biology.

Transformational Technology

Founded in 1994, Mannatech is the pioneer and innovator of Glyconutrition and natural solutions.

- We have more than 100 patents issued, granted and validated in major global markets.
- We use extensive science to create formulas that work effectively in the human body and produce results.
