

Short Sale Script

To Set Appointment

In today's challenging real estate market there are two kinds of agents out there; those that understand the emotional and financial complexities of a short sale and those that don't. In the past 12 months I've helped XX families successfully negotiate and navigate the waters of the short sale process. I can help you too or who do you know that might need my help?