LIAISONS TO OUTSIDE ORGANIZATIONS:

For each of these positions, an AAWC volunteer works as a liaison between another organization and AAWC. The liaisons report to the AAWC Board routinely on activities of the groups and accomplishments begotten through collaboration. Currently, these positions are filled but could become available in the future.

Primary Staff Contact for the below: Executive Director

Alliance of Wound Care Stakeholders	Liaison: Eric Lullove, DPM, CWS, FACCWS	AAWC is a dues paying member of the Alliance and heavily participates in meetings and provides comments, feedback and information that address government and regulatory issues. AAWC also has a very strong Health Care Public Policy Committee that acts independently continuously to address government and regulatory issues.
Wound REACH Foundation	Liaison: Renee Cordrey, PT, PhD®, MSPT, MPH, CWS	AAWC is a partner of the foundation and promotes its OUCH! Races.
Lymphedema Severity Score (LSS) Project	Liaison: Karen Bauer, NP-C, CWS, CHRN	This is a project of Nova Southeastern University (NSU) and International Lymphedema and Wound Training Institute (ILWTI). The AAWC liaison, as well as other partner organizations' liaisons, are working with these institutions to create a tool that will assist clinicians in identifying the various contributing factors and complexities of patients presenting with lymphedema and skin impairments.
National Quality Forum (NQF)	Liaison: Caroline Fife, MD, CWS, FUHM	Reports on NQF activities and works to advance the awareness of, need for and development of quality measures for wound care.
North American Wound Care Council (NAWCC)	Current President (or Designee) & Executive Director: Gregory Bohn, MD, FACS, UHM/ABPM, MAPWCA, FACHM – AAWC President AAWC Executive Director	Established in 2004 by AAWC and CAWC, the NAWCC is a regional alliance of like-minded wound care organizations dedicated to collaborative efforts to improve wound prevention and care in North America. Meetings are hosted annually by AAWC, typically at the SAWC Spring conference. The meetings are attended by each organizations' president (or designee) and Executive Director (CEO or senior staff officer). Each organization's activities, ideas and concerns are shared in this open forum to avoid overlap, promote synergies and foster "one voice" for wound care issues. Organizational members currently include AAWC, NPUAP, WHS – (in the US), CAET and CAWC – (in Canada), and AMCICHAC – (in Mexico). There are no dues required and interested wound care or related organizations are encouraged to inquire.
Peripheral Arterial Disease	Liaison:	AAWC is a partner with the PAD Coalition.

(PAD) Coalition	Cindy Felty, MSN, RN, CNP, CWS, FCCWS
