

Who we are and why we've come

To ask the Lord of the Harvest to send Laborers

Remind us of our personal history with you.

Tell us about the great things you have done in history.

"The living one who sees me"

What name would you like us to call you?

You see me and you know me, you have always known me.

We don't want anything inhibiting our connection to you,

Remind us of any sin we have or lie we believe or hurt we endure or shame we are holding.

We confess our imperfection, short comings, struggles and our failures.

We confess our guilt, shame, hurt, lies, and misaligned priorities.

Draw out, heal, save, sear, and restore a healthy connection to you.

Turn our fickle hearts towards you. Replace our faithlessness with your faithfulness.

In you there is no condemnation, we are a new creation, give us a new identity – one solely from you.

You gave us a new to call you. Now what identity do you call me?

- In small groups:

We ask the Lord of the Harvest to send laborers.

God, give us a burden to carry and the strength to carry it.

Ask God for a mission and a vision.

Ask God to help us get started.

Bring to our minds someone who can help us get started.

- Open eyes in small groups together

Share out loud the identity God gave you to call Him. Or the story He brought to your mind.

Share out loud the identity God gave you to be called by Him.

What do you think about that identity?

What mission came to mind when you asked God for a burden and the strength to carry it?

What do you think God wants you to do to get started?

How can you help your sister or brother with their burden?
