

Aurelio Domínguez, Tenor

Aurelio Domínguez started his musical career at a young age playing viola, though singing, acting, and voice-overs cover most of his performing career. He has appeared with the Washington National Opera as the Nantucket Sailor in Jake Heggie's Moby Dick and as Inmate #1 in Heggie's Dead Man Walking. His operatic appearances also include Cavaradossi (Tosca), Il Duca (Rigoletto), Rodolfo (La Bohème), Edgardo (Lucia di Lammermoor), Roméo (Roméo et Juliette), Tonio (La fille du régiment), Tamino (Die Zauberflöte), Camille (The Merry Widow), Nemorino (L'elisir d'amore), Orphée/Pluto (Orphée aux Enfers), the title role in Oberon (Weber), Marco (The Gondoliers), and Fairfax (The Yeoman of the Guard). He has appeared regionally with Virginia Opera, OperaDelaware, Ashlawn Opera (now Charlottesville Opera), Miami Lyric Opera, and Sylvan Chorale among others. Locally, he has appeared with the InSeries, Bel Cantanti Opera, and The Aria of Washington DC. He has also participated in the Associazione Prato Lirica's Concert Series in Prato, Italy, and in Opera Delaware's Concert Series and Outreach Concert Programs.

His non-operatic repertoire includes Haydn's The Creation, Handel's Messiah, Bach's Magnificat and Christmas Oratorio. He has performed, as both a soloist and violist, in Mozart's Requiem, "The Great" C minor Mass, Coronation Mass, and Solemn Vespers, and Orff's Carmina Burana. He has also performed and recorded in Rome, Italy, and in Washington, DC with the choir of The Basilica of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. He has also performed as a guest soloist in EWTN live broadcast events from the National Shrine.

Mr. Dominguez has appeared in Netflix' "House of Cards", "National Treasure II", and in "Shooting the Prodigal" as Peter and in the upcoming "Wonder Woman 1984". Aurelio's voice-over work includes narration of books in Spanish for Audible, iTunes, Amazon and for the Library of Congress' Audio Books for the Blind and Physically Impaired Project.