

Life Group Questions: Exodus 6–7:13

1. Share a truth about God from this passage that your soul needs to hear this week. Speak it out loud to the group.
2. What aspect of this teaching was new, challenging, confusing, or convicting to you? Was it something about Yahweh's identity? Pharaoh's hardness? The parallels to Christ?
3. Review Application Point #1: Know This God (Yahweh: the covenant-keeping Redeemer who hears, remembers, rescues, and refuses rivals.)
 - When you think about God, what tends to shape your view more, your feelings or His story? Why?
 - Which attribute of Yahweh in this text (hearing the oppressed, remembering promises, redeeming with an outstretched arm, opposing false gods) most expands your vision of Him?
 - What rival "gods" today (cultural, political, spiritual, personal) subtly compete for the place that only Yahweh deserves in your life?
4. Review Application Point #2 : Trust This God When Rival Powers Look Bigger (Pharaoh looked unbeatable; the magicians could imitate signs; Egypt looked permanent.)
 - Where in your life do the "Egypts" of our age feel overwhelming or unstoppable?
 - How does the Exodus challenge the way we view modern powers, political, ideological, cultural, spiritual?
 - What difference would it make this week if you really believed Yahweh is not nervous about the things that make you anxious?
5. Review Application Point #3 : Tremble Before This God & Refuse the Path of Hardness. (Pharaoh hardened his heart... then God hardened it further.)
 - What does "hardness of heart" look like in ordinary, everyday choices, not just in dramatic rebellion?
 - Why is hidden compromise often more spiritually dangerous than outward sin?
 - Is there any area where you sense the Spirit nudging you but you've been resisting?

6. Review Application Point #4 : Rest in the Greater Exodus Through Christ (Jesus as the ultimate Passover Lamb; cross & resurrection as the true Red Sea.)
- Which aspect of the “Greater Exodus” is most encouraging to you: freedom from sin, new identity, the Spirit dwelling in you, or the promise of new creation?
 - How would your week look different if you lived as someone who has already passed from slavery to freedom?
 - What does it mean for you personally that “not one word” of God’s promises will fail?
