JEREMIAH 36

Jeremiah loved God and obeyed Him. One day God gave Jeremiah an important job. Jeremiah would become a prophet and tell people what God wanted them to do.

God wanted Jeremiah to help people know they should stop doing things that were not right. God told Jeremiah, "Take a scroll and write on it all the words I have told you about the people living in Judah, Israel, and all the nations. Do not be afraid. I will be with you. Perhaps when the people hear how I will punish them, they will change and stop doing evil things."

So, Jeremiah called his helper Baruch to write on the scroll. Every word God told Jeremiah is what Baruch wrote on the scroll.

Then Jeremiah told his helper, "You must go to the temple and read the words from the scroll." Baruch did everything Jeremiah told him.

One of the king's helpers heard what Baruch read. Then officials went to the king and read the words on the scroll to the king. The king did not like what the scroll said. The king became angry. He cut the scroll into pieces and threw them into the fire.

God told Jeremiah to get another scroll and write all the words another time. So again, Baruch wrote everything Jeremiah said.
