

Fourth Sunday in Lent

March 15, 2026

Pastor's Corner for March 15-21

Walk in the Light (Ephesians 5:8-14)

Walking around in a dark house can be a hazard. You're liable to run into a wall or stub your toe or step on the dog. Even if it's a house that you've lived in for years and know really well, you never know if the kids left something on the floor or there might be a small spill on the floor that you didn't clean up or, again, the dog. Even with all these hazards from walking in a dark house, we still do it anyway. We are confident in what we know. We don't expect there to be any changes. We don't want the light to blind us and wake us up when we're walking around in the middle of the night.

We can do the same thing with God. "At one time you were darkness, but now you are light in the Lord. Walk as children of light" (Ephesians 5:8). We don't belong to the darkness anymore, but we still find ourselves walking around in the darkness of the world. We don't follow the light of Christ as He wants us to. We refuse to turn on the light because we think we can walk around in this world just fine without the light. We think we know our own way, we don't expect any changes in the daily routine, we don't expect anything to come up underfoot, and then it happens. The shocking phone call, the hurtful word, the backsliding of addiction, the loss of a friend, the headline we weren't expecting it and it comes up from underneath to trip us and down we fall with a heavy crash.

It comes from thinking we are ok. I'm doing just fine on my own and I know God is there when I need Him, so until then I'll keep fumbling around. While this may be our thought, whether we admit it or not, God is right there in the light, pleading with us to stand in His light. We are created in His image and are people yearning for the light yet falling for the darkness. In baptism, we are born again as children of the light, yet that darkness sounds so good sometimes. God's call is always the same, "come walk in the light."

To walk in the light isn't just to follow God's commands. That's part of it, but if that is our sole goal (or even our first goal), we will always fail and find our running into walls in the darkness. To walk in the light is to walk with God. How do we walk with God? Through prayer, regular Bible reading, Christian fellowship, weekly church attendance. Being in the places that God has promised to be. You are children of the Light, live in the beautiful gift of the Life-filled-Light that God has for you.

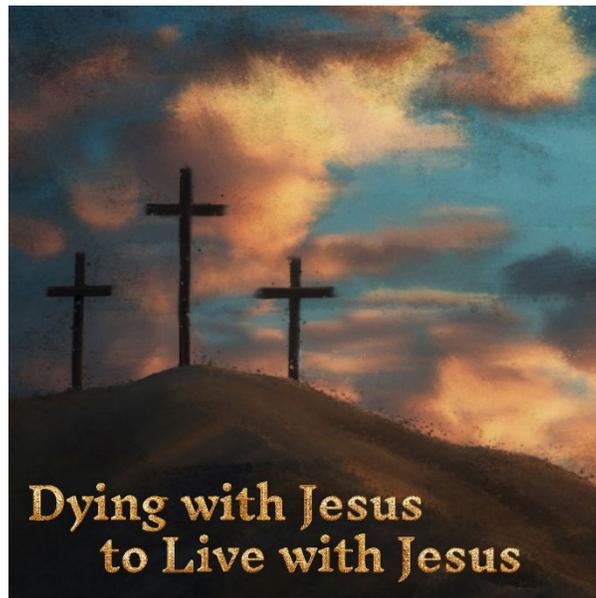

Your walking brother in Christ,
Pastor Zach Sarrault

Please note, there will be no Men's Breakfast this month due to the Men's Retreat and Service Weekend happening this week.

Wednesdays, 7:00-8:00 pm (Fellowship at 6:45 pm) ~ February 25-March 18

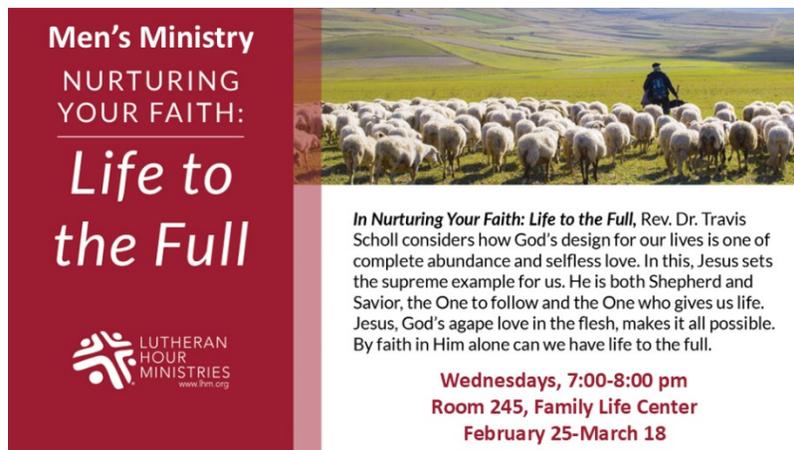

Room 245, Family Life Center

Tom Gebbia

In Nurturing Your Faith: Life to the Full, Rev. Dr. Travis Scholl speaks to the abundant life we have in Jesus Christ. This new life is born of the Spirit's gift of faith to us that leads to life everlasting. In our present, time-bound faith journey, we humbly follow our Shepherd as He directs our steps, reveling in His creation while loving and serving those around us.

We were born for a God-centered and abundant life. This we have through faith in our risen and victorious Lord Jesus whose life, death, and resurrection have won for us the forgiveness of our sins. As Scripture tells us, “God is love,” and His agape love is of the highest kind. It’s selfless, never-ending, and freely given. And it sets the perfect example of how we should be for others.

In Nurturing Your Faith: Life to the Full, Rev. Dr. Travis Scholl considers how God's design for our lives is one of complete abundance and selfless love. In this, Jesus sets the supreme example for us. He is both Shepherd and Savior, the One to follow and the One who gives us life. Jesus, God's agape love in the flesh, makes it all possible. By faith in Him alone can we have life to the full.
