FROM OUR CHIEF OF STAFF...

LITTLE THINGS

If you have watched any streaming of our worship service over the last two Sundays (January 22 and 29) you already know that the streaming was either bad or non-existent. What caused this, you ask? Well, it was just a little button, I answer. We use a program named vMix to facilitate our streaming efforts, and it really does a good job of high quality, reliable streaming. After a recent upgrade to the program, the streaming went from a robust 25 Megabytes per second (Mbs) and great streaming to a paltry 5 Mbs and terrible streaming. We consulted “THE STREAMING IDIOT” (his self-designated moniker, not ours), Tom Sinclair, who solved our problem after some extensive exploration. His solution? Change one setting from “ON” to “OFF”. Our problem went away, and we once again had 25+ Mbs upload speed.

I will admit that we were clueless and desperate after the problems first appeared on January 22nd, and I will also admit that we were trying to solve this by our own efforts and strengths. At the same time I was recalling a sermon from Clint about praying for small things. The recollection had to have come from the Holy Spirit, because I rarely remember sermon details longer than a week. Actually, I remember one from David Hutto about Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego and the fiery furnace, and one from Clint about praying for small things. I had never considered that streaming upload speeds was prayer worthy, but I was wrong. God definitely did not solve our problem with one, large solution. He did, however, reveal to me single steps to a solution through dreams, 2:00am wake ups and other people.

Clint is right; we need to pray about little things as well as the large ones.
