

SHARE Jesus with Others

Have you ever read a really good book or eaten at a really great restaurant and immediately felt compelled to tell people about it? This is what friendship with Jesus is meant to be like. Now that you know Him so well and you've seen Him work wonders in your life, don't you want to share that awesomeness with others?

It's like discovering the fountain of youth. If you found the fountain of youth, wouldn't you do everything you could to get your loved ones to take a drink and gain eternal life? Well, Jesus is even greater than the fountain of youth! His eternal life is real and open to all who desire it. So, why are you waiting? Get your friends and neighbors to the Fountain!

Sharing Your Story

Look back over the last nine months.

How have you grown? What have you learned? How have you changed? What difference has this journey made in your life?

Take some time to pray through this and write down a short story about your journey, describing the change you see and what you think caused it.

Now consider: Who in your life would benefit from hearing this story?

Think through all the people around you: from family and friends to colleagues and gym buddies. Ask God who needs to hear the good news of how He has worked in your life this year.

Now go tell them! And share the good news of what God has done! Give them a chance to have their own life-changing experience.
