ANOINTING OF THE SICK

The Catechism of the Catholic Church (#1514-1515) teaches that this sacrament is not only for those at the point of death, but for anyone seriously ill or facing serious surgery. In fact, it is preferred that parishioners entering the hospital for surgery should ask the priest for this sacrament before being admitted. Parishioners should never wait until the last minute to call. We encourage parishioners facing surgery to let the parish priest know of their condition before entering the hospital so that they can be anointed before admission.

2 Timothy 4:7

Shepherd's Corner

I am the good shepherd, and I know mine and mine know me

As I was praying with the readings for the Solemnity of Saints Peter and Saint Paul, I found it interesting that the first and second readings, which speak of the lives of these two Saints, weren't these easygoing stories that told of the miracles or the number of people they converted. Instead, we are told of the struggles that they and the early Christians faced. We hear how Peter is arrested and thrown into prison and Paul is being "poured out like a libation" because of their faith in Jesus. Even though both Peter and Paul would be martyred, they understood God was with them; though they may not have felt His presence in what they were going through.

It's sometimes difficult for us to see God's hand in our situation, especially when we feel persecuted for standing up for what is right. Like the Saints of the early communities, the Church has always faced the difficult challenges of being proclaimers of God's truths even when society tends to be so opposed to the Gospel message. Even today, it's often easier for us not to act or get involved because we know our values are different than the world's values, and we don't want to cause waves.

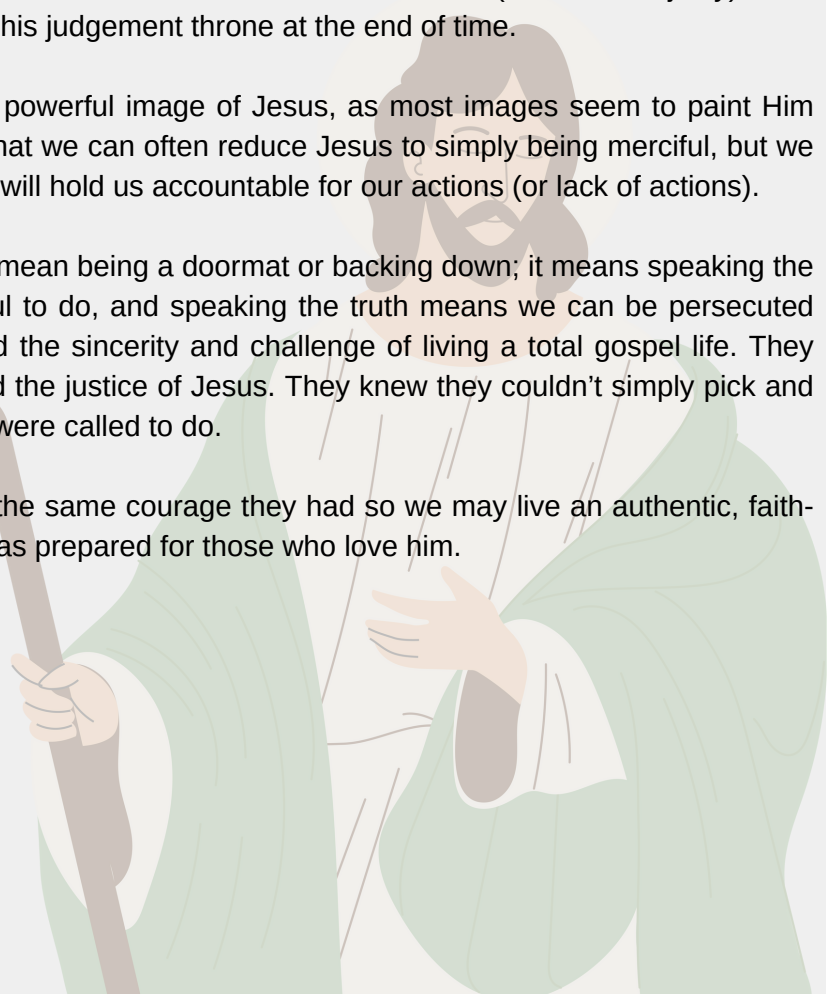

During the time I was doing seminary studies in Washington, D.C., two young Italian friars came to stay with us for about three months to improve their English. While they were with us, we took them around the various historical sites in the D.C. area. I remember taking them to the National Basilica of the Immaculate Conception. I remember the joy of these friars as they looked at the mosaic of Jesus in the dome (Christ in Majesty). This mosaic is a powerful rendering of Jesus sitting on his judgement throne at the end of time.

The friars commented how good it was to see a powerful image of Jesus, as most images seem to paint Him only as meek and mild. They said they've found that we can often reduce Jesus to simply being merciful, but we can forget about the justice He brings and that he will hold us accountable for our actions (or lack of actions).

They reminded me that our call to charity doesn't mean being a doormat or backing down; it means speaking the truth -- as gently as we can. At times, it is painful to do, and speaking the truth means we can be persecuted along the way. Saints Peter and Paul understood the sincerity and challenge of living a total gospel life. They knew of Jesus' infinite mercy, but also understood the justice of Jesus. They knew they couldn't simply pick and choose what they wanted to believe or what they were called to do.

May their intercession gain us the grace to have the same courage they had so we may live an authentic, faith-filled life and be able to inherit the kingdom God has prepared for those who love him.

Peace and Blessings,
Fr. Mike
